

Teacher Charged With Watching Pornography

Nassau County Police reported the Arrest of a physical education teacher from the North Shore Middle School for endangering the Welfare of a Child.

According to detectives, in February 2013, the defendant Aaron Kozlowski, 31, a physical education teacher at North Shore Middle School, was in his office when three 12 year old and one 13 year old male students observed him watching pornography on his computer and fondling himself. The students did not report the incident until recently. Kozlowski surrendered to detectives in Williston Park on Friday, April 12, 2013 at 4:30 p.m.

Kozlowski is charged with four counts of Endangering the Welfare of a Child. He will be arraigned on Saturday, April 13, 2013 at First District Court in Hempstead.

The North Shore Schools superintendent said he had no comment on the incident.

District Faces Charges of Testing Irregularities

Teachers from Connolly and Landing Elementary Schools are facing allegations of "testing administration irregularities" in which students were coached on New York State tests according to reports filed this week.

At least 18 teachers are under investigation for allegedly helping students with answers on the Spring 2012 tests.

The probe is centered on fifth-grade students at both schools. In a statement, Dr. Joseph Laria, Superintendent of Schools said, "It is with great disappointment that the Glen Cove City School District must report allegations of testing administration irregularities. These allegations, if true, represent a grave disservice to the children, families and community of Glen Cove.

"The allegations relate to 'coaching' of students during the administration of NYS grades 3, 4 and 5 ELA and Math assessments in Spring of 2012 conducted at Connolly and Landing Elementary Schools.

"Upon the advice of counsel, the Board of Education retained outside counsel to conduct an investigation that consisted of interviews with staff members, students (with parent permission) and building administrators regarding protocols and practices applied during the administration of this exam. In addition, the New York State Education Department was made aware of this investigation in accordance with SED requirements. The district launched this proactive and necessary investigation in November 2012 after allegations were brought to the district's attention.

"There is no reason to believe that there is any criminal misconduct and there are currently no pending district charges against any teachers or administrators."

City Working to Maintain Cinema in Downtown Glen Cove

Since January 17th of this year the City of Glen Cove has been working with the owner/operator of the Glen Cove Cinema to help facilitate the continuation of the existing operation. This help included discussions about alternative financing options that could help the theater refinance the property and to additionally fund modernization upgrades that would make the theater one of the finest anywhere and a great entertainment venue for both Glen Cove and our surrounding North Shore communities. "The City of Glen Cove stands committed to supporting our local cinema by any means within its power," said Mayor Ralph V. Suozzi. While the closure of the cinema is a private contractual matter between the owner/operator and the bank, The City's Industrial Development Agency Executive Director, Kelly Morris, immediately coordinated a meeting with the owner/operator of the cinema and arranged an in-depth financial consultation with National Development Council wherein financing options were outlined along with various grant opportunities to further leverage funding. Mayor Suozzi further commented that it is in the City's best interest to ensure that a theater remain operational in the City of Glen Cove. For the past year, the City of Glen Cove has been working with a consulting team conducting market research on behalf of the City of Glen Cove to attract and recruit prospective businesses and retail establishments in an effort to support the City of Glen Cove as, among other things, an "Entertainment Destination." Should current efforts by the Glen Cove Cinema's owner/operator to resume operations become futile, the City is prepared to work with any subsequent property owner to attract other interested cinema operators to ensure that a cinema remains in operation in the City of Glen Cove. "In the event it should become necessary, our team is ready with a list of more than 20 movie theater operators that we could contact in an effort to help the owner find a replacement operator," said Suozzi. The Mayor continued, "The theater is an integral part of our downtown and an asset to our children, our downtown businesses and the entire community. We are doing what is within our means to derive a favorable outcome."

Sea Cliff Approves 2013-2014 Budget

Bruce Kennedy, Mayor of the Incorporated Village of Sea Cliff, called a Public Hearing to order at 8PM last night to propose the Village budget for the upcoming year.

Despite spiraling costs and decreasing revenues, the proposed Sea Cliff budget was very lean. Expected expenditures for the upcoming year are up 1.27% while anticipated revenues, other than taxes, are expected to decline by 0.20%. The net result is an increase of 1.45% in the village tax levy.

According to Mayor Kennedy, "Of the $68,930 in increased costs, $56,480 can be attributed to increases in unfunded mandates as it relates to employee benefits. That portion equates to 82% of the budget increase." He added that last year the Village actually decreased spending but, due to decreased aid from New York State, taxes went up. He urged the public to keep pressure on Albany to assist in bringing property taxes down.

Sea Cliff will be making the capital purchase of two new sanitation trucks this year at a cost of $320,000 and will move on to phase II of the Village Hall Restoration Project that will cost at least $120,000. The total budget for last year was $5,320,892 and the proposed budget for the upcoming year is $5,388,645.

In a separate public hearing the Mayor and Board proposed to exercise the Village's right to override the 2% tax levy legislation by local law. A member of the audience questioned why the Board would consider adopting the law when they intend to keep the tax levy under the 2% cap. In response, Trustee Tom Powell explained that one of the criteria reviewed by bond rating companies is a municipality's budgetary flexibility. "In fact", he stated, "since we overrode the law last year, our bond rating was increased to AA+". Both Trustee Vogt and Trustee Lieberman agreed that passing the local law would be prudent and in the best interest of the residents.

After both hearings, the Board of Trustees unanimously voted to pass a local law to override the tax levy limit and also approved the proposed 2013-2014 budget. Mayor Kennedy stated, "We have been whittling away at this budget for months now and are very pleased with the end result. The sole aim of this process has been to maintain the quality, character and services of this community while reining in every cost we have control over."

Glen Cove Youth Bureau presents... YOUTH, NEWS & VIEWS

Glen Cove Youth Bureau Food Drive a Huge Success Food Collected for Youth Bureau's Food Pantry

By: Cindy Rogers

The Glen Cove Youth Bureau's Summer Youth Employment Program kicked off the spring season by holding a food drive at Stop and Shop. The students, who are required to perform 20 hours of community service in the spring, collected hundreds of non-perishable food items and cash donations for the Youth Bureau's Glen Cove After 3 Food Pantry. Armed with lists of items needed by the pantry, the students gave the lists to Thursday morning shoppers as they entered Stop and Shop. Other students gratefully collected the donations as the shoppers came out of the store. All of these donations will be used to feed the needy in Glen Cove. The drive would not have been possible without the support of Stop and Shop who graciously allowed the SYEP students to set up operation outside the store and the many generous shoppers who willingly added some extra items to their shopping baskets. Thank you.

Glen Cove's Annual E-Waste Recycling Program

Saturday, April 27, 2013

9 am to 4 pm

Mayor Ralph V. Suozzi is very pleased to announce that this year the City of Glen Cove will offer residents two E-Waste or Electronic Waste Recycling Collection events. The first collection will take place on Saturday, April 27th at the Winters Brothers facility located at the end of Morris Avenue, from 9 am to 4 pm. The second event will be at the same location on Saturday October 5th, 2013. "The City of Glen Cove is proud to expand and take a leadership role in recycling by offering two E-Waste Recycling Collection Events. These programs address the growing nationwide problem of electronic-waste, such as computers, cell phones, televisions, VCRs, and stereos. These items not only have a low level of biodegradability, but they contain materials such as lead, copper, and other heavy metals that are highly toxic when released into the environment. This program ensures these items are safely disposed and will not wind up in a landfill or incinerator and we look forward to another successful collection," said Mayor Suozzi.

What you can bring to the Electronic Waste Recycling collection:

Personal computers, monitors and hard drives; printers and printer cartridges; keyboards; mice and cables; scanners; copiers; fax machines; cell phones; pagers; VCRs; stereos; televisions; electronic games.

What you cannot bring:

- Microwaves
- Small household appliances (i.e., fans, vacuums, toasters)

The E-Waste program is open to Glen Cove residents and businesses only (proof of residency is required). For additional information contact the City of Glen Cove Public Works Department at 676-4402 or check the City of Glen Cove website at www.glencove-li.us

Alzheimer's Disease Resource Center, Inc. Announces New Family/Caregiver Support Group in Glen Cove

Mary Ann Malack-Ragona, Executive Director/Chief Executive Officer of the Alzheimer's Disease Resource Center, Inc., announces the opening of a Family/Caregiver Support Group in Glen Cove for families and caregivers who are caring for a loved one with Dementia and/or Alzheimer's Disease. The first meeting will take place on May 8 from 6:30 p.m. to 8 p.m.; afterwards, this group will meet the second Wednesday of each month from 6:30 p.m. to 8 p.m. at the Glen Cove Senior Center, located at 130 Glen Street, #A in Glen Cove.

"Providing support for families equates to ensuring quality care," states Ms. Malack-Ragona. "Keeping individuals with Dementia or Alzheimer's Disease in their homes for longer periods of time helps to reduce the risk of premature placement into a nursing home. Research shows that when you provide support and resources for individuals with Dementia and/or Alzheimer's Disease, we can reduce the caregiver's burden and ensure positive outcomes."

Currently, the Alzheimer's Disease Resource Center is affiliated with 38 Support Groups in Nassau and Suffolk Counties and is currently working to train Support Group Facilitators in the Queens area. Two Caregiver Support Groups and a Support Group for Individuals with Young Onset (under the age of 65) are held at the Alzheimer's Disease Resource Center located at 45 Park Avenue in Bay Shore.

Using the Scientific Method, NS Middle School Students Investigate Rockets

North Shore Schools, April 11, 2013 - Mrs. Kelly's 8th grade Science Research class and Mr. Slack's Robotics & Automation class joined forces to study how and why rockets work. Each student constructed and launched their own rocket powered by an A-8 engine. Using the scientific method, students investigated the question "Can the number of fins on a model rocket change the apogee of the rocket flight?" Apogee, is the term used for the highest point of a rocket flight. During the lab investigation, students were introduced to trigonometry and used an instrument to measure the angle of elevation in order to calculate the height of their rocket.

Using their findings, the students completed their calculations and graphs while following NYS Regents exam formats. Mrs. Kelly and Mr. Slack's classes were able to utilize their specific class skill sets to help their peers think critically and solve problems. At the end of the lesson, students were hypothesizing what would happen if they changed a different variable such as; engine size, fin shape or body tube length.

Glen Cove Junior Lacrosse Club Week 2 Round Up

By Brian 'Condo' Neice

History was made this past weekend when the Glen Cove Junior Lacrosse Club introduced their youngest ever club team to a raucous home crowd this past Sunday. Although the outcome did not go in their favor the 1st and 2nd grade 'Two Knights' never backed down against their Port Washington opponent who used their size and experience to overwhelm the less experienced Glen Cove squad. Despite outstanding goal-tending by Orazio Petitto in the first half, the Knights went down by four goals. That was when the defense dug in. Led by Jonathan Patino, Lucas Mattern and Matteo Cameron, the 'Two Knights' were able to force Port into several turnovers. Chris Gieldbeda, Rocco Rainone and Tyler Rosario worked hard at the mid-field, picking up groundballs and clearing the ball to the attack, led by Mark LaRocca, CJ Brown and Leo Rainone. Although the 'Two Knights' couldn't muster a score, they were able to hold Port to just one more goal and the game ended 5-0. With the loss, our Knights clearly improved and gained some experience that will help the team to future victories. The future looks bright for Glen Cove lacrosse with this young and talented team that's rounded out by Matthew Basil, Alex Benazzi, Ryan Heenan, AJ Hudson, Nicholas Ladeairous, Travis Shea and Logan Martino. Look for great things from the 'Two-Knights' group in the near future!

Winning isn't everything but when you start to win after a season and a half of hard work it sure does feel good! The Glen Cove 3rd grade 'Wee Knights' made it two in a row in a closely contested game against Floral Park on Sunday. In their first away game of the year, Glen Cove showed their mettle and pulled through with an 8-7 victory in the last minute of the game. Lead by Andrew Epifania with 4 goals, 1 assist and 5 ground balls. Andrew was a force to be reckoned with on the field. Other goals were scored by Will Feldmann who had 3 and Eamon Doyle with one. Goals are great but for some coaches ground balls can be even better! Glen Cove had over 25 ground balls in the game compared with Floral Park's 15. Christian Maiorano played well in the cage again this week with 5 saves. The defensive platoon worked well this week with Nicholas Kodis, Kelly Larkin, Micah Stone, Victor Scarmato and Michael Mattern playing tough D. Middie lines worked together and

"let the ball do the work" on the clears. Lukasz Dubicki, Charlie Benazzi, Ciaran Greene and Jaden Thom all hustled and worked hard to get ground balls. Joseph Thom, Jacen Braja and Jacob Bruce looked to get open and were getting more involved in the team play. Yes, there is still plenty of work to do but for now the 'Wee Knights' are enjoying their "fruits of labor".

The 5th and 6th grade 'Mid Knights' must of had something to prove to themselves after last week's loss because it took less than 20 seconds for them to jump to a 1-0 lead over Cold Spring Harbor and they never looked back. Rookie, Gabrielle Guevarra cleanly won the opening face-off and pushed the ball up to attackman Dylan Anucik who wound up and cranked it past the unsuspecting CSH goalie. Midfielder Bobby Kiaer led the team with 2 goals and provided some quality play on both sides of the ball. Syzmon Frye also added a goal and consistent midfield play. The focus on defense and aggressiveness during practice this past week limited CSH to only 1 goal on 8 shots for the entire game. Defensively Tyler Buehre played like a free safety in the first half by breaking up 6 passes across the crease. In the 2nd half, Buehre donned the goalie pads and capped his day off with a spectacular 1 on 1 stop, point blank, to preserve his 2nd half shut-out. Seamus Fallon, Jesse Mayreis, Jack Coyle, Patrick Fallon and Nick Devita all contributed to the strong defensive performance.

The 7th & 8th grade 'Late Knights' are off to a slow start and somewhat living up to their name as they've come out sluggish in their first two games, losing this past Sunday to Lindenhurst by the score 9 - 5. Ryan Feldmann netted 2 goals and Davey Moore, Jared Buehre and Joey Grella each had a goal. Midfielder Moore and defenseman Kevin Heenan played inspired ball despite the loss.

Coming up this Sunday is a triple header of lacrosse action at the Connolly School Field kicking off with the undefeated 'Wee Knights' taking on Lynbrook at 9am, immediately followed by the 'Mid Knights' facing off against Freeport at 10:30 and the 'Late Knights' will try to right the wrong against Oyster Bay at noon. Bring a chair and enjoy a fun day of youth lacrosse right in your own backyard! The 'Two-Knights' are traveling to Syosset this Sunday for a 10:30 match-up.

Students At Portledge Travel Through Africa During Their Annual World Day Celebration

Students at Portledge Lower School (Locust Valley, NY) recently celebrated World Day. This year the focus was on Africa, which was aligned with project-based learning activities throughout the year. The countries studied included: Nigeria (nursery and pre-Kindergarten), Ghana (Kindergarten), Madagascar (first grade), South Africa (second grade), Morocco (third grade), Egypt (fourth grade) and Kenya (fifth). To kick off the African experience, the school hosted the African Children's Choir, which is part of an on-going collaboration with the Tilles Center. Then the annual school play was "The Lion King," again keeping with the African theme.

The World Day festivities began with a music assembly where students in pre-Kindergarten through fifth grade sang a song from the country they studied many incorporating musical instruments into the performances. The following day, the entire Lower School participated in the annual "Parade of Nations" with each class holding its country's flag. After that the classes hosted display booths. Half of the class walked around getting their passports stamped and learning about the other countries, while the other half stayed at their booth and talked to other students, faculty, parents, grandparents, and older students from the middle school about what they learned from their studies. Then they switched. The gym was transformed into the various countries, and everyone enjoyed the variety of hands-on activities and student work on display. Studies varied by class but most were generated by student interest and included topics such as animals, the rainforest, water, houses, comparisons of life here vs. there and more. To top it off, each class was treated to a spectacular lunch with African delicacies prepared by Chef Kevin.

World Day at Portledge Lower School received rave reviews by all. Students learned about a wide range of countries, cultures and languages. Alan Cohen, Lower School Division Head, said "The culminating activity was a remarkable. It was certainly a day that everyone will remember for a long time!"

Connolly Fourth-Graders Go Back to Colonial Times

Fourth-graders at Connolly Elementary School in Glen Cove took a trip back to Colonial times with several hands-on activities that highlighted life during the era. Representatives from the Society for the Preservation of Long Island Antiquities visited the school and educated the students on rope and lantern making, as well as quilting. Classes rotated through all of the events, enabling fourth-graders to get a better understanding of the Colonial period through applied learning. All of the activities supported the students' regular classroom social studies curriculum, currently focused on Colonial times.

"It gives the children hands-on experience in learning about the past," said Joan McGee, Director of Education for SPLIA, noting that the students were also able to connect the projects with Colonial life, gaining clearer insight on how each item contributed to life during the time period.

Learning about Colonial times, fourth-graders at Connolly Elementary School make quilt patches to add to a bigger quilt that has been kept from prior years during Colonial Day. Facilitated by Society for the Preservation of Long Island Antiquities, other activities included rope and lantern making.

Name the Celebrity

This London born celebrity worked at various odd jobs including as a milkmaid and nurse before entering show business as a chorus girl. She began to make inroads in British music halls for a lasso act. Starting in 1929, she began appearing in short films before first garnering notice in "A Night in Montmatre" (1931). However, it was her turn as Catherine Howard, the sixth and last wife of the monarch, opposite Charles Laughton in "The Private Life of Henry VIII" (1934) that catapulted her to stardom. Before long, she had traveled to Hollywood where she began to appear in leading and supporting roles, often cast as the "other woman" or as a wisecracking dame. She offered a delightful turn as "Lillian Russell" in the biopic "Diamond Jim" (1935) and was the romantic interest for Randolph Scott in "The Last of the Mohicans" (1936). With Ernest Truex, she provided comic relief in the Gary Cooper vehicle "The Adventures of Marco Polo", was accused of adultery by her husband in the comedy of mistaken identity "The Divorce of Lady X", and played Katharine Hepburn's snooty cousin in "Holiday" (all 1938) with Lew Ayres and Cary Grant. ### Last Week's Celebrity

Eugene Hugh Beaumont, best known for his portrayal of "Ward Cleaver" on the TV series "Leave It To Beaver" (1957-63), was last week's celebrity. Before Beaumont and Barbara Billingsly were cast as the concerned parents on the show, each had appeared separately in the early 1950's Rod Cameron's syndicated detective series "City Detective". From (1953-55), he was the narrator of the Reed Hadley series, "Racket Squad", based on the cases of a fictional detective, "Capt. John Braddock" in San Francisco. A precursor to his role as the kindly father figure came in the "Adventures of Superman". In the 1953 episode called "The Big Squeeze", he played an ex-convict with a wife and son whose trust he must win back after an apparent return to his criminal past. Local legend in Chatanooga, Tenn., says that the name of the fictional town of Mayfield, where the "Cleavers" lived actually came from Mayfield Dairy, for which Beaumont had worked while attending school. He also wrote and directed several episodes of "The Beaver". Even though his portrayal as the household head ranked #28 in the "TV Guide's" List of the "50 Greatest Dads of All Time" in the 6/20/04 issue, he did not like the role very much because he believed it had unfairly typecast him and shadowed his many other roles in TV and film. He appeared in other shows such as "Mannix", "The Virginian", "Wagon Train". "Tales of Welles Fargo" and "Petticoat Junction". He retired from show business in the late 1960's, launching a second career as a Christmas tree farmer in Grand Rapids, Minn.. He was forced to retire in 1972 after suffering a stroke which he never fully recovered. He died of a heart attack while visiting his son, a psychology professor, in Munich, Germany, on May 14, 1982, at age 73.

Glen Cove HS Steps Up for Another Great CAUSE

More than 1,000 people gathered at Glen Cove High School on April 7, 2013 to help out young Nicholas Pedone, a seven-year-old Glen Cove boy who was diagnosed with the children's cancer Neuroblastoma back in November. Thanks to many dedicated runners and walkers, as well as 36 influential students from GCHS's CAUSE club, the Nicholas Pedone 5K Run/Walk raised more than $20,000 to help the Glen Cove youngster in his fight against the disease.

Earlier in the school year, GCHS head custodian Ralph DiMaggio approached CAUSE teacher Susan Poulos about taking up his nephew Nicholas' 'cause.' Nicholas' older cousin, Anthony Famiglietti, is also enrolled in the CAUSE (Community Action Using Student Empowerment) club, in which students participate and/or organize various fundraisers to benefit non-profit organizations that touch their hearts. As a result, the class was inspired to help coordinate the 5K event. Anthony, his mother Theresa and uncle Joe Greco performed much of the legwork, arranging meetings with the Mayor's office to secure auxiliary police, EMS, street closure and all proper permits. They also contacted Finish Line Road Race Technicians to create, time and help plan the details of the day which included registration, creating the course, appropriate water stations and snacks for the runners and a children's "fun run."

Several CAUSE students and good friends of Anthony stepped up to help, including GCHS Student Senate member Paolo Cuelho, who attended many meetings with Anthony, including one with Land Rover of Glen Cove which resulted in a sponsorship of $2500. The event would not have run smoothly without Paolo and the tremendous support of students Lorenzo Sfoggia, Kayla Basile, Will Kasar, Gabby Erammarino, Stephanie Kasuto, and Antwan Brown, who made phone calls, held meetings, organized registrations, created an excel spreadsheets of all registrants, and picked up bananas and water bottles, as well as some additional heavy lifting to help make the event a reality. Paolo also recruited his fellow GCHS Student Senate members to help the day of the run.

Jimmy Peck of Huntington took first place in the run with a time of 18:55. In a heartwarming gesture, Mr. Peck presented his first-place trophy to Nicholas.

"The event demonstrated the strong bond Glen Covers have for one another and its power to create positive change," said Ms. Poulos. "I hope this event strengthens the mental, emotional and spiritual well being of all who were involved and touched!"

Portledge School Hosts Musical Showcase

Portledge School (Locust Valley) hosted its first Portledge Showcase, where 13 of its talented students performed solos. Patricia Baehr, Music Department Head, organized the event in order to provide a different kind of opportunity for young musicians to share their accomplishments and hard work with an audience. "While student abilities are regularly featured in our winter and spring concerts, there is not always a chance for the most serious students to solo."

It was truly a night to remember. Portledge parents, Christopher and Angela Paradysz, arranged to have the program end with a special performance by Jourdan Urbach, violinist, composer, philanthropist and founder of "Concerts for a Cure," which raises money to fight pediatric and neurological diseases. His virtuoso performance captivated the audience.

The Portledge performers at this showcase included: Eve Fine '19 (trumpet) (Upper Brookville), Spencer Hall '19 (piano) (Great Neck), Talya Kalman '18 (soprano) (Old Westbury), Kristie Kelly '13 (trumpet) (Oyster Bay), Brian Lee '15 (tenor) (Whitestone), Cindy Liu '16 (piano) (Muttontown), Angelina Magin '19 (soprano) (Bayville), Alessandro Paggiara '16 (piano) (Glen Cove), Nicholas Paradysz '19 (piano) (Mill Neck), Aaron Vinsky '19 (piano) (Westbury), Ally Weber '15 (alto) (Great Neck), Kristina Wirkowski '16 (violin) (Glen Cove), and Edward Xin '13 (piano) (Glen Head). Portledge music teacher William Peek accompanied a number of the performers.

Audience members described the experience as "magical" and "incredibly uplifting." One summed up the evening by sharing that it "was a great example of why I am so proud to be a part of the Portledge family."

Loving father to Vincent Louis (Clare), Susan Joy, Roberta Ann Cerasi (Luciano) and Michele Joli Jansch (Russell). Dad was a proud Army veteran, serving as a sergeant in 3rd Calvary in European Theatre during World War II. After the war, he returned to City College, graduating in 1948 with a degree in Mechanical Engineering. He subsequently received his license as a Professional Engineer. Most of his professional career was spent at Elm Coated Fabrics where he was a pioneer in the field of extruded plastic film production. He formed many deep and lasting personal and professional relationships there and to the end reflected fondly on his work at "The Plant." While in college, Dad lined an Italian-American fraternity. Alpha Phi Delta, the brothers and their facilities have a continuing presence in Dad's and our lives. From conventions to picnics, to weddings and now funerals, APD was never far from his thoughts. Dad took great pride in the accomplishments of all his children and grandchildren, offering support and guidance always. He was and will remain our rock. ## Community Mourns Ethel Telesca

Ethel Telesca, of New Fairfield, Connecticut, died on Friday, April 12th at the age of 90, at her daughter's home in Glen Head, NY. She was born on January 10, 1923 in Brooklyn. She studied fashion design and graduated from Washington Irving High School in Manhattan. At 18, she married Jerome Balizer and they moved to Detroit until the outbreak of WW II, when they returned to Brooklyn. They had two children, Ginger and Kenneth. The marriage ended in divorce.

Although her dream was to be a fashion designer, life took her in other directions. For many years she worked as a medical administrator located in the New York City Garment District, which was the first medical center providing insurance coverage for organized labor.

In 1965, Ethel met and married Oscar Telesca, and moved to Bayville, NY. While venturing out into the suburbs, she came upon the lovely village of Sea Cliff and thought it would make a wonderful site for a small café. At the time, Sea Cliff was bustling with antique shops and galleries, but no place to eat. It was then that she created Once Upon A Moose, a unique antique/luncheon spot, which became a landmark attraction for 36 years. It was a tiny gem that brought people from far and wide, including celebrities such as Natalie Portman and Yoko Ono. During the seventies gas crisis, she and several of her Moosettes went out to the gas lines and gave away hot coffee and doughnuts. Ethel was a true artist and entrepreneur, and an inspiration to many.

After retiring from the Moose, at 84, she moved up to her home in Connecticut, which had been the family's country home since 1941, and remained there till February of this year.

Ethel is survived by her two children, Kenneth Balizer and Ginger Balizer-Hendler and their spouses, Susan Welker and Hal Hendler. She was the beloved grandmother of Sabrina, Jessica, Cheta, and Kael, and great grandmother to seven. She also leaves behind her dear brother, Larry Kanter. A celebration of Ethel's life is being planned for Sunday, April 21 at the home of Ginger & Hal Hendler, 12 Beechwood Dr., Glen Head, NY 11545 between 12 and 5 PM, with a eulogy at 1. Inquiries may be made to gbalizer@optonline.net.

Great Book Guru

- Ann DiPietro

Dear Great Book Guru,
I was at the Sea Cliff Yacht Club over the weekend and I noticed a large group of people gathering for what I assume was a book signing by a local author. The crowd seemed very enthusiastic- I was wondering who the author was and if you had read his book?

Book Signing Spectator

Dear Book Signing Spectator,
What a shame you didn't come join us! The author was Dan Fagin, a Sea Cliff luminary and journalist/author extraordinaire. He gave a riveting reading and a summary of his much acclaimed TOMS RIVER, the story of a town in southern New Jersey, a town whose name over the years came to be synonymous with tainted water, industrial pollution, and childhood cancers. Dan's book is a fascinating amalgam of science, politics, history, and biography. He weaves a story of valor and cowardice, virtue and corruption, from Basel, Switzerland to a factory town in central China, but the heart of the story is always the parents and children of Toms River who suffered much and fought to find out why and how this could have happened in their town. Highly recommended!

Playing In The Sand

Sand Castle University teaches Sea Cliff Girl Scouts how to build sand castles like the pros right in Sea Cliff in their private sandbox. In Sand Castle 101, the girls learned how to prepare the sand and carve beautiful sand castles working in a team environment along side professional sculptors Andy Gertler and Susan Beatrice. Scouts connected the morning and afternoon sessions' castles together with walls to create one big castle!

Connolly K-Kids Named 2012-13 New York Club of Distinction

Members of the K-Kids Club at Connolly Elementary School in Glen Cove were named a New York Club of Distinction for the 2012-13 year. The club was also recognized as first runner-up in New York State for the Single Service Award for its Valentine's Day lollipop sale that raised money and awareness for the Children's Tumor Foundation and received third place for their scrapbook.

Students developed and implemented the Valentine's Day lollipop sale in honor of student and K-Kids secretary Julia Perfetti, who suffers from neurofibromatosis. In an effort to raise money in order to find treatments and a cure for the disease, they sold a total of 659 lollipops, donating about $500 to the Children's Tumor Foundation. The NY Club of Distinction honor recognizes all of the club's hard work and the community service projects in which they are involved. This is the second consecutive year the Connolly K-Kids have been honored with this distinction.

K-Kids is a branch of Kiwanis International that seeks to involve elementary school students in community service activities. The Connolly club is affiliated with the North Shore Kiwanis Club, and is facilitated by advisors Nancy Cox and Sandra Vigliotti.

Recruit NY - April 21, 2013

by Firefighter Sang-Jin Bae

The City of Glen Cove Volunteer Fire Department will open its doors to area residents, so they can learn about what it takes to be a volunteer firefighter in their community, as part of the third annual RecruitNY statewide initiative. Over the last several years, it has been very tough for many fire departments throughout New York State to recruit and retain volunteers for a variety of reasons. Like most volunteer fire departments, the City of Glen Cove Volunteer Fire Department needs to bolster its emergency responder numbers, so it can continue to provide the optimum level of protection for its residents.

As part of RecruitNY, on Sunday, April 21 between Noon - 3pm, the City of Glen Cove Volunteer Fire Department located at 10 Glen Cove Avenue, Glen Cove, NY, will join volunteer fire departments all across the state at their respective firehouses for a unified recruitment drive, as part of National Volunteer Week 2013. Not only will RecruitNY be an opportunity to highlight the duties and rewards that come with being a volunteer firefighter, it will also raise public awareness about the need for volunteers.

Throughout the day, the City of Glen Cove Volunteer Fire Department will conduct tours of the station and firefighter apparatus, allow visitors to try on firefighter gear, and provide activities and stations on the apparatus floor for visitors. The fire department will discuss the requirements to be a volunteer, as well as conduct demonstrations, answer questions, and let visitors know how to get involved in the fire department.

"Come on out and join us for this unique recruitment day at our firehouse," said Recruitment Chairperson Ex-Captain Retoske. "This is a great opportunity for our neighbors to observe the exciting tasks of a firefighter. Our current members love what they do; they are everyday heroes who help neighbors in need. We hope our recruitment day will inspire other area residents to join our fire service family."

North Shore High School Students Mentor Glenwood Landing Fifth Graders

Students investigate questions about the environmental impact of the LIPA Power Plant

During the first week in April 2013, students from Seth Klein's Science Research class at North Shore High School mentored fifth graders from the classes of Kim-Marie Cortez-Riggio and Liz Goodstone at Glenwood Landing Elementary. These fifth grade teachers have been engaged in a pilot initiative through the Tri-States Consortium to develop authentic, interdisciplinary performance-based assessments. The elementary students were asked to develop scientific experiments to investigate questions about the environmental impact of the LIPA Power Plant. After being mentored by the high school students, conducting their experiments, and sharing their learning with their peers, the fifth graders will then develop pieces of art to raise awareness to the situation.

Dr. Carol Smyth, the Elementary STEM Director stated, "This was an amazing opportunity for the fifth grade students to explore science and art in an interdisciplinary manner while developing their critical thinking, creativity, and collaborative skill." She added, "The conversations were incredibly rich as the high school students engaged the student groups in discussions about their research questions, hypotheses, and experimental designs."

Many thanks to all of the teachers and students for participating in these collaborative interdisciplinary scientific discussions. Dr. Smyth concluded by saying, "I think all of the students learned a lot and had a great time!"
