Citizens Protest Phase Out At Hospital

by Lorraine Ballero

Citizens of the Gold Coast peacefully protested outside the Glen Cove Hospital Monday afternoon to demonstrate their opposition to North Shore LIJ's Health Systems plan to phase out the hospital's inpatient beds. [Gold Coast Gazette Issue 48 August 1, 2013]. Many came with signs and loud voices to demonstrate to both politicians and the press their disdain with the hospital decision to phase out inpatient care and decertify hundreds of beds, forcing citizens to look elsewhere for their medical needs.

The news came with great shock to the community two weeks ago as it started to gain notoriety as a decision that is unjust to everyone in the area. Mayor Ralph Suozzi, who was born in this very hospital, publicly expressed his disdain in a speech at the rally, stating that the motion "doesn't make sense," and urges people to sign the petition put up at change.org, as well as located in various stores and restaurants across the area.

Citizens talked to one another left and right about their concerns. The nearest hospital that people in this area would need to go to is the North Shore University Hospital in Manhasset and Syosset hospital being the one second closest. This leaves many uneasy, as the commute to these locations on a clear day

New Fire Medical Unit Appointment, Recycling, and Sea Cliff Museum discussed at Town Hall Meeting

by Lorraine Ballero

Monday night the Sea Cliff Board of Trustees convened and congratulated the Fire Department's newest Medical Unit appointment, Emily Natale. After completing a training course in March 2014, she will be a fully certified EMT and a great asset to the Medical Unit. Emily is currently an honors student at Hofstra University on a pre-med track and is a member of Phi Delta Epsilon, an international medical fraternity aimed at ethical physicians.

She states, "I'm really looking forward to giving back to the community that's given me so many opportunities."

The Board made it a point to remind citizens of the recycling procedures the city currently has in place, which were mailed to the citizens of sea cliff in order to improve the city's recycling rate to save money as well as help the environment. As the Department of Public Works states, "To make it easier for residents and to increase recycling of paper,

Knife Assault on Craft Avenue

On August 8th the Glen Cove Police responded to a 911 call regarding a man assaulting another person with a knife on Craft Ave in Glen Cove. According to Det. Lt. John Nagle, once officers arrived they located the 17 year old female victim and arrested her 19 year old ex-boyfriend. It was discovered that the man unlawfully entered the residence by climbing through an unlocked window. Once inside the man allegedly surprised his ex-girlfriend and proceeded to assault her inside the home. The defendant allegedly also threatened the victim with a large kitchen knife, a broken plate, and threatened to choke her with a phone charging cable. The defendant was charged with Burglary 1st degree, Assault 3rd degree, three counts of menacing 2nd degree, and three counts of possession of a weapon 4th degree. The victim was treated for a swollen bruised left eye, facial bruises, and a lacerated lip. The defendant was arraigned on August 9th at First District Court in Hempstead and was held on $25,000 cash bail.

with no complications takes around thirty minutes, precious time when in need of emergency care. Others worry about the factor of transportation, as many would not be able to provide transportation for themselves or could not afford ambulatory services to a location half an hour away. This becomes an issue for the EMT members as well, who get at least one ambulatory call a day, as it puts an added pressure in their environment.

Frank Feinberg, a main patron and whom the hospital is named after, expressed his discontent with the hospital's closing. A World War II veteran, Feinberg stated that the closing goes against and is the opposite of the four vital characteristics his father taught him while growing up; honesty, integrity, respect, and communication. The mayor was visibly personally moved by Feinberg's words.

The Mayor of Sea Cliff Bruce Kennedy expressed his concern for everyone looking to get emergency medical care and needing to be dispatched to other farther locations from the pit stop that would be the Glen Cove emergency room. He asks, if the motion is a "good idea, then why not present it to the public prior to making a decision?"

Glen Cove City Councilman Anthony Gallo states his opinion that the closing of the hospital would be a public safety issue to not only Glen Cove, but the surrounding areas as well. He expresses that it is imperative that the community comes together to keep the hospital functional.

"With great power and wealth comes great responsibility," Quotes Dr. Michael Kotkin, a podiatrist at Glen Cove's Medical Plaza. With the closing of the Glen Cove Hospital, Kotkin states, LIJ is essentially abandoning responsibility in a way that is morally, ethically, and fiscally irresponsible. He urges the North Shore LIJ system to reach a compromise with the hospital, decertifying a certain number of beds instead of all of them. Dermatologist Dr. Eve Lupenko is part of the staff of the hospital, and shared a story of being a patient who needed emergency care herself. In her case, she needed to be put directly in the Intensive Care Unit (ICU), and states that she couldn't imagine being transferred to another location in her condition. Dr. Lupenko didn't think the intention of the North Shore University Hospital system was ever to change the hospital from an inpatient facility to an ambulatory facility.

Dr. Kaplan also made a comment at the rally speaking on behalf of many doctors, nurses, and employees of the hospital. She expressed that Glen Cove that the staff truly cares about the people, the community, and their practice more than any politics or government intervention. Essentially, what we all want ent Services, Seema Bhansali, and Senior Legislative Aide, Colleen Nguyen, from Congressman Steve Israel's office; six local physicians, Dr. George Dunn, Dr. Andrea Kaplan, Dr. Phil Deluca, Dr. Martin Moskowitz, Dr. Yelena Rosenberg and Dr. Eric Hochberg, as well as Former Deputy Mayor and Current President of the SAGE Foundation, Marilyn Brenner.

"The conversion of Glen Cove Hospital will be less severe than indicated earlier. There is flexibility in the initial plan and there's a willingness to include the voices of the medical practitioners and our community in future plans. Mr. Dowling is cognizant of the public's adverse reaction to the initially reported plan and indicated that NSLIJ is very sensitive to that. He did make clear that healthcare is an evolving environment and that Glen Cove Hospital must change to survive and committed to me to review the decision to eliminate all inpatient beds.

"Mr. Dowling made clear that the hospital will not be closing and that there is no plan to decertify hospital beds although some beds will be moved to other facilities.

"I asked how many of the 265 certified beds are actually being staffed. The hospital currently staffs only 148 of those beds, so 90 filled beds (the average census figure reported) is actually a much higher percentage of occupancy. By not decertifying beds, the hospital will maintain the ability to increase beds as necessary. There is however a plan for the system to significantly change Glen Cove Hospital to a mostly outpatient facility with an increased focus on geriatrics.

Mr. Dowling indicated that he is sensitive to the economic hardship that changes to Glen Cove Hospital would create for our local businesses and community, and he is working to identify what NSLIJ services may be reallocated and added to the Glen Cove facility to keep jobs in Glen Cove."

Mayor Suozzi said, "My office will continue to keep you informed of developments. Mr. Dowling and I have agreed to set future meetings as part of the ongoing process.

Please, sign the petition, if you haven't already, and spread the word to others to do so. Petitions are available on the City website at www.cityofglencove-li.us and at many local businesses. I will forward all petitions, concerns and comments to Mr. Dowling, the NYS Health Commissioner and to Governor Cuomo."

LIJ is truly a wonderful hospital, and that everyone that works there truly cares about their patients as well as the community as a whole.

Residents expressed that to many across the North Shore, the Glen Cove hospital is more than just a medical center, it is a place where people can have the comfort of knowing they can be is peace of mind knowing that we'll be cared for by our community in any situation life may bring us.

City Charges Hospital For Contaminating Groundwater Supply... Hospital's view- "this lawsuit smells of a strategy to extort funds"

by Kevin C. Horton

The City of Glen Cove brought the Glen Cove Hospital along with Montclair Care Center, Forest Manor Care Center and other facilities to task last August [2012] with a lawsuit changing, "Damages ... as a result of (a) defendant's manufacture and sale of defectively designed product, chlorodifluoromethane and the defendant's discharge and release of said product into underground aquifers thereby causing contamination to the city's groundwater supply."

In the complaint it's stated that the hospital manufactured and sold defectively designed product to which they, "had actual knowledge of the design defect, in the State of New York," and that the discharged and released the chemical into underground aquifers, which are the only source of drinking water for residents in the City of Glen Cove and of all of Long Island."

In an affirmation in opposition to motion for protective order dated June 20 2013, Michael J. Keane, of the firm Garfunkel Wild P.C., attorney's for Defendant NSUH at Glen Cove said, "There is no nexus between any Hospital operation and the alleged contamination at the supply well underlying this case. The decisions were ill-advised since other defendants were named when they have no physical ability to inject the purported pollutant at issue in this case into the groundwater reflecting an absolute arbitrariness in the decision to sue. There is no violation of any safe water drinking standard and there is no basis in the record to suspect there will be a further violation of any safe water drinking standard....

"Indeed, the Hospital's view, the decision to commence this lawsuit smells of a strategy to extort funds from innocent parties to upgrade a water system plagued for decades by contaminants caused by others. That is neither fair, nor just. The Mayor should be compelled to explain a decision that was his, and his alone." Keane protested a June 5 notice of motion precluded the deposition of Mayor Suozzi regarding the allegations. "Plaintiff's motion for a protective order is a garden variety tactic designed to curtail discovery of material and relevant evidence. Plaintiff argues that the Mayor 'has no superior knowledge of the litigation or its factual and legal underpinnings,' yet the record establishes that the Mayor is the sole person who authorized this lawsuit and chose to make the Hospital a defendant."

Keane charged, "Based on a suspect and unverified allegedly high reading of R-22, this lawsuit was commenced in an attempt to recover costs to upgrade treatment system servicing at the Seaman Road Well. To do that, Plaintiff sued the only deep pockets that it could think of- The manufacturers of the R-22 and large institutions in the area that the Plaintiff believed use a geothermal air conditioning system.

Keane said in the opposition, "There is nothing harassing about seeking the deposition of an individual who chose to start a multi-million dollar lawsuit... The Mayor has information highly relevant to this action and Defendants' ability to put forth a proper defense in this action action will suffer if Defendants are denied the opportunity to despise Mayor Suozzi."

When contacted by the Gold Coast Gazette for comment Mayor Suozzi said, he spoke to the city attorney. "Since the case is pending legal matter is not proper for me to comment but I will say that the attorney's representing the city on this matter field the order of protection to protect the city's position. I repeat my position that I have a fiduciary, legal and ethical responsibility as it affects the human health and safety of every resident and business of Glen Cove and its assets."

Blues Rock On Tap in Downtown Glen Cove

By Fred DiMenna

Smoldering blues/rock will be front and center when Andy Aledort teams up with Chris Kinnear at the Glen Cove Village Square on August 23. Andy and Chris share a love of classic rock, blues and Americana, so it's sure to be a high-energy show that commemorates the penultimate week of the 17th annual Downtown Sounds Concert Series.

Andy Aledort has been a key player in the New York blues/rock scene for over 25 years. This guitar master has fronted numerous bands, played supporting roles in others and jammed with renowned artists including Buddy Guy, Government Mule and The Allman Brothers Band. He has also authored guitar-related instructional books and DVDs that are distributed worldwide and is currently working on a series of Jimi Hendrix instructional videos in conjunction with the Hendrix estate. What is more, he serves as Senior Editor for Guitar World, the largest selling guitar magazine in the world. At the Village Square, Aledort will be playing with the Groove Kings, a band that includes Mike DeMeo on keyboard and vocals, Dennis Metzler on bass and Richard Rosch on drums.

Chris Kinnear is a songwriter, singer and guitarist who first played with Aledort and the Groove Kings in Sea Cliff when Andy requested him to sit in. Chris returned the favor and after jamming together on those instances, the two realized they had great chemistry. Now, they join forces whenever their schedules permit. Kinnear has also joined with other successful musicians having released albums with Captain Vic (Goodnight Ladies) and Reckless Abandon (Musical Train Wreck) and is currently working on a new album with The Fancy Lads.

In addition to Aledort and the Groove Kings with Kinnear, Downtown Sounds will also feature Times Ten as the opening act on August 23. This local band features Alfredo Manno on vocals, Tommy DeGeorge on guitar, Nick Carbutto on drums and Tom McCreesh on bass. They are known for covering many classics that range from blues to modern alternative rock and list major influences as Led Zeppelin, Jimi Hendrix and Van Halen.

Every Friday night during July and August, the Downtown BID and the City of Glen Cove join forces to bring Downtown Sounds to the Village Square at the intersection of Glen and Bridge Streets. This annual outdoor concert series, which is free to the public, is designed to use music as a promotional tool to boost the local economy. For example, the weekly concerts typically bring 600-1,000 people to the city's streets, which increases patronage of local businesses including many area restaurants. The event has grown substantially since its debut in 1997 and the city now closes School Street due to the overflow crowds. A new feature this year is a second stage upon which alternative acts perform. Geared to the youngsters in the crowd, these acts have been well received to date by children and parents alike.

Downtown Sounds 2013 is presented by Bethpage Federal Credit Union with additional sponsorship by National Grid, American Community Bank and Men on the Move Moving & Self Storage. The SUNY College at Old Westbury, OWRW Old Westbury Web Radio and OWTW Old Westbury Television, Sahn Ward Coschignano & Baker PLLC, The Glen Cove Printery, Linchitz Medical Wellness and AvalonBay Communities have also provided support for this year's events. Free parking is available at the nearby municipal garage and in the case of rain, the advertised acts will perform at the Wunsch Arts Center at R.M. Finley Middle School on Forest Avenue. Food Stamp TANF/FDPIR Households: Households which currently include children who receive Food Stamps or Temporary Assistance to Needy Families (TANF), or the Food Distribution Program on Indian Reservations (FDPIR) must complete an application listing the child's name, a food stamp, TANF, or FDPIR case number and the signature of an adult household member, or provide a Direct Certification letter from the NYS Office of Temporary and Disability Assistance. Children in the household with the same case number may be included on the same application. Separate applications are required for children in the same household with different case numbers. If the family does not list a food stamp, TANF, or FDPIR case number for all children for whom they are applying, then the application must contain all the information as required for "other households" as described below.

Other Households: Households with incomes the same or below the amount of money listed above for their family size may be eligible for and are urged to apply for free and/or reduced price meals (or free milk). They may do so by filing in the application forms sent home with a letter to parents. Additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school. Applications may be submitted any time during the school year to the Assistant to the Superintendent for Business.

The information provided on the application will be confidential and will be used for determining eligibility. The names and eligibility status of participants may also be used for the allocation of funds to federal education programs such as Title I and National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP), State health or State education programs, provided the State agency or local education agency administers the programs, and for federal, State or local means-tested nutrition programs with eligibility standards comparable to the NSLP. Eligibility information may also be released to programs authorized under the National School Lunch Act (NSLA) or the Child Nutrition Act (CNA). The release of information to any program or entity not specifically authorized by the NSLA will require a written consent statement from the parent or guardian.

The school district does, however, have the right to verify at any time during the school year the information on the application. If a parent does not give the school this information, the child/children will no longer be able to receive free or reduced price meals (free milk).

Foster children may also be eligible for these benefits. An application for a foster child must contain the child's name, the child's personal use income and an adult signature.

Under the provisions of the policy, the designated official will review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the designated official, he/she may make a request either orally or in writing for a hearing to appeal the decision. The Superintendent of Schools, whose address is Desoria Lane has been designated as the Hearing Official. Hearing procedures are outlined in the policy. However, prior to initiating the hearing procedure, the parent or School Food Authority may request a conference to provide an opportunity for the parent and official to discuss the situation, present information, and obtain an explanation of the data submitted in the application or the decisions rendered. The request for a conference shall not in any way prejudice or diminish the right to a fair hearing.

Only complete applications can be approved. This includes complete and accurate information regarding: the Food Stamp, TANF, or FDPIR case number; the names of all household members; the social security number of the person who signs the form or an indication that the adult does not have one; and the amount and source of income received by each household member. In addition, the parent or guardian must sign the application form, certifying the information is true and correct.

Nondiscrimination Statement: This explains what to do if you believe you have been treated unfairly. In accordance with Federal law and U.S. Department of Agriculture policy, this institution is prohibited from discriminating on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, age, or disability. Teen Actor Jake T. Austin Joins Staples and Boys & Girls Clubs of America to Promote Staples for Students National School Supply Drive Teen actor Jake T. Austin is teaming up with Boys & Girls Clubs of America and Staples (Nasdaq: SPLS) for the 6th Annual Staples for Students National School Supply Drive, to help members get the tools they need to prepare for the upcoming school year. Staples store are matched with a local Boys & Girls Club to receive the donations to benefit youth who attend the Club. Glen Cove Boys & Girls Club has been paired with the Staples branches located in Glen Cove, Manhasset and Garden City Park.

From now through September 28, Staples customers can help support Glen Cove Boys & Girls Club and the Staples for Students cause by donating $1 or more at the Glen Cove, Manhasset or Garden City Park stores, with 100 percent of the proceeds benefiting students at Glen Cove Boys & Girls Club.

"We are so fortunate to be paired with not one, but three local area Staples stores. We are grateful to Staples and the Boys & Girls Clubs of America for this wonderful opportunity but more importantly, Staples for Students helps take a huge burden off our members and their families, many of whom cannot afford the cost of the school supplies and necessities which can get rather expensive," said Melissa Rhodes, Executive Director of Glen Cove Boys & Girls Club.

"I'm so excited to team up with Staples and Boys & Girls Clubs of America for this great cause," said Jake T. Austin. "I'm rallying my fellow teens to get involved to help make a difference in their communities by making sure students have the essential supplies they need to succeed."

To kick-start the campaign, Staples will donate $125,000 worth of school supplies to the program this year. Staples and the Boys & Girls Clubs of America will ensure that all of the donations from the local branches get to Glen Cove Boys & Girls Club in time for the new school year. Since 2008, the campaign has raised nearly $3 million for hundreds of thousands of students in need throughout the country. Past celebrity influencers have included Jordin Sparks, Ciara, Nikki Reed, the cast of Pretty Little Liars and Bella Thorne.

"It's amazing to see teens and customers rally together each year for and give back to their local communities for this important cause," said Alison Corcoran, senior vice president stores and online marketing at Staples. "With help from teen celebrities like Jake T. Austin to support the great mission of Boys & Girls Clubs, we can ensure that students across the country can start the year off right in the classroom."

Teens are also encouraged to spread the word on social media. Starting July 15, they can visit the Staples for Students Facebook page where Jake will take followers through an exciting series of interactive mission videos to help drive donations. As missions are completed, teens will be rewarded with donations on their behalf to Boys & Girls Clubs, coupon codes for school supplies and other exciting surprises.

To help support Glen Cove Boys & Girls Club through the Staples for Students campaign, visit the Glen Cove Staples, located at 71 School Street, the Manhasset Staples, located at 1410 Northern Blvd. 2310 or the Garden City Staples, located at 2310 Jericho Turnpike.

To The Editor,

Yesterday, statewide standardized test results were released, showing that only 31% of third through eighth grade students tested in New York State "passed." While many state officials were quick to remind parents that the new standardized tests reflect tougher standards rather than student performance, that concept is hard to explain to a fourth-grader who's been told he failed.

Following yesterday's announcement, students and teachers alike will have to live with the sting of failure until the next test date. Until then – regardless of whatever pronouncements come from Education bureaucrats – teachers will cope with pressure to do whatever it takes to raise the test scores. Students, regardless of how they fared on the test, will suffer as a result of this added pressure. Instead of giving that fourth-grader a chance to fall in love with a book, or work on mathematics problems at his or her own pace, teachers will be forced to "teach to the test." The result – a generation of students who are expert in mastering test questions but lack any experience in, let alone passion for, real learning – will be a disaster for our state.

In forgetting that students and teachers are first and foremost human beings, we forget that, just like everyone else, those teachers and students react negatively to failure. No one wants to be told they've failed – and yet that's exactly what we're doing to 69% of students in New York State. Merely saying "don't worry, we just raised the bar," won't take away a student's despair after being told he or she failed a test that they were previously told was so important.

No matter how well-intentioned the new standardized testing scheme was, it failed to take into consideration the human side of education. As a result, students will begin to see themselves in a starkly contrasted black-and-white: either you passed or failed, with no room for error. When a young student is labeled a failure at such an early age, such a label causes irreparable harm. Standardized tests only serve to give bureaucrats numbers to crunch. It's time to take a hard look at the new Common Core curriculum and ask whether our students and teachers deserve better. I think they do.

Montesano on Hospital

To the Editor,

North Shore-LIJ recently announced its intentions to begin phasing out inpatient care at Glen Cove Hospital in the hopes of transforming it into an ambulatory care facility. As it stands now, Glen Cove Hospital provides important health care services to the communities of Glen Cove, Glen Head, Lattingtown, Muttontown, Locust Valley, Matinneck, Sea Cliff and Bayville. Also there are many nursing homes and assisted-living facilities that depend on Glen Cove Hospital for inpatient and surgical services. Between the thousands of families that live in these towns and seniors that dwell in these facilities, it would be a travesty if Glen Cove Hospital were to relinquish its inpatient and surgical services.

By removing inpatient services, North Shore-LIJ would eliminate access to critical health care services such as orthopedic surgery and rehabilitation, brain injury rehabilitation and most psychiatric services. The brain injury rehabilitation facilities, which were recently installed and upgraded after receiving millions of dollars in donations from our residents, and psychiatric services, which are at more of a premium now than ever before, would both be removed. This would be outright wasteful and devastating to the health of the community. Moving these vitally important health-care services out of our communities puts the wellbeing of our most vulnerable residents and their caregivers at a distinct disadvantage.

Glen Cove Hospital's ability to provide for this community as it has for the last 85 years is not only limited to critical healthcare services; it is also an important cog in the machine of our local economy, providing direct and indirect employment both in the area and Long Island as a whole. By attempting to close the doors on inpatient care, North Shore-LIJ is severely harming the most vulnerable in our community and endangering many who rely on Glen Cove's hospital services.

2014 Scary Scenario

To The Editor,

I am currently a per diem employee of Glen Cove Hospital (nurse practitioner) but I am writing about my recent inpatient experience.

On Sunday June 2, 2013, at 2 pm, I sustained fractures of my right tibial plateau and fibula in my home in Glen Head. I learned later that the enormity of my pain, and the inability to straighten my knee were due to the broken bones behind the knee and the onset of compartment syndrome. This is a surgical emergency. I was in Glen Cove's OR by 6:30 that night. I had a fasciotomy and external fixators placed under general anesthesia in a 2 1/2 hour procedure. Despite the morphine pump, any jostling or movement set off excruciating pain so I was transported in my bed for anything that I needed for the next 5 days until the second surgery. A post-operative blood clot which traveled to my lung was quickly picked up by staff, confirmed on CT scan (where I was transported in my bed once again), monitored in ICU for 2 days, and I ultimately made it to a two week wonderful experience in Glen Cove Hospital's acute rehab. My leg has been saved, my life has been saved, and I feel a deep debt of gratitude to so many.

Now let's visualize an alternate 2014 scenario post-closing of Glen Cove's inpatient services:

Same accident, again I am brought expertly to Glen Cove's ER by Glenwood's EMS, evaluated, then triaged, then transferred to another ambulance to be brought to North Shore Hospital in Manhasset (9 miles away) in wicked pain., after receiving a single dose of morphine which does not touch the pain, so I say: KILL ME NOW!

At the risk of sounding emotional, I cannot emphasize the fear that arises in my gut about ambulance rides when your bones are grinding and the drivers are trying to minimize the bumps in the road; then the delay in treatment which follows, the potential for loss of life and limb, not to mention the effect on senior spouses who are also traumatized (and unable to drive to, or visit, in Manhasset).

In this scenario, cost-effectiveness looks like cruel and inhuman treatment. Heretofore, I have been so proud of my hospital because my care over 3 1/2 weeks was superlative. I don't want to lose that.

Informing The People

To The Editor,

At the July 23 city council meeting, I was happy to see that good sense prevailed and negotiations to sell off Pascucci Park were tabled after a motion to do so was made by Councilman Tony Gallo and seconded by Councilman Reggie Spinello. I am also grateful that councilmen and current candidates Spinello and Gallo sent the word out to inform the community that this transaction was taking place. If the community had not been made aware of these secret negotiations to sell off our public land, there would not have been the huge outcry that I witnessed at the city council meeting. The Mayor would have pushed his agenda through at the meeting and all of the Democrats on the council would have voted in favor of selling off our land.

Kudos to Reggie Spinello and Tony Gallo for their concern for the community and for taking the necessary steps to inform the public of the proposed action.

Repair our Sewer System Properly

To The Editor,

Let me begin by affirming that the Democratic Caucus of the Nassau County Legislature is committed to funding every cent necessary to rebuild our sewage treatment plants that were damaged during Superstorm Sandy. However, we believe that in order to authorize funding there are three enormous inter-related problems the County faces that must be addressed.

First, the reckless borrowing and spending under County Executive Mangano has caused Nassau's debt to soar to $3.5 billion. Second, the reconstruction of the sewage treatment plants will require an additional $1 billion in borrowed funds, but must be closely monitored in the wake of federal, state and local investigations stemming from previous post-Sandy contracts and finally the repairs and the funding must be secured in phases and properly monitored to ensure timely completion and maximize federal reimbursement.

Under C.E. Mangano, public debt has ballooned to the highest level in the history of Nassau County. If this crisis is not addressed, the unprecedented Mangano debt will cripple Nassau's chances for economic recovery and future prosperity. Business will suffer, taxes will soar, infrastructure will decay, and quality of life will plummet, as Nassau taxpayers struggle for decades to dig out of a fiscal hole.

The rebuilding of the sewage treatment plants would be the largest public works project in the history of Nassau County. It would be foolish and irresponsible to have no legislative oversight on this project and we can't risk being denied federal reimbursement because of improprieties in the contracting process.

This July, the Nassau County Legislature authorized $262 million, in accordance with the County Executive's plan for the 3rd quarter of 2013, to start the rebuilding process of the plants. Almost half of this expenditure will provide funding for storm restoration. It will also pay for the digesters, pumps and odor control.

We want to see projects done right, done on time and done at or under budget. Our plan is to require regular updates on progress of the program and to approve the borrowing when it is justified and necessary.

Over the next few weeks, the legislators will be touring the Bay Park sewage treatment plant speaking with county engineers, plant workers and FEMA representatives about specifications, design, and reimbursement procedures.

Nassau County Legislator Delia DeRiggi-Whitton

Name the Celebrity

Last Week's Celebrity

Last week's celebrity was Shirley Knight. She was nominated twice for the Academy Award for Best Supporting Actress, in 1960 for "The Dark at the Top of the Stairs" with Robert Preston and Dorothy McGuire and in 1962 for "Sweet Bird of Youth" with Paul Newman, Geraldine Page, Ed Begley and Rip Torn. She had roles in other feature films which include "Petulia" (1968) with Julie Christie and George C. Scott and "As Good as It Gets" (1997) with Helen Hunt and Jack Nicholson. One of her films that was considered very risqué for the year 1966 was Director Sidney Lumet's "The Group" with Candace Bergen, Joan Hackett and small roles for Larry Hagman and Hal Holbrook. It concerned a group of female graduates from a Vassar-like college during the early 1930's. For its time, the movie touched on some very controversial topics such as free-love, contraception, abortion, lesbianism and mental illness. Some of her other TV credits include "The Eleventh Hour", "The Fugitive", "The Virginian", "L.A. Law", "Murder She Wrote", "Cold Case", "Law and Order" and "Hot in Cleveland".

Correct Callers

Callers who know our celebrity were: Joan Davis, Roberta Pezza, Mario Moccia, John Rogalski, Joseph Saepia, Will and Babs Hutchins, and Don Adams.

This week's celebrity was an American actor in radio, film and television. He was born in the Bronx on March 28, 1912, but was raised in New Jersey. As a successful radio actor, he was heard on the 1930's crime series "Gang Busters". The series dramatized FBI cases, which producer-director Phillips Lord arranged in close association with FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover. Hoover insisted that only closed cases would be used. Our celebrity's future wife, Joan Banks, with whom he had a son and daughter, was a regular cast member. He also starred in the later newspaper drama series, "Nightbeat" in the early 1950's and "Suspense" in the late 1950's. In films of the 1940's and 1950's, our celebrity played supporting roles. Appearing in movies such as "Goodbye, My fancy" (1951) with Joan Crawford and the "Hitch-Hiker" (1953) directed by Ida Lupino, he was effective playing the movie's everyman in extraordinary situations.

Great Book Guru

- Ann DiPietro

Dear Great Book Guru,
Last weekend, I was in Martha's Vineyard with DiPietros, Anzalones, and Marcheses, enjoying a day at the Edgartown beach when the conversation turned to favorite authors. One of the group enthusiastically proclaimed her newest favorite was Kate Atkinson. Have you read any of her books and, if so, which one would you recommend I begin with? Vacationing in MV but Missing Sea Cliff

Dear Vacationing,
How funny- Kate Atkinson's name came up just the other day. Shelia Wenger and I were discussing the Good of the Village Antique Fair (which is scheduled for September 7 at the St.Boniface 's Field). Having recently read LIFE AFTER LIFE, Atkinson's latest novel, I was trying to describe to Shelia how much I enjoyed it, but it is a very difficult book to explain. We meet Ursula Todd on the day of her birth: February 11, 1910- the night she dies- which is also the night she is saved from death, for Ursula is to die and escape death many, many times throughout this five hundred page saga of twentieth century England. The upper class family life of the Todds is beautifully described in Downton Abbey detail, but the devastation of war torn London is even more vividly described. Buddhism, chance, fate, déjà vu - all color this story and by the middle of the book we begin to find an eerie comfort in knowing that despite terrible suffering and miraculous triumphs, nothing is final. We mourn characters who die tragically only to meet them in subsequent chapters alive, happy and posed for new adventures. This is a very unusual novel and highly recommended!

Ns Kiwanis/Kiwanis Pediatric Trauma Center Bike Challenge

On Sunday, June 23rd, North Shore Kiwanis held their annual Nassau to Suffolk Bicycle Challenge to raise funds for the Kiwanis Pediatric Trauma Center (KPTC).

The KPTC organization is a fairly unique program that helps save lives of young children that have been involved in serious accidents and are in need of specialists or specialized equipment that are exclusively geared to the size of children. North Shore/LIJ Hospital, Manhasset uses this much needed equipment; two others are in Albany and Buffalo. Money raised is spent paying for this specialized service.

Assisting the NS Kiwanis Club in this notable endeavor is the North Shore

Key Club. This year they were responsible for making over 500 peanut butter sandwiches which were placed at all the rest stops in this 62 mile roundtrip Challenge. Sponsors who donated their food and services helped tremendously, as they are a driving force in making this fundraiser a success.

North Shore Kiwanis extends their thanks to all who participated in addressing the needs of over 235 bikers, netting approximately $6,629. Congratulations!

Knights Under the Lights Program Mentors Jr. League Players

As pro football training camps are in full swing throughout the country and interscholastic football programs prepare to open practice, Glen Cove High School (GCHS) hosted a free evening "Knights Under the Lights" football clinic for young aspiring players ranging from ages five through 12 on August 7.

Held for the third straight year under the lights of GCHS's football field, the clinic brings Glen Cove football coaches and players together with North Shore High School football coaches to teach youngsters who participate in the Glen Cove City Junior Football League some basic skills. Six different stations were organized to teach approximately 85 youngsters on hand proper passing, receiving, blocking, and tackling techniques, with agility drills also conducted.

Glen Cove Varsity Head Coach Pete Kopecky, Assistant Coaches Tony Gallo and Steve Tripp, JV Head Coach Frank Curatolo, Finely Middle School Head Coach Steve Kocienda and volunteer Finley Assistant Coach John Nagle all volunteered on behalf of the Glen Cove School District, along with GCHS Big Red Varsity players and North Shore Head Coach Dan Agovino and members of his staff.

GCHS's Big Red varsity football is coming off their best season in 50 years in which they compiled an 8-2 record and an appearance in the Nassau County Football playoffs. Coach Kopecky and the team also won the Howie Vogts award as the most improved football team in Nassau County.

"It's a win-win situation for everyone. The coaches are happy to donate their time and our players really enjoy working with the younger kids," said Glen Cove School District Director of Athletics, Physical Education and Health

Denise Kiernan. "The players enjoy serving as mentors to the little guys and girls, as many of them played in the Junior League themselves. They hone their leadership skills and the kids learn a lot. It's a great night for everyone involved and we are happy to host it with help from our neighbors at North Shore."

Peanuts, PeeWee, Midget, and Pony players all enjoyed a warm evening of fun and informative instruction on the GCHS field as they prepared for the upcoming season. For more information on the Glen Cove City Junior Football

League, please refer to the league website at www.eteamz.com/gcfootball/

The GCHS Big Red varsity football home schedule kicks off on Thursday, September 12 at 7pm vs. Hewlett.
