

Mail Man Makes Fire Rescue

by Kevin C. Horton

Glen Head postman Mario Morra dropped his mail bag and battled a fire last week while delivering mail in the Todd Estates area.

According to Gail Cote in a letter sent to the postmaster the fire was caught by the muffler of a landscaping truck. "Our mail carrier, Mario Morra was delivering mail and spotting the house fire and without hesitation he safely dropped his mail bag, ran across the street, grabbed a hose and spraying the fire until the Fire Department arrived. It was those actions of bravery that contained the fire from escalating and leaving a house with minimal damage."

Once the Fire Department arrival Mr. Morra left the scene and went on delivering the mail.

"We have always been fortunate to have Mario as our mail carrier," said Cote, "This is someone that is always polite, friendly and goes beyond any job outline."

The fire, thanks to postman Mario Morra, was contained.

After putting out a fire- Postman Mario Morra went on delivering the mail.

Mayor Spinello Supports Senator Gillibrand's Long Island Sound Restoration and Stewardship Act

Glen Cove Mayor Spinello joined New York Senator Kristen Gillibrand yesterday as she announced the reintroduction of the Long Island Sound Restoration and Stewardship Act. If passed, the bill would provide $65 million dollars to help to restore wetlands, replant sea grass, filter storm water, upgrade sewage treatment plants, and expand sewer access to communities here on the North Shore. Recent high levels of nitrogen and toxic algae blooms in the Long Island Sound have contributed to large fish kills in Suffolk as well as local beach closures. Other attendees included New York State Senator Jack Martins, Legislator Delia DeRiggi-Whitton, North Hempstead Supervisor Judi Bosworth, Sea Cliff Mayor Bruce Kennedy, Eric Swenson of the Hempstead Harbor Protection Committee, and many other local officials and environmental supporters.

"I fully support the Long Island Sound Restoration and Stewardship Act," said Mayor Spinello. "The Long Island Sound is an important part of our North Shore coastal lifestyle and I look forward to working with this group to help keep our waters safe, clean and sustainable for future generations."

Finley Students Visit Barnard College

Finley Middle School's sixth-grade humanities class recently toured the Barnard College campus in New York City.

Throughout the semester, students have been studying Malala Yousafzai and her selfless fight for girls' education in Pakistan and around the world. As part of the visit, students learned about the history of Barnard College, which was founded in 1889 to provide women with an equal opportunity for education.

They were given a campus tour and learned about Barnard's commitment to providing a competitive education that propels opportunities for women. Students saw firsthand why Yousafzai continues to selflessly fight for girls' education.

Rolling Stones Tribute Band Plays in Glen Cove

The music of The Rolling Stones will be featured when The Glimmer Twins perform on week two of the 2015 Downtown Sounds Concert Series at the Village Square Plaza in Glen Cove on July 10 at 7:30 pm. This renowned tribute band has received rave reviews for their remarkable portrayals of the legendary English rockers.

As tribute bands go, The Glimmer Twins are unique. What sets them apart is their ability to capture the raw energy of the most electrifying performances of The Stones' 50-year career. Indeed, from the moment they take the stage, audience members experience what it was like to see the historical band in its prime.

The Glimmer Twins' tribute to The Stones begins with their appearance as lead singer Keith Call and guitarist Bernie Bollendorf bear an uncanny resemblance to Mick Jagger and Keith Richards in their heyday. They also have the theatrics mastered as their animated performance rivals that of their namesakes. Finally, the music is spot on from "Start Me Up" to "Jumpin' Jack Flash," satisfaction guaranteed!

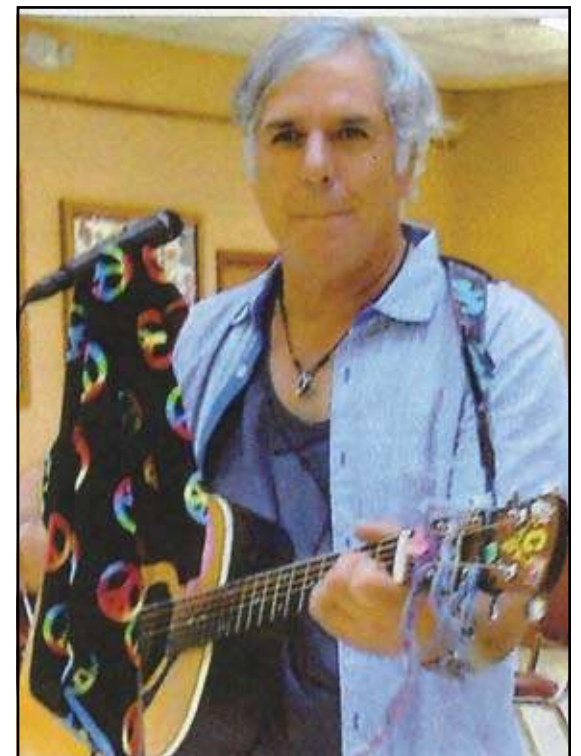

Musically, visually and theatrically, The Glimmer Twins don't just cover the tunes of The Rolling Stones, they live them. Portraying a group whose music has spanned generations means that their shows are a can't-miss for every Stones fan, young and old alike.

Opening for The Glimmer Twins are local musicians Michael McCauley with The WAMBAND; their classic rock will light up the night.

Every Friday night during July and August, the Downtown Business Improvement District and the City of Glen Cove join forces to bring Downtown Sounds to the Village Square at the intersection of Glen and Bridge Streets. This annual outdoor concert series, which is free to the public, is designed to use music as a promotional tool to boost the local economy.

Presenting sponsors for Downtown Sounds 2015 are Bethpage Federal Credit Union and Garvies Point. Other sponsors include American Community Bank, North Shore-LIJ Glen Cove Hospital, North Coast Subaru, Kimco Realty, American Paving & Masonry Corp., Bridge Marine, The Downtown Cafe and The Glen Cove Printery. Media partner is The SUNY College at Old Westbury, OWR Old Westbury Web Radio (www.owwrny.org) and OWTV Old Westbury Television. Host Joe Manfredi will be streaming the concerts live on www.ustream.tv; keyword: OWRNY. Free parking for Downtown Sounds is available at the nearby municipal garage. In the case of rain, the advertised acts will perform at the Wunsch Arts Center at R.M. Finley Middle School on Forest Avenue. GWL Students Learn Earth Science as They Explore Our Living Planet

Students at Glenwood Landing Elementary had the wonderful experience of investigating all about our planet through an interactive presentation by BOCES called Our Living Planet.

Using a giant inflatable Earth that children and teachers actually can enter, Our Living Planet explores nearly all Earth Science topics including: climate, habitat, geology, water systems, geography and the environment. Students also got the opportunity to see where the largest continents, oceans and deserts were around the world. In addition, favorite places like Madagascar were explored to the delight of the students!

The program was grade specific to enhance the elementary science curriculum. Many thanks to the Glenwood Landing Enrichment Department and the GWL SCA for initiating and supporting this fantastic interactive event.

Fifth Graders Come Together to Meet and Compete!

The sun came out on June 4th to allow fifth graders in all three North Shore elementary schools to gather on the North Shore High School Stadium Field to participate in their fun day! Donned in maroon and white (the North Shore school colors), students formed teams and partnered with their new peers in the different elementary schools to compete in many fun games including balloon toss, bucket brigade, and tug-of-war—just to name a few!

Not only did everyone have to show good sportsmanship but the different activities tested running and jumping skills, hand-eye coordination, dexterity and balancing proficiency. Three cheers to all the fifth graders and their physical education teachers who participated in this awesome fun day!

Kindergarten Cafés Culminate Bread Study at Glen Head School

To conclude their Bread Study, the kindergarten classes at Glen Head School ran cafes including the under the direction of their teachers, Mrs. Frank, Mrs. Giorgianni, Mrs. Koenig, and Mrs. Priolo. The decorative cafés had original themes and titles including "The Four Seasons Café, The Colorful Café, and "The Legoland Café."

During the month of May, excited parents and family members gathered in the hallways to be greeted by their "student hosts and hostesses." The kindergarteners were dressed up in hats and aprons according to their respective café themes. Inside the classrooms, desks were arranged as beautiful tables with flowers and decorations to resemble a fabulous café with banquet tables filled with homemade delicacies and baked breads.

The students in each café took on the following jobs: bus boys and girls, waiters and waitresses, hosts and hostesses, kitchen workers, samplers, recipe book salespeople, cashiers, money changers and managers. The kindergarteners took their jobs very seriously and worked as a team to serve and please all those in attendance to the delight of all those who gathered to enjoy a delicious breakfast treat!

Ruth Shaffer

SHAFFER, Ruth Dr. of Glen Cove, NY on June 25, 2015. Dr. Shaffer received her B.A. at Brooklyn College, her Master's at Hofstra Univ. and her Doctorate at Columbia Univ. Beloved wife of 49 years to Michael. Mother of Sharon Sprung (William Astwood) and Stefan (Amy). Sister of Ellen Silverman (Carl Tunick). Grandmother of Jesse, Sara and Julia. Service to be held at the Funeral Home of Dodge-Thomas Sunday June 28 at 1200pm. Interment Locust Valley Cemetery. Donations may be made

Ruth was a true lover of the stage. The theater was a major passion in her life until the end. While attending Brooklyn College she spent her late afternoons and evening taking theater classes at the New School. One summer she applied her new skills at the Weston Playhouse in Vermont where she had roles in the Little Foxes and Member of the Wedding. She even made Equity. However, graduation and marriage to her first husband, Jack Sprung, ended thoughts of a theater career but started what would become a lifetime of service helping others. Her first job was one of managing a program at Brooklyn College for Israeli soldiers who had been injured in the war for Israel's independence and who had been brought to this country to attend college. The following year the new family moves to Glen Cove, now three in number with the birth of her daughter Sharon. Ruth quickly became involved in the community as an active member of the local chapter of the League of Women Voters. Through the League Ruth made many friends with women in the community, friendships that would last a lifetime. She also helped to organize and then host the first planning meeting for what would become the summer Morgan Park Concert Series, which is still going strong today.

Unfortunately most of her civic activities were cut short by the death of her husband and the birth of her second child, Stefan. Ruth then began the next phase of her long career of helping others beginning as a substitute teacher in various schools around the county and eventually in her "new" home town. While subbing she was concern over the number of students whose needs were not being served by the schools. In Glen Cove, she proposed and then ran a program not unlike today's alternative schools for at risk students. She also returned to college where she earned a master's degree in counselor education at Hofstra University.

In 1964 she joined the guidance staff in Glen Cove High School where she would eventually become department director and eventually the district administrator of counseling services. She developed numerous programs that have become common place today. One she was particularly proud of was a special college night for top students. Glen Cove had always been sidestepped by all the top colleges as they made their recruiting circuits around Long Island. As a result few students, even those at the top of their class, failed to attract the interest of top colleges. In conjunction with Harrison House, now the "Mansion", Ruth began a special college night program inviting a handful of select colleges to meet with top students and their parents.. The impact was immediate. For the first time in years the top students were being admitted to one or more of the colleges that had been invited to the special evening. The program grew and after a few years colleges were vying for the opportunity to be invited to the special evenings and Glen Cove quickly got back on the recruiting schedules of all sorts of colleges that previously avoided the school and students.

Ruth's educational pursuits did not stop with her master's degree. In 1965 she was selected to attend a competitive General Electric Foundation Program for Guidance Counselors in the North East at Boston University. It was at this program where she met Michael Shaffer who in 1966 became her husband for the next 49 years. The next step was Teachers College, Columbia University where she earned her doctorate in family counseling. One of her classmates in the program who got her degree at the same time was another Ruth, Dr. Ruth Westheimer, who would go on to radio and tv fame.

With her new degree she received an opportunity to work part-time for several years at the Widows' Consultation Center in New York City, a bereavement center funded by a grant from a major life insurance company. When the funding dried up and the center was forced to close, Ruth began delivering bereavement workshops for teachers and counselors as part of a BOCES sponsored in-service program offering. During this time Ruth began to build a small private therapy practice focusing primarily on bereavement issues for both widows and widowers. During this time Ruth was also very active in the formation of the InterAgency Council of Glen Cove an association of social services agencies, and one of its sister agencies, Counseling, Alcohol and Substance Abuse (CASA) As much as Ruth enjoyed working with students, the challenges presented by her new focus on adult mental health issues primarily those centered around bereavement and divorce issues, Ruth retired from the Glen Cove Schools in order to concentrate on expanding her skills, initially as an intern at the Angelo J Melillo Center for Mental Health in Glen Cove. Ruth later served on their board of directors for many years. Following retirement she also worked as a consultant for the Roslyn Schools and also as an adjunct professor of education at C W Post College where she supervised student teachers. After a few years, Ruth restricted herself to just her private practice, a practice that she maintained on a part-time basis until June 25th, 2015..

Y Just the Y? To The Editor,

The future of the YMCA seems about the only issue Mayor Spinello's opponents seem to want to talk about. Sure everyone wants the "Y" to continue to operate as it is, but the status of a private not for profit recreational facility that the Mayor has no control over should not be the only issue on which to base a campaign.

Let's talk instead about accomplishments. How about Mayor Spinello's efforts to finally do something about illegal and substandard housing in our city after 20 years of relative inaction. In the first 18 months in office, Mayor Spinello's administration has brought suit against landlords, and issued fines in excess of $200,000. How about unprecedented savings in new labor agreements saving the taxpayers hundreds of thousands of dollars each from retirement incentives and other cost cutting initiatives. How about bringing new businesses to Glen Cove, and with them creating 300 jobs. How about finally seeing some real progress at the waterfront, in the downtown, in our city services, at the animal shelter. There are numerous other new initiatives. All the while holding the line on taxes!

Yes, the "Y" is important. The gyms and pools and facilities are enjoyed by people from Glen Cove, Sea Cliff, Locust Valley and all along the Gold Coast. I hope it continues to flourish for many years to come. But lets face it, its time to start looking at the real issues that have true meaning to the people of Glen Cove.

Nancy Furlong

If It Were True... To The Editor,

A recent letter, "It's All About the Money", makes the remarkable claim that the Glen Cove YMCA takes $1 million a year out of Glen Cove to fund Long Island YMCA's corporate offices. That really would be upsetting if it were true. However, the stated "actual facts" are pure fiction. I am a Glen Cove resident and a current member of the Glen Cove Y Advisory Board. These are the real facts:

$700,000 of Glen Cove Y's revenues are NOT paid to the Long Island Y. In 2014, Glen Cove Y paid $462,319 to Long Island Y. As for the percentage of revenues paid, historically, all branches paid 8-9% of their revenues to the Long Island Y, not 7% as claimed. In 2014, while the budgeted number was 11.25%, Glen Cove actually paid out only 9.71% of its revenue to Long Island Y, not 15% as claimed.

What is this money for? Long Island Y is a charitable organization with nearly 60,000 members. All branches pay a percentage of their revenues to Long Island Y to support the Y's mission. In doing so, the branches share certain expenses, which is far more cost-effective. If Glen Cove Y had to staff and pay these expenses on its own, it would likely cost the Glen Cove Y significantly more. Recently, Long Island Y has taken on some additional expenses historically carried directly by the branches (IT support, marketing, as examples).

Glen Cove Y receives many benefits by being part of the Long Island Y. Money raised in Glen Cove through fundraising stays in Glen Cove. But Glen Cove Y receives additional fundraising moneys from Long Island Y – in 2015 over $50,000 – money that is used for scholarships in Glen Cove for people who can't afford the Glen Cove Y's programs.

Glen Cove Y has received over $2 million from Long Island Y in interest free loans and outright gifts for the capital improvements when Glen Cove Y was unable to raise enough money on its own. Without the funding from Long Island Y those capital improvements would not have occurred. Long Island Y is prepared to invest millions more in the Glen Cove facility if it gets a new lease!

The letter complains that an additional $300,000 in revenues from a childcare program is "now going elsewhere." Childcare programs are offered through Glen Cove at 3 off-site locations, in New Hyde Park, Lynbrook and Valley Stream. The only change is that revenues and expenses from those childcare centers are now being budgeted separately. It is particularly odd that the author – who complains that Glen Cove money must stay in Glen Cove -- finds it unjust that funds generated at childcare centers located in other towns are no longer in Glen Cove's budget.

I recently joined the Advisory Board because I believe in the Glen Cove Y. If the Glen Cove Y was "health club masquerading as a not-for-profit where $1 million per year will be going to the corporate organization", as letter falsely claims, I wouldn't volunteer my time to be part of it.

Far from being a mere "health club", the Glen Cove Y provides programs and services, some free of charge, that are changing lives every day. Its programs include preschool, day care, summer camp, dance, and swim lessons; many wellness and nutrition programs; a pre-teen and teen center. It is a community place where on a daily basis people of all ages and entire families come together.

Personally, I cannot begin to fathom the motivations of those who are spreading misinformation and attempting to demonize a charitable organization that has served Glen Cove so well for so long. But I know that the current board is made up of 11 residents from Glen Cove and neighboring towns who care deeply about this community and know what a positive impact the Glen Cove Y has had here for over 60 years. We will make sure that the Glen Cove Y continues to serve its mission and the best interests of this community for as long as the Y remains in Glen Cove – hopefully, another 60 years.

A Perfect Performance at Landing

Landing School fifth-graders demonstrated their high-energy dance techniques during a recent ballet recital held in the gymnasium at their school. The performance, which culminated the district's eight-week pilot program with the Eglevsky Ballet, brought two instructors and a classically trained pianist to both Landing and Connolly schools to work with fifth-graders weekly.

Although Landing's ballet was rescheduled multiple times due to winter weather, students didn't miss a beat at the performance, showing off the spectacular dance moves and dance language they learned through participation in the program.

Students were all smiles as they preformed for the Landing School community and Superintendent of Schools Maria Rianna.

Great Book Guru

- Ann DiPietro

Dear Great Book Guru,
The Fourth of July has always been a favorite holiday of mine and its celebration in Sea Cliff is especially grand. Every year Carol Vogt and her merry band of Sea Cliff Civic Association folk present a rousing reading of the Declaration of Independence, a short play, songs, and refreshments- all on the Village Green. At 10am the bell rings and it all begins... Do you have something to keep me in the patriotic mood for the day?
Lover of the Red, White, and Blue foggy, filthy Philadelphia” throughout those momentous weeks leading up to the Fourth. I love to read the book because it includes a valuable addendum that points out just where the play veers from the total truth (is there ever such a thing?) and why. While affirming its basic historical accuracy, the authors show why for dramatic and aesthetic reasons, there were additions, deletions, suppositions, and rearrangements. Later in the day, check out Amazon Video for a glorious streaming of the film. See you on the Village Green!

Dear Lover of the Red, White, and Blue, I too love this iconic Sea Cliff event and would like to suggest something that will add to your enjoyment of the celebration: a reading and watching of the play 1776. Written in 1969, this play retains an enthusiastic freshness that draws me back each year. We find ourselves magically transported to “foul, fetid, fuming,

Name the Celebrity

This week's celebrity was born Helen Ruffs in Beaumont, Texas on Sept. 17, 1907. She was a tall and distinguished-looking woman. Her father was an oilman, which allowed her personal life to include a life-long passion for horses. While studying at the University of Texas, she met Mrs. March Culmore, director of Houston, Texas Little Theater. Culmore took Helen on as a pupil and soon, the young woman was playing leads with The Little Theater Group. From Texas she moved quickly to Broadway. Her first success in New York City was in a play called "Los Angeles." A succession of performances followed and led to a contract at Warner Brothers. Later, she regretted her quick leap to Hollywood and motion pictures. She lamented, "If I'd stayed in New York longer, I'd be getting a much bigger salary out here now." One of her memorable roles was in "The Wedding Night" (1935). She played the wife of Gary Cooper and the rival of Anna Sten, in a story about Connecticut tobacco fields. She also played the love interest of Paul Muni in Mervyn LeRoy's "I am a Fugitive From a Chain Gang" (1932). In 1991, this movie was selected for preservation in the U.S. National Film Registry by the Library of Congress as being "culturally, historically, or aesthetically significant."

Last Week's Celebrity

Last week's celebrity, Crusader Rabbit, was an animated cartoon character which was syndicated on TV from 1950-51 and re-aired for many years, especially on Saturday morning TV. It featured Crusader, his companion Ragland T. Tiger, nicknamed "Rags", and their occasional nemesis, Dudley Nightshade, called "Ill-regard Beauregard" in a few episodes, and his side-kick Bilius Green. Some episodes featured Crusader and Rags' friends Garfield the Groundhog and/or Arson and Sterno, the two-headed dragon....always loved that character!!! Ragland Tigers' name came from the jazz tune, "Tiger Rag" and his middle "T" stands for "The", as in "Rags The Tiger". Dudley Nightshades' name was a play on the poisonous plant, "deadly nightshade". As a running gag, another character would ask Rags what the "T" stood for, to which he would reply, "Larry, my father couldn't spell". The series was revived and 13 new crusades, totaling 260 color episodes, were produced in 1957 (not seen until 1959) by Shull Bonsall's Capital Enterprises. Bonsall purchased Television Arts Productions during a protracted legal battle between Jay Ward and Alex Anderson, the original creators. Jay Ward would later produce "The Rocky and Bullwinkle Show". In popular culture, there were two Dell Publishing comic books featuring Crusader and Rags. In graphic novel, "Roger Rabbit: The Resurrection of Doom", after C.B. Maroon (actually "Judge Doom" in disguise) fires Roger Rabbit, he tells his secretary, "Get me that other rabbit, "You know, the one that has a tiger for a buddy!"

In 1985, Rhino Entertainment released the first two volumes of Crusader Rabbit home-video release of all original episodes. However, 20th Century-Fox claimed distribution rights by their acquisition of previous owner Metromedia Productions Corporation. No further video releases have ever been produced.
