

Bussing Issues For Private Schools

by Kevin C. Horton

Busing became an issue for Glen Cove and North Shore residents after Super Storm Sandy hit the area this last week. Glen Head resident Dave Whitting said, "On Monday morning my wife received a call on her cell phone at 6:15am to inform us that the North Shore School District was not going to provide busing to out of district schools." Whitting's children, who go to St. Peter's School in Port Washington, were to go back to school on Tuesday. North Shore School public schools opened on Monday. On Tuesday, they didn't receive another call but no service was provided either.

When contacted by the Gazette on Tuesday, Superintendent of Schools Dr. Ed Melnick said, "We will be bussing to private and parochial starting tomorrow. We did not bus on Monday or Tuesday for three reasons

1. Safety concerns - we needed time to survey the routes to the schools and make sure they were safe and the buses could pass through
2. Gas-- we were concerned about gas--we expect a delivery this afternoon.

3. Only 11 public school districts in Nassau were open yesterday with fewer open Today [Tuesday] due to election day. Most will open tomorrow. Therefore we will begin full transportation tomorrow." As of this writing transportation in the North Shore District was provided to students on Wednesday.

Whitting said he went down later Monday morning to the bus depot to see what was going on. He said he asked a woman in the office what the status of bus to St. Peters. "She said that the Port Washington School District was closed and that they were not providing bus transportation... So I asked what that had to do with our district?" He said he had been in touch with friends of theirs that live in Port Washington and they said that

by Kevin C. Horton

The North Shore of Long Island was pounded by Super Storm Sandy last week and in her wake she left power lines down and gas lines at the pumps. According to Glen Cove Police Sgt. John Nagel,

During Hurricane Sandy the Glen Cove Police department was inundated with calls for service. During the storm Officers responded to 70 calls for service including 19 calls for wires down and 33 calls for trees down. Due to the large amount of trees and wires down most of Glen Cove found itself without power. With the power outages most of the traffic lights were out requiring Police to erect barricades to facilitate the safe flow of traffic. During and after the storm the police department conducted many wellness checks on residents as well as assisted Public Works in their effort to clear roads and sidewalks of downed trees and debris.

Gas Situation

After the storm gasoline was in short supply throughout the island. Motorists

Mayor Aids In House Fire Rescue

by Kevin C. Horton

Shortly after the Super Storm Sandy created havoc through the area Glen Cove Mayor Ralph V. Suozzi found himself in the position of attempting to save the life of resident in a working house fire at 23 Whitney Circle on November 4.

A visually shaken Mayor Suozzi said after, "I was in the neighborhood trying to figure out why the lights went out when they were re-powered two hours earlier. I was driving slowly with my passenger window open listening for generators and I smelled smoke. I knew that smell was not a fireplace and thought that maybe a garage housing a generator had caught fire. I backed my vehicle up to the southern mouth of Whitney Circle and heard in the darkness a faint voice shouting, 'Help! Fire! Help!'

"I turned onto the street and saw a woman, who was a dear family friend, and I saw flames and thick black smoke pouring out of the front door. I radioed the police about the house fire and location."

The Mayor, who had years ago been a Glen Cove Volunteer Firefighter, then attempted to enter the home through the front door but it was too hot. A neighbor joined him and they ran around through the rear of the dwelling and tried to force open a rear door after the Mayor broke the glass with his elbow." Neither of them were able to enter as the fire was extremely hot and fast having been fueled by kerosene.

Firefighters were able to enter and found the body of 87-year-old Lewis Bodi. Glen Cove Police Sgt. John Nagel said, At this time it appears that the victim accidentally knocked over a kerosene lamp tragically causing him to ignite himself in flames. Mayor Suozzi said it was, "A very sad day. He was a personal friend, a good man and a WWII US Navy Veteran." The victim's wife was taken to the Glen Cove hospital. Glen Cove Mayor Suozzi was treated for carbon monoxide inhalation.

The Glen Cove Police Department, Fire Department, and EMS responded to a working house fire at 23 Whitney Circle. The Police and Fire responders were able to make entry into the residence via a rear door. Upon entering the residence they found the 87 year old homeowner deceased in the rear room of the residence. The 85 year old victim's wife was also in the home during the fire and she was transported to the hospital by Glen Cove EMS suffering from smoke inhalation. At this time the incident is being investigated by the Glen Cove Police, Nassau County Arson/Bomb Squad, Fire Marshalls, and Medical Examiners Office.

the problem is not so much the roads but all the power outages. Whitting said, "She then stated, 'That the OEM office had 'SUGGESTED' that school districts do not provide transportation to schools outside their districts'... So I countered with that this only a suggestion and not a mandate and that we should reconsider our options. I was then told that Port Washington SD will probably be closed tomorrow and I agreed and said that there is no reason to get into it here because it could be a mute-point."

Glen Cove Transportation

Glen Cove school district also did not provide transportation to the area open schools including St. Peter's and All Saints Regional Catholic School in Glen Cove, which opened on Wednesday after Sandy. Glen Cove School district had remained closed Monday through Wednesday. When contacted by the Gazette on Wednesday in a statement the Glen Cove School District said, "You are correct. We did not run our busses on those days. If a public school district is not dispatching buses and providing transportation to children attending its public schools because those public schools are not in a position to open, it is not obligated to provide transportation to the private and parochial schools, as per New York State Education law. The Glen Cove School District was unable to open for more than a week due to power outages in the aftermath of the storm, and as a result we were not running busses to any schools within our district during this time."

Fuel Issue

Whitting said, "If it's a fuel issue, [as stated by North Shore] then there should be other options instead of shutting down transportation to parochial schools... You can't just say yes to public schools and no to ALL Catholic School busing... If it's strictly a fuel issue why can't we re-vamp the bus routes during emergencies i.e. provide transportation to all middle school and elementary schools and do something different for the high schools. They are older and have more options i.e. public transportation, car pool, or... God-for-bid have the North Shore kids walk to school... I find it hard to believe that they didn't have enough gas for one small bus for one day to make 2 trips to Port Washington. If the gas shortage was that severe what routes are being cancelled for the public schools?"

Whitting said he feels, "The school district's only option, when it comes to transportation issues, is to cut busing to Catholic Schools. They cannot just cut busing to our students 100% and provide busing to public schools 100%. That is, in my opinion, discriminating against Catholic Schools. I totally understand their issue of gas shortages. But if cuts are made they should be made across the board, not just to our students.

"If they get away with doing this, where will it end? If we don't voice our opposition now then they will assume that they can do it when ever if fits their needs. With possible cuts coming up in the next budget this would be an easy cut for them to propose. Silence from us tells them that what they are doing is acceptable."

Note: As of press time on Thursday, the area was hit with a Nor-easter dumping snow throughout the area. Both school districts were closed. All Saints Regional Catholic School remained open but students were not provided transportation from either district.

waited on long lines to get gasoline with lines running nearly a mile long. The Mobil line from Glen Cove Road daily ran up to 8th Avenue in Sea Cliff.

Glen Cove Police assigned officers at the various gas stations when those stations received a gas shipment and where prepared to pump gas. The officers set up car lines for the stations while attempting to keep the flow of traffic moving. Many of the motorist expressed relief at seeing the officers at the pumps and order was maintained despite the frustration many felt at the time. Due to the mandatory evacuation order for the Morgan Island residents the Police department set up a temporary command post at the Moran Island bridge. The command post was set up to protect the homes and property of those that were evacuated. The High School was used as a shelter for those who needed some help during the storm.

"As a result of the storm the Glen Cove residents pulled together helping each other during and after the storm," said Nagel.

Burglaries

"Unfortunately some people used the storm as an opportunity," said Nagel. There was three reported generators stolen and one home was burglarized. "Glen Cove lost one of it's residents as a result of the storm when a kerosene lamp was knocked over causing a tragic house fire that claimed the life of the 87 year old home owner [See separate story].

Student Artwork Exhibited at ArtSpace in Patchogue

The North Shore Schools is proud to announce that student Alec Leto had a piece of artwork in an exhibition at the ArtSpace in Patchogue. The multi-media exhibition titled Men...An Introduction showcases creative talents of male artists from diverse backgrounds and features various artwork including visual art, song and even edible art!

Elissa Theiss, North Shore High School Art Teacher, said "Tracy Todd Hunter (who runs the gallery space) saw an article about Alec last year and was so impressed that he asked him to participate not only in a show there last spring but also in the current exhibition which has been extended to October 30th." She added, "At the exhibition was Mayor Paul Pontieri of Patchogue who admired Alec's work and shook his hand!"

From Sea Cliff Mayor Bruce Kennedy...

Team Sea Cliff

It has been a long and trying couple of weeks. Hurricane Sandy packed quite a wallop and really left a path of devastation in her wake. In light of the wreckage that occurred on the south shore and the Jersey shore where people lost all they own, I am so incredibly grateful for the minimal damage that Sea Cliff experienced.

Cleaning up the mess the storm left behind was a daunting task but not one that couldn't be overcome by our incredibly dedicated Public Works crew. I want to recognize each one of these men for their countless hours of back breaking work. A huge thank you goes out to Billy Richmond, Gary Ketcham, Will Koopman, Don Blumhagen, Pete Delape, Jose Garcia, Hugo Auffero, John Czerniawski, John Telese, John Giordano and of course Jimmy O'Donnell.

Working with me non-stop with work plans and crisis management were my two right hands John Miranda and Marianne Lennon. John and Marianne worked tirelessly in and out of our emergency management center identifying the worst areas, coordinating work orders and communicating with LIPA. John, who lives in Rockville Centre, actually stayed with us for nearly 32 hours straight catching a nap in his car. Manning the phones and counseling upset residents, as only she can, was Pat Guy. Our Senior Outreach Director, Karen Montagnese, with the assistance of Trustee Carol Vogt, checked in with every senior citizen in the village to ensure they were cared for.

Dealing with residents who experienced damage to their homes and properties was Drew Lawrence and Carl Rumatowski. Carl and Drew continually traversed our village roads documenting damage and consulting residents about interim repair work to get them through until help arrived.

Every day and night our Public Safety Officers (David Craft, Tillman Brown, Jack Guy and Ted Kolakowski) were assisting public works with traffic control and traveling our roads addressing and preventing problems. Ted Kolakowski, who lives in Bayville, stayed with us non-stop through the worst of the ordeal and actually took Trustee Pete Hayes on one of the midnight tours.

I hear everyday what a good job we did during this storm but I think it is important to recognize all these individuals that made up Team Sea Cliff. My heartfelt gratitude goes out to them for standing with me during this natural disaster. Thank you.

Judge McCord Wins Again

Even as they recover from hurricane Sandy, Glen Cove voters emerged from dark, cold homes to cast their votes in the November 6th election. In an overwhelming victory The Hon. Richard J. McCord has once again been elected to the position of Glen Cove City Court Judge. "I am so grateful to the residents of Glen Cove to once again be given the opportunity to serve the City in this capacity," said McCord. Since 1988 Richard McCord has served Glen Cove as the City Court Judge. Bringing a firm, fair hand to justice in Glen Cove McCord enthusiastically looks forward to the next six year term.

After learning of his election victory, Judge McCord is pictured here alongside his wife, Maryann and daughters, Courtney and Amanda.

Team C Students at NS Middle School Participate in Interactive Workshops Called Hunger 101

Keeping in line with the E3 (“Everyone Matters, Everyone Cares, Everyone Learns”) initiative at North Shore Middle School, students participated in Hunger 101, an interactive workshop aimed at addressing the causes and consequences of hunger on a local, national and global level. It is sponsored by Long Island Cares, Inc. which was founded by the late singer Harry Chapin in 1980.

Christine Brown, Coordinator of Community Education Outreach and Self-Sufficiency for Long Island Cares, conducted a number of interactive workshops with Team C students at the middle school in October. Her goals included: Raising awareness of the problem of hunger and poverty on Long Island, understanding the causes and consequences of hunger and suggest strategies to help alleviate, and empowering individuals to think critically about practical and effective solutions to hunger.

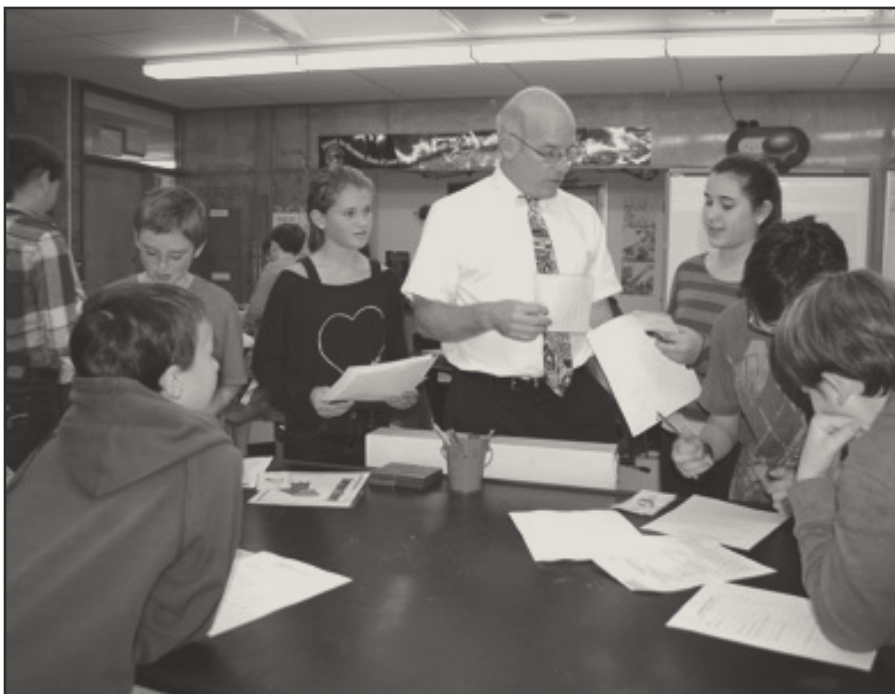

Social Studies classes at the middle school role-played the following “real situations:”

- Living within a tight budget
- Not having the money to buy

- nutritious food and sufficient foods
- The challenges of having to deal with social service agencies
- The restrictions and obstacles facing people experiencing hunger

Problems involving hunger affect approximately 260,000 people on Long Island. Ms. Brown said, “Hunger is a serious problem on Long Island even though it is one of the most affluent regions in the United States. Long Island Cares helps people become more self-sufficient and provides food to those in need. We have approximately 550 locations on Long Island while New York has eight food banks.” For more information regarding Long Island Cares, Inc. or if you know someone in need, please visit <http://www.licares.org/>

Gazette Makes It Out Despite Sandy

To The Editor,

Kudos to Kevin Horten and team for doing a wonderful job in getting The Gold Coast Gazette published despite the truly terrible conditions brought on by Hurricane Sandy. It surely wasn't an easy task and it was comforting to see that our neighborhood paper was still working for the community. Thank you.

Lions Storm Help

To The Editor,

We at Sea Cliff-Glen Head Lions Club hope you and you loved ones are safe in the aftermath of Superstorm Sandy. This storm has had its toll on all of us in some way or another. If you are fortunate enough to be reading this "Letters to the Editor" column, you are probably warm, have food, and a place to stay.

You also probably have some cans and jars of food supplies that you can part with for those who were less fortunate in the wake of the storm. There are still so many who still do not have permanent housing or even food.

The Sea Cliff-Glen Head Lions Club is holding their annual food drive Thursday November 15th, at Page One Restaurant, 90 School St. in Glen Cove. Please drop cans or jars of food off during our meeting there from 6:30 - 9:00 p.m. If getting there that day is difficult for you, and if you live in Sea Cliff, Glen Head or Glen Cove, put a bag or box on your front porch or by your front door Monday through Thursday that week (11/12-15), and drop us an email at seaciffglenheadlions@yahoo.com and we'll pick it up.

Thank you for helping us help others.

Sea Cliff Arts Council presents "Landscapes and a Horse," beautiful pastel paintings by Kay Vickers, on view at Sea Cliff Village Library for November and December.

The artist's reception will be this

Sunday, November 11th, from 3 pm to 5 pm at SC Library.

Everyone is welcome to attend. Join us to celebrate the artist and her talents. Please share this invite with friends who may be interested.

In efforts to help victims of Hurricane Sandy, or people in need, Kay says 100% of sales from this show will go to Mutual Concerns of Sea Cliff.

Kay Vickers and her husband, Rick, moved to Sea Cliff in 1972, the year they were married. They sensed that the Village could offer a small town community, along with peacefulness and beauty. Several of Kay's landscapes are local scenes – sunsets, the boat house, Shore Road after a snowstorm.

Kay is a practicing clinical psychologist (Ph.D.) However, after having her two wonderful children, Leah & Luke, she discovered the Long Island life style of lessons (in everything, or so it seemed). Kay proceeded to take ballet lessons for 20+ yrs, followed by piano lessons, and recently turned her attention to the visual arts. She finds that painting allows for greater self-expression than her other artistic endeavors.

Kay credits 2 teachers with encouraging a 'novice' to develop into a confident artist - Both Steve Lampasona, and Jane McGraw-Teubner emphasize keeping one's focus on abstract shapes, rather than the details. She has also learned the importance of value studies, as well as the distinction between soft and hard edges. However, the most important aspect to painting is to begin with a scene, or a subject, that moves you. Her philosophy is to 'paint something that excites you, and you will find a way to convey your enthusiasm to others.

Our next event is the Holiday Boutique at Sea Cliff Village Hall, in conjunction with the Holiday House Tour, Saturday, December 1st, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., featuring local artists and artisans. The show is open to the public with no entrance fee. Stop by for unique, affordable shopping.

Glen Head Halloween SPOOKTACULAR

Even though Hurricane Sandy closed schools for a week, she could not dampen the spirits of the Halloween SPOOKTACULAR at Glen Head School. An annual activity that takes place in the gymnasium, the SPOOKTACULAR is designed to engage all of our students in a fun and enjoyable learning environment where they have the opportunity to participate in some of their favorite physical activities including rope swinging, scooters, basketball, and an obstacle course.

The SPOOKTACULAR focuses on a variety of skills where students can enhance their problem solving abilities, cooperate with others, and overall increase level of performance. Thank you to all of the physical education teachers at Glen Head for engaging our students in such a fun and timely learning experience.

Glen Cove Boys & Girls Club Helps Families In The Community This Thanksgiving

Glen Cove, NY – Each year the Glen Cove Boys & Girls Club has been collaborating with other agencies in Glen Cove and individual donors to collect food baskets for members and their families in the community so they can prepare their own Thanksgiving dinner.

The Glen Cove Boys & Girls Club is asking anyone interested in donating to the Club's Basket Collection supply the following non perishable items: boxed mashed potatoes, canned vegetables & soups, cranberry sauce, candied yams, stuffing, or any other traditional Thanksgiving foods & pantry items. The Club will also collect any gift card donations to any local grocery stores to help purchase turkeys. Donations of non perishable items or frozen turkeys will be collected through November 16. Any donations can be dropped at the Glen Cove Boys & Girls Club (113 Glen Cove Ave. Glen Cove).

In addition, the Glen Cove Boys & Girls Club will be hosting their Annual Community Thanksgiving Dinner on Tuesday, November 20 starting at 5:30p.m. This event will mark the 12th anniversary that the Club has been helping families throughout the community join together and give thanks during the holiday season. For twelve consecutive years, Andrea Correale of Elegant Affairs and her team, will prepare and donate the entire meal.

The Glen Cove Boys and Girls Club at Lincoln House has been serving the community since 1903 by providing a caring environment that will inspire and enable all young people to realize their full potential as productive and responsible citizens. The Club serves over 700 youths ages 6 to 18 in the Glen Cove community, providing them a safe place to go after the school day ends where they can participate in a variety of programs such as sports, recreation, education, dance, technology and art. For more information about the Glen Cove Boys & Girls Club please visit <http://www.glencovebgc.org> or call 516-671-8030.

The Circus Comes to Sea Cliff School!

The National Circus Project came to Sea Cliff Elementary School for a week-long event that combined physical fitness with circus fun and proficiency. The circus festivities culminated with an in-school "student" circus performance featuring Sea Cliff fifth graders who tumbled and juggled into the hearts of all those in attendance!

The National Circus Project (NCP) is an innovative cultural arts organization, which promotes student participation in school arts and physical education activities, using "circus" as its theme. The National Circus Project sends teams of internationally acclaimed circus performer/instructors to schools throughout the U.S.A., where they present exciting circus assembly performances, teach circus skills to students as part of their physical education program – including juggling, balancing, plate-spinning, and "devil stick" manipulation.

Many thanks to the Sea Cliff PCA and all of the physical education teachers and staff for putting on such an entertaining performance!

Art opening this Sunday

Sea Cliff Arts Council presents "Landscapes and a Horse," pastel paintings by Kay Vickers, on view at Sea Cliff Village Library for November and December.

Kay Vickers and her husband, Rick, moved to Sea Cliff in 1972, the year they were married. They sensed that the Village could offer a small town community, along with peacefulness and beauty. Several of Kay's landscapes are local scenes – sunsets, the boat house, Shore Road after a snowstorm.

Kay is a practicing clinical psychologist (Ph.D.) However, after having her two wonderful children, Leah & Luke, she discovered the Long Island life style of lessons (in everything, or so it seemed). Kay proceeded to take ballet lessons for 20+ yrs, followed by piano lessons, and recently turned her attention to the visual arts. She finds that painting allows for greater self-expression than her other artistic endeavors.

Kay credits 2 teachers with encouraging a 'novice' to develop into a confident artist - Both Steve Lampasona, and Jane McGraw-Teubner emphasize keeping one's focus on abstract shapes, rather than the details. She has also learned the importance of value studies, as well as the distinction between soft and hard edges. However, the most important aspect to painting is to begin with a scene, or a subject, that moves you. Her philosophy is to 'paint something that excites you, and you will find a way to convey your enthusiasm to others.

Please join us for the artist's reception at Sea Cliff Library this Sunday, November 11th, from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. All are welcome to attend the opening. Refreshments will be served. In efforts to help victims of Hurricane Sandy, or people in need, 100% of sales from this show will go to Mutual Concerns of Sea Cliff.

To learn more about Sea Cliff Arts Council, email us at seacliffartscountcil@gmail.com.

Our next event is the Holiday Boutique at Sea Cliff Village Hall, in conjunction with the Holiday House Tour, Saturday, December 1st, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., featuring local artists and artisans. The show is open to the public with no entrance fee.

“Make It Orange and Make It End”

Middle School Unites Against Bullying

Communities nationwide have joined together during October to actively participate in National Bullying Prevention Month. Principal Marc Ferris said, “We are joining the movement to ‘Make it Orange and Make it End’ and unite against bullying.”

On October 10th, hundreds of students and faculty at North Shore Middle School were encouraged to wear orange in recognition of “Unity Day 2012.” Everyone wearing orange all over the nation — in schools, communities and on-line — were linked together to send one united ORANGE message of support to students who have experienced bullying.

Under the direction of Toni Papetti, North Shore Middle School Social Worker, students in the SADD (Students Against Destructive Decisions) Club initiated Unity Day 2012 by asking all of the middle school teachers, staff and students to wear ORANGE. Additionally, they asked each student to make an ORANGE hand to stand up against bullying. The “hands” are proudly displayed throughout the hallway near the cafeteria with positive messages.”

Ms. Papetti said, “I believe Unity Day 2012 was a tremendous success. The North Shore Middle School community really did ‘unite to stand up against bullying’. The students supported each other and were eager to look at all the ‘hands’ to see what their peers and teachers had to say. It was a sea of ORANGE! The students were excited to help string the ‘hands’ together during their lunch periods in preparation for yesterday. It was nice to see the students bonding and working together for such an important issue.”

Principal Ferris concluded by saying, “This is a reminder that bullying will not be tolerated in our E3 school community.” Under his direction, the theme “Everyone Matters, Everyone Cares, Everyone Learns” (E3) was introduced a couple of years ago with the vision of uniting North Shore Middle School. This is the first of many anti-bullying activities that will take place at the middle school this year. Principal Ferris encouraged parents to, ‘Remember to remind their children that the end of bullying begins with you.’

Sea Cliff Delivers Pizza to Our Repair Crews

by Peggy Como

On Thursday, while taking a leisurely walk, Patty Harrigan and Terry Sciubba noticed a commotion on Downing Avenue. Upon further investigation, they discovered a 14-truck caravan consisting of a liberating army of workers from across the nation, sent to help Sea Cliff restore its power. After the cheers subsided, the growing crowd welcomed the workers with 14 pizzas from Village Pizza, donated by Patty Harrigan, Terry Sciubba, Tom Knieram, Mike Biolsi, and Stu Rodal. The crews were most appreciative for the pizza and good wishes, and Sea Cliff certainly appreciated their efforts to get our power back. (Photo by Stu Rodal)

The 4th Annual St. Paul's Episcopal Church Michael Galluccio Memorial Golf Outing Has It's Most Successful Year Ever

The 4th Annual St. Paul's Episcopal Golf Outing was held on September 24, 2012 at the Glen Cove Golf Course and raised $10,000 for the St. Paul's Episcopal Church and the Chordoma Foundation. This was the most successful year we have had in the event's four-year history. The Chordoma Foundation is a non-profit organization based in North Carolina that is determined to find a cure and improve the lives of those who are affected by this relentless bone cancer. Everyone who participated in the event filled the beautiful September day with excitement, success, and smiles. The tournament began with a delicious breakfast at the Soundview Restaurant in Glen Cove and a "blessing of the drivers" by Father Michael Ralph. During the tournament, the groups of golfers participated in a Hole in One contest, a Closest to the Pin contest, a Longest Drive contest, and our newest contest called "Beat the Rector". The two teams with the low gross score in the shotgun scramble style tournament received gift certificates and plaques for their foursomes.

After the golfers came in and turned in their group's scorecard, they enjoyed a wonderful luncheon at Soundview Restaurant. It gave an opportunity for old friends to reconnect and conversations buzzed throughout the entire restaurant! The golfers and guests participated in the 50/50 raffle and gift basket prizes that were packed with numerous gift certificates, wine, and other various knick knacks.

The following businesses and boosters were generous in supporting our event: Whitting Funeral Home, North Shore Golf Car, Astoria Federal Savings, North Shore Farms, Glen Cove Bagel Café, Glen Cove Printery, A+ Signs and Graphics, Glen Floors, Glen Head Motors, Inc., Heyman Associates, Inc., Dodge Thomas, Bella Landscaping, Friends of Ralph Suozzi, American Community Bank, Flowers by Victoria, Winter Hat Shoppe, Hawkins Cove Oil/E G Hawkins & Son, Inc., Charles of Glen Cove: Hardware and More, Richard Klenkel CPA, Vito Abbondandolo, CPA, Strong Island Styles, Meridian Kitchen, Long Island University's Tilles Center, Marra's Restaurant, Hair Above, Valley Sports and Trophy, Ballroom Legacy, The Brass Rail, Training Station, Bottle Buys, Fishery Grille, Cedar Creek, Glen Cove Beer Distributors, Tappo Ristorante, Glen Cove Car Wash & Detail Center, The Downtown Café, Page One Restaurant, Delicious Pizzeria, Glen Head Country Club. Please patronize these businesses for their support of a great event!

A special thanks to all of the tee sponsors, volunteers that helped facilitate the event, and the staff of the Glen Cove Golf Course and the Soundview Restaurant. It was a joy to share our special day with all of you!

The whole tournament was centered on Michael Galluccio, a well loved Glen Cover. The impact he had on so many people really drew out an all-star cast of participants. We all miss him so much, but knew he was there in some form that day. Whether it was the beautiful weather we had or the assistance of great shots out of the trap, he was there bringing all of us together.

Again thank you all for your tremendous efforts and support. We are so excited to help such a worthy cause, and we look forward to your support again next year on September 23, 2013- please save the date!

Could We Take Anymore?

On Thursday morning, November 8, residents who had just weathered Super Storm Sandy and had just gotten their lights on, woke to a heavy snow blanketing the area. The heavy snow closed area schools which already had been closed for most of the week. It also threatened already damaged power lines and trees. Many residents found themselves having just gotten power on when the lights went out again. (photo by Milkenia Horton)

Ellen Carol McGuire

Ellen Carol McGuire (Manley) was called to the place the Lord has prepared for her on November 4, 2012. She will be greeted by her father, Robert G. Manley; her mother, Glenna M. Manley; and Aunt Eleanor Coleman.

Ellen was born April 3, 1959 in Glen Cove, N.Y. She was welcomed into the Manley family by her two older sisters, Virginia Schultz (Jeff) and Margie Urbas (Jay Armour). Ellen attended North Shore High School in Glen Head, N.Y. and went on to Miami University in Oxford, Ohio. On a beautiful day in May of 1984, Ellen married Edward A. McGuire. Ellen and Ed have three wonderful children: Eric, Elise (fiancée Nathan Brace), and Elaine. Ellen also leaves behind Aunt Marty and Uncle Roy Moffitt, Uncle Ron Coleman, many nieces, nephews, cousins, brothers and sisters-in-laws, good friends, and neighbors.

Ellen was a Domestic Goddess, who was devoted to her family and friends. She was an avid volunteer and attended almost ALL of her children's events. Proceeds derived from her annual Halloween Haunted House benefited John T. Hoggard Band Boosters, Shriners' Crippled Children, Lower Cape Fear Hospice, and the Disabled American Veterans. In lieu of flowers, please make donations to her favorite charities.

The family would also like to extend its deepest gratitude to all medical staff who aided her in her journey.

Per Ellen's request, please wear bright colors and a smile for her visitation and memorial service. Remember, while we have lost a wonderful person, the memories, if shared, will live forever.

The family will receive friends from 12:30-2:30 pm, Saturday, November 10, 2012 at Quinn-McGowen Funeral Home, Bradley Creek Chapel where a memorial service will begin at 2:30 PM. Friends will be received at the McGuire residence from 4:30 - 8:00 PM.

Shared memories and condolences may be sent to the family at www.quinnmcgowen.com.

Lewis Joseph Bodi

Lewis Joseph Bodi:Glen Cove resident Provost and Vice President of Academic Affairs, York College CUNY

Lewis J. Bodi, who helped to shape a fledgling York College CUNY as Dean of Academic Affairs and Provost, died Sunday, November 4th. He died in a fire in his house in Glen Cove. He was 87.

The first American-born child of Hungarian immigrant parents, Bodi was born in 1924 in Racine, Wisconsin. Originally named Lazlo, he was given the name Lewis by his kindergarten teacher, which he kept for life. He served in the Navy in World War II, and attended De Pauw University on the GI Bill where he met his wife of 62 years, Sara Frances Lord. He earned a Doctorate in Physical Chemistry from the University of Wisconsin and moved his growing family to Brooklyn and then Long Island where he worked as a chemistry professor at Brooklyn College, and then a researcher in electroluminescence at GTE Sylvania, at that time in Bayside. In 1965 the family moved from Bethpage to Glen Cove where he and his wife resided until his death.

At about that time he moved to York College CUNY and helped to develop this into a permanent institution, now located in Jamaica, Queens. He served there as Dean of the Science Department, Vice President of Academic Affairs, and retired as Provost. His retirement was spent in support of his growing family of grandchildren. He is survived by his wife Sara Lord Bodi, the former chief psychologist of Glen Cove schools; son Kip Bodi, and daughters Sari Bodi, Betsy Bodi Thomas, and Nancy Bodi-Hurley. Also surviving him are eleven grandchildren, and two step grandchildren.

A wake will take place on Friday, November 9th at McLaughlin Kramer Megiel Funeral Home, 220 Glen Street, Glen Cove, NY. Visitation times will be 3:00-5:00 pm and 7:00 to 9:00 pm. The funeral service will be held Saturday November 10th at 10:00 a.m. at McLaughlin Kramer Megiel Funeral home. Lewis will be laid to rest at Locust Valley Cemetery, Ryefield Road, Locust Valley, NY. In lieu of flowers, the family requests that donations be sent to York College. (<https://giving.york.cuny.edu>)

Sikh 's Celebrate UN and World Peace Day

The Sikh Temple in Glen Cove recently celebrated United Nations and Sikh World Peace Day in September with visitors from other faiths. A group of people from the Gathering of Light Multifaith Spiritual fellowship in Dix Hills, were there to sing a special song of praise. They are "A community where individual spiritually is recognized, honored and strengthened through an offering of different faith philosophies and providing opportunities to be of service to the local community to put our beliefs into action by helping others."

Glen Cove poet laureate Victoria Crosby, a Universal Life Minister and a Vestry member of St John's of Lattingtown, was asked by Raj Sing, president of East West Association of Sikh Women, to write a poem commemorating the interfaith service held at the Sikh temple (Gurdwara) in solidarity with the Sikh community following the shooting in Wisconsin. Ms Crosby read the following poem at the UN Day Sikh World Peace Day.

Inter-Faith Understanding

By Victoria Crosby

Christians, Jews, Sikhs, Muslims and Baha'is and people of all faiths who realize that through understanding our religious philosophies our differences are fewer than our similarities. People from all countries and religious denominations coming together as united nations to show solidarity with one

Portledge Girl Scout Troop Makes Scarecrows For Harvest Festival

Portledge School's Girl Scout Troop 67 had a fun meeting creating three scarecrows to enter into the Locust Valley Chamber of Commerce Harvest Festival Scarecrow Contest. The three adorable scarecrows were each created to represent the different branches of their troop, Daisies, Brownies and Juniors. Participation in the contest benefits the Locust Valley Chamber of Commerce Beautification Fund & North Shore Inn, a Long Island soup kitchen.

Portledge Troop 67 has 28 members this year from a variety of schools and surrounding towns, including Portledge, Green Vale, Glen Cove, Jericho, Locust Valley, and Oyster Bay. The troop began last year and is organized by parent volunteers, Melissa Worth (Brookville), Sarah Blundin (Locust Valley) and Melissa Meister (Centre Island).

These young girls, ages 5 to 10, are looking forward to many more community events that help teach them about community service, helping others and working cooperatively with their fellow Girl Scout sisters.

Great Book Guru

- Ann DiPietro

Dear Great Book Guru,
Throughout this surrealistic week, one of my main sources of comfort was- you guessed it- reading. I had just gotten a copy of the book you recommended the week before: HOW TO BE A WOMAN. It was so good to laugh, think, ponder about something other than the cold and darkness. Well, now I am ready for another good book to get me through the psychic aftermath of the storm. Any suggestions?

Harried by the Hurricane

Dear Hurricane Harried,
Many people told me that, like you, they were reading HOW TO BE A WOMAN last week and that it prompted many a spirited discussion. We have Gillian DiPietro to thank for that suggestion and, yes, I have a good book to recommend for this upcoming week: THE BOY IN THE SUITCASE by Lene Kaaberbol and Agnete Fris, two Danish women writing together for the first time. Their heroine is Nina Borg, a Red Cross nurse who has worked in many war torn areas of the world but, as the book opens, has just returned to her husband and children in orderly, civilized, peaceful Denmark. She quickly finds herself embroiled in a crime of astonishing cruelty because Nina's Denmark turns out to have an underbelly of corruption with widespread mistreatment of immigrant women and children. In short biographical chapters, the authors introduce us to characters that seem to have nothing to do with one another until gradually we see the links that bind them together. From Lithuania to Denmark to Somalia, we meet women of all ages and classes, fighting oppression - all involved in a fascinating mystery which keeps the reader attention throughout. Highly recommended!

Restaurant & Wine Tasting Event Benefits New Traumatic Brain Injury Unit At Glen Cove Hospital

On a lovely September evening, more than 300 people gathered at the Glen Cove mansion to sample the eclectic foods of 35 local eateries and wineries at Glen Cove Hospital's restaurant and wine tasting event, sponsored by Glen Cove Hospital and the Volunteer Auxiliary. Thanks to the efforts of the Hospital, The Auxiliary, Julie Albin, the Auxiliary's Fundraising Chair, her committee and the generosity of the local merchants and supporters, the event raised $22,000. This money is earmarked for the hospital's new Traumatic Brain Injury Unit.
