

Sea Cliff Meets the Candidates

By Carol Griffin

Sea Cliff Civic Association held its annual Meet the Candidates Night on March 12 at the Village Center with Civic Association President Ann Di Pietro opening the program. This year the candidates are Mayor Bruce Kennedy running for his third two year term as mayor, Trustee Carol Vogt also running for her third two year term as village trustee and Ed Lieberman running for trustee for the first time. An uncontested Village election will be held on Tuesday, March 19 from 12 noon until 9 p.m.

Trustee Carol Vogt

Trustee Vogt said she is running for her third term because although she thinks a lot has been accomplished since she took office, there is still unfinished projects that she wants to complete and unresolved issues she can help to resolve given her experience in her liaison assignments that include the beach and the construction of the Arts Gazebo, renovation of the Beach Pavilion and the beach parking lot.

She said she started a Beach Council that coordinates efforts of the beach. She said her work as liaison to Senior Services has focused on the Senior Survey to determine the best way to serve senior residents, and finally getting a new senior bus. As liaison to the museum she has worked to promote its activities and its renovation. As the representative of the Tree Committee and liaison to the Landmarks Preservation Commission she has begun the process of scheduling public meeting to discuss the diverse views of the residents on trees and the part historic architecture plays in Sea Cliff.

She said the other part of her experience comes from working with the Mayor and other trustees and village staff on issues such as a Cell Tower proposal, change in the leaf collection system and working on a budget that came in under the tax cap and allowed the Board to hold the line on taxes while improving services, creating a new web site and fixing miles of roads.

Even during Hurricane, the village and public works pulled together and found resources to meet several difficult challenges and as a result the Board added new emergency procedures for the future. However, there is a lot more to do Vogt said, such as complete the work on Village Hall/Senior Library, build and refurbish the Children's Library and finish the review of the Building Department and Village Code.

Edward Lieberman

Trustee candidate Ed Lieberman thanked everyone. He noted that Sea Cliff recently lost past Mayor Norm Parsons and he hoped that when elected he can live up to Parson's standards. He said at first people didn't know him. When campaigning he said he told people how he loves to do community service and work for the betterment of the community.

He believes that his personal and professional experiences and community service has provided him with the sensitivities and practical experience of governing which will serve all the people of Sea Cliff. Lieberman has served as President and on the Board of Directors of the Lion's Club for many years. As a defense attorney, he has worked in the prosecutor's office correction unit and as a defense attorney he is someone who wants to help people.

In Sea Cliff he has served on the Beach Committee and he is running for trustee because he loves the people of Sea Cliff and he enjoys it.

Bruce Kennedy

In his statement Mayor Bruce Kennedy said he enjoyed the past 4 years being mayor of "the finest community ever to exist." He said a lot has been accomplished in a short time during a historic economic crisis. He said he has

Elected Officials Continue To Press Albany For LIPA Solution

North Shore School Board President, Carolyn Mazzu Genovesi accompanied by Sea Cliff Mayor, Bruce Kennedy, Sea Cliff Trustee and Legislative Action Committee (LAC) Chairperson, Thomas Murphy, Gold Coast Library Trustee, Miles Sibell, School Board Trustee, Thomas Knierim, and LAC Liaison, Igor Webb, visited officials in Albany to discuss the ramifications and the need for a State solution for the loss of

taxes from the decommissioning of the Glenwood Landing LIPA plant. Mayor Kennedy said, "It was my pleasure to represent my Sea Cliff constituents in this important trip to Albany. I was very pleased to witness all of the positive relationships and progress School Board President Genovesi has forged while representing the community over these past 18 months."

presented balanced and reserved budgets that have kept spending at bay. He said when he took office in 2009 the budget was $5.2 million dollars and today four years later, the budget is only $5.3 million, which is only a 2.9% increase when costs of pensions, health insurance, and workmen's compensation have soared at a rate of 15-20% annually. "If other municipalities and districts were as fiscally responsible as Sea Cliff Board of Trustees, there would be no need for a property tax cap. Despite this tremendous curb on taxes, we have not cut any services. We have simply spent smarter... by more aggressively looking for more competitive bidding on everything from garbage disposal to roadwork, to office supplies to liability insurance." The result is Standard & Poor's increasing Sea Cliff's bond rating to AA+."

Phase I rehabilitation project at Village Hall has been completed and complete renovation/enlargement of the Beach Pavilion that includes building a much larger and modernized kitchen, and sound equipment in the Arts Gazebo has been accomplished. The downtown area of Sea Cliff has more restaurants, shops, and galleries and investment of property owners into the building is on the upswing, said Kennedy.

The professional staff at the DPW has a greater sense of pride in the community and the morale is excellent said Kennedy. The DPW has handled some incredible snowstorms, flooding rains, and two historic hurricanes with Sea Cliff back to normal at incredible speeds. This past summer Sea Cliff got Nassau County to completely repave Glen Avenue and a portion of Prospect Avenue.

Kennedy gave a shout out to both Sea Cliff Fire Department and the DPW for the incredible service they provided to Sea Cliff residents under difficult times.

Other projects completed include a new professional and easy to navigate website and Audio/Visual equipment in both the downstairs meeting room and Room B on the second floor.

Kennedy extended appreciation to his hard working Board of Trustees and a hard working professional staff.

He said he looks forward to working again with Trustee Carol Vogt and Ed Lieberman.

Questions from the Public

The first question was directed at the two trustees candidates came from a resident who asked in terms of keeping the checks and balances, given the fact that Sea Cliff' residents rights fall under the Village code, who is responsible for making sure that Village officials themselves obey the code? The trustees indicated that if necessary it would fall under the County.

Another resident said she was upset the old method of leaf collection went away and that now the leaves collected in plastic bags. She said would like to see something done to make the process more environmentally positive. It was explained that the bags are slit up, and technically the bags are recyclable. The village is looking to other bags.

Someone asked if there were any plans to open the public rite away on the Boulevard. The person was told the resident alongside the rite away planted bushes and developer who owns the adjoining property put a fence there which the Village has to address.

Someone else asked how a trustee gets liaison assignments. Ed Lieberman said out of interest, he has looked into being a liaison to local business given his prior volunteer services to organizations. Carol Vogt said, in many respects liaison choices come down to what kind of time the trustees have to offer.

Another question inquired about what future capital improvements are planned? Mayor Kennedy said the completion of the restoration of Village Hall, two new and improved garbage trucks, for which the Village will float a bond to cover the cost of at $80,000 each and renovation of the children's library, which will cost about a half a million dollars. The cost is too much for now, but a new HVAC system is being considered and a bathroom, which will possibly come from a grant. In conclusion, the mayor said they are still planning on a sewer line down Sea Cliff Avenue. The Village plans to apply for a federal grant for that project.

Another resident questioned Sea Cliff's low recycling rate. He was told smaller businesses don't do much recycling.

A Sea Cliff woman asked the mayor why she had been blocked from his Facebook site. Kennedy said if he considers the communication abusive he blocks it.

On a question about who will run the concession at the beach next year, Trustee Vogt said she asked every eatery in Sea Cliff and some in Glen Head for a proposal for running the concession, but has not yet received many back.

Lastly, a resident said she was upset about the destruction of Sea Cliff's architectural history. Carol Vogt said there are plans to make changes and to put more teeth in the landmark laws.

In closing, the candidates said they need residents to come to more public meetings as resident input is important and volunteering yourselves to the many committees and services in Sea Cliff.

The classic movie "Wings" takes flight at Chaminade High School!

On March 23rd at 7 PM at Chaminade High School in Mineola, the 1927 Academy Award-winning silent movie classic "Wings," directed by William A. Wellman, starring the "It Girl," Clara Bow, "Buddy" Rogers, Richard Arlen and Gary Cooper, will be presented with LIVE theatre organ accompaniment by world-famous organist, Bernie Anderson, Jr. Mr. Anderson, celebrated as one of the world's foremost silent film accompanists, will be performing on Chaminade's magnificent Austin Morton Theatre Pipe Organ. The program is a presentation of the New York Theatre Organ Society, The Nassau Chapter of the American Guild of Organists, and Chaminade High School. The showing will be the family entertainment event of the Spring.

North Shore Local Elected Officials Continue To Press Albany Re: Lipa Solution

Amongst others, they visited three of the Albany legislators that represent the North Shore District; on March 5, Senator Marcellino, Assemblyman Lavine and Assemblyman Ra. Senator Marcellino gave his assurance that the Senate will propose monies in the Senate's version of the state budget to help ease the loss of taxes. President Genovesi said, "Senator Marcellino has been a champion on behalf of this community and his efforts are to be commended."

They also met with other key Albany legislators and their staff in order to make sure that their legislative committees, such as the Education and Energy,

In the history of the Academy, there have only been two silent films to win this prestigious award. "Wings" and "The Artist", which won last year. This action-packed thriller takes place during World War I with Rogers, Arlen and Cooper as the pilots. The director, "Wild Bill" Wellman, acquired his nickname as a fighter pilot during WWI in the Lafayette Flying Corps in France. Wellman knew first hand about dog fighting with enemy pilots. For the dog fight scenes in "Wings" he had cameras mounted on the planes to film these daredevil, heart-stopping exploits with stunt pilots that actually crashed many of the planes in the film for the story line. These daring stunt pilots with amazing skill and expertise knew how to escape these realistic fiery crashes. This was a film made with no special effects!

This film is rated "E" for everyone. It is a film for grandparents, who will remember seeing silent films with live musical accompaniment, their children and their grandchildren. It's an 'edge of your seat' thriller that was made eighty-six years ago without the use of computer graphic which is both entertaining and a great opportunity to see these classic film stars of the 1920's larger than life on the silver screen!

Fully restored, "Wings" will be presented on March 23, 2012 in Darby Auditorium at 7 PM at Chaminade High School, Jackson Ave. Mineola, New York. Tickets are $12 Adults, $10 Seniors 65+, $10 Students 12+, and Children under 12 FREE. Special Package Group Rates available. Call (516) 742-5555 for ticket information and reservations.

are aware of the LIPA issue. This will enable them to support a solution and be prepared to help.

Important members of the Governor's staff were also informed of the reasons a State solution is necessary. While all of the State elected officials pledged to be helpful to the community, both the Governor's office and the Senate have proposed legislative solutions which address the decrease in the tax base over a period of time. President Genovesi said, "We will continue to pressure our representatives and consider every option available to the School District regarding the ramp-down of the LIPA Power Facility in our community."

Children's Book At Grassroots

On a recent visit to Grassroots in Glen Head I noticed a children's book for sale, "Ruth the Sleuth and the Messy Room" by Carol Gordon, Grassroots, owned by the ever popular Rob Mansfield does have a diverse menu at Grassroots but books are a bit different for him. He explained that Carol is the sister of Irene Rizzo, of Sea Cliff and he loved to book and decided to put it in the shop. Carol said, "I had been writing for about four years when I thought of Ruth the Sleuth and the Messy Room on a February vacation under an umbrella on a Jamaican beach. I do some of my best writing near water! (That's why I love the Sea Cliff area so much!) I was at the beach when I wrote my very first manuscript and decided to become a writer. It was very unexpected. I taught fourth grade for almost 30 years at that time and had no intention of becoming an author. But I think it was predestined for me, this new avenue to communicate with children.

"On that day in Jamaica, my husband and I sat staring at the ocean and I was talking about my writing. In the airport we had seen A Dora the Explorer book. I write mostly from the heart of a teacher. That was my first passion...it's still a passion, even though I retired after 35 years and now write full time. Anyway, my husband wanted to know why I couldn't write something more commercial and maybe have a fun rhyming title like Dora the Explorer. We started brainstorming...silly titles at first, but then since my mom's name is Ruth, I thought of Ruth the Sleuth. When my mom misplaces something, she doesn't stop looking until she's found it. I thought of all those messy desks I'd seen and the many disorganized kids I'd helped over the years, and decided to deal with that topic. I wrote some notes on paper and didn't actually get down a draft on my computer until three months later. This became the 30th story I wrote. "Many revisions later, and 13 rejections later, I saw a call for submissions from a new publisher on the Society of Children's Writers and Illustrators discussion boards. The publisher was starting an innovative company, Character Publishing, looking for stories that helped develop different character traits in children and where the books would be categorized by the qualities that they enhance in children. I had lots of stories like that! I sent an e-mail in with my story, highlighting the character trait of organization. It took seven months until I heard back with the good news that she was interested in the manuscript. My first book, Where Am I Sleeping Tonight?-A Story of Divorce, took about two years to hold in my hands. Ruth the Sleuth and the Messy Room was in my hands in only seven months after I signed the contract. I was so pleased with the illustrator she chose, Kimberly Soderberg. It was Kimberly's first picture book, so I knew she'd give it her all. I loved that the publisher put a parent's guide to raising organized children and a game to help children with organization in the back of the book.

"Coming to Sea Cliff to visit my sister often, I am very familiar with Grassroots. We just love their delicious healthy muffins and scones! So when I was at a workshop and another author talked about making a connection with her book and a bakery, I thought of how my story begins and ends with chocolate chip cookies and even has a recipe for healthy chocolate chip cookies in the back. And the first bakery I thought of was my favorite, Grassroots! I contacted Rob Mansfield, the owner, and he is such a positive and upbeat person. Without hesitation, he said yes to the idea of selling my book, packaged with chocolate chip cookies, in his bakery."

Glenwood Fire Co Junior Corps Installation Dinner 2013

by D Bailey

The Glenwood Junior Corps celebrates its 10 year Anniversary this year. The Jr. Corps was conceived by Ex-Chief Michael Basile & Tami Basile and instituted by the Glenwood H&L, E&H Company in 2003. In the past 10 years many Jr. Corps members have gone on to become firefighters in Glenwood Fire Company as well as surrounding communities.

The Jr. Corp program is designed for children ages 10 – 18 that have an interest in becoming a first responder one day. We have monthly meetings, drills and trainings and educational field trips. In the past 10 years we have visited Fire Com, Marine 9, FDNY & the Fire Museum and Ground Zero.

Members of the Jr. Corps have done many fund raisers. This past year the Jr. Corps hosted a Toy Drive to benefit the victims of Hurricane Sandy. Members distributed the toys collected directly to families in Island Park and really had a chance to speak with the people that were devastated by the storm.

The Glenwood Junior Corps is also a member of the Nassau County Junior Fireman's Association. As members of this Association our members are afforded opportunities to train with other Junior Fire Fighters and Explorers in Nassau County.

Our Annual Meeting and Installation of Officers were held February 15th at Glenwood H&L E&H Company Headquarters. Outgoing Captain Mitchell Bailey was presented with a Merit Award from the Town of Oyster Bay by Council Woman Elizabeth Faughnan. Outgoing officers Lt. Billy Binninger, Lt. Nick Liotta, Secretary Jack O'Donnell and Treasurer Martin Paolillo were presented with an Honor Certificate by Director David Bailey.

New Officers, Captain Nick Liotta, Lt. Jack O'Donnell, Lt. Joe Barcellos, Secretary Ashley Marra and Treasurer Kayla Bailey were sworn in by Chief Mike Riccardo.

Currently the Junior Corps has 19 active members under the direction of Chairman Michael Basile, Director David Bailey and Director Robert Roper, Advisor Fred Junge, Advisor Spencer Millwater and Advisor Brendan Clam-pet.

The Glenwood Junior Corps continues to grow with the help and support of the Officers, Members and families of the Glenwood Fire Company as well as the community.

Glen Cove St. Patrick's Day Parade March 17, 2013

Patrick's Day in Glen Cove on March 17, 2013 will be even more special than usual for two great reasons. The first is that Glen Cove gets a rare chance to hold its St. Patrick's Day Parade on St. Patrick's Day itself, since the Manhattan parade is held on Saturday when St. Patrick's Day falls on a Sunday. The second is that this year's Parade will be the 25th Annual parade since its inception in 1989. During that time the Parade, always a dazzling event, has grown to be the premier St. Patrick's Day celebration on the North Shore and the largest annual parade in Glen Cove.

This year's Grand Marshal is renowned Irish activist and Sea Cliff resident Daniel J. Lane. He will be accompanied by Aides Robert and Pamela Panzenbeck, Lisa Forgione and Joseph McDonald.

The Parade begins to form up at 12 noon in the area of the Finley Middle School on Forest Avenue. It steps off at 1pm, following the usual route through downtown Glen Cove to St. Patrick's Church. There is very ample parking in the municipal garages and at the end of the parade route.

The backbone of the parade, as always, will be its exciting mix of marching groups, including many bands of Irish pipers and other marching bands.. Further color will be added to the festivities by vintage cars, costumed performers, face painters, fire and police units and much more. The parade is a true community celebration of the coming of Spring with many of our areas ethnic organizations, often in costume, taking part. Come, join the fun!

For more information about the parade, please visit www.glencoveirishparade.org or call 516-782-7494.

A Gold Key for Glen Cove HS Artist

Glen Cove High School junior Alejandro Rosa Salinas is the recipient of the prestigious Gold Key for photography award in the 2013 Scholastic Art & Writing Awards competition.

Selected from over 200,000 entries, Alejandro's original photograph entitled "Night Swing" has earned him the Gold Key for the Northeast region – the highest level of achievement on the regional level. Only 7-10% of all regional submissions are recognized with the Gold Key and all are considered for national recognition, making Alejandro eligible for additional honors and prizes. National medalists will be announced on Friday, March 15, 2013.

Since 1923, the Scholastic Art & Writing Awards have recognized the exceptional vision of the nation's youth including young artists and writers, filmmakers and photographers, poets, and sculptors, as well as countless educators who support and encourage the creative process. The Alliance for Young Artists & Writers presents the awards annually to bring the exceptional artistic and literary talents of teens to a national audience.

Sea Cliff First Graders Celebrate The Fairy Tale Ball

At Sea Cliff Elementary, first graders celebrated its annual Fairy Tale Ball culminating 6-7 weeks of literary studies in folk and fairy tales as part of the English curriculum. Parents, families, and friends were invited to the Fairy Tale Ball which combines literature with fantasy. Students dressed up as characters in literature to become part of their favorite fairy tales including Cinderella, Goldilocks and The Three Bears, The Three Little Pigs, The Gingerbread Man, and Jack and the Beanstalk. During the celebration, activities included skits, individual readings, and fun songs.

During the 6-7 weeks of study, first graders in Joanne Miller, Arlene Roberts and Erin Morley's classes focused on story elements including: settings, story lines, characterization, and problems and solutions. Prior to the celebration, the first graders were taught all about the wonders of magic, repeating words and happy endings. Additionally, under the direction of art teacher Lisa Guirlanda, students created artifacts which were displayed in the Sea Cliff Fairy Tale Museum for everyone to see!

Expressing Heritage and Creativity at Glen Cove HS

At the conclusion of their art and music unit of study, students in Herenia Padilla's Spanish Native Language Arts I class at Glen Cove High School made presentations to their class members about the many famous Latino painters they studied, their works and the beauty of Latino music. One class created original pieces of art accompanied by a writing component and an oral presentation while another researched various traditional dances, including the cha-cha-cha, the tango and the cumbia. Some students performed these dances for their classmates, even choreographing steps of their own.

"The students had a great time with this unit of study," said Ms. Padilla. "In addition to their research, they were able to express the meaning of being Hispanic through their writing, art and dance."

NS Middle School Sixth Grade Publishing Celebration

In February, sixth graders at North Shore Middle School participated in a Publishing Celebration for the culmination of their Information Writing unit of study under the direction of English teacher Ms. Novick. Information Writing is a Teacher's College unit that is part of the sixth grade English curriculum.

Ms. Novick said, "This unit of study was an entry into nonfiction text. It inspired my students to engage in nonfiction writing and find their voice in this genre since traditionally they shy away and prefer fiction."

Before the sixth graders actively wrote their own non-fiction books, they took part in numerous nonfiction reading assignments. For their individual books, the students brainstormed ideas, researched topics of interest and incorporated important facts and text support into their writing. During this process, the students used their iPads to manipulate photos, diagrams, charts, captions, and labels. Some of the student's book titles included The Evolution of Horses, Submarines, Poodles, The Beatles, Space Shuttle, and Frozen World, just to name a few! Each student could choose a topic that they were most interested in.

As nonfiction authors, the students had to inform their readers and explain their subject matter. Their main purpose as authors was to enhance their readers' understanding of their respective topics. Additionally, they had to utilize domain specific vocabulary, or expert terminology, to enhance understanding (i.e., if their topic was the rain forest, their vocabulary words might include understory or habitat loss).

At the Publishing Celebration, the students read and admired the work of their peers, learning from the different nonfiction topics published by their friends in the class. Ms. Novick concluded by saying, "It was evident that every single student in my class increased their writing stamina and grew as writers throughout this comprehensive unit of study."

-Glen Cove Emergency Numbers-

In the City of Glen Cove, there are two important emergency phone numbers that the community should know. Please write these numbers down or add them into your cell phone if you aren't familiar with them. An emergency can happen at any place at any time. Know what number to dial before the emergency occurs. By dialing these phone numbers you will speak directly to the person who will dispatch the call.

(516) 676-1000 - Police Emergency. This is the direct emergency number for the Glen Cove Police Dept. When you dial this number you'll speak directly to the Glen Cove Police desk officer who will then dispatch police units to respond to the emergency.

(516) 671-3437 - Medical or Fire Emergency. This is the direct emergency number for the Glen Cove Fire Dept and Glen Cove Emergency Medical Services (EMS). When you dial this number you'll speak directly to the Glen Cove Fire Dispatcher who will then dispatch units to respond to the emergency. The Fire Dispatcher dispatches calls for both the Fire Dept and EMS.

Always remember when in doubt call 9-1-1

If you dial 9-1-1 from a landline in the City of Glen Cove you'll automatically get the Glen Cove Police Dept. The police desk officer will either dispatch police units if its law enforcement-related or forward the call over to the Glen Cove Fire Dispatcher if it's a medical or fire emergency.

If you dial 9-1-1 from a cell phone in the City of Glen Cove the call will not go to any Glen Cove dispatcher. You'll get the main Nassau County 911 Communications Center in Westbury. They'll take down your information and send it to several other dispatchers before units can be dispatched to respond to the emergency. This could add delays in the response.

Letters to the Editor

Nicholas Pedone 5k Run/Walk and Half Mile Fun Run

To The Editor,

My name is Ashleigh Sheerin co-president of the North Shore Middle School and I am writing on behalf of Nicholas Pedone, a 7 year old second grader at Glen Head Elementary. Many of you know that Nicholas was diagnosed with Neuroblastoma in late October of last year. Neuroblastoma is a cancer that can develop in the abdomen, chest, neck and spine and effects children ages 5 and under. There is very little known about why this happens and Neuroblastoma accounts for 8-10% of all childhood cancers. There is no known cure for this terrible disease. On Sunday April 7th there will be a 5K and Half Mile Fun Run fundraiser in Glen Cove organized by Nicholas' family. This is a great way for everyone to show their support for Nicholas, raise awareness for a cure as well as getting active and having fun. We have told our students at NSMS about this 5K and are hoping that they and you will spread the word. We are encouraging everyone in our community to get involved. There is a half mile fun run for anyone 10 and under and the 5K walk/run (whichever you prefer) for the older kids and adults. This is not only for students of North Shore Schools, anyone can register and any help would be much appreciated. So encourage your friends, your neighbors, your relatives, your co-workers, anyone you can think of to get involved. Please take a minute to look at Nicholas' website <http://www.nicholaspedone.com> for the online registration form or just to read about his story. Thank you in advance for your support in one way or another. This is such an amazing organization for an even more amazing boy!!!!

Nicole Larkin

Thank you to our Sea Cliff's Fire Medic Unit

To The Editor,

I would like to thank the following members of the Sea Cliff Fire Medic Unit that came to my assistance on March 4: Ernest Longobucco, Jr., Daniel Whittemore, David Seigel, James Ajamian, Carmine Montesano, Emmy Fiorenza, Charles Valicenti and Buddy Griffin.

These wonderful people provided me with excellent medical assistance; they were caring and took exceptional care of me. I will be forever grateful to them. We as a community should feel so proud to have such an exceptional team of volunteers that assist us in medical emergencies. Thank you!!!

Academics and Acceptance Flourish at Mill Neck Integrated Preschool

One boy is a little taller than the other and is blond, his friend is dark haired. One lives in Nassau County, the other farther out, in Suffolk. These differences hardly matter to the two six-year-olds, and the fact that Brady is hearing impaired and Dylan is not, makes the least difference of all. For Dylan and Brady, it's all about the fun they have when they get together. Fun that started when they were in the same integrated preschool class at Mill Neck Manor School for the Deaf.

Jenna Loreda, Dylan's mom, elaborates on the friendship that blossomed between her son and Brady. "The boys were in the same class last year. They were always together in school and Brady helped Dylan a lot, in particular with carrying his backpack. They both got picked up from school so they would walk to the pick-up area together, always asking to have play dates. Finally after a few weeks, Brady's dad and I set one up."

The boys never had a problem communicating with each other and this ease of communication between them grew along with their acceptance of one another. "Despite the differences in their hearing abilities, Brady and Dylan hit it off from the beginning," says Nicole Petrella, the boys' teacher at Mill Neck. "They always wanted to sit next to each other and work together."

Brady's dad, Keith Reyling, says, "I remember Nicole and Jenna saying how shy Dylan was at the beginning of school. It took him a little while to come out of his shell and I like to think that Brady's friendship helped, but I think the friendship actually sparked over having the same snack!"

Typically, most graduates of Mill Neck's Integrated Pre-K program transition to kindergarten or first grade in their home school districts. As Brady and Dylan continue to flourish academically in their district schools, their bond also continues to strengthen. The boys' parents get their sons together usually during each school break, and just recently, Dylan celebrated his sixth birthday with his friend Brady among the guests at the party. For play dates, the Loredos and Reylings alternate hosting or meet at a location somewhere in between, like BounceU or mini golf. The boys also like Nintendo Wii, Legos, and playing outside. As Loreda puts it, "Just typical boy stuff."

Keith Reyling agrees. "Brady and Dylan seem up for anything when meeting for a play date. As long as they get to hang out together, it doesn't matter what the activity is. I think the friendship between them has endured because it is one of those true friendships good for both kids. As for what it meant to Brady, and to my wife and me, that he made a friend so early in school – well I can't understate how wonderful it made us feel. Brady would come home every day with stories about Dylan and it warmed our hearts knowing he had someone who made him feel comfortable in school."

The Integrated Pre-K – K Auditory/

Verbal Program at Mill Neck, where Dylan and Brady first met, is a full day program for 3 and 4 year-old children who are hearing and hearing impaired. The hearing impaired children who attend the program are hearing aid and/or cochlear implant users, like Brady. In Mill Neck's program, the acquisition of language and vocabulary happens primarily through the children listening to and speaking with each other, rather than by direct teacher instruction alone.

As Kathleen Kerzner, Principal of Mill Neck Manor School for the Deaf, explains, "More natural learning occurs as hearing impaired children listen to and speak with their hearing peers and these children go on to kindergarten or first grade with the same skills that the hearing children have." Kerzner also notes that both hearing and hearing impaired children benefit from the program. "School districts have shared that our children are so well-prepared," she says.

Dylan's mom agrees. "Dylan is doing very well in school and has transitioned nicely. Mill Neck really prepared him for kindergarten and he is reading and writing now. His whole family is extremely proud of the work he is doing."

As for his son, Reyling says, "Brady is having an amazing year in first grade. We attribute so much of his success to the experience he had at Mill Neck." He credits Brady's consistent exposure to books last year with fostering the child's love for reading and current above-grade reading ability. Of Brady's hearing and speech, he says, "Brady continues to work hard at learning to hear and his hearing and speech have continually progressed to where he is understood and able to communicate with his peers." Brady had surgery in June to become bilaterally implanted, and while his dad acknowledged it was tough getting ready for a new school and learning to hear through his new processor, Brady

Great Book Guru

- Ann DiPietro

Dear Great Book Guru, Someone told me that this coming weekend is the North American Barbara Pym Society conference and, in addition to the normal festivities, it is a celebration of her 100th birthday. I have never read a Barbara Pym novel but many of my friends are great fans of hers. Do you have a favorite Pym novel that I might begin with?

Possible Pymian

Dear Possible Pymian, The Pym Society of Sea Cliff's members- the Hansmann-Kennedys and the DiPietros among others-will be attending the conference in full force this weekend. Every March during Harvard's spring break the Pym Society takes over the campus with lectures, dramatized readings, dinners, testimonials and general Pymian good fun. This year's conference is sold out but do plan on attending next year. I would recommend any of her books, but a favorite of mine is one of her earlier works: JANE AND PRUDENCE. Set in both 1950's London and a small, unnamed village (strangely reminiscent of Sea Cliff?), the novel tells the parallel stories of 42 year-old Jane, the kindhearted, brilliant but scattered wife of the clergyman Nicholas Cleveland, and Prudence, a 29 year-old beautifully elegant single woman with a penchant for unfulfilling infatuations with married academicians. As in all Pym's novels, the plot line is secondary to the character development and we soon become intimately involved in the lives of these two women. There is much humor and insight in this novel- highly recommended!

has shown amazing resilience in meeting these challenges.

Reyling concludes, "I can't say enough good things about Jenna. I'm so thankful for her being the kind of person who not only was willing to let her son develop a friendship with a hearing impaired child, but also encouraged it. When she told me that she wanted the boys to be friends for life, I knew Brady was lucky to have met Dylan at Mill Neck."

As Dylan and Brady's story illustrates, Mill Neck Manor School for the Deaf brings together children who are hearing and hearing impaired, successfully developing meaningful communication, lasting friendships and youngsters who learn at an early age, what it means to be compassionate towards others.

The Integrated Preschool is one of the programs offered by Mill Neck Manor School for the Deaf, a 4201 school. Others include the Infant/Toddler Program, Total Communication Program for pre-k through grade 12, certified high school and a Deaf-Autism Special Needs program.

Mill Neck Manor School for the Deaf is a state-supported priate school, located in northern Nassau County, New York. It is open to youngsters, from infancy to age 21, who are legal residents of New York State, including Long Island and the New York metropolitan area. There is no cost to families or school districts for a Deaf child to attend. Referrals are initiated by parents, clinics, physicians or school districts. Children benefit from specialized communication techniques, up-to-date curriculum and technology resources. For more information on Mill Neck's programs and services, please contact Kathleen Kerzner at 516-628-4232 or kkerzner@millneck.org.

Best buds: Dylan and Brady love hanging out together.
