Glen Cove Pays Tribute to Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

On January 19, 2015, the City of Glen Cove and Glen Cove School District Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Birthday Commemorative Commission held their 31st annual tribute to the champion of civil rights and Nobel laureate, Rev. Dr. King. The events and program, with the theme “overcoming the Challenges to the Dream,” honored Rev. Dr. King as well as the memory of Maya Angelou.

The morning began with a symbolic march from the First Baptist Church to Finley Middle School which always brings to mind the voter registration march from Selma to Montgomery led by Dr. King in 1965. Commission Chairwoman Sheryl Goodine welcomed everyone with a hearty “Harambe” and introduced Mayor Reginald Spinello whose remarks included the importance of education to eradicate prejudice, guarantee justice and to ensure that the history of the Civil Rights movement is accurately handed down to future generations.

Participants were treated to an inspiring program in Finley School the highlight of which was the keynote speech given by Glen Cove Police Department Detective Brian Simmons who related

Sea Cliff Civic Progress Committee Conducts Nominating Caucus

On Thursday evening, January 15, friends and supporters of the Civic Progress Committee gathered in Sea Cliff to nominate candidates for the Village election, which will be conducted on March 18 to elect two Trustees as well as the Mayor. The nominating caucus was conducted by Dan Maddock, chairperson of the committee.

Before the nominating process began, however, a number of tributes were made in honor of Carol Vogt who is stepping down as trustee after six years of steadfast service to the Village. Mayor Kennedy stated the sentiments of many when he expressed his deep appreciation for Carol’s contribution to the civic life of the Village. He also reminisced a bit about their work together on the Board of Trustees: “Carol and I had the extreme pleasure of coming into office with the global economic meltdown, the failure of the world’s biggest banks. We were told ‘Welcome to government. Now don’t spend any money!’ I am so grateful to have had Carol by my side as we shredded proposed budget after proposed budget, figuring out how we were going to provide our constituents the highest quality service at the lowest possible cost.

Carol is kind, fair, conscientious, steadfast and persistent, while at the same time she can be comical and uplifting. She

"The Sip"

with Michael Amendola from The Village Wine Merchant

The Sip "New Discoveries"

Drinking wine is an enjoyable part of life and a wonderful part of that joy is in making new discoveries. I'm always encouraging people to be open to wines unfamiliar to them. There are new grapes and regions to discover and with so many different wines available to us from all over the world, why limit yourself to the same 2 or 3 grapes over and over again? In fact, with the quality and diversity available in today's market, there has never been a better time to be a wine consumer. My advice is to take advantage of this and there are several easy ways to go about it. You can try an indigenous wine from a classic wine producing country, like Lagrein, Friulano, or Schiava from Italy, maybe a Plousard from France, or a Monastrell from Spain. Another option is to go with a wine from a country that has a long wine making tradition, but one you are less familiar with, like Austria, Croatia, or Slovenia. Additionally, there has been a movement by many winemakers to go back to working with some ancient and very traditional methods, so if you'd like to experience a different range of flavors and textures then try one of the so called "Natural Wines". Drinking wine doesn't have to be snooty and pretentious, and the wine experience doesn't have to be so serious. Be adventurous, take a chance. You may be pleasantly surprised. Most of all have fun!

his experiences growing up in Glen Cove which included his mother's love and guidance, the friendships founded on respect and the life-changing "push" to pursue a career as a police officer.

This year's program also included performances by the Glen Cove High School Select Chorale under the direction of Ed Norris, the high school drumline under the direction of Nick Carbuto, a rousing song dedicated to peace offered by Cantor Gustavo Gitlin of the Congregation Tifereth Israel, a poem by Victoria Crosby, and personal reflections by Jack McDougal a retired sergeant from the Glen Cove Police Department.

is an incredible public servant and a good friend. She will be sorely missed by the Board of Trustees and me."

Following those words, the chair opened the floor for nominations. Ed Lieberman was nominated for trustee by Carol Vogt. The nomination was seconded by Kathleen DiResta. Dina Epstein was also nominated for trustee by Kristine Janusas. That nomination was seconded by Cindy Neugebauer. Bruce Kennedy's name was then placed in nomination for mayor by Phil Como and seconded by Bruce's wife Robin. With no further nominations being made, the nominees were approved unanimously.

Each of the nominees then responded to their selection. After thanking the committee for his nomination, Ed Lieberman stated his commitment to work on behalf of the Village: "With Trustees Villafane and McGilloway, along with my fellow nominee Dina Epstein, it is certain that our Village will continue to be a special place to live and raise a family. As a public servant I will continue to ensure that my oath of office will be honored; to be vigilant to the general welfare of our residents; to be responsive to their needs and concerns; to be faithful to Sea Cliff's heritage of tolerance; to champion the preservation and protection of Sea Cliff's natural beauty and its resources."

Following Mr. Lieberman, nominee Dina Epstein detailed her reasons for accepting her nomination with the following words: "My family and I are the beneficiaries of all that Sea Cliff has to offer. There are beautiful, scenic places to walk, jog and ride bicycles. There are street fairs, beach parties, musical gatherings, plays, art shows – too many civic and community events to mention. Sea Cliff has services for seniors. We have an incredibly dedicated Fire and EMS Department who respond immediately if you need them. The infrastructure of our Village is well tended. We enjoy a tremendous level of services from our public works department, yet unlike most of our neighbors, our taxes have remained level. "The excellent quality of life here in Sea Cliff has not happened by accident, nor is it a given. Rather, it is the result of the cumulative efforts of generations of Sea Cliff volunteers who have given their time and expertise to guide Sea Cliff's future while honoring and protecting its past. It would be my honor to join them as a Trustee of this Village.

"It is my hope that the residents of Sea Cliff see fit to place me in this position of trust. Thank you."

Brue Kennedy then accepted the nomination for mayor. Among his remarks were the following: "When I originally ran in 2009, I promised to work hard, to put a lid on Village taxes, to rebuild our downtown and to fairly represent our residents. I believe that I have kept those promises and we have seen great progress in the past six years. The success we have experienced has not been a one man show—it has been the collaborative efforts of ten different hardworking Board members, a dedicated staff, countless volunteer groups and many members of our community.

"We have seen a total resurgence of our downtown area with class A restaurants, shops, jewelers, artists and photographers. Part of this success has been incredible synergies between the restaurants and the arts community. I am proud to have been part of this collaborative effort.

"I picked up where previous administrations left off with the renaissance of our waterfront. We have expanded the old pavilion and built a full scale kitchen. We have built a performing arts gazebo on the beach that is fully equipped with a professional sound system and LED lighting. Additionally, we were able to realize the hard work and vision of 3 previous administrations with the completion of the Scudders Pond remediation project.

"A project that is currently underway that will help shape the next generation is the interior renovation of the Children's Library which will make the facility handicap accessible, energy efficient, and historically restored.

"The first of three phases in the restoration of Village Hall occurred a few years back but we were unable to continue onto Phase II because of budgetary constraints. Through perseverance and relationship building with other levels of government, we were recently awarded a $300,000 grant that will enable us to complete Phase II and part of Phase III, which will include some much needed interior work.

"An environmental and downtown revitalization project that has been one of my main goals for the past 6 years will begin next week—the downtown sewer project. Former Mayor Krieb started this project with a feasibility study and the securing of assorted grant money. We picked up where she left off and this nearly $2 million project will be completed by the spring.

"Taking a leadership role such as being Mayor or a member of the Board of Trustees is a true labor of love and at times requires a very thick skin. It requires countless hours of work, time taken away from your family, and a willingness to take chances. The rewards come from leaving behind a community that is in better condition than when you started.

"We have accomplished tremendous success in the past 6 years, but I am not done yet. I still have the fire in my belly, the desire to work and serve, and the support of my family to serve another term. I accept your nomination and look forward to working together throughout this campaign. Thank you."

Following those words, chair Dan Maddock concluded the meeting and exhorted one and all to support the committee's nominees in the coming election.

From Dream To Reality

Grand Opening of the North Shore Schools Victorian Communications Center

Almost a decade ago, the dream of building the Victorian Communications Center at the North Shore School District began when Superintendent Dr. Edward Melnick approached Technology teacher Bruce Fichtman with an innovative idea of renovating an existing classroom at the high school into a student operated communications studio. Mr. Fichtman said, "I countered Dr. Melnick's proposal with the vision of designing a Victorian-style building from scratch with my students in the LI Studies (LIS) Program that would be located on school grounds." He continued, "The Victorian house construction tied in perfectly with our Long Island Studies curriculum, in which high school seniors study in-depth local history and literature and then take on the multi-year task of building a usable structure that represents our rich North Shore history."

On September 18, 2014, the dream became a reality as the Viking Foundation joyously celebrated the grand opening along with past and present Board of Education members, administrators, faculty, staff, students, and numerous North Shore community members. Dr. Melnick welcomed everyone in attendance and whole-heartedly thanked the many people involved. He stated, "This was a wonderful, collaborative effort made possible by the generous financial support of the Viking Foundation along with Bruce Fichtman and local citizens who shared their craft and expertise with our students and faculty." He proudly added, "It truly exemplifies project-based learning at its best – the kind of learning that our students will remember forever."

Dr. Melnick summarized that this beautiful communications center located at the front entrance of the North Shore High School campus will provide a rich and authentic interdisciplinary experience in multimedia for our students now and in the future. The curriculum will include the following: the study of broadcast journalism, pre/post production of digital video editing, camera, lighting, and composition, the development of screenplays and storyboards, student produced documentaries, short films and newscasts, in-house interviews with selected guests, the broadcast of sporting and theater events via the internet, student operated internet radio station, and the development of music videos."

Mr. Fichtman said, "My students and I were so lucky and thankful to have the opportunity to work alongside numerous local community members for the past seven years. Masters of their trade, these volunteers acted as both mentors and teachers to our students, providing authentic learning experiences that are not found in any standard textbook."

He proudly proclaimed, "Today, I congratulate all 325 students in the LIS program who worked so hard over the past ten years on this project. You should feel very proud of your accomplishment.

It is with great pride that I look at this studio, knowing that it was built by student hands. The structure and everything it encompasses is a testimony to the value of a progressive, rigorous, interdisciplinary program in the North Shore School District."

At the ceremony, other speakers included Viking Foundation Board Member, Mr. Phil Como, President and CEO of Bethpage Federal Credit Union (a major contributor), Mr. Kirk Kordelski, and North Shore High School Principal, Albert Cousins. Mr. Como discussed the involvement of the Viking Foundation and passionately reminded everyone of the numerous community members and alumni that came forward to donate to this project. He stated that, "It is a strong indication of what type of education the North Shore School District represents." He added, "The North Shore Schools is one of the best school districts in the state and across the nation. More than 175 students entered kindergarten this year and will have access to ample resources along with the dedication and commitment of our entire faculty and staff. 13 years from now these children will be better prepared to embark on their next step in life."

He was followed by Mr. Kordelski who communicated how Bethpage Federal Credit Union is actively involved with partnering with school districts. He mentioned that his son attends the North Shore Schools and looks forward to the production of a new TV commercial for his company in the near future!

The North Shore School District again would like to thank everyone who participated in this tremendous undertaking. Mr. Fichtman said, "I cannot thank the members of the Viking Foundation enough for providing the vision, funding, and opportunity for North Shore students over the past seven years to construct the communications studio. And, of course, the students and I could not have attempted or completed a project of this scale without the assistance, wisdom and knowledge of members of the local community. Thank you to administrators Superintendent Dr. Edward Melnick, Assistant Superintendent for Instruction, Rob Chlebicki, and Assistant Superintendent for Business, Olivia Buatsi, John Hall, Facilities and Operations Manager, John Hall and his staff, North Shore High School, Jerry Boertzel and Jerry Blackburn, Gerard Pascucci and Todd Siewers) North Shore High School technology teachers Tom Melito Bob Sather, and Teresa Paolilli-Schiano and her fashion design students for the red ribbons. It takes a village, many thanks to John Wierzbicki of JRW Electric, Glenn Bunce and his sons Jonathan and Brian (North Shore graduates and former Long Island Studies Students), Gaspare Saracino of Saracino Construction, Ernie DiVincenzo, former Long Island Studies students Matt Papiro, Ned Houghten and James Grennan of Papiro Landscaping and Grennan Irrigation Systems,

Cap Mechanical, Empire State Land Surveyor, PC, Mario Fischetti Nursery, Inc., Gioradano's Country Garden, LEB Electric, Walter J Moretto, Inc., V. Papisidero & Sons, Bob Parrett, Savin Engineers, PC, Universal Testing & Inspection Services, Inc., Jeff Barwick, and our friends at BBS Architecture and Engineering

The Victorian Studio is the first building at the North Shore School District that will be heated and cooled using geothermal energy. In addition, the LI Studies (LIS) Program, is just one of five interdisciplinary humanities courses offered to seniors at North Shore High School. Several other school districts have visited North Shore to observe our senior programs which have been recognized as Programs of Excellence by the New York State Council of Teachers of English.

In closing, Mr. Fichtman so elegantly said, "It is both an honor and privilege to be a school teacher in the finest school district in New York State, if not the nation, in which the local community, Board of Education and administration, are willing to support learning experiences such as the Long Island Studies program and the Victorian Studio project. Programs such as these provide its students with a challenging, engaging, and enriching lifelong educational experience."

A dream becomes a reality as the North Shore School District holds a ribbon cutting ceremony for the new Victorian Communications Center (located on the high school campus) built by students in the Long Island Studies Program under the direction of teacher Bruce Fichtman and local community members. It was made possible by the generous financial support of the Viking Foundation.

Invention Museum at Connolly

Third-grade students from Connolly School in Glen Cove demonstrated their knowledge of simple machines through the creation of unique inventions, which were exhibited as part of their classroom's Invention Museum Open House.

According to third-grade teacher Lucretia Simone, the students created the inventions during the winter recess using everyday household materials. She said the assignment provided a hands on learning experience, which reinforced the science curriculum.

"The students are currently studying simple machines and in order for them to create their invention they had to know the mechanics of a simple machine and how to construct it," Simone said. Students in Simone's class demonstrated their inventions to fellow schoolmates, who were invited to view and ask questions during the open house.

Connolly Principal Rosemarie Sekelsky visited the Invention Museum Open House and spoke to students about the inventions they created. Photos courtesy of the Glen Cove City School District

Can an 1890's Landmarked House Meet the Needs of a Modern Family? Sea Cliff Landmarks Association Lecture at The Sea Cliff Yacht Club on Wednesday, January 28, 2015 at 8:00 pm

The first of the 2015 Sea Cliff Landmarks Association lecture series will be held at 8:00 pm at the Sea Cliff Yacht Club and will feature Architect Jim Carballal and homeowner Rob Kenney who will discuss the process by which one of New York State's most historically intact 1890's home, Connor Cottage, was restored to accommodate the needs of a young family with two small children.

Jim Carballal will discuss the how turn of the century lifestyles influenced architecture, how modern building and zoning codes impact design, how landmarking impacts the ability to renovate a house, and how a sensitive restoration will help your bottom line. Jim will share practical information such what decisions may need to be made that can impact budgets and future maintenance.

Homeowner Rob Kenney was delighted that so much historic information was available about the house since the house had been in the same family since it was built. A treasure trove of old photographs documented earlier times in the house. Rob built on this by documenting the restoration progress with photographs. He will show the original condition of the house and property including cistern and barn and then continue to show progress toward his and his wife Irene's concept for a home they could enjoy with the latest amenities. He will conclude with his thoughts and tips for others contemplating a similar restoration.

The Sea Cliff Landmarks Association supports a variety of programs designed to educate the public about Sea Cliff's unique architectural heritage and encourages homeowners to use historically appropriate materials when renovating their homes. Most of Landmarks' speaker programs are free and open to the public. The SCLA program begins 2015 in the comfortable surroundings of the Yacht Club dining room looking across the harbor and out to the sound. Historical Yacht Club documents and artifacts recall the early days of the club and the time when our featured home's builders would have been visiting Sea Cliff's shores.

Please join us on Wednesday January 28 at 8:00 pm. Refreshments will be served.

North Shore Summer Theater Workshop Is Back! Apply Today To Join A Great Tradition!

Revived after a decade-long hiatus, the North Shore Summer Theater Workshop is accepting applications from students in grades 7 through 12 for six weeks of intensive production-based instruction in all aspects of the dramatic arts. The beloved program, which ran for 42 years before falling to budget cuts, was revived thanks to efforts of dedicated alumni, among them the district's most celebrated performers.

With space for up to 60 students, and a wait list for 6th graders, the workshop will take place in the air-conditioned performing arts facilities of North Shore HS Mondays through Thursdays, June 29 to August 6 from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. (after summer school classes) with additional evening hours added for technical rehearsals in the final two weeks. Performances will be July 31 and August 1, 7 and 8. Two productions are envisioned, according to producer Julia Brennan of North Shore Arts Angels Inc., which is overseeing the program. A selection of one-act plays will be performed on the first weekend followed by a musical with a student orchestra on the second weekend. Staff will be comprised of theater professionals and theater educators supported by paid college-age interns.

Thousands of North Shore students have participated in the Summer Theater Workshop which ran from the summer of 1962 to the summer of 2003, including one season when four musicals were staged. Over 140 alumni returned to the NSHS stage in June of 2013 to participate in the Viking Masquers 50th Anniversary Gala, a musical revue that raised funds to revive the summer program as an entity independent of the school district, which was forced to cut funding in 2004 after a rare school budget defeat.

Actor Michael McKean NSHS '63 (on TV in "Laverne & Shirley," on film in "This Is Spinal Tap" and most recently on Broadway in "All the Way") sent a film (view it here) recalling his first audition for Summer Theater Workshop founder Bruce Mooney, and actress Kate McKinnon NSHS '02, a current cast member of "Saturday Night Live," also known for her work on the "Big Gay Sketch Comedy Show" and the Upright Citizens Brigade, performed a number with her sister, the actress and director Emily Berthold, NSHS '07.

The alumni event raised over $45,000 to help keep tuition affordable. The pay-one-price tuition of $1,800 includes over 120 hours of performance-based instructional time, a refundable $100 damages fee, two tickets to each performance, a souvenir t-shirt, program and poster, tech week meals, and all materials associated with the workshop. Full and partial tuition assistance is available for qualified students.

Glen Cove Youth Bureau Holiday Food Drive 2014 a Success --Thanks to Many

Once again, the Glen Cove Youth Bureau's annual Holiday Food Drive was an overwhelming success, due to the many generous donations that were received from charitable institutions, youth groups, businesses and individuals. The generosity of all who contributed made it possible for the Youth Bureau, in collaboration with the Friends of the Glen Cove Youth Board, to provide nutritional assistance to over 1,300 people from 322 families during the months of November and December.

The Glen Cove Youth Bureau's Youth Council kicked off the annual food drive by collecting donations outside of North Shore Farms and King Kullen. The Council's hard work resulted in two minivans-full of nonperishable items, as well as generous cash donations. Members of Girl Scout Troops 125 and 1844, and the Glen Cove High School DECA and Interact Clubs also held successful food drives.

The East Island Association's Neighbors Helping Neighbors program spearheaded a collection among its members which netted numerous nonperishable food items, frozen turkeys and cash donations. In addition to holding a food drive, members of Girl Scout Troop 1844, headed by Lydia Rodgers transported the Association's donations to the Youth Bureau and helped pack Thanksgiving food baskets. Assistance also came from individuals who brought their donations to the Glen Cove Public Library, Youth Bureau, Glengariff, Glen Cove Chamber of Commerce, The Atria and The Regency.

Assistance also came from outside Glen

Cove. The Youth Bureau was fortunate to receive bountiful food baskets from students at The Green Vale School. Once again, the Greek Orthodox Church of the Holy Resurrection in Glen Head generously donated complete thanksgiving dinner for 38 families. The North Shore Lions Club, which supports the Bureau throughout the year, made very generous donations to benefit all of the Youth Bureau's November and December outreach programs. Generous support was also received from the Glen Cove United Methodist Church in Bayville.

Thanksgiving dinner is not complete without a chicken, turkey or ham. Our call for meat was generously answered by Glen Cove Anglers Club and Island Harvest. The meat was kept fresh with the assistance of Webb Institute and St. Hyacinth Church, both of which graciously provided freezer space until it was time to distribute the baskets. All of the food was delivered to the families in reusable bags that were donated by Parker Jewish Institute, Daniel Gale and the Locust Valley Chamber of Commerce.

Thanks to the generosity of many, the holidays were truly a time to give thanks, both for a delicious meal and for the people and groups that made it possible.

Each year, residents and staff at The Atria generously donate to the fall food drive. This year's donations helped the Friends of the Glen Cove Youth Board and the Glen Cove Youth Bureau provide nutritional assistance to over 1,300 people from 322 families during November and December.

NSHM to Honor Brian Mercadante

The North Shore Historical Museum is celebrating its second year as a museum, with a cocktail party fundraiser on Saturday, January 31, from 6-8pm.

The event will honor Brian Mercadante, who has been president of NSHM from its inception over 15 years ago, and has seen the board through all the fundraising events which helped to restore the Old Court House to its former glory. It was Brian's suggestion to the Mayor of Glen Cove to restore the 1907 building, which had been empty and decaying for years, and create a museum. Brian has decided to now step down as president and will be President Emeritus.

There will be entertainment, including an appearance by US President Theodore Roosevelt, aka Jim Foote, and Barry Rivadue as J.P. Morgan, and possibly other ghosts of the Gold Coast, also a video showing highlights of the many exhibits, lectures and events over the past two years.

Wine and hors d'oeuvres will be served. $30 per person for non members, $25 for NSHM members. NSHM is located at 140 Glen Street in Glen Cove. The present exhibit is on World War 1. NSHM is open Wednesdays 2-6pm and Saturdays 11am-3pm, or by special appointment. For further information call 516 801-1191 or visit northshorehistoricalmuseum.org.

JOIN VOICES TO SAVE THE Y IN GLEN COVE.

January 2015

Dear Members,

The YMCA's ability to operate and provide services for Glen Cove and the surrounding communities is currently threatened. The land lease for the Glen Cove YMCA is set to expire at the end of 2015 and to date the landlord, the Glen Cove Neighborhood Association, has not yet agreed to a renewal.

While the expiration is a year away, this uncertainty has put the over $1 million capital improvement plan for the Glen Cove facility on hold, as well as several other important program expansions.

The YMCA Association is working diligently with the Landlord to secure a new lease as it is our mission and passion to continue the quality services and programs for the community. For the past sixty years, Glen Cove has been the home to the YMCA serving thousand of members and families in the surrounding area. Whether it is child-care or preschool, free pre-teen and teen centers, summer day camp, aquatics, fitness and senior programs, the Y has enriched all who have joined us.

We want to assure you that the quality and professional Y staff, programs, and services will continue uninterrupted throughout 2015, but we need your support to ensure the Y remains in Glen Cove.

If the YMCA has had an impact on your life or the lives of people you love, let your voice be heard. Show your support by filling out a "Save the Y" card at the Y or sign your name to the on-line petition at <http://tinyurl.com/SaveGCMCA>.

As always, should you have any questions or concerns, please call us or email us directly. And on behalf of all the Y staff, we thank you for your continued support and look forward to continuing to work together to enrich Glen Cove and the surrounding communities for many years to come!

Charles Bell

BELL, Charles F. a well known and beloved local pharmacist and resident of Sea Cliff passed away at the Glengariff Rehab in Glen Cove on January 20th, 2015. Charles would have been 97 years of age on February 14th, Valentines Day.

A native Long Islander who grew up in Sea Cliff, he was the fourth of five children of Dr. and Mrs. Albert M. Bell, having outlived his siblings Albert, Ward, Constance and James. He is survived by his wife of thirty-two years, Bess Herdt Bell; his children Roger (Pat) and Marsha; two step-children Tara Grossman (George) and Katherine Livingston (Keith). Grandfather of Matthew Bell, Troy Schreffler, Victoria Grossman, Alexandra Grossman, Schuyler Livingston and Robert Livingston and one great grandson Jacob Bell. He was predeceased by his daughter Vicki and his first wife of thirty-seven years, Castine Swanson Bell.

Charles was a World War II veteran having served four years in the Navy, primarily in the Pacific with the 7th Fleet and was discharged as a Chief Pharmacists Mate. He then continued his education at Wesleyan at the Brooklyn College of Pharmacy and received his B.S. in Pharmacy in 1949.

For over twenty-five years he was President and Supervising Pharmacist at Bell and Halpern Pharmacy in Glen Cove until his retirement in 1982. Sometime after that he was employed at St. Francis Hospital, the heart center in Roslyn as the outpatient pharmacist until he once again retired; he loved the hospital so much he stayed on as a volunteer until last year.

Charles also loved to sing. Oh, how he loved to sing - in the church choir, the Bass and Treble Club, the Long Island Singers, and the local Community Chorus. BUT mostly he fell in love with barbershop singing and sang his lost note with Bob Miraglia, a fellow barbershopper who visited him the day before his death. Charles 'Chiz' received many honors for his participation in the organization and was editor of their monthly newsletter for over twenty years.

Charles was a person who loved many and was loved in return. He was active in community affairs and received many honors during his lifetime for his selfless dedication. He served as the District 725 Governor of Rotary International from 1985-1986. He belonged to the United Methodist Church of Sea Cliff where he participated on several boards and sang in the choir. His service will be held January 26th, officiated by Rev. Watkins.

Charles was a consummate gentleman with a marvelous sense of humor, kind, considerate and devoted to his ideals. He will be sorely missed. He was truly one of a kind.

Visitation was held at the Funeral Home of Dodge-Thomas. Interment at East Hillside Cemetery where he served as a trustee for 44 years. www.DodgeThomas.com

Paul Joseph Van Bloem

Mr. Paul Joseph Van Bloem, 53, of Sykesville, Maryland, died suddenly on Wednesday, January 14, 2015 at his residence. Born March 11, 1961, in New York, New York, Paul was the son of Kathleen (Dunne) Van Bloem and the late Peter Van Bloem.

He was a lifelong bibliophile and voracious reader. Paul graduated from St. Boniface Martyr grade school in Sea Cliff, Regis High School in Manhattan and Williams College, where he majored in economics and history, graduating with honors. Paul was an early adopter of personal computers and an ardent supporter of computers in offices. He founded the computer consultancy, Little Green Software, which he ran for three decades before taking employment with Lockheed Martin where he served as an integral member of numerous computer initiatives.

He was a bicycle-riding enthusiast, a board game player, and competitive computer gamer. His brownies and cookies were his distinctive calling card.

We will miss his sweet nature, generous heart, and thoughtful kindness.

In addition to his mother, Paul is survived by his siblings, Patricia Schumacher and husband Thomas, Peter Van Bloem Jr. and wife Maureen, Edward Van Bloem and wife Laura, and John Van Bloem and wife Christine. Paul was an adored and indulgent uncle to Peter Schumacher, Emily Van Bloem, Grace Van Bloem, Timothy Van Bloem, Matthew Van Bloem, Benjamin Van Bloem and Anna Van Bloem.

The family will receive friends from 4 to 7pm, on Tuesday, January 20, 2015, at the Keeney & Basford Funeral Home, 106 E. Church Street, Frederick, MD 21701. There will be a Mass of Christian Burial at 10:00am, on Wednesday, January 21, 2015 at St. John the Evangelist Catholic Church, 118 E. 2nd Street, Frederick, MD 21701. Interment will follow at Mt. Olivet Cemetery. In lieu of flowers, the family

Name the Celebrity

rector John Ford's first color feature. Last Week's Celebrity
 Last week's celebrity was Nina Foch. She was born Nina Consuelo Maud Fock. For obvious reasons, her last name was altered to prevent any movie marquee mishaps. Her movie career came during the height of the 1940s, when she played cool, aloof and often foreign women of sophistication. She would ultimately be featured in over 80 films and hundreds of TV shows. She was a regular in John Houseman's CBS-TV's "Playhouse 90." In 1951, she appeared with Gene Kelly in the musical "An American in Paris", which was awarded the Best Picture Oscar. Foch appeared in "Scaramouche" (1952) as "Marie Antoinette", and in Cecil B. DeMille's "The Ten Commandments" (1956) as "Bithiah", the Pharaoh's daughter who finds the infant Moses in the bulrushes, adopts him as her own son, and joins him and the Hebrews in their Exodus from Egypt. She received an Academy Award nomination for Best Supporting Actress for her role in the boardroom drama "Executive Suite" (1954) starring William Holden and Barbara Stanwyck. In "Spartacus" (1960) starring Kirk Douglas and Laurence Olivier, she played a woman who chooses gladiators to fight to the death in the ring, simply for her entertainment. In her final years, she appeared on the TV series "Just Shoot Me", "Bull", "Dharma and Greg", and NCIS", the latter portraying "Dr. Donald 'Ducky' Mallard's" elderly mother. On Dec. 5, 2008, at the age of 84, she died of complications from blood disorder myleodysplasia.

This week's celebrity was born in San Francisco on June 17, 1880. He reportedly prospected for gold in Alaska in his youth, but by 1909 had gone into the theatre. He appeared in at least two plays on Broadway between 1909 and 1912, and made his motion picture debut in Cecil B. DeMille's 1914 original film version of "The Virginian" in a bit part. By 1923, when the film was remade, he progressed to playing the lead villain, "Trampas" opposite Kenneth Harlan as "The Virginian". With the advent of "talkies", the film was soon overshadowed by yet another remake in 1929 with Gary Cooper as "The Virginian" and Walter Huston as "Trampas". He also starred in "Law and Order" (1932) with Walter Huston, Harry Carey Sr., and Andy Devine. He was the old man on the wagon train in the pre-Code drama "Call Her Savage" (1932) starring Clara Bow in her second-to-last film before retiring to become a rancher in Nevada. He also played "Dr. Petry" in "Drums Along the Mohawk" (1939) with Claudette Colbert, Henry Fonda and Edna May Oliver. The film produced by Darryl F. Zanuck and nominated for two Academy Awards, was Di-

Spelling Bee success for Finley's LeBaw

Axelle LaBaw, a seventh-grade student from Finley Middle School in Glen Cove, was selected as the winner of the school's Spelling Bee. LaBaw faced six other finalists in grades 6-8 in the competition, who were all selected through team level spelling bees held prior to the school wide event. LaBaw secured her win by spelling the word "totalitarian" correctly and has earned a spot to compete at the 2015 Hofstra Long Island Regional Scripps Spelling Bee on Sunday, Feb. 8.

Great Book Guru

- Ann DiPietro

Dear Great Book Guru.

With the icy rains, freezing days and nights, and yes, the coming of the sewers- I feel the need for a really good book to help me through the coming days. Any thoughts?

Looking for a Good Book

Dear Looking for a Good Book, I just finished a fabulous book that has been sitting on my bookshelf for years that I had just never gotten around to reading: BEHIND THE SCENES AT THE MUSEUM: A NOVEL by Kate Atkinson. Written in 1996, this was Atkinson's first novel and what a stellar achievement it is! First, let's make it clear- the museum in the title is the families we are part of over many generations, in this case four generations from the late 1850's up until the 1990's. We first meet the narrator in 1951 as she is being conceived and we follow her through the years into young adulthood; in between we meet her great-great grandparents, great grandparents, grandparents, parents and waves of cousins, siblings, aunts, uncles, suitors, friends.... In a series of footnotes- actually chapters- that fill us in on the connections to the present, we learn many secrets that Ruby will never know. Life in York, England is filled with humorous, poignant, and sometimes tragic adventures for Ruby and her relatives, and as we move back and forth between past and present, we see how family traits resurface and mistakes are made anew by each generation. A truly memorable book and highly recommended!

Mayor Spinello Community Reader at Connolly School

The students in Mrs. Stanco's fifth grade class in Glen Cove's Connolly Elementary School invited Mayor Reginald Spinello to be one of their community readers during the district-wide PARP program. PARP (Parents as Reading Partners) is designed to enhance and promote the benefits of reading to students. After reading to the students, Mayor Spinello enjoyed visiting with them and listening to their ideas for the City.

THANK YOU

NEIGHBORS, MEMBERS & FRIENDS FOR YOUR SUPPORT TO SAVE THE YMCA

...The Y is and has been a wonderful place for everyone, of all ages and stages of life. Programs are available to everyone, regardless of socioeconomic status. Plus, for us swimmers - it is the only nearby pool! I feel it would be a great loss to the community at large to lose the only Y in Nassau County.

-Maureen, BAYVILLE, NY

The Glen Cove YMCA has been a life-saving place for me to exercise, swim and take advantage of all the special programs offered. I would be at a loss if this facility were to close.

-Carolyn, OYSTER BAY, NY

YMCA in Glen Cove is a blessing to have and my kids love it

-Joseph, GREENVALE

We have enjoyed the benefits of the YMCA at Glen Cove for over 30 years. I now take my grandchildren there for programs. The YMCA mission statement outlines a healthy and well-grounded goal for our community.

- Corinne, GLEN COVE, NY

I'm a member and feel it is a crucial part of the community, especially for kids.

-Gail, SEA CLIFF, NY

I want to keep the YMCA in Glen Cove - it's a place for children and adults to stay healthy and involved in their community. It is a wonderful place.

-Christine, GLEN HEAD, NY

The YMCA has been a major influence in my child's life. Losing the YMCA would be like losing an arm or leg.

- Gina, GLEN COVE, NY
