

Relay For Life Sets Standard

by Eddie Mouradian,
Sr. Director, Relay For Life – Metro NY

Congratulations seems too small a word to express the excitement, joy and gratitude over the 7th Annual Relay For Life, so let me start by saying this: Your Relay For Life has set the standard for what a community can do when they come together in the fight against cancer.

Way back in January, we set a goal of raising $200,000 at this year's Relay For Life. At the time, it seemed, well, impossible. We thought: "If we get close, it'll be great!" After all, last year we raised $116,000 and our best Relay to date raised $150,000. But as the season went on, the passion and commitment of our Relay-ers couldn't be contained. I'm thrilled to announce that we have reached our $200,000 goal, with more donations still coming in every day! We sold more luminaria bags than ever, had a brand-new survivor's reception and launched a successful Relay Carnival for kids of all ages.

All the superlatives aside, this year's Relay was decidedly bittersweet. Just days before Relay For Life, "Sweet" Nicholas Pedone, a Glen Head Elementary school student lost his battle with cancer. Even in their grief, this community came together, to show the Pedones that we would continue to fight in Nicho-

North Shore Arts Angels to Host Alumni Benefit
Viking Masquers 50Th Anniversary Gala
Saturday, June 15, 7:30 p.m.
Curtain, NS High School Theater

The North Shore Arts Angels have announced that on Saturday evening June 15th, scores of alumni from North Shore High School will reunite to dust off their vocal chords for the "Viking Masquers 50th Anniversary Gala," a one night only fundraising event celebrating 50 years of musical theater on the North Shore stage. The gala, which includes an Alumni Show, a dinner with raffles and an auction, and an exhibit of a giant archive of theater memorabilia will take place at North Shore High School (450 Glen Cove Avenue, Glen Head, NY) with proceeds benefiting a special fund to revive the district's now defunct Summer Theater Workshop. Casting and special guest appearances to be announced.

Performed concert-style with an onstage orchestra, the Alumni Show will honor Masquers founders Bruce Mooney, Robert Hooban and Bennett Lentzner, a renowned music educator who will conduct an orchestra of former students for one of the show's three acts. The event marks the 50th anniversary of the Masquers first independent musical "The Boy Friend" in 1963. The director will be current Viking Masquers advisor Michael Kleba. North Shore band leader David Soto and former band director Jeremy Kempton will also conduct, and retired vocal music director Stephen Goldstein and current vocal director Michael Kerschner will prepare the vocalists. Over 120 alumni from the past five decades will spend the next six weeks working together on-stage and behind the scenes to create an unforgettable night of music and memories celebrating over a half century of Masquers history. This unprecedented fundraising event will benefit a special fund dedicated to reviving the now defunct North Shore Summer Theater Workshop, a program responsible for fostering the education of numerous professionals working in television, film, theater and music today.

The Summer Theater Workshop ran for 42 years before being cut a decade ago due to budget constraints. Losing the workshop during that austerity period was partly what inspired the formation of Arts Angels, the North Shore district's booster club for the arts. "We are very good at getting the extra resources and rallying volunteers needed to enhance the district's existing programs but once arts programs are cut from the school budget, it is nearly impossible to replace them," said Rick Bloom, Arts Angels president and a co-founder. "The Summer Theater Workshop was a terrific resource for the community and a great place for kids to spend time. We are thrilled to join alumni in attempting to revive it. Students will benefit from having additional opportunities to learn all aspects of dramatic arts and the community will benefit from having local high-quality summer Theater Productions to attend." The huge effort to behind raising the $35,000 needed to privately fund the Summer Theater Workshop demonstrates how hard it can be to replace programs once they are lost.

las' memory. Our 8 foot luminaria bag served as a memorial for Nicholas – and seeing the children of this community write messages to Nicholas and his family was one of the most moving things I've ever witnessed. The North Shore community is strong, even in grief.

Thanks must be given to the many people who made this event not only possible, but an enormous success. Thank you to Superintendent Dr. Ed Melnick for his continued support of Relay For Life, as well as, North Shore High School principal Albert Cousins and our school liaison Julia Salat. We would be lost without the tireless efforts of Jerry Boertzel and the entire facilities team, as well as, our security detail. They, quite literally, keep our event moving. I'd also like to thank Shelly Newman for getting all of our communications out to the school-district with such precision.

To the teams and team captains who raised that $200,000, I could never thank you enough for what you have done in the fight against cancer. There are too many to name, but I'd like to congratulate Sea Cliff Elementary School for hosting North Shore's first-ever Relay Recess and North Shore Middle School for their incredible fundraising efforts. I also want to congratulate our Top 5 teams: LiveStrong (Team Captains: Andrew Fierstein & Terry Glassman), Kids for a Cure (Team Captains: Liz Falcone & Claire DiMaio), A Walk to Remember (Team Captain: Elizabeth Koslow), The Purple Earlmonts (Team Captain: Joe Biundo) and ThunderCats (Team Captain: Samantha Di Paola). In fact, Andrew and the entire LiveStrong team has raised a truly unbelievable $80,000 this year – making them not only the top Relay team in all of New York and New Jersey, but one of the top Relay teams in the nation!

Part of what makes the Relay For Life such a special event is the involvement from the community at large. Thank you to our incredible survivor speakers, North County Reform Temple's Rabbi Janet Liss and North Shore Middle School's Assistant Principal, Rachel Green; Our incredible performers who kept our event exciting through the night: Our Survivor's Reception entertainment Michela McDonagh and friends, Last Resort, Signs & Symptoms, the Dr. Gerver-fronted < 3, Lisa Vetrone, Mac Ayers & Marcella Tocco who performed a moving tribute to "Sweet" Nicholas at the start of our Luminaria Ceremony. We couldn't have been able to do it – or hear it – without Peter Warzer, Darbey Liston and the entire Long Island Video Enterprise team. Additionally, we'd like to thank Evan the Magician and his mother Marlene for donating their time, energy and talent, Bloomin' Balloons & Extravagant Realty for our beautiful balloon arch and A-Plus Signs for all their hard work.

We also had countless volunteers help us out the day of the Relay For Life at registration, the Girl Scout Troops 25 & 60 and many others at luminaria, North Shore Key Club, North Shore High School Interact Club and the annual Glen Head Kiwanis Club Barbeque. Our Survivor's Reception sponsors this year helped make the event incredibly special for our Relay's VIPs: Page One Restaurant, Downtown Café, Glen Cove Beverage, Glenwood Landing Women's Club, Patti Mataska of Yoga Solutions, Anne Marie Giambone of Healing Arts Massage Therapy and Angie Velosominsky of Vivemas. Lastly, thank you to Adrienne Daley for photographing the event, and capturing so many beautiful memories.

This year, we an incredible showing from local businesses who were generous enough to sponsor the Relay For Life. We thank our Nassau County sponsors, North Shore-LIJ and Allied Pediatrics of New York, as well as, our local sponsors Sorenson Lumber, Pibbs Industries, Glen Head Pharmacy, Gold Coast Jewelers, Allstate Insurance – Brzozowski Agency, Edeline & Hy Glassman, General Anesthesia Services, Rallye Acura, NRAD, Circle of Hope, Glen Head Hardware, First National Bank of Long Island, Parisi & Leonick, LLP, The Oak Room, Gem Craft Boutique & The Law Office of Richard Marc Gordon, Esq. PC.

I want to thank and acknowledge the tireless efforts of our dedicated committee. These are the people who have devoted countless hours to put on the Relay For Life: Alicia & Ross Andrus, Annene Guertin, David & Kerry Fiersein, Claire DiMaio, Liz Falcone, Ronnie Koslow, Diane Hlavenka, Joe & Lorraine Biundo, Marc Biundo, Marissa Frank, Michele Sabatino, Deborah Orgel Gordon, Terry Glassman & Michelle Magrino.

Lastly, I want to send my congratulations and gratitude to our two student chairs, Andrew Fierstein and Elizabeth Koslow. Not only were both of these remarkable high school seniors our Top 2 fundraisers, but they worked with the committee to make this year's Relay the $200,000 reality it was. We were behind them every step of the way because of Andrew's continued battle against cancer, and Elizabeth's commitment to make this cancer's last century. They inspired me every single day.

But mostly, I'd like to thank each and every one of you who read this, who attended Relay and who donated to support the American Cancer Society. This year, more than any other, our event opened its doors as we welcomed more members of our neighboring community, Glen Cove, and for the first time, Locust Valley. Without each and every one of you, without the deafening support of this community, we'd just be out on a field in the middle of the night. Because of you we Relay. And because of you, we will finish this fight.

Thank you from the bottom of my Relay-ing heart,

By Carol Griffin

Sea Cliff Fire Department Installation Dinner was held on May 3, 2013 at The Swan Club in Glenwood Landing. The dinner opened with the Pledge of Allegiance, followed by a moment of silence, and the Invocation led by Rev. Kirtland Watkins, pastor of the United Methodist Church of Sea Cliff. Next on the agenda was the installation of this year's officers by Mayor Bruce Kennedy. John Canning the evening's emcee was introduced by dinner chairman Ernest Ar. Longobucco. The main thrust of awards for the evening was several awards given to 40 year department members Jack Pierce and Ernest Ar. Longobucco. Unfortunately Jack was away and didn't receive the awards at the dinner, but Ernie was present and received several citations and gifts from Nassau County, the County Legislature, New York State, the Town of Oyster Bay, the Incorporated Village of Sea Cliff and the Sea Cliff Fire Department Hook & Ladder Company. Outgoing company officers were also remembered by their individual companies. Of special note was honoring Dr. Elsie Bockler for her many years of service to the department as Department Surgeon. nies.

Officers sworn in by Mayor Bruce Kennedy were Chief Daniel Whittemore, 1st Assistant Chief Ernest A. Longobucco and 2nd Assistant Chief Mark Vitale. ## North Shore Board Members and Administrators Attend Governor's Public Meeting on LIPA Restructuring

North Shore Schools, Glen Head, June 5, 2013 - The President of the North Shore School Board, Carolyn Mazzu Genovesi, was present with Board Trustee, Tom Knierim, Assistant Superintendent for Business, Olivia Buatsi, and Legislative Action Committee Chairperson, Thomas Murphy, when Governor Cuomo's senior administration presented details of their plan to restructure LIPA at a recent public meeting held at SUNY Old Westbury on June 5.

President Genovesi was able to give extensive testimony to be transcribed and made part of the record as it concerns to LIPA's decommissioning of the Glenwood Landing power plant and its potential tax impact. After the public presentation by the senior officials, Genovesi stated, "I was pleased that the slide presentation, as well as the comments from the Secretary (Larry Schwartz) to the Governor, recognized a need to have a fair and balanced solution to address the tax challenges faced by municipalities including the school district as LIPA is restructured."

During public comment, President Genovesi raised concerns to the officials communicating that while the Governor's restructuring legislation (e.g., Governor's Program Bill #6) puts forth a new structure for LIPA, it does not include language that addresses a solution for the decommissioning of the Glenwood Landing LIPA plant. She outlined the district's concerns regarding the timing of the legislation and urged that language to address this problem be included as part of Governor's Program Bill #6.

North Shore School Board Trustee Tom Knierim, Assistant Superintendent for Business Olivia Buatsi, and Board President Carolyn Mazzu Genovesi were present at the first of two public meetings on Governor Andrew M. Cuomo's plan to overhaul the Long Island electric utility on June 5.

First Sea Faire At Glen Cove Welcomes Community Back To Revitalized Waterfront For Weekend Of Family Fun, Food And Fireworks

Independence Day Weekend, July 6-7, 2013

RXR CEO Scott Rechler Also Announces New Name for Waterfront Development at the Site

RXR Glen Isle Partners, in cooperation with the City of Glen Cove and the Glen Cove CDA/IDA, kicked-off Long Island's newest family festival, Sea Faire at Glen Cove, which will be held Independence Day weekend, July 6-7, 2013 at the waterfront along Garvies Point Road. The festivities are presented by Title Sponsor, RXR/Glen Isle Partners, LLC with support from Bethpage Federal Credit Union and Chevrolet. Proceeds will benefit the City of Glen Cove Youth Bureau.

This first year event will include an exciting selection of activities for everyone including fresh seafood, Italian food, and festival foods; a selection of handmade crafts from local and regional artisans; opportunities to take a trip back in time aboard The Christeen, a National Historic Landmark and the oldest Oyster sloop in America, built in Glen Cove in 1880; search for hidden treasure with a wild group of pirates while you learn all about the sunken Regina Maris, a three-masted topsail schooner; thrilling amusement midway rides by Newton Shows and some outstanding folk and rock acts, providing the perfect time for the community to sit back, relax, listen and enjoy with their family. On Saturday night July 6, the world renowned, first family of fireworks - Fireworks By Grucci, will add its own magic to a great summer weekend!

"We are very excited to reintroduce the waterfront to the people of Glen Cove and all of Long Island," said Scott Rechler, Chairman and CEO of RXR Realty, developer of the 52 acre site. "A great deal of work has been done by our team, the City and the City's partners at the County, State and Federal levels to allow us to restore access to the waterfront. We are very proud to now be able to sponsor the Sea Faire, a great combination of family fun, food and festivities which will draw people back down to the Glen Cove waterfront."

"This site has come a very long way over the last decade and we are happy with the progress that has been made in restoring the land and returning waterfront access to the people of Glen Cove and our neighbors here on the North Shore," said Glen Cove Mayor Ralph Suozzi. "The Sea Faire will bring families back to the waterfront to enjoy some quality time together and to appreciate the natural beauty of our coastline."

At the press conference, Rechler also announced that the development team has chosen a new name for the $1 billion project: Garvies Point. "We are at a critical and exciting point for the waterfront in Glen Cove, with construction expected to begin in the fall of 2014," said Rechler. "With tremendous progress made in restoring access to the waterfront, we are seeking to draw people in the Glen Cove community, the entire North Shore and beyond down to the area. In order to do that, we felt we needed a new name - one that embraces the rich history of both Glen Cove and this specific area within the City, while also aligning with our goals for the future."

The Garvie name goes back over 200 years in the history of Glen Cove. Dr. Thomas Garvie was a physician and entrepreneur who emigrated from Scotland in the early 1800's and whose home once sat on part of the planned area for the new development. Today, the road along the waterfront shares his name, as does the nearby Garvies Point Preserve, which is made up of land from the former Garvie estate.

Letters to the Editor

Party Principles

To The Editor,

There has been an overwhelming response to my recent criticisms of the Republican Party (a party that I have supported since age 18). Whereas some nestled in the local establishment question my principles, I ask that more Republicans question the principles of their party's establishment. Glen Cove, for example, has an estimated population of 27,100 according to the U.S. Census Bureau. Despite our size, Paul Meli, Chairman of the Glen Cove Republican Party, could not find seven registered Republicans to run for mayor and city council this year. Mayoral candidate Reginald "Reggie" Spinello is a registered member of the Independence Party. City council candidate Linda Darby is a registered Democrat. How do their core beliefs support Republican principles?

If Mr. Meli desires to make the party an amalgamation of opposing political beliefs, then he should not limit the field to Independents and Democrats. Members of the Working Families Party, the Green Party, and the Socialist Party of New York could all run on the new "Glen Cove Amalgamated Party" ticket.

Mr. Meli could also call it the "One and Three-Quarters Party" if he wants to separately endorse Democrats. In our two-party system, Democrats and Republicans in name only would occupy one and three-quarters of the Glen Cove Republican Party with a quarter reserved for veritable Republicans.

The Republican Party should be the party of limited government, transparency, capitalism, and individual liberty. If the leadership cannot find seven registered Republicans in our city who support these ideals, then it is time to change the leadership.

If you want the Amalgamated Party or the One and Three-Quarters Party, then you must vote for the entire Glen Cove Republican slate in November. Those who want a principled Glen Cove Republican Party should cherry-pick their candidates who clearly support core values.

Robert Germino

Fantasy Trip to Israel

Last week, in celebration of Yom Ha'Atzmaut, (Israel's Birthday), the children of the Early Childhood Center at Temple Beth Sholom embarked on a fantasy trip to Israel. With tickets and passports in hand, and their bags packed, the children checked in for Flight 1836 to Israel. The short flight lasted all of 4 minutes and 35 seconds with even enough time for an in flight snack. Upon our arrival, (which we were able to watch thanks to technology), we picked up our luggage and began our journey through Israel.

The classrooms were transformed into a "Boot Camp", the undersea world of Eilat, a falafel stand complete with a taste of the real thing, an orange grove on a kibbutz where the children squeezed orange juice and a winery where the children made their own grape juice. The children also found time to stop at the Kotel, the Western Wall in Jerusalem, to place their special wish in the wall. The trip concluded with birthday cupcakes for all and a safe trip home to Temple Beth Sholom. (Be sure to check our Facebook page for more photos of this wonderful event.)

According to Early Childhood Center Director Helayne Cohen, "this trip was a wonderful, interactive learning experience for all of the children at our school. For days after their "arrival back home" the children continued to talk about the good time they had in Israel.

When asked what their favorite part of the trip was, many responded: "ALL OF IT"!! Educationally and spiritually, this trip provided an enriching opportunity for children to experience the sights, sounds and culture of Israel".

In addition to programs such as this, we have so much more to offer for children ages 12 months to 5 years old and their families. Be a part of our wonderful Early Childhood program. Call us at (516) 621-1171 to arrange for a tour of our beautiful facility and to find out more about our school. And don't forget to ask about day camp information.

SAFE help kids make the right choices by sharing drug facts during National Drug Facts Week

When it comes to teens and drugs it is all about choices and consequences. SAFE, Inc. participated in the National Drug Facts Week campaign by creating a program for students at Glen Cove Finley Middle School and Glen Cove High School. Their efforts were targeted at arming students with the facts to help them make the right choices so they do not suffer the consequences from drugs and alcohol.

National Drug Facts Week was launched in 2010 by the National Institute on Drug Abuse (NIDA), part of the National Institutes of Health, to educate youth about the real facts about drugs. Teens are often swayed by incorrect information on the Internet, television, movies, from the music they enjoy, and their peers. This year's National Drug Facts Week was from Feb. 25 to March 1.

SAFE's campaign included the announcement of drug facts every morning during the traditional morning announcements.

"These announcements allowed for a connection to the health education classes throughout the week," said Tony Gallo, Coalition Co-Chair.

The students also played the WreckEd card game in their health class. The game is an educational youth component of the PACT 360 Program. <http://www.safeglen Cove.org/wp-content/uploads/2011/10/Parents-You-Matter.jpg> \o "Parents You Matter" PACT360 is a law enforcement-led community prevention education system designed to deal with and reduce existing drug issues.) Wreck-Ed encourages teens to think more introspectively about their decisions regarding drugs and alcohol. This program not only encourages youth to look at their own behavior, but also to reach out and look out for their friends who may be making the wrong unhealthy decisions.

"The game allowed students to think about and consider how drugs can interfere with their own life goals," said Gallo. "This card game (Wreck-Ed) makes students realize that drug use and abuse has many negative short-term and long-term consequences."

WreckEd began with a video depicting what's going on everyday with teens when it comes to drugs and alcohol. "The students viewed the 10 minute video which had former drug addicts that spoke about how their lives began to spiral out of control due to drug use and addiction," said Gallo.

After the film teachers led a group discussion focusing on parts of the video opening the door for students to explore the reasons why the teens in the video decided to use drugs. Several students even spoke about their own experiences and about what influenced them to make the decisions they choose.

"SAFE's PRIDE Project Coalition seeks to educate youth and adults through alcohol and substance abuse prevention, intervention and education," said Dr. Sharon Harris, Director of SAFE, Inc. "Drug Facts Week is one of many initiatives the Coalition promotes to foster peer resistance skills and healthy lifestyles."

NS Middle School Participates in Music In Our Schools Month

North Shore Schools – March 21, 2013- To recognize Music In Our Schools Month – March 2013, North Shore Middle School students and faculty in the jazz band performed throughout the course of the day on March 21st to the delight of their peers, friends, faculty, staff, and families under the direction of teachers Eric Mordhorst, Bryce Larsen, Steven Uh, Jason Hill, Rachel Resnick, and Brian Messemmer.

Due to these challenging times in education, music programs across the nation continue to be at risk. To make up for funding shortfalls in this difficult economy, State and local legislators are cutting education budgets, placing school music programs in jeopardy nationwide.

Music In Our Schools Month signifies a month designated to music involvement in schools across the United States to ensure that America's students have access to a comprehensive, sequential music education taught by exemplary music educators. Thank you to the North Shore community for continuing to support our music programs as well as all of the Fine and Performing Arts at the North Shore Schools.

Glen Cove Library Hosts Interagency Council

The Glen Cove Interagency Council recently held its monthly meeting at the Glen Cove Library. After a warm welcome from Library Director Kathie Flynn, the library staff gave IAC members an overview of the vast array of services that are available at the library.

Glen Cove is fortunate to have a library that has something to offer patrons of all ages, starting with parent/child activities for toddlers. In addition to encouraging a lifelong love of reading, the library offers a number of computer programs to assist school age children with their homework, including tutor.com which provides individual assistance to students by qualified teachers who have at least a Master's Degree. The library also has an online program to assist youngsters in learning eight foreign languages. Young patrons can also join the library's Lego club and participate in many STEM-related, music, and arts and crafts activities.

The library also offers an exciting summer reading program for youth and has a flourishing Teen Advisory Board. The Teen Advisory Board consists of approximately 20 teens who meet once a month. They discuss books, make recommendations for future programs and volunteer at the library. Local students also participate in the Any Soldier program, writing letters to our soldiers and sending them care packages of donated items.

The library also sponsors special programs for patrons. Some recent programs include a country and cabaret music show that was standing room only, a jazz and soul program for Black History Month, a program of songs and stories from Ireland for St. Patrick's Day and a program on the golden age of baseball. AARP offered free tax assistance to all through April 15.

The librarians bring the library to patrons who otherwise may not be able to avail themselves of its services. For example, once a month a librarian goes to the Glen Cove Day Care Center to read to the children. The children are then given a copy of the book that was read so they can reread it at home. Librarians also bring artifacts from the library to the assisted living facilities in Glen Cove since it is often difficult for their residents to come to the library.

The library is keeping up with the latest technology. It has many online databases, access to free music downloads and access to a large number of eBooks. The library has also purchased 10 Nook e-readers. They are preloaded with books and available for patrons to check out.

Library staff is currently collaborating with the North Shore Historical Museum to create an oral history of Glen Cove. The project will preserve the history of Glen Cove as told by local citizens and politicians.

The library also has a bilingual librarian on staff who is trying to increase awareness of the library and its services to residents who primarily speak Spanish. In addition to increasing the number of Spanish language books, the library offers a children's story time in Spanish, conversations in Spanish for adults and an informal learning exchange.

Members of the IAC include community leaders representing a variety of human and social service agencies throughout Glen Cove. It reflects Glen Cove's rich cultural, religious and ethnic diversity and meets regularly to identify and address changing needs in the community. This network has resulted in numerous projects and collaborations that benefit Glen Cove residents on a daily basis.

The Glen Cove Interagency Council recently held its monthly meeting at the Glen Cove Library. Members learned about the vast selection of services that are available through our local library.

Finley Band Wins Gold

Under the direction of Brittney Frank, the Finley Middle School seventh-grade band was awarded the highest level of Gold at the 2013 NYSSMA Majors Festival held at Hofstra University on May 22. Bands, choruses, and orchestras from around Long Island performed at the festival and are graded by two adjudicators. The Finley seventh-grade band performed three pieces, which were also performed at this year's spring concert. Congratulations to the band for all their hard work and dedication!

Gribbin Gets Wild with Animal Museum

Traversing deep through the jungle, out to the desert and into the Arctic, students at Gribbin Elementary School in Glen Cove explored habitats throughout the world during the Second Grade Animal Museum. The museum served as the culminating activity for the students' research projects on habitats.

As part of the unit, the students rotated through classrooms to learn about all of the different habitats, later completing research projects that each focused on a specific habitat and one animal residing in that environment. These projects were then exhibited at the museum through the use of murals, dioramas and other research displays. Parents and other students were invited to visit the exhibition to learn more about the animals and their respective habitats from the students, many of whom dressed up to match their habitats' themes.

Divided by habitats, including desert, Arctic, savanna, ocean, woodland forest and rainforest, the second-graders presented projects on a wide assortment of animals – from walrus and caribou in the Arctic, cheetahs and hyenas in the savanna, and rattlesnakes and roadrunners in the desert to gorillas and parrots in the rainforest and dolphins and sea turtles in the ocean. In addition to a diorama, each project featured illustrated books that discussed the specific animals' classifications, appearances, habitats, diets, offspring and other interesting facts.

Parents visit the Second-Grade Animal Museum at Gribbin Elementary School in Glen Cove on June 6 to learn about an assortment of animals that reside in several habitats. The exhibition served as the culminating activity for the students' habitat studies

Poetry Reading at Pratt Pavilion

Victoria Crosby performed selections of her inspirational and humorous poetry for the residents of Pratt Pavilion at Glengariff in Glen Cove recently during National Nursing week.

Jody Weber, Director of Therapeutic Recreation, noted that "Residents and Patients of the Pratt Pavilion Short Term Rehab building enjoyed an enjoyable afternoon of poetry mixed with laughter and drama. The theme this year was Team Care, so we wanted to bring the community to them, as it is not very often that the residents get to actually get out into their community. Therefore, our events consisted of inviting members of the local community to share their talents with our residents. We opened this week to both our short term patients as well as our long term residents. We invited Victoria Crosby, Glen Cove's very own Poet Laureate, to come and be a part of the festivities. Glengariff looks forward to inviting Victoria Crosby back again for a wonderful afternoon of poetry reading."

ESL Academy Helps Language Learners – and Families – Prep for ELA, Math

In what made for a festive and exciting event, the Glen Cove School District's English as a Second Language Saturday Academy culminated with a special celebration in the Finley Middle School Mini-Center, where students received certificates for their hard work in completing the program. Along with the recognition, special group presentations, cultural food and music complemented the finale.

Now in its second year, the ESL Academy was created to help ESL students and students who exited the ESL program within the past two years prepare for New York State assessments in English Language Arts and math. The program welcomes many students for most of whom Spanish is their native language, although not all.

Monica Chavez, Coordinator of Foreign Language and ESL for the district and supervisor of the ESL Saturday Academy, welcomed those in attendance to the academy's closing ceremony. "I'm thankful to the teachers who have sacrificed their Saturdays to come and dedicate their time to working with our children," she said. "This will be a great benefit for our students."

Ms. Chavez explained that the program is not only geared toward preparing students for the state assessments, but also for providing support for children to become more comfortable with the English language. A variety of writing activities, including essay composition, poetry, reading comprehension and analysis of texts, was conducted in classes to prepare students for the ELA exam, while for mathematics, students worked on problem-solving, computation and other math activities.

Rosita Mallo, Morgan Becht, Amy Mendrinos, Gaetano Vaccaro, Elizabeth Sohanchyk-Nagler, Alexandra Rivera, Briana Fazio, Jennifer Beauchamp, Max Pinsky and Christine Johnson are the teachers who work the academy. "They are the heart and soul of the program," added Ms. Chavez. "Without them, there is no program."

She also explained that this year, the program expanded this year to accept 60 students spanning grades kindergarten through eight, allowing for the younger siblings as well as parents to participate in the Academy, which offered ESL for Adults for the first time.

Following presentations from students who discussed their learning experiences at the Academy and how the program helped them develop stronger writing and math skills, certificates for participation were presented to students, parents and teachers of the program, and perfect attendance certificates were distributed to students and parents.

"This is a great opportunity for kids to respond to learning," said Ms. Becht an ESL teacher at Connolly Elementary School who teaches third-grade advanced ELA and math for the ESL Saturday Academy program. "The more exposure they have, the better prepared and confident they'll be for the assessments. This gives them confidence."

Ronaldo Velasquez, 15, said that he benefited from taking the eighth-grade math class and an ELA class as part of the ESL Saturday Academy program. "It helped me a lot more with my English," he said, noting that he speaks Spanish regularly. Of the state assessment in ELA, he said, "It was hard, but the program helped me a little bit more for it."

Third-grader Katie Arevalo described the program as fun and said she enjoyed learning more about both ELA and math, and being able to go to class with friends. "We did different projects, and this made it easier for me," she said, referring to the preparation for state assessments. "I would want to do it again next year."

The event concluded with an assortment of delectable treats and drinks, as well as music. Families, friends and teachers gathered to share stories and enjoy the final day of the program.

Volunteer Recognition Day 2013

By Laurie Huenteo

"I slept and dreamt that life was joy.
I awoke and saw that life was service.
I acted and behold,
Service was joy."
~ Rabindranath Tagore

Volunteer Recognition Day was a huge success despite the weather. The room was filled with our wonderful volunteers and guest speakers. The County Executive said a few words and then our Keynote Speaker, Diana O'Neill from the Long Island Volunteer Center, shared some amazing anecdotes.

Volunteering is essential for organizations with limited funding, but most importantly, volunteering can be healing with a long term positive effect for both the giver as well as the recipient. If you haven't volunteered, think about giving some of your time to an organization. If you have volunteered, thank you. You are a precious and most appreciated resource.

Glen Cove High School Breaks Ground for New Locker Room

In a continued effort to consistently maintain and improve all schools in Glen Cove, administrators and members of the Board of Education came together to break ground for the athletic new locker rooms at Glen Cove High School on June 3. The locker rooms were the original rooms from when the school was built in 1962. A complete renovation is planned, including new floors, ceilings, lockers and showers, which were all redesigned with the input of the athletic committee, coaches and athletic direction. Additionally, there will be a new trainers office and more open space for team meetings, with the entire design featuring school colors to capture a sense of school pride. Completion of the project is expected in mid-August.

The project is the final component of a May 2009 bond, which also replaced roofs on Deasy Elementary School, Gribbin Elementary School and the high school, and new boilers at Thayer House and Gribbin School. All of the bond projects will make the buildings more efficient and save the district money by reducing energy costs over the coming years.

School and construction officials break ground for the new locker rooms at Glen Cove High School on June 3. The renovations will include new floors, ceilings, lockers and showers, all in school colors to give students a strong sense of school pride.

SAFE and Kiwanis Key Club help prevent the sale of alcohol to minors

Store owners got a surprise visit on April 24 when members of the Kiwanis Key Club stopped by to help broaden the SAFE PRIDE Project Coalition's outreach efforts to get Glen Cove business owners to commit to not selling alcohol to minors. The kids spoke to the business owners about the importance of making this pledge and requested that they display SAFE's decal in the store window. The decal, created by the Community Committee of the Coalition and Chaired by Councilman Tony Jiminez is shaped like a stop sign indicating clearly that the establishment will not be selling alcohol to minors.

"The need for prevention strategies and consistent law enforcement of underage drinking and sales has been an ongoing goal for the Coalition since 2004," said Dr. Sharon Harris, Director of SAFE and Coalition Co-Chair. Under the direction of the Community Committee, "The Downtown Business Improvement District has been an active member of the Coalition committed to protecting Glen Cove youth from the dangers of underage drinking. They adopted an initiative years ago called SAFE Downtown, which includes getting a commitment from business owners to not only not sell alcohol to minors, but also to display a decal to let everyone know of their commitment."

At a full Coalition Strategic Planning meeting in the fall the initiative was expanded to "SAFE Glen Cove" after reports from Coalition member Lt. Chris Ortiz indicated the need to address other areas in Glen Cove where alcohol is sold said Harris.

Mary Cooper, a member of SAFE's Board of Directors, said she believed the effort was very valuable not only for the community, but also for the kids in the Key Club. "This gives the kids something to do rather than sitting around with idle time where they might be tempted to do things that they shouldn't do," she said. "We are very appreciative of teacher Mary Ellen Cuomo and the Key Club students for participating in helping SAFE's Coalition to reduce the sale of alcohol to minors."

North Shore Lions Club Provides Eye Care for Glen Cove Students

This year the North Shore Lions Club of Glen Cove has begun a program of providing eye care/glasses for Glen Cove Elementary students in need. The program is run in conjunction with a school nurse at one of the elementary schools.

When a student is identified as needing care working with Dr. Gary Galante in Glen Cove the student is given an eye exam and if needed a pair of eyeglasses is provided. North Shore Lions Club underwrites the service. This year six students have received the services.

The North Shore Lions Club raises funds for this and its other charitable projects through its primary fundraiser of selling "Lucky Number Calendars." These calendars go on sale in October for the following year and each calendar has a number which will match the 3 pick New York State lotto number drawn nightly.

Along with supporting this effort to supply eye care and glasses to young children, the club funds the training of guide dogs at the Smithtown Guide Dog Foundation, helps the Youth Bureau in August with its backpack drive filling them with school supplies, the North Shore INN and many more projects.

The club meets the first Tuesday of every month September through June at the Cedar Creek Restaurant on Cedar Swamp Road in Glen Planning a funeral is no time for hasty decisions.

Most of us plan for years when we no longer need to, want to, or cannot work. It is a necessity we cannot afford to ignore. The federal and state governments have programs such as Social Security, Medicare and Medicaid to which we all contribute while working. Being informed as to what we have earned and making sure we receive these important benefits is part of "Being Prepared." There are other important aspects to being prepared, such as preparing a Will and making a Tradition & Trust Funeral Pre-Arrangement.

Great Book Guru

- Ann DiPietro

Dear Great Book Guru,
I was at a recent celebration here in Sea Cliff of the famed author Barbara Pym's centenary when someone at the party mentioned an upcoming trip to Paris. Everyone had suggestions as to what would be best to read in preparation, but Ed Lieberman, our newest trustee and a great lover of fine literature, insisted there was one book that had to be read. He said it was written by David McCullough, famous for his writings on Harry Truman, John Adams, and, yes, the Brooklyn Bridge, but Paris? What do you think?
Lover of All Things Parisian

Dear Lover of all Things Parisian, McCullough's THE GREATER JOURNEY is the perfect introduction to Paris. It opens in 1830 as a group of travelers prepare to depart for an arduous ocean journey to Paris for intellectual, spiritual, and political awakening. His travelers will eventually include among others Samuel Morse, James Fenimore Cooper, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Mary Cassatt, Elizabeth Blackwell, P.T. Barnum, and Oliver Wendell Holmes. Their stories develop and intertwine throughout the book but always the main, overarching character is Paris. We meet the beautiful, exotic, medieval Paris of the 1830's in the early chapters, and we are there to witness its transformation into the Paris we know today which began with Louis Napoleon and city planner (a rather generic term for such a transformative figure) Georges Haussmann. The book is filled with exquisite illustrations and, yes, Ed is so right: do not visit Paris without having read this book!

Major Literary Event: Sunday, June 16 at 8:30am the James Joyce Society of Sea Cliff will meet for its annual Bloomsday walk, beginning at the Marcello Tower aka the Sea Cliff Water Tower. This event will take about one hour. Hope you can join us!
