

Village Shows Strong Support in Uncontested Election

By Kevin C. Horton

Despite being an uncontested election, Sea Cliff residents showed support for Mayor Bruce Kennedy and two trustees running in the March 19 Village election.

Incumbent Mayor Bruce Kennedy, entering his third two year term as mayor received 252 votes. Incumbent Trustee Carol Vogt, also received 252 votes and will be entering her third two year term. Newly elected Trustee Edward Lieberman, who is taking the seat of Trustee Tom Murphy who decided not to seek re-election, received 254 votes.

Lieberman said, "I want to thank the Village Board and Civic Progress for their support. I'm very pleased with the turnout from the residents considering it was an uncontested election and inclement weather. I look forward to serving all the residents of Sea Cliff."

Lieberman said he got involved in Village politics with the encouragement of Mayor Kennedy. Lieberman is well known throughout the community for his work with the local Lions Organization. Vogt said, "Thank you to everyone who voted! I hope you'll continue to stay involved and informed over the next two years."

As Mayor Bruce Kennedy embarks on his third term as mayor he enjoyed another uncontested election. Back in 2009 it was a different story, he was considered a bit of the underdog in heat between three candidates. There was Joe Krupinski, who was running on the Village Green Party ticket, Bob Haim, running under the Civic Progress Party ticket and Bruce Kennedy running on the Alliance Party ticket. In 2011 he also ran unopposed.

"It's been a pleasure to serve the people of Sea Cliff for the past four years. I'm honored by the vote of confidence by electing me to a third term. While I'll miss working with Tom Murphy I look forward to working with Edward Lieberman. We have a strong Board of Trustees who are dedicated to serving in the best interest of our residents and we will continue to chart that course into the future."

Ed Lieberman, Carol Vogt and Bruce Kennedy celebrate the support they received by Village residents.

Glen Head/Glenwood Landing Civics Provide Residents Update on Sunoco Property

By Carol Griffin

Glen Head and Glenwood Landing residents got to give input on the future of the Sunoco property at the corner Glen Cove Avenue and Glenwood Road on March 13 at the Middle School. There was a good turnout of residents who asked several good questions. George Pombar, president of the Glen Head/Glenwood Landing Civic Council, that includes 10 civics from the area, hosted the meeting and introduced the invited guests John Elsworth, Phil Schade, and Hal Mayer, all who work with the office of the Town of Oyster Bay.

Pombar stated that at present the community has two options on the table with the Sunoco property, either to allow the Town of Oyster Bay build a park on the site, which they have allocated funds to do, or the property could be sold to the First National Bank of Long Island that has approached Sunoco to build an office building there. Either choice would be a win/win situation said Pombar.

To give a little history, three years ago there was a contract signed for $1.4 million between Sunoco and the Town of Oyster Bay to buy the property to build a park. The contract included an agreement from Sunoco to do a complete environmental clean up. With the property not being cleaned up by Sunoco in a timely manner, the contract was voided. Since then Sunoco has completed an environmental cleanup on the property, but it is still a total eye sore said Pombar.

It was estimated at the time it that it would cost the Town about another $700,000 to build the park. At present, Sunoco pays $40,000 a year on the property. If it becomes a park the taxes would be spread out among all the residents in the TOB and it will be the Town's responsibility to maintain the park. However, if the bank was to build on the property the taxes are expected to be $90,000.

The bank's proposal is to build a two story office building, not a branch. The building would not be erected until 2016 and the property would not be purchased for resale. The bank would clean up the property immediately, take down the existing building, and plant grass and shrubs around the property.

The bank does not intend to shut down any of its current Glen Head buildings including the branch across from the American Legion Hall on Glen Head Road. There are no plans to expand or build on the property across from the American Legion because of water table issues that preclude more than one story. The building currently envisioned does not include additional parking. If the TOB zoning code requires additional parking for the structure and use, the Bank would ask for a variance.

The building would house approximately 35 employees. It would be staffed primarily by 20 present employees relocated from local rentals, and add a few more with growth, which they feel would not have a major negative impact on the traffic at the four corners. Should the bank project go forward, the Civic Council and community could request that Nassau County conduct a traffic study to add signal lights at the traffic light at the four corners. The bank has indicated that it is interested in buying the building only if they are welcome by the community.

If the local community decides to go through in buying the property, TOB Supervisor John Venditto generously promised $500,000 to beautify the area.

Resident Input

One resident said taxes would be going out if a park is built. But if bank buys the property, there will be more taxes coming into the area. Another point made was, if on the other hand the bank can't grow, the community could lose.

Another resident said if it's deemed as a park in an urban setting, "We have no plan, we don't know exactly how it would be used. There is not parking, it can't be built for athletics, and it's no good for a children's park. The community can't go around losing tax revenues. We have to look beyond. We're already losing taxes with LIPA." "Who would use this park?." Someone else asked.

"How do you build a two story building in such a small area?" asked someone else. She was told the property is 1,900 square feet enough space for a building.

Hal Mayer of TOB added, if the community wants the park the town will build it, but the Town doesn't want to push something on the community. Another resident pointed out that the bank is the second oldest business in Glen Head and if we want a stable tax base, the bank has been a great neighbor. On the other hand, a park may not get so much use, even if and the traffic increases would be minimal. Someone else said the bank would increase the tax revenue by $90,000 a year as opposed to losing taxes if it was a park. Another person stood up and said he has grandchildren and it would be a great place to take them if the property was turned into a park. In conclusion, President George Pombar stated that the community needs to act and decide. He urged everyone to provide input via the survey form, as he stated. The civics handed out a survey form to all present at the meeting. If you also want to provide input on the two choices please contact your local civic or George Pombar.

Mayor Ralph V. Suozzi and Parks & Recreation Director Darcy Belyea invite you to join them for the City's 12th Annual Spring Egg Hunt. Peter Cottontail is leaving behind over 8,000 goodie-filled eggs. Children ages three to ten years old are invited to bring their baskets and have a great time collecting as many eggs as they can on Saturday, April 6th, 2013 at 11:00 a.m. at John Maccarone Memorial (City) Stadium. Egging on the children will be an immaculately dressed, floppy-eared, cotton-tailed critter, back by popular demand! Don't miss this much anticipated and fun-filled event welcoming spring.

This event is for Glen Cove residents only and parental supervision is required. Rain date is Saturday, April 7, 11a.m. at the stadium. For more information please call the Glen Cove Department of Parks and Recreation at 676-3766.

GCHS Students In NYC Photo Exhibit, Ana Jaco Wins 2nd Place!

Seven of Glen Cove High School's female photography students have work on display in New York City for two weeks as part of the Professional Women Photographers Ninth Annual Student Exhibit. Kayla Blihar, Iris Brody, Jackelyn Hayduk, Ana Jaco, Jessica Reynolds, Sara Tenke and Bryana Vasquez all submitted photographs under this year's theme "Macro Photography" which are now on display at the Calumet Gallery on West 22nd Street in Manhattan until March 23.

Congratulations to junior Ana Jaco who won second place overall and a cash award for her beautiful macro photos of flowers. This is the third year Ms. Johnides' students have been exhibited at the PWP's exhibit, which seeks to highlight and inspire young female artists. It's also the second time GCHS has a winner!

Life Scout Joseph Spivack completes his Eagle Scout Project

"Do what you can, with what you have, where you are." ~ Theodore Roosevelt

Inspired by these words from our 26th president, Life Scout Joey Spivack took the final steps towards the completion of his Eagle Scout project. Joey and his fellow troop members of Sea Cliff Boy Scout Troop 43, along with the generosity of members of the community and the generous donation of time and supplies from Port Washington Bicycles, was able to collect 140 bicycles throughout the fall of last year. On Saturday, February 2nd, after much hard work repairing tires, fixing brakes, replacing spokes, seats and many other parts Joey was able to deliver 101 refurbished bicycles to The Interfaith Nutritional Network (The INN) of Hempstead. These bicycles will be distributed through a lottery to 101 lucky individuals. Joey is seen here (second from left) standing next to Mr. Joe Barry of The Inn (far left) along with his fellow troop members and some of the refurbished bicycles.

Glenwood Landing Students Conduct Independent Investigations in Science

On February 28th at Glenwood Landing School, students were provided with an opportunity to conduct an independent investigation in the area of science. The students were given an overview of the scientific method and invited to participate. Students from all grade levels completed projects independently, in small groups, or working with their parents.

At the Science Fair, the students shared their work with adults and peers in a symposium format. Science projects investigated the use of energy, volcanoes, planets, the deep, electricity, gases, pollutants, and exothermic reactions. Specifically, some of the science projects included "Rocking With Rocks," "Melting Ice, A Hot Topic," "Brine to Beverage," "From Sauce to Solid," "Color Explosion," "Apples Float or Sink?", "Volcano Facts", and "How Potholes Form?" just to name a few!

A big thank you goes out to all of the judges who volunteered to score the projects. Without the judges, this event would not have been possible. A special thank you goes out to Mrs. Paradis and Mrs. Kelly for making this event so successful and all the science teachers, parents, and the Glenwood Landing SCA who helped support these investigations in science.

Congratulations North Shore High School Kiwanis Students of the Month

Article by NS High School Senior Kali Borucke

Photos by High School Senior Meghan Taddeo

Every year North Shore High School acknowledges the Kiwanis Students month. The student of the month is chosen by their hard work in every class, the community service they do, and simply being a determined well rounded student.

To-date, North Shore High School recognized three students this past fall season. The Kiwanis Students of the Month acknowledged for their many accomplishments include seniors: Andrew Fierstein, Melissa Sturges, and Emary Parisi. Melissa Sturges has a passion for performing arts and challenged herself by taking many advanced honors classes throughout her four years of High School. She is on the High Honor Roll, a proud AP Scholar, a tutor for the National Honors Society, a member of the French National Honors Society and the Tri-M Music Honors Society, part of the Peer Educators Group and a Senior Experience Student of the Month. For her Senior Experience, she is going above and beyond by volunteering half of her time as an intern in the high school office and participating in the Independent Projects in art.

Emary Parisi also shares an interest in the performing arts. She is an active member in all music ensembles, was Student of the Month for the Performing Arts, and is very involved with the Interact Club. She gave very good advice to underclassman by saying "Get involved with all you can, because you'll find something you enjoy. Be yourself."

Andrew Fierstein is this year's North Shore High School Salutatorian. He has received the Dartmouth Book award, is a Rennselear Medalist, is a member of the National Science Honor Society, and has received an award given by the Nassau Zone of NY Association for Health, Physical Education Recreation and Dance. He is part of the student government and a member of the bowling team. He dedicates most of his time and senior experience to Relay for Life. When asked about future plans he said, "I hope to attend Hofstra or Stony Brook to pursue a career as a doctor."

Congratulations to all of the North Shore Schools Students of the Month!

Glenwood Landing First Graders Visit the Schoolhouse

As an extension of the first grade Social Studies Curriculum, the entire first grade visited the North Shore High School original one-room Schoolhouse built and hosted by technology teacher Bruce Fichtman. As part of their "School Long Ago" lesson, GWL first graders learned how children went to school, learned and sat in a classroom very different from their own more than 100 years ago!

As part of their visit, students and their teachers had the unique opportunity to see the building created by seniors in the Long Island Studies Program under the direction of Mr. Fichtman. The North Shore "Schoolhouse" is a historic replica of the one built in Glenwood Landing in the 1800's. As they entered the authentic one-room structure, you could hear many of the children gasp, "WOW!"

During their visit, topics of discussion emphasized the importance of architectural plans and model buildings. Mr. Fichtman also shared with the students various photos and replicas of a sailboat that was created by his students and the new Victorian House TV & Recording Studio being currently built on the high school campus by seniors in the Long Island Studies Program.

First graders watched and listened intensely and even had an opportunity to ring the schoolhouse bell! Many thanks to Mr. Bruce Fichtman, the Glenwood Elementary 1st grade teachers as well as the GWL Enrichment Services program led by Audra Marcantonio for making this trip possible for the first graders.

Name the Celebrity

This week's celebrity was born Ardis Ankersen on Sept. 29, 1915 in Negros, Philippines and was an American film actress. She refused to use her stage name off-camera and insisted that her friends call her by her real name. She made her first film appearance in "Espionage Agent" (1939) with Joel McCrea and Jeffrey Lynn. This was a pre-World War II spy melodrama produced by Hal Wallis. Like many other Warner Bros. films, it clearly identified Germany as the enemy. This was unlike many other movie studios during this period that did not because they didn't want to antagonize foreign governments for fear they would not allow their films to be distributed. The following year, she played the leading lady to Errol Flynn in "Sea Hawk" and "South Suez" with George Brent, George Tobias, Lee Patrick and Cecil Kellaway. In 1942, she starred with James Cagney in "Captains in the Clouds." In 1943, she starred with George Raft, Sydney Greenstreet and Peter Lorre in "Background to Danger." This Raoul Walsh ("White Heat", "High Sierra") directed film was designed to capitalize on the runaway success of "Casablanca", which also featured Greenstreet and Lorre

Last Week's Celebrity

Last week's celebrity was born Godfrey MacArthur Cambridge. Besides his memorable role as a racial white bigot in the movie "Watermelon Man"(1970), he also starred in "The President's Analyst" (1967) with James Coburn, where he plays a depressed government agent. He also had a starring role in the 1970 Ossie Davis adaptation of the Chester Hims novel "Cotton Comes to Harlem" as well as its sequel, "Come Back Charleston Blue." Godfrey made an impressive cameo appearance in director Sidney Lumet's "Bye Bye Braverman" as a Yiddish speaking NYC cab driver. He appeared on several network TV programs "Car 54 Where Are You?", "The Dick Van Dyck Show", "I Spy" and "Police Story." In addition to acting, he had major success as a stand-up comedian. He was a headliner, working the best places and had many appearances on Johnny Carson's "Tonight Show." Along with Maya Angelou, he organized one of the first benefits for Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., held in NYC, in the late 1950's. On Nov. 29, 1976, he died of a heart attack at the age of 43 while on the Burbank, Calif. set of the ABC TV movie, "Victory at Entebbe", in which he was to portray Idi Amin, President dictator of Uganda. Amin commented Cambridge's death was "punishment from God."

Senior Night for Portledge Varsity Basketball Teams

On Friday night, February 1, 2013 during what was billed as Senior Night, the Portledge Varsity Girls and Boys Basketball teams hosted their respective IPPSAL rivals from the Waldorf School of Garden City. It was a special celebration since the nine graduating seniors that were honored have all been part of previous IPPSAL Championship teams, and have all played a big part in the resurgence of the Varsity Basketball programs at Portledge. The contingent of senior girls, most of whom had been part of three consecutive IPPSAL Championship teams, was seven strong and led by co-captains Ceci Mulry (Glen Cove) and Kristie Kelly (Oyster Bay). It also included Samantha Kravietz (Melville), Eve Shapiro (Glen Cove), Lainie Gahagan (Lattintown), Arielle Parris (Hempstead), and team manager Jackie Worral (Syosset). The crowd stood to congratulate the girls on their past accomplishments, and then watched the team go on to a dominating 55-20 victory over the Waldorf Varsity Girls team.

This very special night continued as the respective Varsity Boys teams took the court. Just before tip-off though, Coach Nick Woll called out two more seniors for recognition. Reserve forward Marc Mucciaccio (Huntington) and starting center Matt Goldstein (Muttontown) came to the middle of the floor to accept the cheers of their classmates and parents. The Portledge Varsity Boys overcame a 12 point second half deficit before securing control of this critical IPPSAL match up and posting a 75-72 win. This was a great night for all involved!

Recreating the Rainforest at Connolly

Under the direction of teacher Valarie Scicchitano, fifth-grade students at Connolly Elementary School in Glen Cove created a rainforest museum in the school library. Students combined their studies of art, science, English Language Arts and math to create a beautiful exhibit, equipped with colorful images, important facts about the rainforest, lots of trees and even a few live animals! Third and fourth-graders took a tour of the museum. The exercise reflects the type on interdisciplinary, hands-on projects recommended with the new Common Core Standards.

It's A Community Event

In last week's Gold Coast Gazette a letter appeared regarding the Nicholas Pedone 5K, a fantastic event. In the wording it seemed to some that the event was being organized by the family but they quickly pointed out that though they are involved and grateful the credit for the events goes to all the volunteers of the Glen Cove High School.

Glen Cove Movie Theater Closed

We received a note from one of our readers through our web site reporting that the Glen Cove Theater seems to be closed. According to Mayor Suozzi the theatre operator had the ability to re-open last weekend, they closed their doors because of a situation with their bank. I am trying to resolve amicably and also working on contingencies to reopen the door. Complicated situation ratcheted up with movie industry switching over from 35MM print to digital formats next month. Renovations were planned to upgrade the theatre but now on hold as finances take a front seat."

30 Year Reunion For GC High

The Glen Cove High School Class of 1983 is planning their 30 Year High School Reunion.

The date is set for Saturday, July 27, 2013 at the Sea Cliff Manor [formerly Sans Souci]. Join them for cocktails, a casual dinner, dj, dancing and a lot of catching up with old friends. Tickets can be purchased through PayPal or checks payable to: Brian Neice - GCHS Class of 83, 1 Comp Lane, Glen Cove NY 11542.

Save money by committing early. They plan on making it a weekend of fun starting with a casual gathering on Friday night, July 26, in the Village Square with live music provided by the Glen Cove BID and Downtown Sounds. Be a part of the fun and help look for missing classmates. Follow us on them on Facebook Page [Glen Cove High School Class of 1983 30 Year Reunion] or send us an email [gchsclassof83@gmail.com] to receive more information and updates.

SAFE encourages a drug-free junior prom

Sgt. Christopher Ortiz, Ph.D. of the Glen Cove Police Dept., brought a powerful pre-prom presentation to juniors at Glen Cove High School on Feb. 27. He impressed upon them the ramifications of the Social Host Law and the dangers of underage drinking and driving.

Ortiz is a Glen Cove native. He spent the first half of the assembly showing students his old photos when he went to Glen Cove High School where he played sports and even a photo where he is all dressed up before the junior prom. "All these experiences you are going through I went through," he said. "You are becoming adults and it is important that you make the right choices because there will be consequences if you don't."

There was a lot of chatter when Ortiz spoke about risk-taking and some students laughed too. Showing slides of pills, cigarette butts, alcohol, weed and cocaine, Ortiz moved forward warning that these narcotics were a dead end road. "It will just move you closer to death," he said. "Everyday people make the wrong decisions and I see it in my line of work. I've taken people out of smashed cars and had them take their last breath in my arms."

Then he showed a series of car accident slides and no one was talking or laughing anymore. The students were fascinated and sobered. Ortiz had their attention now. "The number one killer of kids your age is motor vehicle accidents," he said. "One quarter of all fatal accidents involve alcohol for people between 15 and 20 years of age."

SAFE lead presentations like the pre-prom in an effort to reach teenagers who may be considering making choices that will hurt them or others. Another goal is to change the path of students already engaged in destructive behavior. SAFE, Inc. has held Parent Universities and will continue to do so in an effort to address the findings in the Bach-Harrison Prevention Needs Assessment Survey given by the Glen Cove School District to students in grades 6, 8, 10, & 12 in January 2012. The survey, which assessed the use of alcohol, marijuana, tobacco and other drugs by Glen Cove youth indicated that alcohol continues to be the substance of choice for Glen Cove's youth and that they are drinking as early as 10. It also indicated that marijuana use among Glen Cove 10th graders is higher than the national average. The 11th graders going to the junior prom this year were in 10th grade when the survey was taken.

The next Parent University is scheduled for Tuesday, March 19 at 7:30 p.m. at Connolly Elementary School.

"There is no such thing as a safe drug," Ortiz said. "All drugs, when misused, can lead to death. Beyond death, drug and alcohol use lead to other negative results like addiction, social isolation, arrest, and even homelessness. There are some things out there that when you experiment with you will be done."

Letters to the Editor

JUSTIN TOYS - Check it out!!!

To The Editor,

For those who may need to purchase a toy for a young child, do stop by JUSTIN TOYS. You probably pass it all the time, as I do. It is a fairly new toy store in town, located across the street from the Stop N Shop shopping center, at 114 Forest Ave. I needed to buy some Easter goodies for my grandchildren so I stopped in to see what it was like. I was very impressed. They carry toys that are very different and unique. Prices range widely, so there's something for everyone. You don't have to spend a fortune to pick up a really cool gift for your little loved one. Locust Valley has G. Willikers and now Glen Cove has JUSTIN TOYS! I hope they make it in this difficult economy. The young folks who assisted me were very helpful and sweet. Go stop by to fill up those Easter baskets!

The Glen Cove public library announces 2013—2014 budget vote and trustee election Tuesday, April 16, 2013

The Glen Cove Public Library will present its Annual Budget to the citizens of Glen Cove for a vote on Tuesday, April 16, 2013 in the Library's Community Room. Polls will be open from 9am to 9pm.

On April 16th the public will also be asked to vote for one member of the five-member Library Board of Trustees for a five-year term. A hearing on the Library Budget and a chance to meet the Trustee candidates will be held in the Community Room on Tuesday, April 2nd at 7pm. All are encouraged to attend.

Over the past year, the Library has introduced some tools and training to help create an autism-friendly atmosphere. This effort included a program for parents of children with autism that addressed behavioral and educational issues. Our technology advances include the loaning of e-readers with pre-loaded new and popular titles, the necessary equipment and software for our videotaped oral histories, and additional databases for live student tutoring and personalized job searches. In addition, we have welcomed a new full-time bilingual Librarian to our staff. This has allowed us to run three on-going programs; Conversational Spanish, a Spanish Book Discussion and a children's story time with parent involvement in Spanish.

We greatly appreciate those who have supported the Library in the past. We will need the continued support of our community to continue providing new and exciting resources and events in the future. Please come out and vote on the budget and for a Library Trustee on Tuesday, April 16th, 2013. Thank you kindly for your continued support.

Great Book Guru

- Ann DiPietro

Dear Great Book Guru, I was waiting with friends to hear the Sea Cliff Village election results, when I overheard a couple discussing a new book set in East Asia with an intriguing title. Well, there was such cheering and applause when the Kennedy/Vogt/Lieberman victory was announced, I couldn't catch the exact title. Any ideas? Election Night Celebrant

Dear Election Night Celebrant, I was at the election lockdown too and what fun it was! Although it was an uncontested election, the candidates ran a spirited campaign. The hero of the book you are interested in is also spirited and the book a great choice for the upcoming weekend: HOW TO GET FILTHY RICH IN RISING ASIA by Mohsin Hamid. Written in the form (very loosely) of a self-help manual, the novel takes us through the life of our nameless hero from his early boyhood in a rural village through the decades to a spectacular conclusion. His lifelong companion also unnamed is referred to always as "the pretty girl." The politics, the violence, the vitality of this turbulent time and place is skillfully recorded but it is the author's description of the universal rise and fall of human vitality that is most memorable. Whether we see our hero as a young teenager selling DVDs or as a successful businessman creating an empire built on the need for clean water, or as an elderly man bereft of health and wealth, we find ourselves always empathizing with his plight. Highly recommended!

Eighth Graders Study the 'Roaring 20's' at North Shore Middle School

Recently, 8th grade students at North Shore Middle School held their own 'Roaring 20s' party as part of the Social Studies curriculum. Teacher Keith Freund said, "Sometimes history needs to be experienced, in order to be fully understood. Learning about the 1920s in a traditional classroom would not do the 'Roaring 20s' justice."

In their Social Studies classes, the students researched the most colorful people of the decade, took on their roles, and then became them. Transforming the library into a speakeasy with posters and various decorations, the students dressed, acted and spoke like their 1920s counterparts. The decade of the 1920's in history was often characterized as a period of American prosperity and optimism. If you walked into the middle school library, you would have seen many flappers, gangsters, and even heard jazz music as Prohibition was cited as jump-starting the Jazz Age! According to novelist F. Scott Fitzgerald, during Prohibition, "The parties were bigger... the pace was faster..."

A "roaring" time was had by all. Many thanks to the faculty, staff and students who participated in this historic learning opportunity.

A Night of Fun and School Spirit

On February 27th, all of the grades at North Shore high School came together and celebrated its 14th annual Sports Night with great energy and competition between the different classes. This year's Sports Night theme was "Seasons." The freshmen were dressed in green representing Fall, the sophomores wore blue for Spring, the juniors were in yellow for Summer, and the seniors were dressed all in white for Winter!

This class fundraising event gains the interest and dedication of many students for interclass competitions. Leading up to the event, students prepared an exercise routine dance and decorated the gymnasium for the event. Sports Night is a fun way for students, faculty, and parents to come together and either compete in or watch various activities such as various relays, running races, tug of war, an obstacle course, and a scavenger hunt.

The seniors yet again took home the victory followed by the juniors, sophomores, and freshman. Thank you to the class advisors, the faculty, parents, and administration for a successful Sports Night this year. Additionally, a special 'thank you' goes out to the North Shore Booster Club for their generosity and support.
