Woolworth Estate Saved!

by Kevin C. Horton

Glen Cove Fire fighters battled a five alarm fire at the Glen Cove Woolworth estate on Wednesday January 28 which started at approximately 10:52am.

Should I have gone only a few minutes later of a few minutes earlier, I wouldn't have seen it

- Robert Retoske

The fire was discovered by ex captain Robert Retoske who was on the property snow plowing through his company RSR Landscaping. Retoske is a long time employee of the family who owns the property and knows the home well.

Even though the property owners were not home, Retoske was scheduled to clear the property. "Timing is everything," he noted. Saying that since the family was not at home he had put the job on the end of his routine after the storm. "Should I have gone only a few minutes later of a few minutes earlier, I wouldn't have seen it."

As he set off plowing he noticed that two of the windows seemed dark. He said it seemed odd and when he got out of the truck he heard water running.

Then he began to smell smoke and within seconds smoke began to come out from under the windows. He immediately called his department reporting, "A working fire."

Chief Joseph Solomito was first on the scene after the call at 10:52 and reported, "When I pulled up the fire was pouring out the second floor windows (the ones that were black) and that's when we called in the signal 10."

1st Assistant Chief Philip Grella Jr. arrived right after. Solomito set up command with Grella doing operations. 524 was the first due engine, followed up by 521, followed by 5211. "We stretched lines off of 524 and started to extinguish the fire." The department called for mutual aid due to the construction of the house, "An old mansion with balloon construction," said Solomito.

Due to the stretch of the hose, the department called Glen Cove Water Department to increase the flow of the water to the hydrants for additional coverage.

Retoske also continued to plow the property as fast as possible making room for the fire trucks and fire-fighters. Solomito said, "If it wasn't for him the situation would have been very difficult." He encouraged everyone who owns a home in the area to continue the plowing efforts even if they are away.

According to Solomito, it took about an hour-and-a-half to knock down the fire. One firefighter was sent to the hospital and later released for smoke inhalation. The Fire Marshal was called in to investigate the fire. According to Solomito, as of right now it is still under investigation.

Solomito thanked the many neighboring departments who responded to the scene to provide mutual aid. "Everyone did a fantastic job and we saved a Glen Cove Landmark."

Making Marquis Fun

A group of St. Rocco and St. Patrick Carolers got together to bring some Christmas cheer to residents of the Marquis this past season. All had a wonderful time singing holiday songs and coming together to celebrate the joyous season. Roseann Sheehan of St. Patrick Church was kind enough to donate her expertise on the piano.

Renowned Photographer Exhibits Photo-Essay at the Golden Gallery

By S.F. Collins

A photo-essay exhibit by renowned photographer Geri Reichgut will open with an artist's reception at the Glen Cove Senior Center's Golden Gallery on Thursday, February 5 at 1 p.m. The exhibit, "A Year of Offbeat Artifacts" documents the Saturday sales of recycled artifacts on the Sea Cliff Village Green to raise money for both the adult and children's libraries.

Offbeat Artifacts is the brainchild of Sea Cliff resident Mike Lennon who, along with his team of volunteers, gathers an interesting array of items from antiques to quirky and sometimes useless but interesting artifacts to sell at reasonable prices. The sales raise funds to benefit the Sea Cliff Village Library. This is perhaps the ultimate means of recycling man-made items as a fundraising venture.

Sea Cliff Photographer Geri Reichgut has spent the past year, 2013 to 2014, documenting this event as a photographic essay depicting the items offered for sale and their prices, the Saturday volunteers who assist Mike in all kinds of weather, and the families, many with their pets, who come to view and purchase these wonderful treasures from a bygone era. "Offbeat Artifacts" has become a Village happening where people gather to purchase items for their homes, enjoy the flea market atmosphere, search for that rare antique and generally socialize with one another.

Ms. Reichgut is a former student of the late internationally acclaimed photographer, Arthur Leipzig. She taught at C.W. Post, New York Institute of Technology and Nassau County Community College. She is a freelance photographer who specializes in today's jazz scene. She is known for her inspiring portraits of musicians and her creative CD covers. Ms. Reichgut states, "I have photographed this ongoing sale throughout the four seasons. I became so enamored with the constantly changing array of objects each week and the ever growing community interest that I felt compelled to bring my camera and document the objects and the social gathering it attracted." Not only has she documented the items being offered for sale, but her work has captured the personalities of visitors and patrons and the greater sense of community that is the "Offbeat Artifacts" phenomena. Some of her portraits are whimsical while others are serious studies of personalities and all hold a sociological significance. "Offbeat Artifacts" is a celebration of life in Sea Cliff, USA.

The public is invited to attend the reception, view this exceptional exhibit and meet this personable and talented photographer on Thursday, February 5, 1 p.m. at the Golden Gallery, located on the second floor of the Glen Cove Senior Center at 130 Glen Street, Glen Cove, NY. The gallery is open Mondays through Fridays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. The show runs through the end of March. For information, call 759-9610

Glen Cove Boys & Girls Club and Hofstra University to Promote STEM Learning Among Middle School Kids

Glen Cove Boys & Girls Club is one of 10 Boys & Girls Clubs from Long Island selected to receive funding from Hofstra University's $2.5 Million Research Grant to introduce and promote STEM - science, technology, engineering and math - learning among middle school aged kids.

"On behalf of the children served by Clubs, we are grateful to Hofstra University and the National Science Foundation for partnering with us to bring STEM Learning into our programs," said Executive Director of Glen Cove Boys & Girls Club Melissa A. Rhodes, who is organizing the project and is the chief liaison between Hofstra University and the 10 Boys & Girls Clubs based throughout Nassau and Suffolk counties. "This experience will allow our members to obtain the skills, knowledge and cognitive behavior needed to be globally competitive in the 21st century, and also fulfills our priority to provide strong, evidence-based programs that focus on academic success."

"I am very excited that we can work with the Boys & Girls Clubs in providing rich, engineering design-based STEM activities to children. This initiative builds on two years of working with Glen Cove Boys & Girls Club," said Dr. David Burghardt, professor of engineering at Hofstra University who also founded and co-directed Hofstra's Center for STEM Research. The US Department of Energy's Brookhaven National Laboratory and The Center for Advanced Study in Education at The Graduate Center at The City University of New York will collaborate on the project.

The Center received the $2.5 million grant from the National Science Foundation, one of the premier funding organizations in the U.S. The grant will enable Dr. Burghardt to spearhead this five-year project which will introduce thousands of middle school-age children to STEM-based learning opportunities. During year one and two, 10 Clubs will receive funding. In year three, five more Clubs will be added to the project. By the end of the five-year grant, approximately 6,600 children from a total of 25 Boys & Girls Clubs throughout the Long Island and metropolitan New York area will participate in "Wise Guys & Gals - Boys & Girls as WISEngineering STEM Learners" providing innovative and engaging academic challenges designed to encourage an interest in the fields of engineering and design, as well as an understanding of how science, technology, engineering and math skills can translate into careers.

To learn more about WISEngineering STEM Learners at Glen Cove Boys & Girls Club, contact Melissa Rhodes at mrhodes@glencovebgc.org.

Clinical Psychologist Teaches Mindfulness For Parents as a Union of Body, Mind and Soul that Results in Greater Joy and Creativity

Lisa Langer, Ph.D. a clinical assistant professor in the department of psychiatry of Hofstra University's School of Medicine, presents Mindfulness for Parents, a talk at Glen Cove's Congregation Tifereth Israel (CTI) synagogue on Sunday, February 8 at 10 a.m. This program, which will explain what it means to live mindfully in body, mind and soul, is free and open to the public; reservations are not needed.

Dr. Langer, a clinical psychologist who is the founder and a partner at PRACTICE Body Mind Soul Wellness Center in Roslyn, describes mindfulness as "a powerful way of promoting health, reducing stress and living more fully in the present." She says that mindfulness enhances relationships to ourselves and our children, allowing the release of habits and behavior patterns that create tension and unhealthy living. Dr. Langer contends that everyone can practice and live mindfully.

CTI is located in Glen Cove, 40 Hill Street, at Landing Road. Long Island's oldest continuously operating Jewish congregation, CTI has provided Jewish programming and education to the Long Island community since 1897. For further information about Dr. Lisa Langer's talk on Sunday, February 8 at 10 a.m., visit the CTI website, ctionline.org, or call (516) 676-5080.

Private and Parochial Schools Transportation Requests Deadline, Due April 1, 2015

The North Shore School District would like to remind all parents and guardians of children attending private and parochial schools that transportation requests for the 2015-16 school year must be submitted in person at the Transportation Office by April 1, 2015 or sent by Certified Mail postmarked on or before April 1, 2015. Failure to submit the transportation request form by the due date may result in your child being ineligible for district transportation for the 2015-16 school year. In this case, the cost and arrangement for transportation will be parental responsibility. The State Education Department and the Board of Education require that a separate application be filed each year even if your child is already receiving transportation.

In accordance with New York State Education Law, transportation requests received after the above date will not be accepted unless a reasonable explanation is given for the delay or the District can provide the transportation under existing arrangements without additional expense. A belated decision to enroll a student into school is not a reasonable explanation for late submission of a transportation request. Those students who move into the District after the expiration of the deadline can still submit a written request for transportation provided such request is made within thirty (30) days after establishing residence in the district.

Please call the Transportation Office at 277-7930 or print the form from the District Website at: www.northshoreschools.org. The form may be dropped off or sent to North Shore Schools, Transportation Department, PO Box 412, 340 Shore Road, Glenwood Landing, N.Y., 11547-0412.

GWL Circus Combines Physical Fitness with Determination and Skill

North Shore Schools, Glen Head, NY - To a loud round of applause, the National Circus Project came to Glenwood Landing for a week-long event that combined determination and skill. Throughout the week, all of the students combined physical fitness with circus fun and proficiency.

Fifth graders were able to choose from a number of different acts to become their specialty for their own performance. The awesome acts included plate spinning, juggling, devil sticks, diabolos, clowns, and for the first time in Glenwood Landing history, a unicyclist! After practicing all week, they took to the stage during the day to perform for the whole student body. That evening they had everyone on their feet as they combined skill with proficiency for their parents, families, and friends. It was agreed that it was truly one of the best circus performances at Glenwood Landing!

The National Circus Project (NCP) is an innovative cultural arts organization, which promotes student participation in school arts and physical education activities, using "circus" as its theme. The National Circus Project sends teams of internationally acclaimed circus performer/instructors to schools throughout the U.S.A. Students are encouraged to practice repeatedly the circus skills. After the week-long program, confidence builds as each participant masters his or her activity with a "never give up" attitude. Special thanks to the Glenwood Landing SCA and the students and physical education teachers for such a wonderful event!

The Glen Cove High School Ski Club enjoyed their first trip of the year when they took to the slopes at Windham Mountain in the Catskills on Jan. 10.

Sunny skies greeted the 45 members of the club, but so did temperatures hovering in the single digits. Despite the bitter cold, the conditions on the mountain were fantastic and new snow had fallen. All of the club members, including 13 students who are brand-new to the sport, had a great day.

"I love skiing with the experts and the die-hard skiers in the club, but I'm even more excited to see so many students trying out skiing and snowboarding," Ski Club adviser Christopher Barry said. "This club is all about exposing kids to a healthy, outdoor activity that will hopefully turn into a lifelong love for them."

The Ski Club's next stop is the annual return to Mount Snow, Vermont on the weekend of Jan. 30.

class). The two champs won the Pure Breed Amateur Boxing Tournament held recently in the Bronx while representing the Glen Cove Boxing Club. They are pictured with Mayor Reginald Spinello, the City Council, a participant in the tournament and Frank Pena, President/Coach of the Glen Cove Boxing Club.

Landing students remember Dr. King

Glen Cove students from Landing Elementary School honored the legacy of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. during a recent school assembly.

The theme for this year's event was "We Hold the Pieces to World Peace" and began with a presentation by fifth-grade teacher David Smith, which encouraged students to make a difference. The children then proceeded outside to the Peace Tree planted during last year's assembly and hung paper globes that reflected their ideas on how to achieve world peace, while Dr. King's "I have a Dream Speech" played in the background.

Prior to the celebration, students created puzzle pieces with their ideas for peace, which were placed next to the indoor Peace Tree created by art teacher Jean Bennardo. Principal Dimitri Kryoneris told students each leaf represented a Landing student and symbolized beauty, strength, wisdom and promise.

Glen Cove hosts Vex Robotics Competition

Finley Middle School's robotics team Men in Black competed in the Glen Cove 2015 Southern New York State VRC Qualifier held at their school on Jan. 10.

The competition was the first hosted by the Glen Cove City School District and featured the Men in Black competing against students from schools across Long Island, including Locust Valley, Massapequa, Wantagh and Hauppauge. During the event, the teams from each school competed for several different achievements, including being named tournament champions, the Excellence Award and the Sportsmanship Award. Unfortunately, the Men in Black were not victorious, however Principal Nelson Iocolano said he was proud of what they have accomplished thus far.

"I'm so impressed by our team's ability to work together and how they're able to overcome certain challenges and setbacks while competing," Iocolano said. "I'm especially thankful to team advisor Lisa Pignataro, and all those in our school community that worked so hard in the planning and preparation of the competition, it was truly an example of a school community coming together in support of students."

TERMS OF SALE

Such tax liens shall be sold subject to any and all superior tax liens of sovereignties and other municipalities and to all claims of record which the County may have thereon and subject to the provisions of the Federal and State Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Acts.

However, such tax liens shall have priority over the County's Differential Interest Lien, representing the excess, if any, of the interest and penalty borne at the maximum rate over the interest and penalty borne at the rate at which the lien is purchased.

The Purchaser acknowledges that the tax lien(s) sold pursuant to these Terms of Sale may be subject to pending bankruptcy proceedings and/or may become subject to such proceedings which may be commenced during the period in which a tax lien is held by a successful bidder or the assignee of same, which may modify a Purchaser's rights with respect to the lien(s) and the property securing same. Such bankruptcy proceedings shall not affect the validity of the tax lien. In addition to being subject to pending bankruptcy proceedings and/or the Federal and State Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Acts, said purchaser's right of foreclosure may be affected by the Financial Institutions Reform, Recovery and Enforcement Act(FIRREA),12 U.S.C. ss 1811 et.seq., with regard to real property under Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation(FDIC) receivership.

The County Treasurer reserves the right, without further notice and at any time, to withdraw from sale any of the parcels of land or premises herein listed. The Nassau County Treasurer reserves the right to intervene in any bankruptcy case/litigation where the property affected by the tax liens sold by the Treasurer is part of the bankruptcy estate. However, it is the sole responsibility of all tax lien purchasers to protect their legal interests in any bankruptcy case affecting their purchased tax lien, including but not limited to the filing of a proof of claim on their behalf, covering their investment in said tax lien. The Nassau County Treasurer and Nassau County and its agencies, assumes no responsibility for any legal representation of any tax lien purchaser in any legal proceeding including but not limited to a bankruptcy case where the purchased tax lien is at risk.

The rate of interest and penalty at which any person purchases the tax lien shall be established by his bid. Each purchaser, immediately after the sale thereof, shall pay to the County Treasurer ten per cent of the amount for which the tax liens have been sold and the remaining ninety per cent within thirty days after such sale. If the purchaser at the tax sale shall fail to pay the remaining ninety per cent within ten days after he has been notified by the County Treasurer that the certificates of sale are ready for delivery, then all amounts deposited with the County Treasurer including but not limited to the ten per cent theretofore paid by him shall, without further notice or demand, be irrevocably forfeited by the purchaser and shall be retained by the County Treasurer as liquidated damages and the agreement to purchase shall be of no further effect.

Time is of the essence in this sale. This sale is held pursuant to the Nassau County Administrative Code and interested parties are referred to such Code for additional information as to terms of the sale, rights of purchasers, maximum rates of interest and other legal incidents of the sale.

Dated: January 2015 THE NASSAU COUNTY TREASURER Mineola, New York

Letters to the Editor

Animal Shelter Care

To The Editor,

My daughter, my husband, and I have been associated with the Animal Lovers League, located on Shore Road, in Glen Cove, since its inception, over 10 years ago.

All of us have been happily volunteering our time and energy, to this wonderful organization. Each time we enter this facility, we can see the dedication, joy, and love that the staff generously provides to all the animals. In fact, we currently share our home with three cats that we have adopted from this wonderful shelter. They give us unconditional love everyday. We are so thankful that we have these beautiful creatures.

I understand that there may be a new group that will take over the shelter, and that they have no credentials to care for these vulnerable cats and dogs. These sweet and loving animals deserve better.

I know that there are no complaints documented concerning this shelter, and it saddens me deeply that the group of loving, giving workers, including Joan Phillips and Ruth Di Chiara, may not be able to continue their lives' passion. There is absolutely nothing wrong with that animal shelter. There is nothing to fix, so please do not attempt to!!

LISFA Chamber Festival with the Bryant Park String Quartet Featuring Two Eighth Grade String Trio Groups

Two eighth grade string trios from North Shore Middle School were recently selected to participate at the Nassau LISFA (Long Island String Festival Association) Chamber Festival on Jan 10th at Roslyn Middle School. Congratulations go out to Hanah Leventhal, Kayla Sorensen, Olivia Bross, Christine Ramirez, Zoe Goodstone and their teachers Steven Uh and Jason Domingo.

The two North Shore string trios were selected from all middle and high schools across Nassau County, Grade 8-12. Only a total of 10 groups performed at the event. Students received a master class and coaching sessions with the Bryant Park String Quartet, a professional string quartet currently in residence at Stony Brook University. The memorable day concluded with a performance from all of the participating groups and the Bryant Park String Quartet.

Name the Celebrity

Stahl's "Parnell" with Clark Gable and Myrna Loy. A little aside about this film, Joan Crawford was originally set to play Myrna Loy's part and because Crawford did not want to do another "costume" role and wasn't fond of Stahl, she and Loy flipped movie parts. Gable was not ever comfortable in his characterization of the famous Irish politician. As a matter of fact, it was considered Gable's worse film and was classified in "The Fifty Worst Films of All Time". One of the many concerns that Gable had about this production, added to literally everything about it, was the acting that would be required of him to play out a believable death scene, Stahl put on mood music to help the actors get into character. Gable loathed the music and complained to Carol Lombard. The next day, when Stahl called for the music to be turned on, a jazzy version of "Ill Be Glad When You're Dead, You Rascal You".

Since I had to work so hard to clear away the snow, I am not letting this week's celebrity go by so easily! The readers are going to have to work for this one, I think!

Our celebrity this week was born on March 15, 1877 in Portsmouth, Hampshire, England. He began his career as an artist and military correspondent with his first important job as a London newspaper cartoonist. In 1913, he sailed to the U.S. with a road company production of Cyril Maude's "Grumpy." He was usually cast in heartless roles. In the 1920s, he played opposite Rudolph Valentino in "The Son of the Sheik" (1926), with John Barrymore in "Don Juan" (1926) and with Lillian Gish in 1928's "The Wind." One of his first sound films was the part-talkie "The Mysterious Island" (1929) with Lionel Barrymore. In 1937, he played Henry VIII in the first talking version of Mark Twain's "The Prince and the Pauper" with Errol Flynn. He played Thomas Jefferson in "Alexander Hamilton" in the 1931 American biographical film with George Arliss in the title role. The film was based on a play by George Arliss and Mary Hamlin. He was the Spanish ambassador on the original "The Man in the Iron Mask" (1939) with Louis Hayward, Joan Bennett and Warren William. He played British Prime Minister Wm. Ewart Gladstone in Director John

Last Week's Celebrity

Last week's celebrity was Russel Simpson. He played "Frank Gaylord" in Director Michael Curtiz's "Virginia City" (1940) with Errol Flynn, Humphrey Bogart and Miriam Hopkins. He was comedic relief as "Flapjack Sims" in the "The Spoilers" (1942) with Marlene Dietrich, John Wayne and Randolph Scott. Gaunt lanky, and rustic-sounding, he was a familiar character actor for almost forty-five years particularly as a member of the John Ford Stock Company. He appeared in Ford's "My Darling Clementine" (1946), which was considered one of the best of Ford's westerns, with Henry Fonda, Linda Darnell and Victor Mature. However, he was probably best known for his work in Ford's "The Grapes of Wrath" (1940) as "Pa Joad", with Henry Fonda and John Carradine. He worked up to 1959, the year of his death. His final film was "The Horse Soldiers" with John Wayne and William Holden. It was his tenth film for John Ford.

Great Book Guru

- Ann DiPietro

Dear Great Book Guru,
I was at a wonderful Sea Cliff event last weekend at the Fire House – a fundraiser for the Lions run by Shane Dommin with great music by The Lazy Dogs and Reckless Abandon. Conversation turned to upcoming event - the much anticipated release of a new book by renowned Sea Cliff author Michael Sears. Do you know anything about this?

A Serious Fan of Sears

Dear Serious Fan of Sears,
I received an advance copy of LONGWAY DOWN and what a treat! I had loved the first two books -BLACK FRIDAYS and MORTAL BONDS- so I fully expected to enjoy this latest entry, but I was delighted to find I liked it the best of the three. Jason Stafford, hero of this series of finance and family drama, after having spent two years in federal prison on white collar crime charges is now a financial investigator. His latest case involves Philip Hayley, a scientist who has been arrested for insider trading involving his own company. Haley insists he has been set up and the usually cynical Stafford believes him... but there is something more to this case, much more and so the mayhem begins. One of Sears's great strengths is his ability to create memorable characters and they abound in this book, but it is Stafford's autistic son known as "The Kid" who continues to play the pivotal role. Be prepared for many surprises throughout- nothing is as it seems. Highly recommended!

Current Art Show at SC Library

Sea Cliff Arts Council has a great line of for art shows at Sea Cliff Village Library. For the month of January, the exhibit includes selections from North Shore High School's Independent Projects in Art students. Each HS senior in IPA is working on a year-long concentration of art, based around a chosen idea or theme, under the mentorship of art teachers Sara Black and Elissa Theiss. Artists include: Brian Angulo, Tayler Bradford, Emily Cartagine, Toby Donoghue, Lea Eisenstein, Ryann Feldman, Grace Foley, Chris Janusas, Raju Eastland, Sinead McAuliffe, Claire O'Connor, Rachel Schweiger, Katie Spina, Dominique Sylvester, Sabrina Wassef, and Alanis Vulpis. The Artists' reception will be held on Wednesday, January 28th, from 6-7 pm at the library. All are welcome to attend the opening and meet these young, talented artists. The month of February, the exhibit will be photography from students of North Shore High School. The art opening is to-be-announced. Each year, Sea Cliff Arts Council offers scholarships to graduating art students from North Shore, chosen by their instructors. If you would like to donate, please send a check to Sea Cliff Arts Council, Attn. Scholarship, to POB 56, SC, NY, 11579. If you would like to learn more about Sea Cliff Arts Council, email info@kdiestadesign.com or visit our page on Facebook: Sea Cliff Arts Council.
