Antonia Petrash at NSHM Long Island and The Suffrage Movement

Antonia Petrash recently gave a slide show presentation and lecture at North Shore Historical Museum on the topic of her new book "Long Island and the Suffrage Movement." For seventy-two years, American women fought for the right to vote, and many remarkable women on Long Island worked tirelessly during this important civil rights movement. From Alva Vanderbilt and Elizabeth Cady Stanton to famous and not-so-famous Long Island women, they fought valiantly to secure the right to vote for themselves, their daughters and future generations.

Toni Petrash, who is the former Director of the Glen Cove Library, signed copies of her book at this well attended event. NSHM Board Member Linda Darby books lectures and presentations of topics of historical importance to the North Shore of Long Island. For further information of exhibits, programs and events at NSHM visit northshorehistoricalmuseum.org. or call NSHM Director Colleen Yoder at 516 801 1191.

Author and Inspirational Speaker, Alice Crespo, visits The Regency Assisted Living

On Thursday, February 20th, Author and Inspirational Speaker, Alice Crespo, visited The Regency as part of their Regency University Educational Series and spoke about "Finding Inner Strength When Life Gets Difficult". Alice is the Author of the book, Never Be Discouraged.

Alice has faced many struggles throughout her life. Through her book and her speaking engagements she hopes to motivate others to never give up on their dreams, no matter how hard their struggle is. She believes that through faith, hard work and determination anything is possible. Alice was born in New York City, raised in Brooklyn, and grew up totally blind. She had to work hard to learn many new things in order to break the poverty cycle she was born into. Alice talked about her difficult childhood, her family being on welfare, her schooling and growing up blind. She also brought many modern devices with her that help her in her daily life such as a Perkins Braille, which types out Braille, and a Book Port Plus which can read text and convert it to audio. She pointed out how this device can assist the elderly with reading if they develop poor eyesight. Alice also discussed the 3 guide dogs she has had and the ways in which they assist her. She brought her current dog, Akira, with her. Akira is a sweet and devoted Black Lab, who is 15 and semi-retired now.

Alice was certainly very inspiring. Hearing about the struggles she has faced and how she overcame them encouraged audience members to share some of the challenges they have experienced in their own lives. The Regency would like to thank Alice (and Akira!) for visiting and sharing her story. For more information about the Regency University Educational Series please visit www.theregencyatglen Cove.com.

Homeless Shelter in Danger of Closing

As we come to the end of one of the coldest winters in memory, the North Shore Sheltering Program is completing another successful year of operation. The shelter is open only during the winter months, from November until the end of March.

Originally founded in the winter of 1996 by a group of clergy and other concerned citizens, NSSP is now housed in the Parish Hall of the Presbyterian Church in Glen Cove. As many as 25 men have been there on some nights, but most nights it ranges from 16-20 men, who are given a hot meal and a warm, safe place to sleep.

Breakfast is provided in the morning and a sandwich or other snack to take with them when they leave the shelter. Most of the men can find work during the warmer months and rent a room, but work is hard to find in the winter and many men find themselves on the street. Where possible NSSP directs certain guests in need of housing, medical care, and/or treatment to the proper agencies and facilities.

As a seasonal shelter NSSP receives no government funding. All funds are raised through the generosity of the community. Meals are provided and served by volunteers.

If sufficient funding is not raised there is a possibility that NSSP may not be able to open for the winter of 2014-15, and men may once again be on the street during the frigid winter months. Please help to keep the doors open.

Donations may be sent to NSSP 7 North Lane Glen Cove NY 11542 For further information please visit northshoreshelteringprogram.org

Letters to the Editor

Please Ask the School District to Stop Wasting Your Tax Dollars!

To The Editor,

In this critical time of budget concerns facing our public schools today, the district must use care not to waste our tax dollars. Especially on runaway legal fees that could be used for staff and educational purposes. Please ask your Board of Education how much money they have used out of the legal fund to pay for the following matter:

As a valuable taxpayer to the North Shore School District who pays about $13,000 every year to the district and whose children do not attend the public schools, I bring more money to the district than those with attending children. Not only do I pay significant school taxes, but estimates are that I am saving the district $42,000-$46,000 p/yr by educating my 2 children in a non-public school. In exchange, the law provides that I shall receive transportation of my children to and from the school at a cost to the district so long as I submit a written request by April 1 for the following September. NYS Educ. Law 3635(2) requires school districts to provide bus transportation to non-public school children in recognition of the fact that their parents effectively pay tuition twice. Also, the district is directed to make exceptions to the deadline whenever there is a reasonable excuse provided for the delay.

Last spring, I timely requested bus service for each of my children then attending different schools. However, due to important reasons for my son, it became necessary to enroll him into the same school his brother attends so in May I asked for a seat on the same bus coming for his brother. I filed my changed form and I asked to be contacted by the Board in order to discuss the matter. Without any request for information or notice to me, my request was summarily denied in a secret unlawful meeting held by the district in June based on the cost to the district. When I politely informed them by letter that they were in violation of the law, they held another meeting without notice voted again then claiming that I failed to provide a reasonable explanation. I have written numerous letters asking to meet with the Board but they refused all efforts to resolve the matter. Given the district's utter lack of transparency, coupled with unfair treatment of my son, I implored the district to reconsider before I was left with no other alternative but to bring legal action which I knew would be an extraordinary burden of my time and your money. When I asked in bewilderment why the School Board would rather pay legal fees than provide a child a seat on a bus that is already assigned to pick up the child's older brother, I was told by the Superintendent, "the School Board is not concerned about legal fees since the attorney is on retainer." When I asked for the name of the school attorney so that I might discuss settlement, I was told to file the lawsuit in order to obtain the name. I found the name, called the boss, and never received a phone call. This has been 8 months of legal filings and NOT ONE PHONE CALL has been made by their attorney.

The Board has now expended your tax dollars on legal fees that are drawn out of the legal fund in reserve called a retainer. If the fund is overdrawn it requires a transfer of money taken away from being used in other more important places. We now proceed to appeals and this can go on for years. All the while, the lawyer on retainer gets lots of money instead of a child getting bus seat and a teacher avoiding a lay-off. The district's lack of concern for prudent use of taxpayer dollars should concern all residents of our community. I urge you to please email your Board of Education make inquiry.

Sincerely, Sandra Le Porin Esq.

Tolerance Taught Through Story and Song at Glen Cove HS

As a culmination to their Black History Month studies, students at Glen Cove High School welcomed singer/songwriter Vinny St. Marten to share his unique story of being raised in the Orchard section of Glen Cove during the 1950s at the height of segregation.

After loosing his eyesight to glaucoma at the age of seven, Mr. Marten, who is white, befriended a young black boy named Walter, who was appointed to help him get around during the school day. The loss of his sight actually opened up his vision to the prejudice that plagued the community at the time.

"I wouldn't give up my blindness for anything in the world," said Mr. St. Marten, who also goes by his given last name, Basile. He shared his story to all juniors at Glen Cove High School, including how he taught Walter to speak Italian and how Walter taught him to play baseball despite his loss of vision.

Mr. St. Marten also spoke about the prejudice he faced growing up blind, played a video that reenacted the racial tensions Walter and he faced from others, and also performed a few songs, accompanied by band member Elysa Sunshine.

Students at Finley Middle School will also be treated to an assembly from Mr. Marten in the near future.

C.R.E.W. Closing Ceremony at Glenwood Landing School

North Shore Schools, Glen Head NY - Glenwood Landing ended its two-week long C.R.E.W. (Curious Readers Enthusiastic Writers) festival with an exciting school-wide assembly. This year, the theme was "25 Years of C.R.E.W. - Old and New!"

While students read and write all year long, the month of C.R.E.W. reinforces these skills by continuing to focus on genres including poetry, fairytales, non-fiction, personal narratives, biographies, memoirs and picture books. Additionally, this is a special time where students participated in a number of activities (some new and some traditional) including "Buddy Reading & Writing, Guest Reader Read-In, Word of the Day, and a C.R.E.W. button contest!" Many, many library activities took place throughout the month and students were challenged to read more books than the year before.

To culminate the CREW festival, every grade performed on stage to an enthusiastic audience. Many thanks go out to the teachers, staff, the entire CREW committee and the Glenwood Landing School-Community Association (SCA) who are all essential in the success of this event.

gates to the convention from the Vestry of St. John's of Lattingtown Episcopal Church in Locust Valley.

At the convention in addition to elections and discussions Ms. Crosby

OceansWide of Maine Presents to Green Vale Students

Green Vale School students in grades one through eight participated in two dynamic presentations by OceansWide founder Buzz Scott today. Buzz is a former Navy Seabee with decades of experience on research vessels and with designing, building and piloting deep-sea Remotely Operated Vehicles (ROVs).

With younger students, Buzz shared photos of a few of the 350+ different species from under the sea that had never been photographed or documented before OceansWide, as well as the many animals he has gotten close to near Antarctica.

With older students, he spoke about the 70-day trips he makes with scientists on a 300' ice-cutting vessel to study deep-sea life using the unmanned ROVs he has helped design and build. He explained some of the oceans' history and why studying and protecting our oceans is so important to all of us.

Green Vale's approach to integrated STEM teaching is often enhanced by local and international experts at organizations such as OceansWide, Cold Spring Harbor Lab, Brookhaven National Lab and Long Island Matrix Science & Technology (LIMSAT). During April, sixth grade students will participate in a week-long program on marine archaeology/forensic investigation and will learn how to design and build a remote sensing ROV. The program, to be led by Brett Curlew of LIMSAT, will conclude with vehicle testing and a piloting competition using the indoor pool at LIU-Post.

Name the Celebrity

“Cavalcade” (1933). She was selected for a small but memorable role as “Edith Harris”, a doomed bride whose honeymoon voyage takes place on the Titanic. I wonder if Gloria Stuart saw that film?!! Our celebrity won the role because she convinced Fox Studios she was English. Her work in “Cavalcade” earned her a contract with Warner Bros. where she would be cast with most of all the major stars, but especially four times as the love interest of James Cagney from 1933-35, in “Frisco Kid”, “Devil Dogs of the Air”, “G-Men”, and “Lady Killer”.

Last Week’s Celebrity

With his huge shoulders, forward thrust head and shadowed eyes, last week’s celebrity, George Coulouris, was a natural choice for sinister roles. Reviewing Lillian Hellman’s 1941 Broadway play, “Watch on the Rhine,” in the NY Times, Brooks Atkinson praised the actor’s “lucid and subtly repelling performance” as “Teck de Brancovis”, the blackmailing Rumanian. In his review in the Times of Mr. Coulouris’ role as the gangster “Jim Mordinoy in the 1944 film “None but the Lonely Heart,” Bosley Crowther described him as “the very essence of cultivated wickedness.” Aside from his films mentioned last week, his more than 80 films also included “For Whom the Bells Tolls” (1943), “Mr. Skeffington” (1944), “Joan of Arc” (1948), “Arabesque” (1966), “Papillon” (1973) and “Murder on the Orient Express” (1974). At the age of 85, he died of heart failure following Parkinson disease, on April 25, 1989.

Correct Callers

Callers who knew our celebrity were: Don Adams, Tony Mercado, Ted March, Roberta Pezza, Joseph Saepia, Will and Babs Hutchins and Mario Moccia

This week’s celebrity was born in Dubuque, Iowa on Sept. 10, 1910. She was the oldest of six children and her father was a pharmacist who died in 1930 before her Hollywood career began. According to Tom Longden of the Des Moines Register, “Peg was a tomboy who liked to climb pear trees and was a roller-skating fiend.” After graduating high school in Dubuque, she attended college in Washington, DC, and convinced her parents to enroll her at the American Academy of Dramatic Arts in NYC. She then went abroad to England to make her stage debut. She was often mistaken as British due to her convincing English accent, which impressed Universal Studios enough to sign her for their 1932 version of “The Dark House.” However, by the time she returned to America and arrived in Hollywood, she discovered that Gloria Stuart “Titanic” (1997) had been cast in her role in the film. After some minor roles in Pre-Code films such as “Christopher Strong” (1933) with Katherine Hepburn and ground-breaking “Baby Face” (1933) with Barbara Stanwyck and George Brent, our celebrity was cast in the Fox Film Corps. award-winning

Glen Cove IAC Holds Monthly Meeting at The Regency

The Glen Cove Interagency Council recently held its monthly meeting at The Regency. The Regency is an assisted living facility that has been in downtown Glen Cove for 20 years. It is currently undergoing a full renovation. The Regency is licensed to provide housing to 105 people in 95 apartments. While most of the residents are in their 80s and 90s, overall age of residents range from their 40s to over 100. The goal of The Regency is to do “aging in place” so that residents will not have to move when they require additional assistance.

The Glen Cove IAC includes community leaders representing a variety of human and social service agencies throughout Glen Cove. It reflects Glen Cove’s rich cultural, religious and ethnic diversity and meets regularly to identify and address changing needs in the community. This network has resulted in numerous projects and collaborations that benefit Glen Cove residents on a daily basis. For more information about IAC, please contact Dr. Sharon Harris at 676-2008.

Troop 43 Hits Klondike 2014

On January 25th Sea Cliff Troop 43 participated in the Shelter Rock District Annual Klondike Derby in Muttontown, NY. We pulled sleds and accomplished different outdoor events. One particular event was the Sling shot activity, where we had to shoot 5 targets using 15 dog treats as our ammunition. It was a lot of fun! We had 3 sleds competing against all the other troops who were participating.

It was a sunny winter day and we had to dress in layers. By the middle of the day we were pretty warm! We took off some layers to cool down. We broke for lunch and enjoyed chicken tacos. A few boys from another troop, who met at Onteora, shared hot dogs with us! It was good to see them.

By the end of the day Troop 43 racked up over 400 points for completing events. We worked together in teams and learned things like how to start a fire with flint and steel. It was an exhausting and exciting day. We will work on our skills and can’t wait to compete again next year!

Great Book Guru

- Ann DiPietro

Dear Great Book Guru,
Last weekend Sea Cliff lost a beloved friend and esteemed scholar: John Moyne. A man of great literary, linguistic, and technological accomplishments, John was remembered by his many friends and family members at a gathering on Sunday at the Moyne family home. While there, one of my friends mentioned having just finished a novel about a small village in Haiti and recommended I read it. Are you familiar with it?

Reflective Reader

Dear Reflective,
John Moyne was indeed an extraordinary man and there will be another opportunity to honor his memory this Saturday, March 8 at 11am at St. Luke's Church here in Sea Cliff. Edwidge Danticat's CLAIRES OF THE SEA LIGHT is the book your friend recommended. Set in Ville Rose, a small village a few miles from the capital Port au Prince, the novel opens with the disappearance of seven-year old Claire and the death at sea of an elderly fisherman. It is Claire's birthday and from the beginning, death has shadowed her. We are introduced to neighbors, friends, politicians who all play roles in Claire's young life - from her impoverished widowed father who wants desperately for Claire to have a "good life"- to the hostess of a local radio show "Tell Me" where residents have the opportunity to tell stories of betrayal and gain retribution- to the headmaster who will do anything to protect a troubled son. Throughout, the lives of rich and poor intersect in profoundly disturbing ways. A beautifully written book!

Walking the North Shore Runway

North Shore Schools, Glen Head - As one of North Shore High School's newest extracurricular clubs, the Fashion Club is gaining popularity among the seamstresses, designers, and trend-setters alike in our creative student body. The club is run almost entirely by students and assisted by the ever-encouraging F.A.C.S. teacher, Mrs. Paolilli-Schiano.

Members of the club participate in the following important activities learning to draw croquis, which are elongated fashion models, making DIY projects, assessing career options, and discussing important events going on in the fashion world. There are no prerequisites needed to join, and anyone from an aspiring designer to someone just wanting to have fun and try something new is welcome! One of its first members, Aliesha Hatalovsky said that "The Fashion Club is a great way to meet other people interested in the fashion industry and make friends!" Michelle Yoon, a talented senior pursuing a career in clothing design at FIT stated, "The club is where we join in our thoughts and ideas on the latest trends and style."

The Fashion Club has already had a major success in the form of its very first fashion show which featured garments made exclusively by both beginner and advanced students in the Fashion, Sewing, and Textiles class. The apparel was modeled by the designers and their friends. The event took place in the North Shore High School Library with the assistance of Mrs. Rice, high school Librarian. The talented Lily Harir was on-hand to photograph the models as they walked down the lovely red carpet.

The students contributed to 100% of the work including managing the models, choosing the music, coordinating the outfits, doing hair and makeup, advertising the show, and organizing the reception afterwards - which was complimented by delicious pastries made by student intern Suzanne Magnuson and the baking class.

Mrs. Paolilli-Schiano hopes that organizing events such as these teaches students valuable skills, such as event-planning, problem solving, and being independent. There might be another fashion show in the Spring at the North Shore Schools. Members of the Fashion Club are working hard to make this happen. If not, there will definitely be one next winter. The Fashion Club meets every other Tuesday after school in the F.A.C.S. room for all of those who want to learn more about the industry and make fun projects. We would love for anyone who's interested in expressing their creativity and passion for design to join!

Pictured are students in the North Shore High School Fashion Club who participated in a fashion show and contributed to 100% of the work including managing the models, choosing the music, coordinating the outfits, hair and makeup, advertising, and organizing the reception afterwards. The club is advised by F.A.C.S. teacher, Mrs. Paolilli-Schiano. Article by North Shore High School student Isabella Alessandrini
