Mayor Spinello Visits Greek Village Festival

On Sunday, June 9, Mayor Reginald Spinello and his wife, Coleen, visited the annual Greek Village Festival held by Holy Resurrection Greek Orthodox Church in Brookville. Many Glen Covers know that the parish was founded in Glen Cove more than 30 years ago and flourished to the point where they needed a larger edifice. The parishioners and the women's philanthropic organization continue their outreach to those in Glen Cove who need assistance. The North Shore INN, the North Shore Sheltering Program and our Youth Bureau are just a few of the organizations who receive that help. Pictured at the festival, left to right are from Glen Cove and volunteering their time during the festival: Michael Paralikas; Perry Averopoulos; Alexander Gratsias; and Peter Pantazakos.

Echause West Point Graduate

Brendan Echause graduated from West Point this past week. Pictured is him taking his oath during his commissioning as a 2nd Lt. He will be serving in the Infantry and will be reporting to Ranger school in July. He is the son of Paul and Beth Echause of Glen Head.

Glen Cove IAC Holds Monthly Meeting at Library

The Glen Cove Interagency Council (IAC) recently held its monthly meeting at the Glen Cove Library. Library Director Kathie Flynn and her staff gave an overview of the many services available at the library.

The Glen Cove Library has an extensive collection of historical documents and photos. The collection began with a donation from Robert Coles, after whom the library's history room is dedicated. Staff is currently augmenting the collection by conducting oral histories of Glen Cove. The collection, which includes interviews with former mayors, is called "Voices of Glen Cove".

The library also has an active teen program. Approximately 20-30 teens meet monthly. They perform community service, work with younger readers, and enjoy teen-related programs and lectures. The teens also participate in the "Any Solder" program, packing and sending donated supplies to US troops in Afghanistan.

The library has been busy reaching out to the Spanish speaking community. A native speaker makes presentations to ESL students and their parents and participates in World Book Night, distributing books to students and signing them up for library cards. The library also conducts computer classes in Spanish and offers a Spanish language story hour for younger children.

The library offers special programs for all ages. Adults can enjoy book discussions, musical performances, educational lectures, computer classes, career assistance and more. The Children's Department offers programs for younger readers including story time four times a week, arts and crafts, music and movement, a Lego club and a summer reading club. Given the current emphasis on STEM-related programs, staff has been offering more activities related to science and technology.

Library staff also bring the library out into the community. Staff make presentations at local schools, have an ongoing outreach program at the Glen Cove Day Care Center and share a historical slide show with residents at local assisted living facilities and nursing homes.

The Glen Cove IAC includes community leaders representing a variety of human and social service agencies throughout Glen Cove. It reflects Glen Cove's rich cultural, religious and ethnic diversity and meets regularly to identify and address changing needs in the community. This network has resulted in numerous projects and collaborations that benefit Glen Cove residents on a daily basis. For more information about IAC, please visit iacglencove.org.

Sea Cliff Once Again Shows Its Love For The Sea Cliff Library

By Carol Poll, President of the Friends of the Sea Cliff Library June 7, 2014 Thank you Sea Cliff for making the Friends of the Sea Cliff Library "Giant Gently Used Book Sales," at "Garage Day Sale" on Saturday, June 7, 2014 a great success. The book sale is a major fundraiser and community event where people come to share their love of the library, reading, and books and spend time with their friends. Many hundreds of books, DVDs and CDs are donated and sold.

Many people volunteered hours of work to make the sale succeed. Volunteers included Carol Berglie, Peggy Brucia, Jim Campbell, Rosemary Chu, Craig Darcy, Wendy D'Avino, P. J. Como, Peggy Como, Julie Eichenberger, Karen Kessler, Mimi Leipzig, Mike Lennon, Mark Miksic, Jeanne Millspaugh, Charlie Oppizzi, Carol Poll, Catherine Pickering, Rosalin Polissano, Rosaria Riccoli (and granddaughter Tessa McQueeny), Janet Swinburne, Howard Taub, Lance Thoet and Carolyn Quenon. Dakota Kessler, President of the Friends Junior Division, helped lift the many boxes and boxes of books. A hearty thanks also goes to the Director of the Library, Arlene Nevins, and the library staff who helped us and stored the books for us before the sale.

We commend the North Shore High School students and the North Shore Key Club for its civic minded activities that serve to keep our community so very vibrant. Indispensable help setting up the book sale was provided by North Shore High School students Schlyler

Hendrickson, John Lennon (also known as "Muscle for Hire"), Miranda Purcell, Jacqueline Thoet, and Jack Williams of the Key Club. We applaud Julia Salat, the faculty advisor of the Key Club of North Shore High School for recruiting students at this very busy school time. Nina Livingston, a North Shore School's parent, was an additional critical person coordinating communication with the schools.

Troup 43 Boy Scouts of St. Luke's Church also came to the rescue. Scouts Kenneth Aebly, Doug Brown (Assistant Scout Master), Keegan Brown, Logan Citko, William Ciniski, Matt Greco (Community Chair), Charles La Marca, Colin Oswald, and T. J. Ponzo, were outstanding workers. They worked quickly and in precision to help us take the remaining unsold books back into the library. The leftover books are distributed to various community charities.

A special thank you goes out to our friendly and generous neighborly stores. Glen Cove Staples donated store money which enabled us to buy boxes for the book displays. Sea Cliff Paint & Hardware store donated tapes required for book display boxes and signs. In addition, Sea Cliff Civic Association Garage Sale Committee gave the Friends garage day sale maps to sell that day and allowed us to keep the money from the sale.

Friends of the Sea Cliff Library are non-profit group committed to advocacy and support of the library. New members are always welcome at monthly meetings. Further information is available in the Library.

Unwanted Medicine Disposal Project Successful

Last Saturday the City of Glen Cove Police Department, the SAFE (Substance Abuse Free Environment) Agency and the Glen Cove Volunteer EMS coordinated their efforts and held a "drop off your unwanted/expired medications" for proper disposal event. In total, 35 pounds of prescription and over-the-counter medication and 12 pounds of medical waste (used/ unused sharps and syringes) were collected and will be incinerated as the law mandates. By properly disposing of unwanted medication, we are not only protecting the environment, we are safeguarding our all too often curious children.

Glen Cove Boys & Girls Club Members Face of Future Healthcare Providers

Glen Cove Boys & Girls Club's mission is to enable all young people to realize their full potential as productive and responsible citizens through a variety of after school programs in education, sports and recreation, dance, technology and art, designed to enrich and enhance learning and build self-esteem. Elizabeth Garcia named the Club's 2014 Youth of the Year, Linesha Davis, recipient of the Louis M. Sanford Scholarship and Essence Fowler, recipient of the Glen Cove Boys & Girls Club Scholarship are three success stories evidencing the Club is accomplishing its objectives.

Elizabeth Garcia, 17, hopes to accomplish many things in her life but two ambitions stand out most - giving back to the community and making her parents proud. Serious, focused and determined, Elizabeth is heading to Hunter College this fall to pursue a degree in biology followed by medical school to pursue a career in obstetrics and gynecology. After completing her specialty in OBGYN, she plans on advancing her career with a second specialty in pediatrics.

Elizabeth had the opportunity to meet the winners from other Clubs when she recently traveled to Albany, NY to compete for the State Youth of the Year Title. The Youth of the Year is the premier recognition program for youth, promoting service to Club, community and family; academic success; strong moral character; life goals; and poise and public speaking ability. Through the program, local Clubs recognize members ages 14 to 18 as Youth of the Month winners and at the end of the school year, select a Youth of the Year, who then participates in state competitions. SEFCU, one of the largest credit unions in New York State, was the 2014 Presenting Sponsor of the 2014 New York State Youth of the Year Program, generously committed $20,000 in scholarships to support the educational aspirations of Youth of the Year program participants.

Linesha Davis, 17, is this year's recipient of one of the Club's most honorable scholarships, named for past Glen Cove Boys & Girls Club Executive Director, Louis M. Sanford, who served the community and the Boys & Girls Club for more than 30 years. Linesha is actively involved in many of the Club's programs including the Keystone Club, Triple Play and Summer Youth Employment. Linesha, who's extracurricular include STEP (Science Technology Entry Program) and STEP Health and Medical Camp will head to NYIT this September where she also plans on pursuing a degree in biology with a focus on medicine.

Essence Fowler, 18, is the recipient of the Glen Cove Boys & Girls Club Scholarship is awarded this year to a current Club member that demonstrates achievement in our three priority areas: academic success, good character and citizenship and a healthy lifestyle. Essence has been actively involved in the Club for 12 years and credits the Club for being a vital part of her life, helping her improve her academic and social skills and providing encouragement to seek and appreciate all opportunities. Essence will be attending LIU Brooklyn this fall to pursue a career in nursing.

GCBGC 2014 Youth of the Year Elizabeth Garcia wants to become a doctor and open an OBGYN clinic in Glen Cove.

GCBGC Louis M. Sanford Scholarship recipient Linesha Davis, 17.

Essence Fowler, 18, was awarded the Glen Cove Boys & Girls Club Scholarship.

Girls from GCBGC Create Jewelry

The Glen Cove Arts Council recently made it possible for ten girls from the Glen Cove Boys & Girls Club to visit the K. DiResta Collective in Sea Cliff for an hour of fun making jewelry.

Collective owner Kathleen DiResta, assisted by her friend and fellow artist Heidi Hunt and her children Katherine and William, helped the girls, accompanied by GCBGC Arts Coordinator Sean O'Callaghan, to design their own bracelets and necklaces from the numerous varieties of beads displayed in trays for them to choose from. Each girls also made a pendant with her initials stamped into it.

"I was so happy to have them" said Kathleen DiResta who really enjoyed working with the group, and was also grateful to the Glen Cove Arts Council for making the visit possible.

Morgan Park Summer Music Festival Launches Annual Appeal

Morgan Park Summer Music Festival (MPSMF) launched its 2014 fundraising campaign with a working luncheon at Nassau Country Club. Over 20 volunteers, including Glen Cove Mayor Reggie Spinello, gathered to personally sign hundreds of letters requesting donations that would enable the group to continue its mission of bringing free family concerts to the park each summer weekend. The work of MPSMF is carried out entirely by volunteers. The concerts presented are supported by private and business donations; no taxpayer money is requested or received.

This year's season of 11 concerts will provide a rich variety of professional entertainment designed to appeal to all musical tastes. "I am very excited that we are able to bring back some of our popular acts from the past, as well as new shows that we hope will be enjoyed by all. Our 55th summer of music in the park promises to be the most exciting season yet," said Marge Suozzi, executive board chairwoman.

The season begins on Sunday, July 6 with the return of Swingtime Big Band, a 20-piece authentic swing band playing some of America's greatest popular standards. On Saturday, July 12 the winners of this year's Young Performers Competition will delight audiences with their exceptional talent. Many of the past winners of this competition have gone on to have very rewarding and successful musical careers. Completing the evening's entertainment is a showing of the evocative film "NY Export: Opus Jazz", conceived by New York City Ballet dancers Ellen Bar and Sean Suozzi and featuring an ensemble cast of New York City Ballet dancers. Sunday, July 13 brings Plaza Productions' rendition of the smash Broadway hit "Young Frankenstein" to the park.

This summer will also feature tribute bands performing the songs of The Beatles on July 20, Chicago on August 3 and Queen on August 31. On July 19, the Oldham Youth Orchestra, Brass and Wind Bands from Oldham, England will make a return visit to the Summer Music Festival. Rescheduled from last summer the United States Navy Band will take to the Morgan Park stage on July 27 for a delightful evening of patriotism and Americana. Vince Giordano and the Nighthawks, a Grammy winning jazz orchestra will perform on August 10 and Ian Petillo's Legacy Jazz Band will make a return appearance to the stage on August 17. Irish eyes will be smiling on Glen Cove on August 24 as Andy Cooney and his Irish Band delight audiences with an evening of traditional Irish music.

Morgan Park Summer Music Festival encourages young artists and provides cultural enrichment to the entire Long Island community. The concerts are free and all are welcome to attend. It is only through the generosity of the public that the Festival is able to provide such a diverse and talented level of en-

Successful Book Signing at NSHM

Author Stephen Grant recently visited the North Shore Historical Museum to speak about his book Collecting Shakespeare, and to sign copies for the enthusiastic audience members.

In this book Stephen Grant recounts the American success story of Henry and Emily Folger of Brooklyn, a couple who were devoted to each other, in love with Shakespeare, and bitten by the collecting bug. Henry Folger worked five decades for the Standard Oil Company, at the height of his career serving as president, then chairman of the board, Standard Oil of New York. The Folgers lived for a time on the Gold Coast in Glen Cove, and were close friends with the children of Charles Pratt.

This book is the first biography written about the couple who founded the Folger Shakespeare Library in Washington DC in 1932. A reception was held following the lecture and book signing.

Name the Celebrity

This week's celebrity was one of the original cast members of TV's very first space opera, "Captain Video & His Rangers." He was one of WABD/WNEW NY TV 5's most well-known and beloved cartoon show emcees. He was born in Dayton, Ohio on June 25, 1920 and served in the US Army medical corps during WWII. After his service overseas, he began a career in show business working as an actor in summer stock theater in Ohio, appearing in Noel Coward plays. He would soon leave the theater for a more stable career in radio as an announcer working for local stations in Ohio. He eventually moved to NY where he worked in radio and in 1946 made the move to TV when he joined experimental station W2XJT in NY. Two years later he joined WABD-TV 5, the NYC flagship station of the now forgotten Dumont Network. He worked at Channel 5 as a staff announcer for many years often hosting numerous film shorts, such as "Dick Tracy." He also did commercial plugs for many sponsors but he was best remembered for his work on kids' TV. In 1949, he began his role as announcer "Ranger Rogers", who introduced reruns of old movie westerns in "Captain Video and His Video Rangers". He lasted until the "Capt. Video" series ended in May 1955. In an interview with former Ch. 5 WNEW entertainment (pre-WNYN & pre-Fox 5), critic and newsman, Stewart Klein, on his late night talk show, "Off the Set" in 1984, our celebrity, together with fellow period emcees Sandy Becker and Sonny Fox, explained that the old westerns were screened so that the writers wouldn't have to script complete episodes of "Capt. Video." At the time, our celebrity was known for using his appearances on "Capt. Video" as a means to tell his parents back in Dayton, Ohio about his new-born son, who presently lives in Oyster Bay. He did this everyday on the show much to the displeasure of the network execs and the FCC. I guess they never saw Kathie Lee Gifford coming! He went on to have four more! His announcing role on "Capt. Video" was spoofed by Frank March on "TV or Not TV", the very first episode of Jackie Gleason's "The Honeymooners" (1955). As an added clue, he wore a bow-tie on all his children's TV shows.

Last Week's Celebrity

Last week's celebrity was born June Stovenour. She later took the last name of her step-father, Bert Haver. In 1946, she starred and received first billing in "Wake Up and Dream" with John Payne and "Three Little Girls in Blue" with George Montgomery, Celeste Holm and Vera-Ellen. "Three Little Girls" was a remake of Guy Bolton's 1938 play "Three Blind Mice" and 1941's movie musical "Moon Over Miami" with Betty Grable. Its score featured songs with music by Josef Myrow and lyrics by Mack Gordon and is notable for the first appearance of the classic "You Make Me Feel So Young", popularized by Frank Sinatra in 1956. Both of her 1946 movies were well received and brought moderate success. The following year, the role of "Katie" was written into the film "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now", just for Haver. Possibly best known for her roles in optimistic musicals, her first comedy in 1948, "Scudda Hoo! Scudda Hay!" with Walter Brennan, Natalie Wood and Marilyn Monroe in her earliest speaking role, was a major success. The same year, she starred as Marilyn Miller, a Broadway musical star of the 1920's and '30's, in the bio-musical "Look for the Silver Lining." The following year, she would star in "The Daughter of Rosie O'Grady" and "I'll Get By". In 1951, Haver was again filmed with Fox's newest asset Marilyn Monroe, and previous "Ill Get By" co-star, William Lundigan, in the low budget comedy "Love Nest." Even though Haver was the lead and received top-billing, most of the film's publicity centered around Monroe, who had a minor role and garnered under-the-title billing. Hmmmm, I bet Haver felt like deja-vu all over again, right Miss Grable?!! "Love Nest" was Haver's only full-length film in black and white. Her other 15 releases between 1943 and 1953 were shot in three-strip Technicolor, something of a record for a Hollywood Golden Age actress. Her last appearance was as herself on "The Lucy-Desi Comedy Hour" in 1958. At the age of 79, Haver died of respiratory failure on July 4, 2005. She is buried next to her husband, "My Three Sons", "Double Indemnity" and the original "Absent-Minded Professor" actor Fred MacMurray, at Holy Cross Cemetery, in Culver City, California.

Great Book Guru

- Ann DiPietro

Dear Great Book Guru,
I just checked my calendar and sure enough Monday is Bloomsday. I usually celebrate with friends reading excerpts of ULYSSES but this year I want to do something a little more special. Any thoughts?
Bloomsday Celebrant

Dear Bloomsday Celebrant ,
I have a wonderful plan for you which will begin on the eve of Bloomsday. As most of my readers know, Bloomsday is celebrated every year to commemorate the day James Joyce's ULYSSES takes place: June 16, 1904. Joyce spent most of his adult life in exile but he wrote obsessively about one place and one place only: his birthplace - Dublin. In ULYSSES, we follow three main characters through the day into the night- seeing and experiencing Dublin as they did. But ULYSSES is more than the portrait of one city on one day- it is also a study of the epic wanderings of the Greek hero Odysseus (Ulysses)- mocking the wanderings of the most unlikely of heroes:

Leopold Bloom. On Sunday, June 15 at 8am, the James Joyce Society of Sea Cliff will lead a tour of Sea Cliff/Dublin stopping at parallel locations along the way. The tour will begin at the Sea Cliff Water Tower ( Martello Tower). Other places will include Still Partners ( Davey Byrne's Pub), Headless Park (Nelson's Pillar), Memorial Park (Dublin Cemetery), K.C. Gallagher's (Barney Kiernan's Bar) and Sea Cliff Beach (Sandymount Strand). Dan and Ann DiPietro will lead the tour which will take about one hour. In preparation you might want to read ULYSSES AND US by Declan Kieberd, FOUR DUBLINERS by Richard Ellmann, or the recently released THE MOST DANGEROUS BOOK by Kevin Birmingham. Happy Reading and Happy Bloomsday!

North Shore's 3rd Grade Girls Lacrosse Team Shines! Can you say Third Grade North Shore Lady Vikings??!

The Long Island youth girls' lacrosse community is surely talking about them and the incredible season they had. All of their expectations were exceeded as they played in PAL's Div 1 in Nassau/Suffolk Counties, which is the most competitive division in the league. The Lady Vikings played 7 teams this spring. These team's Varsity programs will end up in the Top 50 Girls Lacrosse Programs in the NATION in 2014. Among them are Garden City, Manhasset, Cold Spring Harbor, West Islip, and Wantagh. The Girls finished the season with an 8-0 record scoring 67 goals for (8.4 per game) and 11 goals against (1.4 per game). They played an unselfish style of lacrosse with a focused effort on the defensive end of the field, leaving three opponents scoreless this season. The roster consisted of twenty girls of which fifteen of them were able to score at least one goal. Their excitement to learn and play was simply contagious and the joke around the team was their Friday night inter-squad scrimmage was the game of the week.

These girls will bring smiles to their parent's faces and the faces of the community for years to come. They are truly and awesome group. We are all so proud of them!! Go (Little) Lady Vikings!!

The North Shore fourth grade boys' lacrosse team finished their season with a decisive win over Oceanside. Although the final score seems close (9-7), North Shore held the lead the entire game. The mid-fielders paved the way for this victory. Luke Moran led the team with four goals and one assist. Will Feldman was right behind him with three goals of his own and a new member to the squad, Daniel Quigley had his first goal of the season. Attack-man Matthew DiLeo also scored a goal. The attack players were integral in securing the win. They helped to move the ball around providing many opportunities for shots attempted on goal, twenty-three in total for the North Shore team.

Many have said, "Defense wins games!" Well this defense played tough and held together very well. The Scarpone twins - Milo and Diego - held down the fort, playing close defense and forcing turnovers against a strong opponent.

June 1st hosted the last official game of the PAL season for North Shore's 5th Grade Boys Lacrosse Team. North Shore played against East Meadow and was missing several of their key players. Nevertheless, the game remained tight in the first half. Jackson Cooperman, new to the sport of lacrosse, played goalie and did a good job keeping East Meadow from scoring. In the second half, Michael Cristofari and Oliver Palone fought for the ground balls for their team along with Kevin Larkin. John Mavlios and Forest Demetri were relentless on East Meadow's goalie until they were able to successfully plant the ball in the cage.

Emmet Cullen also scored two goals with great assists by the offensive line. Every year, lacrosse season is filled with excitement, intensity, focus and a lack of time between practices and games. And every season ends with sadness for the season that passed all too quickly. This year's 5th Grade PAL team for North Shore can be described as follows: Great TEAM, great ATTITUDE, great PASSION and great EFFORT had by all (E. Alletto). Final score: East Meadow 7 - North Shore 5."

GLEN COVE JUNIOR LACROSSE CLUB

Week 9 ~ PAL Laxfest

By Brian 'Condo' Neice

The final week of the season took place at Farmingdale College for the annual Nassau County PAL Laxfest where the always improving first and second grade 'Two Knights' faced a tough challenger in Huntington Station on the Farmingdale turf, the main stage at the tournament! With rookie Vincent Pascucci defending the goal for the very first time he managed several saves before Huntington got on the board with the first goal of the game. That was enough to spark defenseman Jack Spoto who shortly after scooped up a loose ball and went coast to coast to even the score at 1. Spoto then did almost the same but instead dished off to Mark LaRocca who found the back of the net for the second GC goal and the lead. The game turned into a battle as both teams traded goals and the groundball game became essential. Glen Cove prevailed in the groundball department as they have most of the season. This led to goals from Nick Ladeairous, who had 2 to match Jack Spoto in the game. Rocco Rainone and Matteo Cameron also scored. For Matteo it was his first career goal after doing just about everything else for his team. Mark LaRocca took over in goal in the second half of the game and 'stonewalled' Huntington after several barrages of shots that he managed to acrobatically save. For his efforts and those of the rest of the young and mighty Knights, the final whistle blew and the game was over. A true battle to the end as both teams walked away with their heads held high. And after the dust settled and the boxscore was in, the Glen Cove Knights prevailed 7-6 to cap off a fantastic season. Coach Benazzi is proud of how far the boys had come and the historical accomplishments they achieved throughout the season.

The only other Glen Cove team to compete in the NC PAL tournament was the third and fourth grade 'Wee Knights' who also had an outstanding season despite dropping their final game to East Meadow. Despite the loss, this group of Knights still had a winning season and improved in every aspect of the game.

That wraps up another fun and exciting season of junior lacrosse in Glen Cove. We need to acknowledge all the volunteer coaches who put in countless hours turning young kids into lacrosse players. We also would like to thank all the parents and lacrosse supporters who made our 20th season a huge success.
