Smell Leads To Arrest

The Narcotics/Vice Bureau in conjunction with the Glen Cove Police Department reports the Arrest of a Glen Cove man at his residence on Wednesday, October 23, 2013 at 8:52 P.M.

According to detectives, members of the Criminal Intelligence Rapid Response Team along with Glen Cove Police responded to 2A Maryland Avenue to investigate the strong smell of marijuana emanating from the location. While interviewing John Basile, age 34 of the same address, detectives observed a digital scale, marijuana pipe and small amount of a substance believed to be marijuana on a desk. The defendant was taken into custody and his two year old daughter removed to a local hospital where she was admitted for observation.

Police responded back to the residence a short time later to execute a search warrant for the premises and discovered an extensive marijuana growing operation. They recovered a digital scale, metal knuckles, marijuana pipe, several pounds of a substance believed to be Ketamine, several grams of a substance believed

Fire Destroys Marietta Road Garage

By Carol Griffin

Glen Cove Fire Department received a call about 8:45 p.m. on October 27 from Glen Cove Police Department reporting a fire at 22 Marietta Road. First on the scene was Captain Justin Valeo followed by 2nd Assistant Chief Phil Grella. First Assistant Chief Joe Solomito arrived and took over the command post. Initially, there were reports of a person in the house. Firemen did a preliminary search in the house where smoke was throughout the house and found no one in the house.

Chief Grella called Glenwood Fire Company for a F.A.S.T. Team. First due engine # 528 picked up a hydrant past the house and 2nd due engine #529 arrived followed by Glen Cove's Hook & Ladder #5211. Sea Cliff Fire Department was called for another engine to the scene. Hand lines from Glen Cove's #528 and #529 stretched for a whole attack of the garage. The roof and the side wall of the garage collapsed. Glen Cove Fire Department called for an immediate investigation of the fire. The fire was extinguished within about a half hour.

Chief Solomito expressed thanks to the men and women of the Glen Cove Fire Department and the mutual aid departments for a job well done.

Serious Talk

I, and my son Kacey, had a serious talk with my 11-year-old daughter Samantha regarding her inherited Halloween obligations. Being that my son is about to turn 16, there is some serious obligations resting on her back. “Sam, listen we have something serious to talk to you about,” Kacey and I said. “It all rests on you!” We informed her, since Kacey is too old, and I (obviously) am too old, she and only she, has the distinct responsibility of obtaining enough candy to satisfy the sweet teeth in the family.

That includes my father, Kacey, my wife (who won’t admit it but will eat chocolate when presented with it) and myself... and of course any she desires... That’s a lot of loot!

Our plan is to have her begin her rounds starting at 4pm and continue, non-stop, through 8pm. Kacey and I told her there will be no delaying or pausing to talk to people. “Just a quick thank you and onto the next door.”

Unfortunately we’re not sure she is going to take the assignment seriously, but we have high hopes! Happy Halloween.

Escape Plan

A movie review by Katherine Kranz

2013

Runtime: 115 min

Rated R (Violence and language)

Stars: Sylvester Stallone, Arnold Schwarzenegger, Jim Caviezel

Cinematic simplicity is too often confused with insipidness. This leads to many movies, particularly in the action genre, to become overcomplicated with pointless and inconsistent details. It is therefore commendable to approach a straightforward plot with disciplined restraint. The storyline of Escape Plan for example, about a structural security engineer who must break out of the most secure prison ever built, must have been tempting to those wanting to add numerous subplots that would have gone nowhere. Fortunately, filmmakers let the excitement of this objective be the main focus with near perfect execution.

The security specialist who finds himself in this quandary is Ray Breslin (Stallone), who works for a firm testing the integrity of super-max prisons. If there is a way out, no matter how laborious, Breslin will find it. At his aid is Abigail (Amy Ryan), his business partner Lester (Vincent D'Onofrio) and computer expert Hush (Curtis "50 Cent" Jackson, still trying to prove himself as an actor.)

The team is approached by CIA Agent Jessica Miller (Caitriona Balfe) who offers far beyond Breslin's usual fee to test a highly sophisticated prison the world does not even know exists. Though hesitant, Breslin agrees and is taken to The Tomb which proves to be unlike any other prison he's experienced. Under the control of the callous Warden Willard Hobbs (Jim Caviezel) the site is vast, disorienting, and highly regulated. Breslin befriends fellow inmate Emil Rottmayer (Schwarzenegger), counting on him to seek out obscure objects and stage scenes in an effort to escape.

Most impressive are the elaborate, meticulously calculated strategies Breslin carries out. His visions are never fully understood until they reach an end. What he can do with items such as broken eyeglasses, scraps of paper, and a carton of chocolate milk exceeds the average person's imagination.

The prison itself is beautifully designed with hellish complexity. Director Mikael Håfström, whose previous film The Rite was nowhere near as thrilling as it should have been, composes each shot with the intention of emphasizing the feelings of isolation and hopelessness. If only a steadier hand was used while filming scenes of combat. The screenplay, credited to Miles Chapman with re-writes from Jason Keller, reveals its secrets in well-timed intervals maintaining the momentum from beginning to end. In another smart screenwriting decision, there are virtually no references or lamentable humor concerning the age or physique of the two leads.

Stallone and Schwarzenegger re-teaming once again is a joy to watch. They handle the action like the professionals they are, giving nothing less than what it expected of them. Jim Caviezel as the corrupted warden takes a peculiar approach to his character, delivering his lines like a petulant high school girl. Somehow, he manages to make it work. Bringing some humanity to this ruthless prison system is Sam Neill as Doctor Kyrie. The scene stealer is the always fantastic Vinnie Jones as a guard on a power trip.

With a satisfying conclusion, Escape Plan is a solid production made by people who knew how to handle the material properly. It should not be overlooked for its clean cut premise, nor for its poorly put together trailer, which gives away a few too many details. Stallone and Schwarzenegger may have restored our faith for when they reunite in The Expendables 3.

Glen Cove Middle School Football

On October 28th the Glen Cove Middle School Football team played an away football game right here in Glen Cove! The team bus traveled southeast from the school and ended up on Duck Pond Road for a 4:15 game vs Friends Academy. Glen Cove won the coin toss and elected to receive the ball.

On the first play from scrimmage halfback Devron James broke a 65 yard TD run. The Glen Cove defense put the heat on the Friends academy Quarterback and forced a sack and Friends had to punt the ball back to the Glen Cove. The Glen Cove offense marched back downfield resulting in a 5 yard TD run by quarterback Quadir Akines. Fullback Joseph Collins added the extra point run making the score 13-0. In the 2nd quarter halfback Devon Thurmond broke a 40 yard TD run. Tight end Jack Kaffle caught the extra point try and the score was 20-0 at the half. In the 3rd quarter halfback Cartier Funderburke broke a 49 yard TD run off right tackle for Glen Cove. Halfback Joe Yee ran in the extra point. Despite being down 27-0 the Friends Academy team showed a lot of fight and refused to give up. The Friends team then went on their best drive of the game. Friends took the ball on their own 35 yard line and drove all the way down to the Glen Cove 2 yard line. On 4th down from the Glen Cove two yard line the friends Quarterback while under heavy pressure from the Glen Cove defensive line, threw a pass that was intercepted by Glen Cove cornerback Michael Florides. Michael Florides proceeded to take the interception back 92 yards for a Glen Cove TD. Fullback Logan Pascucci ran in the extra point for a 34-0 lead. Glen Cove scored again in the 4th quarter when halfback Christopher Thompson broke a 42 yard run. Fullback Sal Gustella ran in the extra point making the final score 41-0. Great games were turned in by Anthony Rant, Joseph Yee, Ray Mayo, Ryan Telese, Joseph Collins, Mayanrawchaa Lettlier, Robert McCarthy and Sal Gustella. Head coach Steve Kocienda and assistant coaches John Nagle and Brian Monahan would like to thank the fans and cheerleaders who supported the team all year. The team also wishes the varsity great success in the remainder of their season.

DON'T BLAME US FOR HIGH TAX RATES!

Dear Neighbors,

As property tax representatives for thousands of Nassau County homeowners, we feel we have been unfairly targeted as the cause of an increase in school tax rates. We are reaching out directly to set the record straight regarding the value of your home and how that value affects your school taxes.

Your school tax bill is a combination of the value of your home and the budgetary needs of your school district. Rising school budgets and its components are the chief cause of higher tax rates. Those rates are a melting pot of many factors including the operating budget, pensions, capital improvements, state funding, and the mix of commercial and residential property in the school district.

When homeowners grieve their taxes they are challenging the value the assessor has placed on their home - not the tax rate.

Blaming tax representatives for changes in the school tax rates is like the IRS blaming your accountant for changes in the income tax rates.

ED MANGANO HAS CONSISTENTLY SUPPORTED YOUR RIGHT TO UNDERSTAND AND CHALLENGE YOUR HOME'S VALUE.

County Executive Mangano has:

- Created an Assessment Reform Team to review and improve assessment policies.
- Enabled unprecedented access to taxpayers to have their grievances reviewed and corrections made before they had to pay their tax bills.
- Adopted "Taxpayer's Bill of Rights" to ensure fair treatment of taxpayers.
- Saved approximately 90 million dollars in residential refunds and related government expenses.

The current system has allowed inaccurate assessments to be corrected. That's the way the system is supposed to work!

We are proud of our record of defending the constitutional rights of taxpayers.

We encourage all Nassau County residents to vote on Election Day.

Sincerely,

Maidenbaum Property Tax Reduction Group, LLC

Letters to the Editor

Record Versus Ray of Hope To The Editor,

I make no bones about the fact that I am an unabashed fan of Reggie Spinello who is running to unseat Ralph Suozzi as he seeks yet another term as Mayor of Glen Cove.

There are some who criticize my right to have an opinion on who should be elected in Glen Cove because I live in a neighboring community and don't get to vote for mayor. Most of that criticism has actually come from an unnamed individual or individuals who parade through the community calling themselves a "paper" in an obvious attempt to steal credibility for themselves. But, when challenged to come forward, they are just too fearful of disclosing who they are because they know exactly how disreputable their conduct is and they're too afraid to take public ownership of it. They prefer to sneak around in the darkness of anonymity. Perhaps the oddest aspect of these undercover creeps is that their business entity, which is listed in public records as the owner of their so-called "paper," also lists its address just outside of Glen Cove's borders.

These miscreants have taken to shooting criticisms at Mr. Spinello like snipers, and then at me for making public in my admiration of his skills, abilities and credibility. They appear to have drawn a small, vocal cadre of equally challenged sycophants who, for whatever their reasons, have a personal ax to grind with the Republican candidate. Some of them even call themselves "Republicans" while they engage in defamatory attacks not just against Mr. Spinello, the Republican candidate, but even against their local Republican Party leader. The term "RINO" (Republican In Name Only) is entirely suited to these folks who trash their own party and its candidates in the name of doing the party some kind of favor. The irrationality of their mien is manifest. And for that reason, they are, to use a term coined by Sen. John McCain, "whacko birds."

That said, there's a mayoral election next week which will determine who will lead the City of Glen Cove for the next two years. Ralph Suozzi says he's running on his record. Reggie Spinello says he's running to make a change from the way business has been done in Glen Cove for decades.

The decision for voters is simple. If you like Glen Cove the way it is, and if you think that the last eight years with Mr. Suozzi have been the success story he claims, and if you think Glen Cove is headed in the right direction, then Mr. Suozzi is your guy. If, on the other hand, you step outside and take a look at a city deteriorating before your eyes while your taxes keep going up to fund the disaster, and you want to do just one single thing that might stop the decline and start turning things around, then all you need to do is go to the polls and vote for Reggie Spinello. The choice is clear: a record of eight years of failures versus a refreshing ray of hope.

Michael A. Levy

The Inside Scoop on Spinello To The Editor,

Reggie Spinello is my husband and he is running for mayor of our wonderful city of Glen Cove. Let me tell you just a little bit about Reggie. Politics has never really been his interest. He has always been a hard-working man, with family being his top priority. I am so proud of him every day. He felt very fortunate to be able to retire early and wanted to relax and enjoy his life stress free. What most of Glen Cove is not aware of is that Reggie is a spiritual person who credits his good health to the grace of God. His conscience would not allow him to just retire and ignore situations that he knew he could fix. Reggie decided that it was time to get involved in the community and help fix Glen Cove.

Reggie has always been the guy in the family that everyone goes to for advice and knowledge. We can always count on Reggie to find a solution that is usually a win/win. I know that Reggie is the man to vote for if you want to improve your quality of life here in Glen Cove. He will work for you 110 percent. He has no aspirations for higher office and for the time he is our mayor, I can guarantee he will make a positive impact on all of us Glen Cove. Please vote for Reggie Spinello on November 5th.

Coleen Spinello

Fresh Approach Glen Cove To The Editor,

Reggie Spinello distinguished himself as the better candidate for Glen Cove mayor at the debate on October 25, 2013 at Glen Cove High School.

Mr. Spinello's thoughtful ideas were refreshing and provide great hope for Glen Cove. For example, on his plan to revitalize the downtown, Mr. Spinello, after noting that in the last eight years only one major business had opened its doors in Glen Cove, pointed out that the Industrial Development Agency (IDA) and Community Development Agency (CDA), the two New York State authorized agencies charged with developing business in Glen Cove, have, unfortunately, accomplished little in recent years. Mr. Spinello indicated he would appoint new, highly qualified persons to these agencies and insist that they have regular meetings.

Come November 5th, I hope voters will give Reggie Spinello and his long track record of success a chance to revitalize Glen Cove. It is time for a fresh approach.

Robert J. Kurre

Winner of Debate To The Editor,

Incumbent Ralph Suozzi was the clear winner in Friday night's mayoral debate at Glen Cove High School.

Suozzi ticked off his accomplishments, presented a clear vision for the city and had a command of all the facts and figures associated with his job, those including finances, safety issues, infrastructure improvements and quality of life.

His opponent, City Councilman Reginald Spinello, unable to list more than one accomplishment during two years on the council, often fumbled for names and facts. Mayor Suozzi, displaying his good nature and even temperament, stepped in on a number of occasions to help his challenger, even when Spinello was in mid-criticism.

The mayor's confidence was clear, as was the picture of the job he's done in office. As Newsday quoted Suozzi as saying, "Our city is stronger. Our city is safer. Our quality of life is better. Our infrastructure is vastly improved. Our environment is cleaner." Suozzi pointed to improvements downtown, including new signage, quaint street lamps, new businesses and the coming "piazza" development that will feature a home for graduate osteopathy students from New York Tech, stores, restaurants and more.

One message the mayor's campaign has underscored was made over and over again, and even confirmed by Mr. Spinello – the fact that Spinello has voted in agreement with Mayor Suozzi on City Council issues 97% of the time, blurring the distinction between the candidates. Spinello's comeback: the 3% of the time he didn't vote with the mayor corresponded with significant issues.

When asked about his accomplishments on the council, Spinello pointed to his work negotiating the Glen Cove police contract. As Mayor Suozzi offered, though, Spinello was a member of a team of seven people on the city's negotiating team.

When asked about his plan for the city, Spinello would say only that he will bring business to Glen Cove. He did not say how.

Mayor Suozzi, on the other hand, laid out plans by the CDA/IDA to implement its marketing plan to introduce Glen Cove to businesses in the surrounding communities and to provide more housing options to attract residents who will, in turn, make the city attractive for retail outlets and restaurants. He discussed the waterfront project, the fact that the site preparation is completed and that 99% of the environmental clean-up is also done, paving the way for building beginning on 2014.

Both candidates agreed that Glen Cove is a great city in its current state, with lots to offer families, especially a thriving waterfront and a beautiful seascape, as Spinello stated, "just 23 minutes from New York City."

Full disclosure: I have been providing public relations support to Mayor Suozzi's campaign. But honestly, working with the Mayor has only underscored the fact that he is a dedicated, hardworking public servant who has done great things for this city and continues to be committed to making it better.

Experience Money can't buy

To the Editor:

This Election Day is like many others I've experienced since my father Vincent "Jimmy" Suozzi first took office when I was 14 years old. In the 40 years since my father was elected to serve his first term as Mayor, I can proudly say my cousin Tom Suozzi, and now my brother Ralph Suozzi have also been given that same honor by the people of Glen Cove. I am proud of the public service my family has given to our community.

I am writing to ask you to vote for my brother Ralph as he seeks his fifth term as the Mayor of the City of Glen Cove. My brother's record speaks for itself, and he has a sincere and personal interest in this City.

Election Day is this Tuesday, November 5. Polls are open from 6am till 9pm.

Please go out early and vote for Ralph Suozzi for Mayor.

I truly feel it's the best thing you can do for you and your community. Together let us all help to Keep the Mayor Mayor.

Vincent A. Suozzi Jr.

In Support of Peress To The Editor,

I have known Jeff Peress for more than 20 years. I first met him in court where he passionately stood up for his friend and demanded justice. I admired that. Over the course of many years and events I have seen Jeff mature and develop into an experienced advocate for fair government and a protector of the environment.

This fall I gratefully accepted the Green Party nomination for 11th District County Legislator and have had the privilege of working with Jeff for values that we share. Jeff is energetic, courageous and authentic; qualities that are rarely found especially in politics where they are especially needed.

The Green Party stands for popular causes, whereas the Repubs and Dems do not. For example, please consider fair elections. We are for fair elections, right? Do you know that both Repubs and Dems tried to claim Green Party ballot positions including my own, employing shenanigans that I would describe as unfair, to put it mildly. These attempts to deceive voters, postponed my certification by the bipartisan board of elections and if I did not struggle and prevail, would have denied my right to run in a fair election as a Green Candidate. Without Jeff and the Green Party supporting my efforts, we would not have a fair election.

For more information about the Green Party please visit our website www.greenparty.org.

powerful advocate for Glen Cove residents and that he will gain strength with every vote cast for him.

Your vote will be more potent when you cast it to for Jeff and/or me, because Dems and Repubs require a majority to win, and Greens would win too with a majority, but Dems and Repubs would lose without it. Greens would still be winners with just enough votes to make the major parties compete for our votes in the next election. Your vote for Green candidates would make the Dems and the Repubs lean towards Green Party values. So a vote for Green candidates magnifies your importance as a voter and helps to protect the environment. Think about it.

Here is an example: In 1991 I ran as the Dem's "environmental candidate" for City Council. I only ran with the commitment of the Democratic City Club to make my issues their platform.

1) Shut down the derelict mass burn incinerator on Hempstead Harbor.

2) Relocate the expanding solid waste transfer station on Sea Cliff Avenue.

I lost that election even with 2900 votes.

That is more votes than many sitting councilmen got when they were elected in 2011. Even though I lost the election and did not serve on the council, being a candidate gave me the platform to raise and magnify important issues. In collaboration with my Democratic running mates, hundreds of volunteers and many environmental groups, most prominent among them Coalition to Save Hempstead Harbor, we succeeded in closing the incinerator. It has since been demolished. We also succeeded in relocating the transfer station into an enclosed and modern facility.

So, we won big for the environment. You don't have to belong to the Green Party to vote for Green Party candidates and help preserve our environment.

Crescent Beach has been closed for six years due in large part to what our mayor has cleverly called "the effluent of the affluent". I like the phrase, but not the content. A simple ordinance to regulate cess pools and septic systems that are off the municipal sewer grid are fouling our beaches and public waters after substantial rain falls. You may not believe this, but the water tables have risen. Old cess pools are overflowing. I have proposed an ordinance to prevent this from continuing. Jeff Peress-Freed would be its strong advocate in City Council and I would expand it to the Nassau Legislator to protect beaches along the entire Gold Coast. Legislation like this exists on the other side of LI Sound and is overdue here. Why has it taken the current administrations so long to help us?

Do you want to protect the environment with no additional cost to taxpayers? Do you want clean air and clean water? Lower fares on buses and trains? Less traffic? Lower electric rates? Lower taxes? You can get what you want, but you will have to vote for it. Please don't waste your vote on November 5th. Vote for the real deal Green Party candidates, my friend and running mate Jeff Peress-Freed and vote for me.

Vote for Linda Darby To The Editor,

I'm writing to endorse Linda Darby for the Glen Cove City Council in the upcoming election. I have known Linda for a very long time and she is an excellent representative of what Glen Cove needs to get back on track to being the productive, successful municipality it used to be. Linda has always been enthusiastic about improving Glen Cove, her hometown. She will be a conscientious, honest and trustworthy voice for the citizens of our city. I hope that you will join me in voting for a lifelong Glen Cover who has the history, loyalty and dedication needed to bring life back to a city that is in desperate need of new ideas and dedicated leadership. Cast your ballot on Nov. 5 for Linda Darby for City Council.

Vote for Kristina Heuser To the Editor,

I am writing this letter to express my support for Kristina Heuser for Glen Cove City Council. Kristina holds a degree in Government from Georgetown University and a Law degree from Brooklyn Law School. She is always outspoken at the city council meetings and articulately presents her point of view. Kristina is honest and has integrity.

She will do what is right for the residents of our community. Please join me in voting for Kristina Heuser for Glen Cove City Council.

Spinello Voted With Suozzi To The Editor,

Covers can only watch in disdain as Reginald Spinello continues to mount desperate attacks on Mayor Suozzi's record of accomplishments. Mr. Spinello's attack ads fail to mention that he's basically been in agreement with Mayor Suozzi and his policies during his entire term as a Councilman. Why he's decided to challenge what is in essence a mirror image of his own political record is an exercise in gross hypocrisy. After siding with Mayor Suozzi nearly 98% of the time over several years it seems the only intelligent choice is to vote for the candidate with the experience and proven dedication to keep this City on the right track. That's why I am voting for Mayor Suozzi and his entire team.

residents will have a wonderful new and vibrant waterfront risen from the ashes of an unused industrial area.

Thanks to Mayor Suozzi and his administration we will also have a high speed ferry line giving us a new rapid way to travel to NYC. The new Ferry Terminal site is beautiful - just drive down Garvies Point Rd. and take a look. And look at the beautiful new park along Mill Pond. These were overgrown, unused eyesores. Now they are inviting parks and walkways for all of us to enjoy!

Glen Cove will continue to shine as an example to the rest of the region as to what forward thinking leadership can accomplish. I don't want to see things move backwards, I want to see them continue to move forward - that's why I am voting for Mayor Suozzi, Nick DiLeo, Mike Famiglietti, Tony Jimenez, Tim Tenke, Eve Lupenko and Martin Carmody!

Downhill Path To The Editor,

I am sad to say that I have found the flaw in the Mangano ads. All of the "no tax increase" and "frozen assessment" ads made me check my tax payments to the County for the past 7 or so years and I found that they were essentially flat with no increase in my payments even in 2007 and 2008 (due January 1) and flat after that. This means that the alleged high increase in County property taxes did not occur. However I did find an increase (with no increase in assessment - frozen remember) in my payment for 2013 over 2012. This was odd considering the statement by Mangano politicians of no increase.

I do know that School property taxes increased due to the State pension and health care super hikes due to their poor handling of pension funds. Is this the alleged "County" increase? This is not a County controlled tax but a State and school district controlled increase. Why the false premise and the apparent deliberate falsification (my mother would use a different word)? It seems to me that the Mangano team has no respect for the intelligence of the taxpayers and believes that they will follow the herd to slaughter.

In addition, the Republican legislative candidates mouth the same false information (they act like robots with no brains of their own) as the County. I would have hoped that honest, intelligent candidates with years of experience would at least avoid these red herrings that could damage their image, and present something strong and positive that I could accept as a reason to vote for them.

Finally I still find no effort by any of the Republican party to be proactive and present defined positive approaches to the County but seem to follow the same downhill path as they have for years.

Tomorrow, and tomorrow, and tomorrow, Creeps in this petty race from day to day, To the last moment of election time; And all our false ads have lighted fools The way to dusty death.

Resume Politics To the Editor,

Every candidate for political office should be required to submit their resumes. As is standard, normal procedure, the employer (Taxpayers, Voters) requires all potential employees (Candidates running for office) to provide their respective resumes detailing their degrees received and from what schools, their previous business experience prior to entering politics, their credentials, etc. In order to determine who is the most qualified candidate for any position, this is a basic requirement and it should be employed in elections, as well.

When we compare the various candidates, one stands out above the rest and that is John DiMascio. John, a highly respected and accomplished attorney, is the personification of the word, "gentleman". Not only has John served his country in the Vietnam War, but he has continued to serve as the Pro Bono Attorney for the Nassau County Coalition Against Domestic Violence and as a Member of the Board of Directors of the North Shore Sheltering Program. His life-long history of service is only surpassed by his commitment to serve an even greater population, the residents of Nassau County. John has impeccable experience, outstanding educational achievements, admirable legal affiliations, numerous commendations by his peers, and the dedication to serve the community of Nassau County.

John, a self-made man, a distinguished attorney with numerous achievements and awards, has an altruistic and very commendable goal to serve with integrity, protect with transparency and honor with dignity by committing to do what is right for the citizens of Nassau County. John is not a career politician; John is not looking at this position as a stepping stone to a higher office; John has chosen to do this for the greater good of the people.

John will not raise our taxes; he is committed to growing local business and preserving our natural resources. John will represent us with integrity, honesty, transparency, and fiscal responsibility. He believes in government of, by, and for the people. A vote for John is a vote for us. A vote for John is a vote for no tax increases. A vote for John is a vote for family values. Vote for John DiMascio.. The only choice for taxpayers is John DiMascio for County Legislator.

Vote for Carmody To The Editor,

Martin and I have lived in Glen Cove for the past 28 years and we would be so pleased to have your support and vote to place him on the Glen Cove City Council. We are pleased to call Glen Cove home and to have met so many wonderful people here. Martin has been a part of our community through library clubs, as a volunteer firefighter, a Coach for soccer and baseball, a member of the board of directors on the Glen Cove Junior Soccer League for 12 years and he has served as a past member of the Industrial Development Agency for Glen Cove.

Martin helped me to start and run the Fourth of July Bike parade from its start back 1994 when we only went around the blocks in the Presidents Street neighborhood. Today, we are proud this patriotic parade is now a tradition here in Glen Cove. It was through many of these activities that we settled in and raised our family of four children, two girls and two boys. Our children all proudly attended and still attend the Glen Cove Schools. And, along with my teaching for the district, we are both very involved with the PTA by serving on many committees. We both support the school's sports, music and drama departments by helping with concerts and building sets for the school plays. Martin was GCHS Kickline's biggest fan while I coached the team.

Martin is the senior design engineer at a Long Island technology company with experience in product development and manufacturing. He will bring his thirty years of business experience as well as his past skills as serving as a volunteer in many organizations to the Glen Cove City Council. We believe Glen Cove is a great place to raise your family and he wants to help make our home town even better. Martin gets involved, listens and researches ways to always better our community. His leadership has gained the trust of so many and I hope you will give him your trust by voting for Martin for City Council.

Please show your support by getting out and voting for Martin Carmody for the Glen Cove City Council. The Election will be held on Tuesday, November 5th, from 6AM-9PM at all the regular polling places. Please make Martin one of your six choices. Let your voice be heard!

Eight Years Is Enough To The Editor,

If past history is any indication of future performance - then we can expect the same performance from the current administration for the next two years, IF they are re-elected. More financial downgrades, lower quality-of-life, more empty store fronts, no new businesses, another two years of tax increases, an increase in over crowding, declining home values, more blaming and more excuses. Want a change??? Vote TEAM SPINELLO. It's time for a new professional perspective to managing Glen Cove. On November 5 vote TEAM SPINELLO.

rific job of running this city with efficiency and integrity. For the last 5 years, his administration has managed to provide all essential services throughout the city, and still come in under budget - no easy feat in this economy. Since 2007, he has reduced the city deficit by 79%, and cut debt by 16.5%. At the same time, Mayor Suozzi has been working tirelessly to improve public roads, sidewalks, and the water distribution system, as well as laying the groundwork for the waterfront redevelopment.

When Superstorm Sandy hit Glen Cove last fall, the Emergency Community Notification system that our Mayor had put into place in 2007 proved invaluable. In the days following Sandy, he patrolled Glen Cove non-stop, constantly monitoring his city's recovery process. He kept us all informed, and updated the information several times a day. He and his wonderful city employees had the city up and running again in no time. He also secured nearly $1 million dollars from FEMA to help thousands of residents to recover and repair their property after the storm.

Both Ralph and his wife Jane were born and raised in Glen Cove. They are raising their 2 boys here, and are sending them to the same public schools they both attended. They have deep roots here, and have a great stake in their community. If you see Ralph on the street, talk to him. Ask him questions. He is always willing to engage, and to hear the opinions and concerns of his fellow Glen Covers. He is our Mayor, and he takes his responsibilities seriously.

On November 5th we are voting for Ralph Suozzi, and hope that you will do the same.

Private Citizen To The Editor,

"The most important political office is that of the private citizen"
Justice Louis D. Brandeis

Councilman Anthony Jimenez has and continues to dedicate his life to the people of this city. He is one of my hero's, a man who has served as our councilman for many years. Where ever you turn you will see Tony always helping his neighbor. His individuality in the difficult decisions that he makes on a daily basis concerning our government is what defines democracy. When ever I have called upon Tony for his guidance, his doors were always open to me as they will always be for you. No political party can stand between certain people and what they believe in, and in my eyes Tony is one of them. I have known Tony for many years and before I met him I always saw this gentleman doing for others, putting other people's lives before his. It was my honor to first meet him, he shook my hand and we got to know each other and have been friends ever since. I urge every citizen to come out and vote and to vote for Councilman Jimenez.

A Reminder To The Editor,

Election Day is Tuesday Nov. 5. Don't be apathetic. Get out and vote. Too often the right to vote is taken for granted and not acted on. A democratic vital city, county, state and country depends on everyone's participation.

Personally I am voting for Ralph Suozzi for Glen Cove Mayor and I want to call your attention to something that I did not see addressed in any of the dozens of other letters I have read.

In a time of economic down turn, under Ralph Suozzi's administration, so many neighborhoods in Glen Cove have seen major repair and restoration. The Landing is safer and there is far less visibly illegal housing. Shorecrest has been repaved. Morgan Park has lights in the parking lot, a restored gazebo and grounds that have been replanted since the terrible storms. Le Grey Court is being rebuilt, better than it was originally, and the homes are going back on the tax rolls. Flooding issues have been addressed and the fire hydrants all over the city work again. On the other side of town, the Orchard area is undergoing major revitalization and a $402,100 grant State Brownfield Opportunity Area grant was just awarded the city, (the largest on Long Island) to continue the effort.

Ralph is a tireless worker who cares deeply about the city and the people of Glen Cove from the big picture to the minute details. Look around and consider this when you make your choice. Hope to see you at the polls.

PS : If you have pictures in color of Glen Cove taken between 1950 and 1990, I would love to see them for a third volume of Glen Cove's pictorial history.

Why I Will Vote for Ralph Suozzi To The Editor,

As a new resident of Glen Cove I believe it is important to know as much as I can about my community and the people who serve as elected officials who run it.

I have spent much time talking to folks, reading as much as I can in local papers and actually getting involved. I am a real person and I want a real person to have the interests of the people on top. Give me a baseball cap and khakis not a $500 suit and silk tie. Share a hotdog with me, don't tempt me with lobster and then not sit next to me to eat...

Genuine, compassionate, straight forward and honest! That is what I want! Someone who will walk in the mud to assist, not try to find a blanket to throw down for me to use to crawl out on my own and if I sink, pretend I was never there. Mayor Suozzi is a fine man who really cares for the people of Glen Cove. As a member of the senior community I have seen first hand his kindness and true want for the seniors. I'm only here a few months and he knows my name, he asks me if I'm ok and happy. He has a very honest and calming way, and he looks you straight in the eye when he speaks to you. He is very transparent and doesn't hide behind $50 words and fancy talk. We don't need Fancy, we NEED Ralph Suozzi! Please get out on Election Day and support Mayor Suozzi. I'm polishing up my walker and will be ready to go!

Debate Vote To The Editor,

After attending the Mayoral Debate at the high school on Friday, October 25th, I will be voting to re-elect Mayor Suozzi in the upcoming election. Mayor Suozzi proved himself to be not only intelligent, but also highly articulate. He presented detailed information when he answered questions and remained factually consistent throughout the debate. He is multi-faceted and morally consistent, brilliant, and a real leader.

Support Tom and Delia To The Editor,

Delia DeRiggi-Whitton has worked hard as our city councilwoman and now works diligently as our representative to the Nassau County Legislature. She asked the important questions concerning the costs of recovery from Superstorm Sandy, exposing the special patronage contracts awarded by the current county administration. She has continued to hold accountable the inadequate management of Ed Mangano. Delia is the honest and open choice to best represent us in Nassau County. Delia has earned our continued support.

Tom Suozzi is the right leader for Nassau County. Tom is a leader with vision; Ed Mangano still struggles to come to grasp with the responsibilities as the executive of America's premier suburb. Tom Souzzi has the experience and the talent to move us forward. Tom continues to express a clear plan for the new American suburban community. Whatever your party affiliation is here in Glen Cove, Tom deserves your support. Tom was good for Glen Cove as our mayor; Tom was good for Glen Cove as our county executive. Tom Suozzi, once again as our county executive, will be great for Glen Cove.

In Support Of Eve To The Editor, community are numerous. Eve Lupenko has lived in Glen Cove for 21 years, and during that time has been actively involved in many projects. She has served on the East Island Association as board member, president, vice-president, and secretary. She has also been board member and treasurer for the Glen Cove Arts Council. She has worked as a board member for the Community Scholarship Fund of Glen Cove. Other activities include the Community Development Agency for the City of Glen Cove as board member, and on the Audit/Finance Committee, and Board of Managers for the YMCA of Glen Cove. As you can see, Eve Lupenko is deeply involved in and committed to the betterment of the City of Glen Cove.

In addition to her civic qualifications, Eve Lupenko, M.D. is also a board certified dermatologist, Diplomate of the American Board of Dermatology, and associate attending physician at North Shore LIJ Hospital at Glen Cove, and Winthrop University Hospital. Education is very important to Eve, as she is also a member of the Alpha Omega Alpha Honor Medical Society. She frequently serves as lecturer and instructor for physicians and resident physicians. In addition, Eve volunteers at skin cancer screenings and health fairs for women and seniors.

Eve Lupenko has also performed in various local theater groups, including Broadway Bound, Eastline, Second Stage, Pizazz, Hicksville UMC, and St. Paul the Apostle's Center Stage. (Public appearances and speaking would not be a problem!)

Eve Lupenko is very family oriented and has an excellent value system. She instills the value of education in her two sons, ages 15 and 12. Both children have been long time participants in several Glen Cove sports organizations and Summer Day Camp. They have also performed in some of the same theater groups as their Mom.

Eve Lupenko is a very well liked individual among her peers and friends. She is one of the most respected and honorable people I have ever met. Eve Lupenko, M.D. knows how to balance work with life and would make the best City Council Member the City of Glen Cove could ever have!

Coels School Fate? To The Editor,

After having attended the Mayoral debate on Friday night, there is one question that stands out in my mind.

The candidates were asked what they planned to do with the Coels School. Mayor Suozzi said that he did not want it to be sold to developers and that it should be used as a community center. While Mr. Spinello agreed that it should not be sold to private developers, his response leaves me with more questions than answers. Mr. Spinello feels that the Glen Cove Library should be moved to the Coels School so that the current library building can be torn down so as to provide views of the waterfront from downtown. My question is, from where? Is he kidding? The Piazza is going to be four and five stories, you won't even be able to see Brwester Street, much less the waterfront, and what about the firehouse? While criticizing Mayor Suozzi for focusing on the waterfront and ignoring downtown businesses, it would seem that the waterfront is in fact in the forefront of Mr Spinello's agenda. To even consider tearing down the library which does not block the "view" of the waterfront is mind boggling.

Truly Remarkable To The Editor,

As elections are upon us, I wanted to take the time to thank Mayor Suozzi, on behalf of my family and the people of Glen Cove for all the good he has done in our community. Over the course of eight years the vast positive changes that have taken place under his careful leadership are undeniable. His efforts have noticeably revitalized the City of Glen Cove and unified its people more so than ever before. Being the owner of a small local business for over 20 years, I've found it is all too common to encounter political figures that boast about protecting those in their communities, then fail to follow through. Unlike most politicians Mayor Suozzi continues to reaffirm his loyalty to the people of Glen Cove leading with his actions, not just words alone.

Mayor Suozzi's ability to connect with individuals, and find the time to personally help them is truly remarkable. Early on in his first term, I had written him to ask for his help as a certain corporation was trying to close the doors of my family's deli. Without knowing me or my family he agreed to help us. It was with his support and guidance that we were able to take a stand against a large corporation and successfully relocate our business. Mayor Suozzi's daily presence in the lives of those in our community may not always be chronicled in the local papers but I am sure it's always greatly appreciated by all.

Having been born and raised in the Dominican Republic I'm all too familiar with how rare it is to have a conscientious leader. Our Mayor's independent thinking and compassionate ways inspire those around him to help one another. His enthusiasm to do right by people is contagious. Rest assured that even though his love for Glen Cove may make his job look easy, it is no secret that he is one of the very few who is willing to go above and beyond the call of duty for those who need it most. In my mind there is no one better at making Glen Cove a better place to live.

Sincere As It Seems To The Editor,

When we found out that Dr. Eve Lupenko was going to run for public office, right away we thought, "What can we do to help?" We are some of Dr. Lupenko's medical assistants in her office, and we want to ask you to support her in the election for City Council.

We spend all day with her, and she IS as sincere as she seems. She is meticulous in her work, very thorough, and well-spoken. She is thoughtful and insightful, and an extremely bright woman. She has so much patience with her dermatology patients who are often worried and nervous.

We expect that she would show all these same qualities in a management position. So if you are looking for a candidate who will listen to you, analyze all the data, and evaluate issues constructively, Dr. Lupenko should be your choice.

Smoke & Mirrors & Putrid Pink Signs

To The Editor,

Did anyone read Ted Phillips' article in Newsday 10/28/13 p. A22? Looks as though NYS Comptroller Thomas DiNapoli is not too happy with the Mayor's $69.9 million 2014 budget. With all the borrowing the Mayor is doing... essentially robbing Peter to pay Paul...seems like nothing more than a smoke and mirrors magic act, or better yet, a Ponzi scheme. Bottom line, the debt has never been fixed. It continues to increase. A picture, such as the fiscal stress monitoring graph published in last week's Gazette, is not worth a thousand words... just like the putrid pink signs all over town about how the Mayor saved the Mansion. He didn't save the Mansion. He allowed the seventeen and a half acres to be subdivided for developers to make another Levittown. By the way, the owners can demolish the Mansion anytime they want.

Setting It Straight To The Editor,

I am writing to dispute several serious and disingenuous allegations made in this election by the Spinello mayoral campaign, concerning the Glen Cove Community and Industrial Development Agencies (CDA and IDA). Councilman Spinello has repeatedly stated that these agencies are unproductive, and that they have not met in several years; these claims are offensively inaccurate, and they are a blatant attempt by the Spinello campaign to spread falsehoods and to politicize City agencies.

As the Treasurer and Vice-Chair of both agencies, I can verify that the agencies have consistently met every month, and often twice a month, to handle the projects of great complexity with which they are charged. These meetings continue to be open to the public, although I have not encountered Mr. Spinello at a single one; this may be the source of his confusion regarding our meeting schedule.

In addition, I am pleased to report that the CDA and IDA continue to advance projects of great complexity, including the Garvies Point project, the Glen Cove Village Piazza (downtown), and several other projects throughout the City. While the recent recession has delayed these projects, frustrating residents and Agency staff alike, residents must understand that without the diligence of the IDA and the CDA these projects likely would have disappeared completely.

Mayor Suozzi has always demonstrated a desire to invite the public to participate in the City's projects and processes. In fact, I first met him almost eight years ago, when I strode into his office to complain that the public was not aware of the goings-on and decision-making happening in City Hall, and to voice my disapproval with the plans for the Waterfront. At the time, I felt that the Glen Isle plans for eighteen story towers were being forced down the public's throat.

He surprised me by immediately inviting me to attend the semi-monthly meetings held by the Community Development and Industrial Development Agencies, and lamenting the fact that although the meetings are open to the public, very few residents attend. At that point, I began attending the monthly and semi-monthly meetings. As an independent voter, I was impressed with the Mayor's non-partisan approach to appointing the board members of these agencies, and their clear mission to improve the quality of life in Glen Cove, so much so that I went on to become the treasurer and Vice Chair.

Mr. Spinello's claims about the CDA and IDA do a disservice to the Agencies and to their hard work. Prior to making such spurious claims, perhaps he should avail himself of our meetings, and educate himself about the goings-on in the Agency. I invite all concerned city residents to do the same. I can also offer solid proof that Councilman Spinello's accusations are totally false. If any of any of fellow concerned residents can go to the IDA and CDA websites and review our detailed minutes of our monthly public meetings they would see that we of the CDA and IDA have faithfully met at least once a month for the last year. I invite you to come to our board meetings. The time and place are posted in the Gold Coast Gazette.

Glen Cove Man Cracks The Code On Secret Restaurant Recipes

Back in 2003, Glen Cove local Ron Douglas Duckett also known by pen name "Ron Douglas" was living a double life. He was working for JP Morgan as a finance manager in their Investor Services department during the day and involved with what he calls "cloning recipes" at night and on the weekends.

What Douglas refers to as cloning was actually his hobby of creating copycat versions of popular dishes served at his favorite chain restaurants. Little did he know that this hobby would lead to an unconventional career change from Wall St. banker to NY Times Best Selling Cookbook Author.

In 2004, while working for JP Morgan, Douglas started a blog and free email newsletter at RecipeSecrets.net to share his recipes Online. He was looking for a way out of the corporate grind in order to spend more time with his daughter Nia. Douglas says, "I was working 60+ hours per week and the best part of my day was coming home and hearing my daughter's beautiful little voice say "Daddy's Home!" I promised her that one day soon Daddy was going to be home with her all the time." Having grown up in a single-parent household himself, he was motivated to find a way to support his family by working from home.

Over time Douglas built a large following on RecipeSecrets.net and there was a huge demand for him to self-publish a cookbook. He created the title "America's Most Wanted Recipes" which contained 135 "secret recipes" or reverse-engineered recipes for popular dishes from 57 different restaurants including Red Lobster, Applebees, The Cheesecake Factory, Olive Garden, TGI Fridays, Outback Steakhouse and many others. The cookbook was so well received that he sold over 60,000 copies on his website over the next few years. When asked how he came up with the recipes, Douglas gave credit to his "team of recipe cloners" consisting of his wife Nila, his followers Online and several of his contributors who are professional chefs.

When probed further about his process, he was kind enough to provide more details. According to Douglas "we started out by going to the restaurants and asking the waiter for all the ingredients in a particular dish. We would tell them that Nila has really bad food allergies (which she does) and that's why we need to know all the ingredients. Once we had the ingredients, we could compare it against a similar recipe to get the instructions. This resulted in a lot of trial and error and ordering food to go in order to work on it at home.

From there we would share our results on our blog and get valuable feedback from our Online community, like 'it needs more of this or less of that, etc. Today we have over 260,000 subscribers to our Recipe Secrets Newsletter and the website gets over 400,000 unique visitors per month. The popularity of the website led to lots of people contributing their own secret recipes and several professional chefs working with us to produce new copycat creations."

Douglas' hobby website and cookbook eventually got the attention of the media with an appearance on Fox News featuring his version of KFC's Original Chicken with their "closely guarded secret blend of 11 herbs and spices." That interview lead to a book deal with Simon & Schuster and many more media appearances including Good Morning America, Home Shopping Network, ABC, NBC, People Magazine, and Today Show Australia.

KFC spokesman Rick Maynard hadn't heard of the Douglas' book. But he said it was no big deal, noting that Colonel Sanders's secret recipe is one of the world's most sought-after trade secrets. The number of people who have attempted to duplicate the "original recipe" over the past 70 years were to numerous to count, Maynard said.

"There's only one place to enjoy the Colonel's recipe," he added. "At a KFC restaurant." Douglas said he agreed with the KFC spokesman.

"I don't have the recipe from the Colonel himself," he said. "The recipes I publish are my version and only come out tasting similar. Most people can't tell the difference though"

In his books, Douglas is gives credit and trademarks when the chains are mentioned. He even suggests that readers go to the restaurants to enjoy the fare before trying to make them as home.

"People who get my books can have fun, skip the long lines, and save money by making their own version of their favorite restaurant dishes at home."

Today Douglas has published four books in the "America's Most Wanted Recipes" series, which have sold over 1.2 million copies worldwide. His latest book "America's Most Wanted Recipes, At The Grill" is scheduled to be published in May of 2014, and will be available wherever books are sold - just in time for grilling season.

“The Painted Pet” Opening as Part of Scoopy Doo Plaza Expansion in Locust Valley

“I looked deep into their eyes and knew they needed a voice,” Yvonne Dagger says of her passion to paint portraits of at-risk shelter animals. Little did she know, her work would catch the attention of Ellen DeGeneres and Martha Stewart—and now, she’s coming to Locust Valley! Dagger’s work goes on display this Monday at The Painted Pet by Yvonne Dagger as part of an expanded Scoopy Doo Plaza at 177 Forest Ave. in Locust Valley. Even more exciting, pet owners can commission a beautiful painting of their beloved pets for very reasonable prices. But for Dagger, the work is a labor of love and activism, expressed through her artwork. Her painting of pets began as a shelter volunteer, which she is very involved in. She began taking photos of the cats and dogs and other poor animals hoping to be adopted.

“My husband said, ‘what are you going to do with them?’” she now says. “I felt terrible, because a lot of the animals were euthanized. I knew they needed a voice, I want their eyes, their lives to have a story.”

So Dagger began painting the pets up for adoption. She’d paint all types of animals and would follow up with shelters to see where they ended up. Often, shelters are told not to disclose euthanizations, which prompted further investigations by the celebration with the annual Pep Rally in the school gymnasium. On Saturday, students, parents and staff from different schools and school-based organizations participated in the annual Homecoming Parade of floats along Walnut Rd.

Floats from each school truly exemplified this year’s theme of “Kick ‘Em South,” with some floats depicting a Big Red football player kicking the Bethpage Golden Eagle mascot. Gribbin Elementary School’s float took it one step further, displaying a Bethpage Golden Eagle cooking over on a rotisserie, complete with a realistic-looking artificial flame.

Homecoming culminated later that evening with the Big Red varsity football matchup vs. Bethpage under the lights at J.C. Maiden Field. The 2013 Homecoming court was introduced at halftime and a new king and queen were crowned. This year’s Homecoming Queen is Allie special performance given by the Glen Cove junior football cheerleaders (comprised of students ages 5-14). The junior cheer performed under the direction of the varsity cheerleaders.

Ellen Lynch once again served as coordinator and master of ceremonies of Homecoming. The game was close heading into the third quarter but the Big Red failed to capitalize on good field position from a blocked punt midway through the quarter, and Bethpage came away with the victory. Despite the loss, the Big Red remains in the hunt for a playoff spot.

Cappiello. The 2013 Homecoming King is Nick Cavallone.

The GCHS band, varsity cheerleaders and kickline also performed during the game. Fans were even treated to a activist painter. “It was heartbreaking to find that some of them were euthanized,” Dagger admits.

Dagger’s work soon caught the attention of Martha Stewart, whose producer reached out and now even features the shelter dogs and cats on her website. Ellen DeGeneres also featured the painter’s work on her television show. People began calling Dagger to tell her about Ellen’s shout-outs, who’d show off a portrait of the host, an “absolutely wonderful” painting by a “great artist in New York, Yvonne Dagger.”

The Massapequa native has reached into other subjects, like people and everyday objects, but “my painted pets are the thing I’m most excited about,” the painter says. Her awards reflect her passion-driven skill—she’s had six covers on Dan’s Papers, a prominent Hamptons publication, and has been voted “Best of the Best” by the Long Island Press.

Working with Scoopy Doo’s Jim Coniglione opens up plenty of possibilities. She hopes to continue her work painting shelter animals, and Coniglione has been a strong advocate of animal cruelty laws. Dagger also works with guide dogs for wounded veterans. The two plan to collaborate on charitable works, and Coniglione says he’ll offer waste removal services as part of the effort.

For more information or have a painting commissioned, call 516-802-0215 or visit the Scoopy Doo Plaza at 177 Forest Ave. in Locust Valley.

NS Middle School Memoirs Writing Celebration Celebrating Stories of Our Lives

North Shore Schools, Glen Head, NY, October 22, 2013 - In October, the seventh grade English students published and celebrated their writing after several weeks of working on memoirs, the first genre of the Writers Workshop unit. During the unit, students learned how to convey a theme through describing several small moments. They also spent time practicing how to show these moments rather than tell them by using different narrative techniques, such as incorporating dialogue to develop characters and describing setting to convey mood.

During the celebration, students looked at their peers' memoirs through the eyes of readers - providing a new perspective as they offered positive and specific observations about what made each piece successful, interesting, or inspiring. The English teachers agreed, "In publishing their memoirs and sharing them with their peers, our students have added to the long, rich, human tradition of storytelling. It's a tumultuous time in education, and days like today – a highlight of our writing program, which fosters inquiry and authenticity – help to remind students and teachers about what's important."

The following are excerpts from some of the memoirs that were shared by the seventh graders at North Shore Middle School:

"Wow," I said, as Lucas headed off the road towards the woods. The Frisbee was between his closing hands and...

"Trash can!" came a yell from cabin six, just as Lucas collided with it, sprawling to the ground with an anguished cry. The crowd burst out in laughter.

"I put the tee in the ground, and put my brand new ProV1 on the tee, aiming for the perfect place. I get ready to swing, sweat dripping down my face in the bright hot sun, like rain dripping down the window of a car."

"I stared at the pen for an instant, and then picked it up caressing it like a new born baby. I pushed the top of the pen and heard a click as the tip emerged. I strolled over to a large boulder and sat down. I placed the tip on the crisp, yellow page and began to write."

Last Week’s Celebrity

Last week’s celebrity was Scottish born Finlay Currie, who was a former organist and choirmaster. Some his many films were “Around the World in 80 Days” (1956) with David Niven, “Solomon and Sheba” (1959), as King David, with Yul Brynner, “Cleopatra” (1963) with Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton and “Bunny Lake is Missing (1965) with Carol Lynley. Two of his best remembered roles were as “Shunderson”, Cary Grant’s devoted servant with a secret past, in “People Will Talk” (1951) and as Balthazar, one of the Three Magi, in “Ben Hur” (1959) with Charlton Heston. Glen Cove: "A Sound Investment Begins Here"

The City of Glen Cove has concluded a comprehensive market study that began in October 2012 designed to continue our efforts to improve the downtown shopping, dining and entertainment experience. As part of this effort, the City sought public participation as well as input by local businesses, organizations and stakeholders to share their ideas regarding the type of stores, restaurants, businesses and other improvements that would make their experience more appealing. The findings of the above described market study were presented at a public meeting held on April 25, 2013. The study titled "Downtown Gateway to the Waterfront Phase II Implementation Plan," was approved by the New York State Department of State and prepared with funds provided under Title 11 of the Environmental Protection Fund. The City encourages business owners, residents and visitors to visit the City of Glen Cove website at www.glen-cove-li.us and download the study under "Projects and Studies".

The City of Glen Cove, under the direction of Glen Cove Community Development Agency's Executive Director, Kelly Morris, is pleased to now launch a widespread recruitment effort in cooperation with the Glen Cove Business Improvement District and Chamber of Commerce, to use the data compiled under the study to bring awareness to prospective businesses, property owners, real estate professionals, banks and financial institutions to attract new businesses into the area, while we retain and/or expand existing businesses in the process.

The City's recruitment effort will include of a series of mailings to a growing prospect list, with postcards, letters, a fact sheet and color brochure depicting photos of our beautiful and unique City, along with economic and demographic data, maps and contact information to solidify implementation.

"Much time and effort went into this market study and I am confident that the marketing materials prepared for the launch of this recruitment effort demonstrates the opportunities the City of Glen Cove has to offer to prospective businesses, while enhancing the economic health of our existing businesses," said Glen Cove Mayor Ralph V. Suozzi.

Great Book Guru

- Ann DiPietro

Dear Great Book Guru,
I think Fall is my favorite time of year and autumn in Sea Cliff is especially wonderful. From September through December, the calendar is filled with fun happenings and now I've heard there is a new event on the Sea Cliff scene: The Chill Out, masterminded by multitalented Kathleen DiResta and exuberant Village Trustee Ed Lieberman. Set for Friday, November 8, beginning at the Village Green, the Chill Out will feature music from many of our local bands, specials from our retail shops, and great meals at all our fine restaurants. Of course, I will want something to read and talk about during the evening. Any ideas?

mom, the beautiful Audrey. Before the first chapter ends, Theo's life is changed forever. As he and Audrey run into the Metropolitan Museum of Art to escape the rain, a terrorist bomb explodes; Audrey and many others are killed. As Theo awakens, a mysterious benefactor whispers a strange message and urges him to rescue "The Goldfinch" a small 16th century painting lying amidst the bomb's debris and destruction. From this point, Theo's life begins to resemble the plot of many a Dickensian novel: Great Expectations, Tale of Two Cities, David Copperfield, Little Dorrit and a little J.D. Salinger's Cather in the Rye thrown in. Despite its enormous length-nearly 800 pages- the reader craves for more of this fine book. Highly recommended!

Dear Chill Out Fan,
I love your enthusiasm and indeed I have just the book for you: THE GOLD-FINCH by Donna Tartt. When the book opens, we meet Theo, a thirteen year-old bright scholarship boy living a comfortable Manhattan existence with his single
