Search Warrant Uncovers Major Illegal Housing on Landing Road

Mayor Reginald Spinello today announced a major illegal housing bust at 40 Landing Road. On May 21, the Glen Cove Police Department and the City's Code Enforcement Department executed a search warrant and found a total of 15 people living in the one-family house which also has a five-room doctor's suite. The absentee landlord, who lives overseas, apparently allowed for illegal cellar habitation, nine rooms to be converted to living areas, for plumbing to be installed without permits, and construction in the house without permits. In addition, twelve smoke detectors and three carbon monoxide detectors were missing. A total of eight vehicles were associated with the people living in the house.

Mayor Spinello said, "This is once again proof positive that this administration's steadfast commitment to crack down on illegal housing continues. This latest investigation and finding sends a message to any others participating in the illegal housing business. My administration will not tolerate illegal housing. Illegal housing puts lives at risk, disparages a neighborhood and impacts our city's infrastructure. The Landing Road case is also proof positive that our code enforcement department is acting upon residents' complaints."

Upon entering the house the following was discovered: A dining room was converted into a bedroom and subdivided with dressers and other furniture; a utility room was converted into a bedroom and the main tenants, a married couple, were living in a bedroom that was converted from two treatment rooms and the waiting area formerly part of a doctor's office. There were two adults using a study as a bedroom. The room also contained a hot plate and

GLEN COVE JUNIOR LACROSSE CLUB Week 7

By Brian 'Condo' Neice

With 3 years in the making, history was made this past weekend as the GC 'Two Knights' became the youngest winning lacrosse players in Glen Cove history. This week they hosted Hicksville and got off to a quick start. Right off the initial face-off, the Knights established a dominance on ground balls that has proven to be their strength all season long. Once possession of the ball was gained, these athletes showed that they had what it takes to get to the goal. Offensive contributions were recorded across the board and leading the way were Nick Ladeairous and Rocco Raignone with some early tallies along with Mark Larocca. Pandelis Turisi also "rang the bell" as well before taking on the goalie responsibilities from Charlie Muth, who started his first game in goal. The two combined to let up only two goals all day. The starting defense of Jack Spoto, CJ Brown and is Shea was dominant in front of their two goaltenders. The second grade PAL lacrosse level is meant to be instructional and this Knight team has taken instruction all year long and practiced what they've been taught. Never has this been more evident than on Sunday when they recorded their first win of the season 6-2. With the team up 4 goals, Glen Cove spread the field, passed the ball to their teammates and showed that they have the stick skills to play with any team in the league. Expect more good things this year and in future years.

The third and fourth graders loaded the bus and headed out to Lindenhurst to take on a usually tough rival. The 'Wee Knights' came ready to battle as they took it to Lindenhurst behind Eamon Doyle's 4 goal performance. Just off the IR, Andrew Epifania quickly returned to form with a hat trick after sitting the last few weeks out with an injury. Also finding the back of the net were Chris Gielbeda and Ryan Houghton. The 9-5 victory would not have been without strong contributions from Charlie Benazizi, Lukasz Dubicki, Andrew Bisch, Victor Scarmato, Andrew Guster and Dominic Williams on top of some quality goaltending provided by Tyler Shea to seal the victory.

The 'White Knights' took to the Pit to battle Half Hollow Hills. After a quick start in the first half this seventh and eighth grade team soon began to fatigue as their short bench ran out of legs in the second half and fell to the visitors by the score of 6-3. Behind the offense was Charlie Ritter, who once again lead all scorers with 2 goals. Russell Perciballi also tallied a goal. Despite the loss the undermanned team knew they faced a tough rival and perhaps a few more bodies would have made it a different outcome.

Our other group of seventh and eighth graders, the 'Maroon Knights', took on Plainview and triumphed. Final score and statistics were not available.

All teams are off this upcoming weekend but return to action on Sunday, June 1st as our youngest lacrosse stars wrap up their regular season at home in the GCHS JV 'Pit'. The third and fourth graders host West Islip at 10am followed by the first and second graders taking on Lynbrook at 11:30am.

11th Annual 'Cooking for A Cure' for Diabetes Research Dr. Frank Caputo honored for Children's Health Education Mission

The 11th Annual Cooking for a Cure event to benefit the Diabetes Research Institute (DRI) was another heart-warming success. For more than a decade, our local area has been playing a huge part in funding research that will hopefully cure diabetes someday soon.

Delia DeRiggi-Whitton, Nassau County Legislator and DRIF Board Member said she was very grateful that the Cooking for a Cure committee continues to put on successful evenings at Page One Restaurant. A special thanks also went to Page One's celebrated Chef Jeanine Dimenna.

This year, Cooking for a Cure honored Dr. Frank Caputo who is committed to nutrition, health and wellness. Caputo says he is on a "vision quest" - a life mission - to get children and their parents committed to a healthy lifestyle.

In support of this cause, Caputo recently wrote a children's book teaching kids the importance of nutrition called Diana the Organic Banana. The idea is to create positive cartoon superhero type figures for kids that inspire health awareness. The doctor said that when Popeye was created, spinach saw rise in consumption of about one third! But, in recent times, not enough has been done as far as positive role models that get kids excited about eating healthy food and keeping fit so that they have the energy to play and to learn, Caputo said.

About the Diana the Organic Banana, he said, "If we don't take care of our kids health, you can be sure that the junk food industry will. There is a multi-billion dollar industry marketing directly to our children. They draw kids in with advertising. The food they sell is deliberately addictive.

icBanana. Dr. Caputo's website is www.caputowellness.com.

As far as the DRI dinner, Caputo said, "This was a great cause and such a posi-

So, this book was written to inspire both children and adults to seek out positive characters to represent health. My goal is to have my book and healthy characters in every Health Care Professionals office, in Learning Institutions and a part of everyone's family."

ive experience. It was an honor to help the effort to find a cure and it was humbling to receive so much recognition and so many citations from elected officials. I was not expecting it."

Indeed, many community leaders and officials attended the event. Fellow Nassau County Legislator Fran Becker attended. Glen Cove Mayor Reggie Spinello, Deputy Mayor Barbara Peebles, Chief of Staff Zefy Christopoulos and City Council member Pam Panzenbeck came in support of DRI.

Ronnie Lavine spoke on behalf of husband Assemblyman Charles Lavine. The assemblyman said after the event: "The Annual Cooking for a Cure event is such an important opportunity to revisit the health and wellness dialogue. With so much information available on the devastating impact a diagnosis of diabetes can have, we need to encourage both adults and children to develop healthy eating and exercise habits that continue throughout life."

DeRiggi-Whitton became involved with fundraising for the DRI shortly after her 17-year-old daughter, Amanda, was diagnosed with type 1 diabetes at age 3.

"Dr. Caputo gave a great speech, encouraging us all to stay healthy and keep working for a cure," the legislator said. "I appreciate his efforts very much and want to thank everyone who helped make the night such a success."

Find out more about the work of the Diabetes Research Institute at www.diabetesresearch.org/diabetes-research-institute.

Portledge Student Wins Gold Medal in Al Kalfus Long Island Math Fair

On May 2nd students from all over Long Island gathered at Hofstra University for the final round of the Al Kalfus Long Island Math Fair. Portledge School ninth grader Ruiwen Fu, a member of the Portledge Math Circle, received a gold medal, the highest award given, for presenting her Proof of the Rule for Divisibility by 7.

The competition required students to present their research on a variety of mathematics topics and to defend their work before a panel of judges. According to Portledge Math Coach Helen Oehrlein, Fu used the divisibility rule for 7 to solve a problem at one of the Portledge math circle's meetings and her curiosity was sparked. Why, Fu wondered, did the rule work? She was not able to find the proof in an online search, and so she used examples of other divisibility proofs supplied by Ms. Oehrlein to create her own original proof of the rule - something that set her apart from the other competitors in the math fair.

Portledge School encourages students to use curiosity and creativity to explore problems for themselves. Fu has been at Portledge for just one year, but says she already appreciates the access she has had to her teachers, and the freedom at Portledge to investigate problems that interest her.

This is the first year that Portledge has competed in the Al Kalfus Long Island Math Tournament. Ms. Oehrlein says, "We are thrilled that Portledge's first math project was such a great success!"

Ping Pong In Sea Cliff

Now that the warm weather is here, we really heated up the Sea Cliff Gospel Chapel with the May Ping Pong Tournament. Kirk Thomas came out victorious as Champion. Larry Weinberger took the 2nd place trophy. Noel Tichenor came in 3rd place. We had a lively group with balls flying everywhere.

As the Chapel is set up for Vacation Bible School in June there will be no June Tournament. The next Tournament is September. In the mean time, we'd love for your children to join us Mon. June 30- Thur. July 3, 9am-noon, for Vacation Bible Scholl: WEIRD ANIMALS, where Jesus Love is One-of-a-Kind. This is a free program for children entering Kindergarten through entering 6th grade. We have lots of fun with songs, games, stories, snack & recreation. This program is free to our community family. Any questions, check with Dave Collins, 759-2840 or davidcollins@seacliffchapel.org.

We look forward to seeing you at VBS or in the fall for more Ping Pong. Enjoy your summer.

It's Innovative, Educational and Green...Glenwood Landing School Has Ribbon Cutting Ceremony for New Outdoor Learning Classroom

"The classroom will provide students with the opportunity to experience a hands-on, multi-disciplinary environmental education in an outdoor setting," - The Outdoor Learning Committee.

On Friday, April 25, to coincide with Earth Day, Glenwood Landing Elementary held a school-wide assembly to celebrate the ribbon cutting ceremony to commemorate the grand opening of its beautiful Outdoor Learning Classroom. Beginning in the Spring of 2013, this huge endeavor culminated months of hard work by devoted students in the Garden Club (160+ students), volunteers in the Glenwood Landing Outdoor Classroom Committee, Nutrition Committee, and numerous dedicated members of the community under the direction of Audra Marcantonio and Principal Bridget Finder.

"The primary goal of the Outdoor Learning Classroom is to foster a better understanding of nature within our students and to teach generations about their responsibilities and relationship to the natural environment around us," said the Outdoor Learning Committee.

Audra Marcantonio, GWL School-wide Enrichment Teacher, added "The Outdoor Learning Classroom will provide a beautiful setting where our teachers can further connect current interdisciplinary themes including Patterns, Cycles Interdependence and Change that traverse the curriculum and grade levels (and are in line with the Common Core Standards). Additionally, she proudly said, "The Outdoor Learning Classroom will promote teamwork, leadership and a sense of community."

At the ceremony, students in the Gardening Club taught their classmates how to compost by re-enacting the book, Compost Stew, by Mary McKenna Siddals, and led their peers in singing, The Garden Song. Additionally, the fifth graders read a Creation Story. While they will be only able to spend a few short months in the outdoor space, the fifth grade class will be leaving this beautiful Outdoor Classroom as a gift to their fellow students to enjoy for many, many years to come. To end the assembly Principal Bridget Finder called Mrs. Marcantonio up to cut the ribbon and praised her for this remarkable innovative, educational, and green learning environment. Everyone in the audience gave her a standing ovation including many teachers, parents and community members who all participated in the creation of the Outdoor Learning Classroom.

Mrs. Marcantonio graciously said, "It could not have been done without the help of everyone involved." Mrs. Marcantonio would first like to thank the Puskuljian family for their incredibly generous contribution that made the entire transformation of the Outdoor Classroom possible! Additionally, her sincere thanks go out to the following businesses, students, teachers, and community members for their dedication and donations.

114th USGA Women's Amateur Championship Coming to Glen Cove

Mayor Spinello said, "The USGA's selection of Nassau Country Club to host the championship is a shining example of Glen Cove's historic significance to golf, and a tribute to our ability to host a national golf championship. The golf course and our community will be showcased to the world for five days on the Golf Channel. We need to fully embrace this event to ensure it is a great experience for the players, USGA officials, media and spectators." ## Troop 43 Participates In Camporee

"Boy Scout Troop 43, of Sea Cliff embarked on a voyage to Alpine Scout Reservation, in Alpine NJ, for a District wide Camporee, "The Zombie Invasion". The Scouts with tents, tarps and backpacks hunched over them arrived at the campsite, they quickly set up their tents and campsite before night and the rain set in. The Scouts awoke early to prepare for the day ahead. Some were wet, some were dry, but everyone had a good night's sleep. It was a chilly morning and water was still dripping from the trees, the Scouts made a nice hot breakfast. When breakfast was over the troop made their way to the parade field for opening ceremonies where the events of the day were announced to the scouts. The first of the events included a quick preparation course for the later expected arrival of a zombie hoard. When the prep course was over the Scouts returned to the campsite and prepared the next meal of the day, lunch. Everyone was satisfied and prepared for the hoard off zombies with full bellies. The troop split into three separate patrols and acted as three separate teams. Each team was required to set up zombie fortifications, become well versed in life-threatening first aid, locate different safe points using their map and compass, purify water for safe drinking, build a fire to thwart off the zombies and signal each other using flags and radio. Each task was completed quickly, efficiently and in the end each team had collected six parts for "The Cure". The Scouts returned to the campsite to prepare their dinner and "The Cure", which was to be served to an infected leader.

Night set in and the Scouts made their way to the Pavilion where our very own Senior Patrol Leader was the MC at the camporee-wide campfire. Each patrol was to have a skit prepared to entertain the troops. All the skits were fantastic.

The night ended with a flag burning ceremony where Troop 43's own Bugler, bugled "TAPS" for all in attendance. Each scout returned to their tent to a rain free night. When the Scouts awoke, a delicious bacon and eggs breakfast was prepared for all. There were some zombie games played at the parade field just before the closing ceremonies. Another successful outdoor trip was had thanks to the leadership of our Troop 43 Scout leaders."

Glen Cove Rotary Donates the Stars and Stripes

Mayor Reginald A. Spinello is pictured with Brian Mercadante in City Hall recently. Mr. Mercadante presented the Mayor with 13 American Flags (in honor of America's original 13 Colonies) that will be flown on the flagpoles at Danis Park. The new flags are a gift from the Glen Cove Rotary Club and they replace the current ones which will be properly retired. The Glen Cove Rotary has made this donation for 13 years and always prior to Memorial Day to honor our veterans throughout the year. The flags will be installed by the Glen Cove Department of Public Works prior to the Memorial Day weekend.

June Petrucci Honored for "Crossing" Children 45 Years

Last week, Mayor Reginald Spinello and the City Council presented June Petrucci with a citation applauding her for 45 years as a crossing guard at our school posts. Mayor Spinello said, "Bring up the subject of school crossing guards in the City of Glen Cove, and hundreds of parents will say of June Petrucci, 'Ours is awesome!' For 45 years, June Petrucci has covered her post braving the rain, snow and many times a grumpy or distracted driver to ensure that children crossed the street safely to and from school. On behalf of the City of Glen Cove, please accept my sincere thanks for keeping our children safe."

June started as a crossing guard in January, 1969. Her first post was at Finley Middle School for 30 years followed by a post at Connolly School for 15 years. In January, 1975, June became the first woman member of the Glen Cove Special Police and stayed with them for 23 years. Her dedication and work ethic is exemplary.

Born and raised in Glen Cove, June's heart is in the City she loves. She and her late husband, Gus, had two children; a son, Robert and a daughter, Monica. June has three granddaughters.

Ns Kiwanis Sponsors Nassau To Suffolk Bicycle Challenge Back-Story

The DeStio family; Linda, Tom, daughter Katie and at the extreme right, son Tom Jr. Two loyal helpers make up the rest of the group.

The NS Kiwanis Club takes pleasure in conducting the Nassau to Suffolk Bicycle Challenge, on Long Island, (a/k/a the Bike Ride) now in its 19th year, to be held on Sunday June 22nd Rain or Shine. This most important fund raiser will benefit the Kiwanis Pediatric Trauma Center (KPTC) at North Shore/LIJ hospital addressing the needs of children who have suffered major physical trauma..

This event was started by Tom DeStio, whose son Tom was born prematurely and with multiple health issues. Through the diligence and dedication of the medical staff in the Critical Care Unit of the KPTC in North Shore Hospital, Tom Jr. is now an active young adult who enjoys a healthy and productive life. When Tom Sr. joined NS Kiwanis, he realized that it was the perfect venue for facilitating his "giving back" to the KPTC. He and his family have been involved in this huge Bike Ride fund raising event, and with assistance of NS Kiwanis members, have formed a par excellence team dedicated to making the DeStio's vision a successful, ongoing reality addressing the needs of KPTC and their young patients.

The proceeds from the Bike Ride supports the work of the North Shore Pediatric Trauma Foundation, a 501 (c) 3 organization. The foundation provides education, lifesaving equipment, and medical support to children who have suffered major physical trauma. The foundation's mission is aligned with that of Kiwanis International, "Serving the Children of the World." For information and registration go to: www.N2SBC.ORG

Little scholars Earth Day

"We learned that just as we have a special day, our birthday, the earth too has a special day, "Earth Day". Using various recycled materials, we created sculptures, flowers with vases, and egg carton "litterbugs". The children created their own Earth Day bags to collect litter. We focused on the importance of taking care of our Earth by recycling and cleaning up our trash. For information about Little Scholars summer and fall programs call Kathy Benetos at 674-4037.

Name the Celebrity

This week's celebrity was born Owena Wolcott, on June 16, 1903, in Portland, Oregon. She first came to fame on Broadway as the singing and dancing ingénue in the original production of "No, No, Nanette." From this, she had a very successful stage and radio career in the 1930s in New York. She introduced the song "You're the Cream in My Coffee" in the 1927 Broadway musical "Hold Everything" which included in its cast, Bert Lahr and Victor Moore. This production was the beginning of Mr. Lahr's career and in a few years, he and our celebrity would again share the film stage in a very popular 1939 movie. Our celebrity's first starring role was in Warner Bros. talkie called "Going Wild" (1930) with Joe E. Brown and Frank McHugh. Originally, this film was intended as a musical but all the song/dance numbers were removed prior to the release due to the public's growing distaste for musicals which had virtually saturated the cinema in 1929-30. The following year, she appeared in a comedy called "Hot Heiress" in which she sings several songs along with her co-star, Ben Lyon, of "Hell's Angels" (1930) fame, which had just brought Jean Harlow to film prominence. In 1941, our celebrity played a huge role as a madam, albeit a Chinese one, "Mother Gin Sling", in "The Shanghai Gesture" with Walter Huston and Gene Tierney. Tierney's role in this film, as a drug and alcohol addicted heiress, was none like Tierney had ever done before or after this film, with the help of our celebrity.

Last Week's Celebrity
Last week's celebrity was born Oliver Peter Heggie and was professionally known as O.P. Heggie. In the early 20th century and after several years of playing some of the best known London theater stages such as the Hippodrome, the Centurion and the St. James, Mr. Heggie headed for the NYC Broadway stage. He performed in many successful plays, including "A Midsummer Night's Dream", "Minick", and "The Merchant of Venice", to name a few. His last work on Broadway was as "William Owen" in "The Green Bay Tree" (1933) with Leo G. Carroll, Laurence Olivier and Olivier's pre-Vivien Leigh wife, Jill Esmond. A year later, this play was produced at the Northhampton Repertory in England with Errol Flynn. Mr. Heggie appeared in at least 27 films, including those mentioned last week and "The Count of Monte Cristo", "The Letter" (the first one, not the Bette Davis version), "The Mighty", "The Bad Man", and "Peck's Bad Boy", all between 1928 and his death from pneumonia, at the age of 58, on Feb. 7, 1936. He is probably best known for his role as the blind hermit in Mary Shelley's "Bride of Frankenstein" (1935) with Elsa Lanchester. Isolated in the woods, he befriends the injured monster (Boris Karloff), only for two hunters to intrude and destroy the friendship, and his home.

Correct Callers

Callers who knew our celebrity last week were: Caroline Kielbasa, Mary Russino, Mario Moccia, Sandy Shane, Lou DeLuker, John Rogalski, Joseph Sepia, James Foote, Sal T., Will and Babs Hutchins, Caroline Cleanman, Anna Moore, Bernie McGraph, Don Adams, Roberta Pezza.

TRIVIA QUESTION OF THE WEEK:

This week's question: Which ball club appeared on the old television series, Mr. Ed? Answer next time, folks.

Last column's answer: Carl Yazstremski. Yaz batted .301 in 1968 to win the American League batting title a second straight year. It was the year when the pitching mound was adjusted in a way which gave pitchers a distinct advantage over hitters in both leagues. The following year the mound was adjusted that gave hitters more leverage and it's been that way ever since.

MIDGET BOYS

The Bees edged out the Grasshoppers, 9-8, and remain undefeated, 4-0, in the league. Eli Reinheimer homered twice and Nate Huvane added a solo shot. The Grasshoppers loaded the bases in the bottom of the seventh but the Bees got three outs to win

JUNIOR GIRLS

On May 10, the Knights of Columbus Mets took on the Grenville Baker squad and won 14-3. Jane Maleady started the game for the Mets and allowed only one run over three inning, fanning four batters. Christie Jantzen hurled two strong innings for the Mets with a strong fast-ball. Meleady, Jennie LaRocca, Karina Hernandez, Addie Huvane and Jantzen (a double) came out fast out of the gate. Huvane was 3-for-3 on the day. Hernandez, Meleady and Melanie Mojica threw out three batters attempting to steal and the team turned over three double plays. Jantzen made a great play when she caught a liner off the mound, turned around and threw the ball to Kaityn Meleady at first who doubled up a runner that was only six feet from the base.

Veterans Visit Rotary Club of Glen Cove

By: Mary Grace Donaldson

The Rotary Club of Glen Cove hosted two representatives from Services For The Underserved at its weekly meeting on April 22 at Page One Restaurant.

Roger Leathers, Outreach Coordinator/VA Liaison, and veteran Sam Lewis, Assistant Program Director, attended the meeting and spoke about their service to veterans on Long Island. Both Leathers and Lewis are affiliated with the United Veterans Beacon House, located in Farmingdale. In their discussion with the club, Leathers and Lewis indicated that they are seeking greater publicity for their work, and for awareness of underserved veterans, including those suffering from post-traumatic stress disorder.

Services For The Underserved (SSVF) in conjunction with the United Veterans Beacon House (UVBH) "provides support services to low income veterans," and "offers advocacy and assistance in connecting to benefits." The mission of the UVBH is "to provide temporary and permanent residence for U.S. Military Veterans," and "to provide emergency, temporary and permanent residence for men, women and women with children." The organization provides multiple services, including case management, transportation, counseling and a food pantry. Further information on this veteran support organization can be found at www.uvbh.com and www.sus.org. SSVF can be contacted at (631) 227-0777.

The Rotary Club of Glen Cove meets every Tuesday at 12:15 p.m. and invites all business persons interested in local and global community support to join us and the over 1.2 million Rotarians worldwide.

Great Book Guru

- Ann DiPietro

Dear Great Book Guru,
I am so looking forward to the Memorial Day ..... the spirited parade through the streets of Sea Cliff, the bittersweet ceremony at Clifton Park, breakfast on the front lawn of the Children's Library, the opening of the Beach- all make for an iconic day. As usual I am looking for a good book to read when there is quiet moment. Do you have any suggestions? Eager Reader

Dear Eager Reader,
Wherever I am, whatever I am doing, I make sure I am back in town for Memorial Day so, yes, I can certainly understand your excitement. I am going to recommend a book that might surprise you: CRESCENT AND STAR: TURKEY BETWEEN TWO WORLDS by Stephen Kinzer. Why this book for this American holiday weekend? Well, Kinzer tells the story of a country most of us know very little about, but one that is a valuable and fascinating ally. Largely Islamic, it has been a democracy of sorts since 1923. Kinzer describes in colorful detail the food and drink, the poets and novelists, the generals and politicians of modern day Turkey. Reading about the missteps, the triumphs, and the potential of this ancient country, we can see vestiges of our own history. Recommended! Remember to get your treasures together for the Civic Association's annual Garage Sale- Saturday, June 7. If you need an application form, pick one up at Village Hall.

Glen Cove School District, Teacher's Association Agree to New Pact

The Glen Cove School District has reached a new agreement with the Glen Cove Teachers Association through June 2016 that compensates instructional staff members fairly and helps sustain the district's present and future fiscal health.

"After close to three years of collective bargaining, we are pleased to have reached an agreement that is acceptable to both sides," said Glen Cove Superintendent of Schools Maria Rianna. "During the budget development process, the Board of Education and administration had to make some tough choices to maintain a quality educational program and uphold our fiscal responsibility to the Glen Cove taxpayers. This agreement will allow us to preserve opportunities for students while addressing the cost-of-living needs of our teachers. On behalf of the Board of Education, I commend the GCTA leadership for their cooperation throughout this process. It is because of their commitment to the children of this community that concessions were made."

Through the duration of the 2013-14 school year (which ends June 30, 2014), teachers will receive a salary increase of 1.5%, pro-rated from May 1, 2014. This amounts to a 0.3% increase for the entire 2013-14 school year. Full-time GCTA unit members who have been employed since the beginning of the school year also agree to a two-month freeze of their applicable incremental step increase, running through the remainder of the school year.

For the 2014-15 school year, teachers will receive a 1% increase in salary and one-half of their applicable incremental step increase. The same 1% salary and one-half incremental step increases will apply for the 2015-16 school year, with the new agreement expiring on June 30, 2016.

All other wage rates (non-full-time GCTA members) and stipends will remain frozen through the remainder of the current school year. Beginning in July 2014, all other wages and stipends will increase by 1% for the 2014-15 school year. A 1% increase will also be applied to these wages and stipends for the 2015-16 school year.

Provisions are also included in the new pact that set the number of hours for professional development time, ensure eligibility for the New York State retirement incentive and uphold priority status for excessed teachers wishing to return to the district. The agreement also includes a stipulation that governs the eligibility of health insurance opt-out payments.

"This is a good compromise, taking into consideration the economic times and knowing how challenging it is for school districts to maintain programs under the tax levy cap," said GCTA President Karen Ferguson. "The GCTA values the support of the Glen Cove community, appreciates the collaboration of the Board of Education and administration, and recognizes the importance of a fair agreement for all."
