Local Resident Prays With Pope

by Kevin C. Horton

Glen Cove resident and Presbyterian Minister Eric Hall participated in a ceremony with Pope Francis last week. The event was, "A Witness to Peace: A Multi-Religious Gathering with Pope Francis, At the National September 11th Memorial and Museum on September 25."

Hall, as Chief Executive Officer of the HealthCare Chaplaincy Network located in NYC has relationships with most religious and spiritual leaders. "Cardinal Dolan was kind enough to extend an invitation."

Hall was there representing the Presbyterian Church as Presbyterian Minister as well as representing healthcare chaplains (HealthCare Chaplaincy Network is the national leader in research, education and clinical care integrating spiritual care into the nation's health care system).

Hall said he traveled by car from Glen Cove, early in the morning. Reaching the Battery Tunnel parking garage was not an issue. "I waited in line for about an hour before going through numerous check points and a significant security search point which allowed me then

Glen Cove Shooting- Suspect Sought

On Tuesday September 29th at approximately 2:45pm the Glen Cove Police Department received a call regarding a shooting on Eldridge Place in Glen Cove. The Glen Cove Police responded to the call and discovered the 22 year old victim on Colonial Gate (a short distance from Eldridge Place). According to Glen Cove Police, the victim was suffering from a gunshot wound to his chest. It was determined that the shooting occurred inside One Eldridge Place in Glen Cove. After being shot inside the residence the victim ran from the home and collapsed a short distance away where police discovered him. Two suspects were observed running from the house after the shooting. The victim was transported to the hospital where he underwent emergency surgery and is currently in critical condition.

Glen Cove Detective Lieutenant John Nagle said, "We are considering this incident a home invasion situation where we believe the victim and shooter are known to each other." Anyone with information regarding this incident can contact the Glen Cove Detective Division at (516)-676-1002 or via the confidential TIPS hotline: tips@cityofglencoveny.org to enter the museum which was the site of the Interfaith service. To say there was security present is a gross understatement."

Hall said, "I have had the honor of being in Giants Stadium when Pope John Paul II celebrated liturgy. There was an energy around his presence and his words. This Pope was rather deceiving. His presence and his speaking disarmed you and I believe attributes to his aura."

Below is Hall's first hand account of the experience...

It started with the line outside the 9-11 memorial museum. A couple hundred people waiting to go through security. Next to me, a family who had lost a loved one; a fire fighter (they carried his helmet with love and respect) ; and clergy behind and in front of me. The conversation? This extraordinary event they had (we had) all been invited to. Each had an excitement in their voice as well as nervousness. This meeting was taking place in no ordinary venue. The fire fighter helmet reminded all of us that this was sacred space - lives sacrificed, lives taken on September 11, 2001.

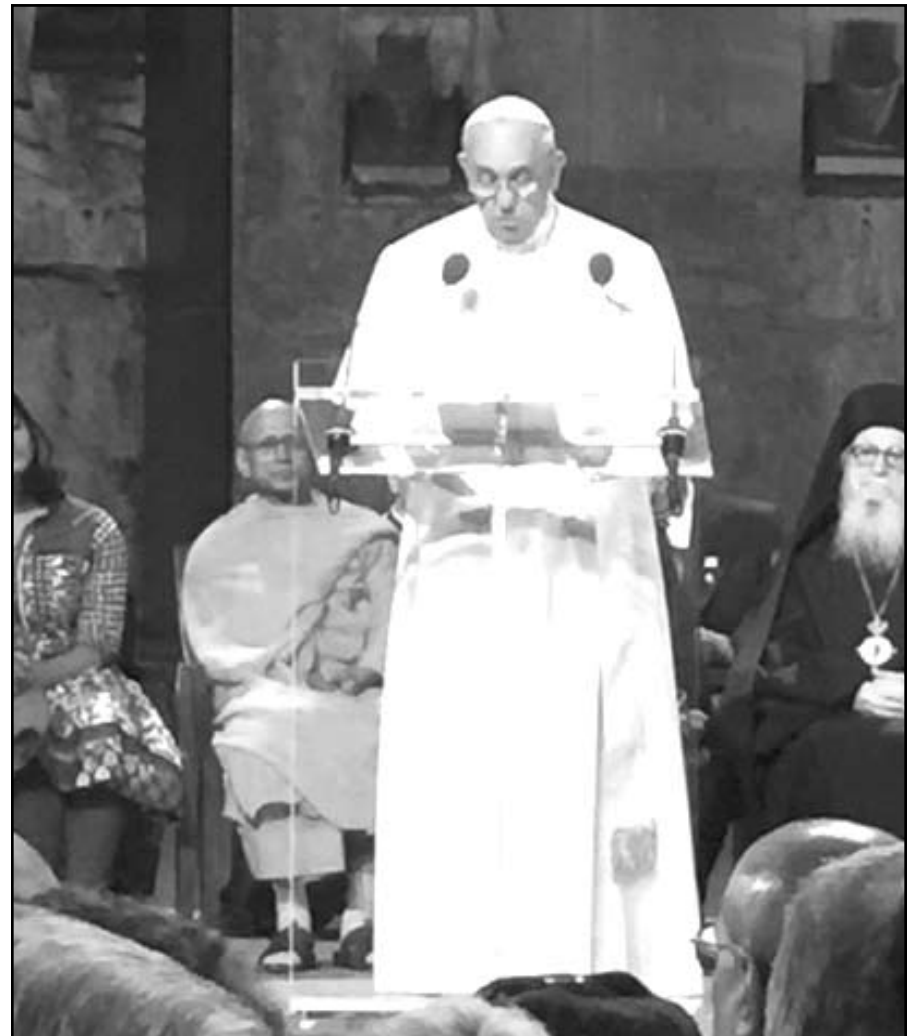

There were two authentic moments for me. As I sat in the sixth row in front of the stage the Pope entered on the left. As a person who is well over 6 feet tall I get a pretty good view of things but the Pope was tough to spot at first. Then I caught the white of his robes, my eyes followed him as he warmly welcomes the group on both sides of the aisle with his eyes.

He only shook the hands of the interfaith representatives seated with him. He was not there for any of us. This was not an event as all the others in New York. He was there to pay his respects - his face noticeable disturbed by the event that had drawn him to this place.

Moving was the moment when he began to pray. He encouraged love, spoke of tolerance and reminded us of the senseless deaths and the families, friends and city that still grieve. The Pope then asked us to pray. Here representations of practically every faith tradition were assembled and at the Pope's invitation not a sound was heard. Not a picture was taken. Each of us accepted the invitation. You could feel all that is sacred and holy in this space - there in the belly of the site of Ground Zero assembled some 200 ft under ground, you could feel it, God was present.

As a Presbyterian Minister I could not help but see there was a lesson here. No matter where we are. No matter how deep in pain and suffering, doubt and despair when we cannot see the daylight God is present if we dare accept the invitation to pray. And by the way, if you take a moment to look to your left and to your right most often you will find there are others who are just like you and who have accepted the invitation as well.

The Pope left the space and the gathering lingered. We formed a line for the escalader and waited until it would bring all of us back to the light of day. I am grateful for the invitation from Cardinal Dolan to be present. It is an experience I will not soon forget.

The Pope who Visited Glen Cove

by Robert P. Lynch

Residents of Glen Cove were no different from those of the rest of the nation, and, indeed, of the world, this past week as they sat glued to media watching, or even made personal pilgrimages to witness firsthand, the unforgettable trip by Pope Francis to our shores. The only part of Long Island visited by Francis during his short visit to New York was John F. Kennedy Airport International Airport. Forgotten by or unknown to many local people, however, was the interesting fact that Glen Cove itself and, specifically, our local Catholic school, once enjoyed a visit by an earlier Pope. That event took place nearly 80 years ago.

Cardinal Eugenio Pacelli, Secretary of State for the Vatican under Pope Pius XI, made a trip to New York in 1936. He was, to that date, the highest ranking Vatican official to ever visit the United States. The purported purpose of his trip was a vacation on Long Island, at the invitation of Genevieve Brady to visit her Manhasset estate, "Inis Fada" (Irish for "Long Island"), but the Cardinal was also whisked away on various items of business while here. One such item was to meet with President Franklin D. Roosevelt at Hyde Park to discuss plans to establish U.S. diplomatic relations with the Holy See. Another was to silence a demagogic and anti-Semitic radio personality, Fr. Charles Coughlin.

When he returned to Long Island, Cardinal Pacelli was brought to visit St. Patrick's School in Glen Cove. The school was located the building, dedicated 100 years ago this month, where All Saints Catholic School now operates. Among the people who greeted the Cardinal there was Sister Mary Brunonis, who had been among the original group of religious Sisters to open the school in September, 1915.

Sister Brunonis spent a remarkable career of nearly seven decades teaching at St. Patrick's. In a book published in 1957, she spoke as follows of the Cardinal, who became Pope Pius XII three years after visiting the school: "The late Pope Pius XII was no stranger to St. Patrick's...and there are people living within the parish whose lives will be forever blessed for having heard the sound of his voice and the touch of his hand."

Cardinal Pacelli, soon to be Pope, put into motion while visiting Glen Cove, the beginnings of one more accomplishment still gratefully enjoyed by local residents. The City's Italian Catholics had long been petitioning for the establishment of an Italian national parish in the area, only to be rebuffed by church authorities who were of the opinion that the then sparsely populated city could not support a third Catholic parish, in addition to St. Patrick's, founded in 1856 after an influx of Irish migrants, and St. Hyacinth, founded to serve Polish Catholics.

Local Italians took advantage of their famous countryman's visit to Glen Cove to urge Cardinal Pacelli, upon his return to Rome, to ask Pope Pius XI to encourage the Bishop of the Diocese of Brooklyn, who then had jurisdiction over all of Long Island, to grant their request for the establishment of an Italian national parish. The fact that the construction of the Church of St. Rocco was underway just a year later is not likely to have been just a coincidence.

In 2015, the beautiful school building which set a stage for the historic first visit of a future Pope to America still stands as one of Glen Cove's most beloved historic landmarks. Catholic school education still thrives there, in the form of All Saints Catholic School, formed 25 years ago with the amalgamation of the area's four local parish schools. Students of the school, their families, alumni of All Saints and of the original schools, along with parishioners of the five local parishes and friends of education and history are taking the opportunity of the All Saints' 25th Anniversary and of the 100th Anniversary of Catholic school education on the Gold Coast to host commemorations and celebrations during school year 2015 - 16. They have also launched a financial appeal, the "Second Century Appeal" to help restore the building and to launch Catholic school education in the area into its Second Century of service to the children of the North Shore. To help, and for more historic information and information about the upcoming celebrations, please visit www.secondcentury.org.

Robert P. Lynch is the Director of Promotions at All Saints Regional Catholic School, and will be contributing a series of articles to the Gold Coast Gazette highlighting the treasured heritage of Catholic school education during this, its centennial year on the North Shore of Long Island.

Landing Students Enjoy a Sweet Treat

Students from Landing Elementary School enjoyed a delicious snack at the school's Welcome Back celebration on Sept. 18. Sponsored by the Landing PTA, the event brought a Mister Softee ice cream truck to the school during the students' recess periods, allowing the children to select their favorite ice cream or Italian ice as a way to welcome them back to school. PTA Co-president Sandra Potter said the ice cream treat was provided to remind students that they are an important part of the Landing School community.

Glen Cove Mayor Criticized By State Comptroller

To The Editor,

The Glen Cove election campaign took a 180-degree turn in favor of City Councilman Anthony Gallo Jr. last week when Mayor Reginald Spinello was criticized in a report by State Comptroller Thomas DiNapoli about the city's operating budget, lack of a so-called "rainy day fund" and a high percentage of debt compared with revenues. "Obviously, it paints a very ominous fiscal picture for the City of Glen Cove," Gallo said in a story published by Newsday ("Negative fiscal report puts heat on Spinello", Our Towns, Sept. 25).

Glen Cove incredibly was one of only three state municipalities out of 1,043 examined that moved into a "worse category of fiscal stress" in 2014, Spinello's only full year in office. "This is a timing issue, nothing more," Spinello said. "A report like this is based upon a picture of time." Or could it be a smoke-and-mirrors attempt by the current administration to appease the taxpayers?

Spinello claimed that during his tenure the city has not had to borrow money for cash-flow needs. But Philip Pidot, a councilman candidate on Gallo's slate, said, "That's exactly what they did on Monday" at a public meeting by approving the issuance of $610,000 in bonds to pay for property tax refunds. Last year the comptroller's office called it "imprudent" for Glen Cove to borrow money to pay for such "routine expenditures." The alleged mismanagement of money by Spinello and his council supporters puts a whole new spin on the mayoral campaign.

The pressure has led Spinello to challenge in court the petitions of the Gallo campaign that would give the challenger the right to run under the newly formed Glen Cove United Party in the Nov. 3 general election after losing to Spinello in the Republican Primary Oct. 10. It has become apparent that Mayor Spinello would rather not have to meet Councilman Gallo, who helped his former colleague to become elected mayor in 2013. Two years have gone by. Gallo has lost confidence and trust in Spinello as leader of the city. Gallo's candidacy gives Glen Cove voters a "choice" at the polls. And he believes he can bring Glen Cove out its fiscal slump.

Dear Pumpkin Patch Partner

Sent for publication:

My name is Harry Descheene, I am the Human Resources Director for Pumpkin Patch Fundraisers. I've been with Pumpkin Patch, off & on for 22 years. I would like to thank you as Pumpkin Patch Partners for participating in the project and to let you know what your participation helps provide to Native Americans.

I am a Navajo, living on the reservation all of my life (56 years). Pumpkin Patch has been employing Native Americans here on the Reservation for over 20 years. Our staff here in New Mexico is 100% Navajo, including all management. During the harvest we also hire Pueblo, both Zuni & Hopi tribes (300 workers). Unemployment on the Navajo Reservation is 42%.

My experience as an employee and manager is that Pumpkin Patch goes above and beyond what any organizations of the Reservation do to take care of their employees.

Pumpkin Patch pays for the transportation of their employees from all of the different Reservations, some as far as 4 hours away. Pumpkin Patch also provides residential facilities (dorms), laundry facilities, recreational facilities, a upscale kitchen with a chef and kitchen staff, a huge dining hall, extensive safety orientation before workers actually begin field work. Transportation was also provided to and from the fields. After completion of the harvest season all workers are provided with transportation back to their communities.

For many of our workers, it's the only opportunity to provide for their families and themselves. The approximately 1.3 million dollars in harvest labor makes a significant difference in the quality of the lives of my people. Opportunities like this are very scarce on our reservations.

I grew up tending livestock on the Reservation, went to boarding school and worked in local government as an elected official in the capacity of chapter president for 12 years. My salary and benefits with Pumpkin Patch are substantially above what I might receive from other private enterprises in the Farmington area. I have found that the owners of Pumpkin Patch are extremely concerned with the welfare of all of their employees both full and part time.

Another important aspect of Pumpkin Patch is the donations that the make to local organizations. Thousands of school children, senior citizen centers, special education & handicapped facilities, behavioral health facilities, church organizations, government services, correctional youth services and civic groups receive free pumpkins for their causes.

Again let me say that I cannot understate the value of the service and work provided to the Navajo people by Pumpkin Patch Fundraisers and its nonprofit partners.

Thanks, Harry

Proposed Development at Garvies Point

To The Editor,

The proposed Glen Cove waterfront redevelopment, because of its tremendous density, is not just a Glen Cove issue – it is a regional issue. Former Mayor Tom Suozzi envisioned and proposed a true mixed use development for Garvies Point, consisting of shops, restaurants, office buildings, entertainment, and no more than 500 residential units. A planned hotel and conference center would draw visitors to Glen Cove, many via the proposed ferry. However, now the developer seeks to eliminate a substantial portion of the mixed use and dramatically increase the residential component to 1,110 units.

In 2000, Sea Cliff and Glen Cove were entangled in litigation over proposed plans to re-develop the Garvies Point waterfront. As part of a settlement, a memorandum of understanding was signed by then Mayors Tom Suozzi and Claudia Moyne. This agreement was signed to address the potential adverse impacts the overall development would have on all the North Shore communities. Among other things, this agreement stated that overall development (including the ferry terminal) would not exceed 700,000 square feet, that the proposed hotel/convention center would not exceed 250 rooms nor exceed the then current zoning height of 45 feet, and created safe-harbor hours when the ferry could not run. Most importantly, the agreement in recognizing the significant environmental impact this project would have on the regional communities called for the establishment of the Glen Cove Creek Redevelopment Commission. The objective of this six member Commission (chaired by the Mayors of Glen Cove and Sea Cliff) was to reach consensus and to render advice to the Glen Cove IDA regarding the scope of the environmental impact studies as it relates to the development of the waterfront. The parties are to share and respond to ideas and input regarding specific aspects of the development in order to promote harmonious resolutions of any concerns that may arise.

I respectfully insist that Glen Cove and it's respective Boards not take further action until the Commission has had a chance to meet as it is not too late to correct the procedural misstep of ignoring the Commission.

The developer of the proposed project, RXR, has requested to modify their proposal in such a manner that could have dire consequences on the entire North Shore. They have requested the elimination of the hotel/convention center and the creation of a 1,110 unit residential skyscraper right at the mouth of Hempstead Harbor. The amended plan calls for a monstrous 125 foot tall 635,000 square foot building on our waterfront. This building is 30% larger in mass than the previous ghastly proposal. This proposed structure is larger than either of the RXR towers in Uniondale. Development of this nature is not conducive to the bucolic character of the North Shore.

All residents of the North Shore should insist that a Supplemental Environmental Impact Statement which can properly address the impact of the modification be mandatory. The effects of this substantial revision to the original plan is sure to have devastating effects on traffic in the area, the aesthetic beauty of the Harbor, water quality, sewage treatment capacity, damage to the newly recovering ecosystem, strain on the school system, burden on local water supply, and overburdening the fire and police services.

It would cost nothing for the City to insist upon the submission of a SEIS from the developer but it could cost us all dearly if they don't. I urge all residents of the North Shore to write the Glen Cove Planning Board insisting that they require a SEIS prior to any vote on the proposal.

Friends of the Sea Cliff Village Library Say Thanks

Sent for publication

Dear Frank Murray; Vice-President of the Board of Trustees of Sea Cliff Village Library & Former President of the Board of Trustees.

The Friends of the Sea Cliff Library want to thank you for your nine years of dedicated and outstanding work as President of the Library Board of Trustees. Throughout the years you have always been an articulate advocate for the library and a creative problem solver. We applaud your tireless work for the library and your readiness to collaborate with the Friends projects for the Library. Thank you for your hard work and cooperative style of leadership.

We wish the new president, Roseann Gertler, much success. We look forward to our continued collaboration with the Library Board of Trustees towards our mutual goal of helping the Sea Cliff Village library.

The Friends are a group of volunteers whose mission includes advocacy for the library, outreach to the community and the provision of supplemental money for library programs such as e-books, museum passes, and the recent upgrading of the Children's Library. Money for the gifts to the Library come from the Offbeat Artifact Sales, conducted by Mike Lennon, membership dues, our annual "Giant Gently Used Book Sale" on Sea Cliff Garage Day and contributions from the community. Thank you Sea Cliff for regularly supporting the Sea Cliff Library through financial gifts to the Friends and for participating in library programs

Glen Cove Bully Proof Project Hosts Awareness Walk on Sunday, Oct 4

September 28, 2015...October is National Bullying Prevention Month. Locally Glen Cove's Bully Proof Project in coordination with the Glen Cove Youth Bureau, The Holocaust Memorial & Tolerance Center of Nassau County (HMTC), and the Robert M. Finley Middle School PTA will host an awareness walk against bullying. The BullyProof Project is a community-based anti-bullying committee that was started to help raise awareness about bullying. The group's goal is to help improve the lives of children by sharing resources and support. "It is estimated that about 28% of students have been bullied according to the most recent statistics from the National Center for Educational Studies," said Maria Rivera Hlatky of Glen Cove's Bully Proof Project. "It is critical that kids know that we are here for them and that they are not alone." "Together the Glen Cove community, our schools, our children and their families can take a stand to help stop bullying," said Mayor Reggie Spinello. "It is my goal to make Glen Cove a Bully-Free City and events like this and institutions like the Holocaust Memorial and Tolerance Center of Nassau County are critical for raising awareness and knowledge."

This free, family friendly event will be held rain or shine on Sunday, October 4 at the HMTC at the Welwyn Preserve, 100 Crescent Beach Road, Glen Cove. Activities start at 8:30 a.m. with group Yoga, presentations, music and the walk will begin at 10:00 a.m. Refreshments will be served and all guests will receive a free Bully Proof bracelet.

Participants are asked to wear comfortable clothing and appropriate shoes for hiking one of three trails – walkers choose a .5, 2 or 3 mile trail. For the yoga session, guests should bring a mat or towel for this exercise program on the lawn of the Holocaust Memorial and Tolerance Center of Nassau County.

The event is sponsored by the the Bully Proof Project, Robert M. Finley Middle School PTA, the Glen Cove Youth Bureau and the Holocaust Memorial and Tolerance Center of Nassau County.

For more information visit TheBullyProofProject@gmail.com.

Glen Cove Boys & Girls Club Starts New Program Year with Major Changes

Glen Cove Boys & Girls Club has started its 2015-2016 program year, under the leadership of new Executive Director, Franca Trunzo, with changes to Club professional responsibilities and capital improvements to the organization's building.

Program Director Desirae O'Neill will be assuming the role of Associate Director and will be overseeing the day-to-day management of the Club and programs. Her responsibilities will include program development and implementation, partnerships, facilities and operation. "We are thrilled to have Desirae fill the position of Associate Director. As a past Club member, volunteer, part-time and full-time staff, I can think of no one who better understands the nuances and dynamics of our Club than Desirae," said Ms. Trunzo.

After the Club's summer program ended and prior to the beginning of the new program year, the Club undertook necessary remodeling projects to some of the interior spaces of the facility. Sherman Williams Paint Store of Glen Cove kindly donated paint for the Club to recoat several rooms including three main offices, the Computer Lab, Learning Center, Library and the Games Room. The Computer Lab Learning Center and the Library are instrumental to the success of the Club's education program while the Games Room is one of the most heavily utilized recreational spaces in the building.

Improvements to the building also incorporated the recent reconstruction of the Dance Studio thanks to a generous grant from the William C. and Joyce C. O'Neil Charitable Trust. This is the first time the Dance Studio has had a major overhaul since the building was constructed in 1976. The much needed renovation of the Dance Studio, contracted by LMW Group of Glen Cove, included a Harlequin sprung dance floor, a suspended ceiling, HVAC, electric lighting and fixtures, new doors and paneling, sheetrock and paint, mirrors, ballet bars and custom cabinetry to house audio equipment.

"We are truly grateful to the William C. and Joyce C. O'Neil Charitable Trust for providing us with this generous funding to renovate our Dance Studio. The Dance Program is one of our most relevant curriculums because it teaches educational discipline, promotes physical fitness and health, and fosters positive behavior and self-image," said Ms. Trunzo. "We are also very thankful to the Sherwin Williams Company for donating 35 gallons of paint to refresh and brighten up our much used spaces. We want our kids, many of whom call the Club a home away from home, to be happy and cheerful and the colors we have chosen are conducive to inspiring that mood."

With the new Dance Studio now completely renovated, the Club invites specialists and instructors in dance, gymnastics, Zumba, yoga, salsa, cheerleading, etc. to volunteer their time teaching Glen Cove Boys & Girls Club members in the new studio. Contact Desirae O'Neill at doneill@glencovebgc.org to learn more about volunteering at the Club.

The Club is almost 40 years old and while remodeling has been completed for some of the Club's spaces, renovations to other areas, including the boys and girls bathrooms, Club entryway and the Teen Center are all original and in dire need of upgrades and improvements. To find out more about how to get involved in renovation projects, contact Franca Trunzo at ftrunzo@glencovebgc.org.

Golfing Thru Sea Cliff

By Carol Griffin

Sea Cliff's annual golf outing drew almost 100 golfers who drove their shots up and down Sea Cliff driveways, across yards and fields as they participated through the village in Sea Cliff's 4th Annual Golf Outing. Mike and Gwynne Lennon put the day together assisted at the tournament by The Good of the Village Association under the direction of President Sheila Wenger that will benefit from money raised by the event. John Canning presided over the awards ceremony, while Jim Foote dressed as Teddy Roosevelt gave everyone some of TR's words of advice in the matter and Anna Jeannet "the Walking Lady" helped distribute the awards.

There were 21 foursomes and walkers that brought to the total of almost 100 participants on the course. The twenty-four holes and numerous walk through and refreshment stops were a result of the overwhelming generosity of village homeowners who opened their gates for the event.

Winners included Men's Master, John Jenney, Women's Master, Kate Murphy, Men's Runner-up, Dan McDermott, Women's Runner Up, Jill Salditt, Twelve Hole Lowest Score, Nick Virgilio, Twelve Hole Lowest Score, Susan O'Brien, Hole in One, Jonathan Waechter, Susan O'Brian and young James Camardella.

Back at the John Burn's Green everyone gathered after the tournament to enjoy lunch and the awards ceremony.

Omega Ensemble Concert At Trinity Church, Roslyn

Friends Academy Annual Fall Fair & Homecoming

On Saturday, Oct. 3 ride the Hurricane, visit a petting zoo, master the inflatable obstacle course and sample amazing food from around the world!

Friends Academy will hold its Annual Fall Fair and Homecoming on Saturday, October 3rd from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., rain or shine. Everyone from the community is invited to attend.

An active Fall Fair committee, chaired by Friends parents Sandy Themelis of Muttontown and Michelle Statfeld of Melville, has planned a day of festivities, fun and activities for all ages. The Fall Fair is a great community event with rides, games, athletic events, arts and crafts, great food and more! Youngsters will enjoy a wide variety of activities including a petting zoo, pony rides, face painting, crafts and, of course, RIDES! New this year – a costume sale hosted by the Friends Academy Theatre Department featuring recent productions and a photo booth to capture Fall Fair Memories.

For adults, the Fair offers bargains galore in the gently used clothing and bric-a-brac boutique called "Gideon's Attic." Shop for children's books and toys, as well as selections from the ready-to-wear boutique. A special addition to Gideon's Attic will feature an enormous selection of brand-new designer shoes for adults and children by popular brands including Michael Kors, Cole Haan and Isaac Mizrahi.

Fairgoers can also enjoy an assortment of delicious foods including fresh clams, lobster rolls, Asian delicacies and more. Back by popular demand, we are pleased to present "A Taste of the Caribbean," which will be serving up a variety of traditional food from the islands. Visitors should save room for our delicious desserts from the Quaker Baker, Want S'Mores and Sushi Candy. Don't forget to have an amazing candy apple on your way out.

Athletic events take place throughout the day beginning with the FA Boys Junior Varsity Football vs. Oyster Bay at 9:15 a.m.; Boys Junior Varsity Soccer at 10 a.m. vs. Wheatley Jr. Sr. HS; Girls Varsity Soccer vs. Our Lady of Mercy at 2 p.m.; the FA Girls Varsity Tennis team vs. Lutheran HS, at 1:30 p.m.; the FA Girls Varsity Field Hockey team vs. Great Neck South HS at 3 p.m.; and finally, round the day out with an exciting contest -- FA Boys Varsity Soccer team vs. Wheatley Jr. Sr. HS at 4 p.m.

Explore a Quaker Education

with Friends Academy at their Open Houses on Nov. 3 (Middle and Upper schools) and Nov. 5 (Lower School). Please contact Joanna Kim in the Admissions Office at 516-393-4244 for more information. Enrolling 770 students from age 3 through Grade 12, Friends Academy is guided by its Quaker heritage and the principles of integrity, simplicity, patience, moderation and a peaceful resolution of conflict. The school is located on 65 acres at the intersection of Piping Rock and Duck Pond roads in Locust Valley/Glen Cove.

Name the Celebrity

This week's celebrity was born Elizabeth Evans, in London, England, on April 26, 1887. She graduated from the Royal Academy of Arts in 1918 with honors. She attracted the attention of George Bernard Shaw and was the leading lady for actors George Arliss, Otis Skinner and William Faversham. She starred in films between 1913 and 1952. She had several roles in silent films which included "Florence Nightingale" (1915), "Esther" (1916) and "Mother" (1917). In Hollywood from 1935, she was usually seen as a cranky or narrow minded aunt or mother. One of her first talkies was "Crime and Punishment" (1935) with Peter Lorre, Edward Arnold and Gene Lockhart and directed by Josef von Sternberg. Other roles included "Mary Lynn" in "Theodora Goes Wild" (1936) with Irene Dunne and Melvyn Douglas and "Ma Cassidy" in "Mannequin" (1937) with Spencer Tracy and Joan Crawford. She also played Ida Lupino's character's "Ma" in "High Sierra" (1941) co-starring Humphrey Bogart.

Last Week's Celebrity

Last week's celebrity was born Harold Jacob Hochstein, but known professionally as Harold J. Stone. He had gone to college and medical school but the acting bug proved to be too strong. Although he went on to perform secondary roles in a number of films, he became a recognizable face to television viewers for his more than 150 guest appearances on numerous shows dating from the 1950s to the early 1980s including but not limited to "The Rifleman", "Gunsmoke", "Cimarron", "Sugarfoot", "The Virginian", "The Untouchables", "The Twilight", "Route 66", "Mannix" and "Gilligan's Island". In the 1960s and 1970s, he returned to the stage, directing several off-Broadway and Broadway productions, including "Ernest in Love" and "Charley's Aunt". On Nov. 18, 2005, at the age of 92, he died of natural causes in Woodland Hills, California.

Writing Center Launched at NS High School

StudeNorth Shore High School launched its new Writing Center under the direction of Mrs. Ritter (English Department Teacher Leader), Mrs. Devlin (English Teacher), and Dr. Kirmser (English teacher). Mrs. Ritter said, "Our new Writing Center supports writers at all levels and across all disciplines through one-on-one conferencing. The goal of the conferences is to enable students to grow as writers."

At the Writing Center, 12th grade Writing Fellows will act as tutors using questions and collaboration to help their peers through the various stages of the writing process. The tutoring sessions are interactive exchanges aimed at creating better writers. Rather than emphasizing only editing and proofreading or merely drafting specific writing samples, the sessions will focus mainly on meaning, development, and the organization of ideas.

The eighteen student tutors were accepted as Writing Fellows after completing a rigorous application process. In addition, they prepared for their grand opening by attending a comprehensive day-long training session facilitated by Mrs. Ritter, Mrs. Devlin, and Dr. Kirmser. "All are poised and excited to help North Shore HS students build the skills they need to grow as writers" exclaimed Mrs. Ritter.

North Shore High School students are invited to visit the Writing Center in the library during period 0, 4, 5, 6, and 7 for help with all stages of the writing process. Walk-ins are welcome and students may make appointments online at <https://nshswc.acuityscheduling.com/>. Students seeking help should bring their assignment sheet, rubric, checklist, and all necessary materials.

St John's of Lattingtown 63rd Annual Country Fair

St John's of Lattingtown Episcopal Church held its 63rd Annual Country Fair, which was a successful two day event this year. On Saturday, Co-Chairs Carlyle Dunaway and George Stimola, welcomed guests along with the Rector Rev Mark Fitzhugh, who said gave a brief prayer. His prayers were answered as the weather was warm and sunny for both Saturday and Sunday.

The Petting Zoo, face painting and games for children kept the little ones happy, while parent shopped for bargains in the many booths chaired by volunteers from the church. There was furniture, objets d'art, antiques, jewelry, books, toys, Christmas items, home furnishings, children's clothing and much more.

Entertainment on Saturday was provided by St John's Music Director Eric Milnes, who was also the MC, and the musical group Serve Somebody, internationally acclaimed recording artists, performed songs by Bob Dylan, George Harrison, Joni Mitchell, and Bruce Springsteen. The Gordon Highlanders bagpipe band from Locust Valley, performed in the afternoon. The fair continued on Sunday afternoon, but without the musical entertainment or food booths.

Volunteers prepare for many months to make the fair a success, and a portion of the proceeds every year go to outreach, helping local charities, including the homeless shelter and soup kitchen, in addition to national and international charities.

Obituaries

Millicent Hope Treiber

Millicent Hope Treiber died peacefully (or as Hope would prefer, "gathered") on September 14, 2015 surrounded by her loving family. She is survived by her brother, Henry C. Haer and her sister-in-law, Sally Haer; her children - John H. (Carol-Ann), H. Craig (Lora), Bruce D. (Virginia), Peter S. (Irene), Scott R. (Jo-Ellen), Pamela H. Treiber Baldwin; 18 grandchildren, and many nieces, nephews, and loving friends. Hope was predeceased by her husband Howard, her sister Joan, her niece Robin Gross, and her parents Henry C. and Mae Lillian (Murphy) Haer.

Hope was born in Morristown, NJ, and raised in Sayville, NY, where she played soccer and was a Sayville High School cheerleader. She was proud of her participation in the war effort as a plane spotter in the tower of the old Sayville High School. She went on to graduate from St. John's Episcopal Hospital Nursing School as a RN. Hope married Howard F. Treiber on November 27, 1949 and moved to Old Brookville in 1955 where they raised their six children.

Hope loved her home most when it was filled with her children and their friends and in later years with her grandchildren. She enjoyed being very active all her life with golf, tennis, jogging, and until only several years ago, working out at the YMCA at Glen Cove.

Hope's love of nature and living things was a passion all her life - whether feeding birds, watching baby birds in her birdhouses, butterflies, insects, bird nests, and her ever-blooming garden and house plants. Hope was an accomplished crossword aficionado and a dedicated Jeopardy fan. She was a fiercely independent lady, with an indomitable spirit and will, and she always put other's needs and sensitivities ahead of hers throughout her life. Hope's unconditional love and support became the strength of her family. She was a remarkable mother and grandmother and will be missed so very much.

Hope did not believe in death but rather in life, and in accordance with her wishes, there will be no wake but a memorial service on Saturday, October 24, at 2 PM, at St. Paul's Episcopal Church on Highland Avenue, Glen Cove.

In lieu of flowers donations in Hope's memory may be made to: SCO Family of Services, One Alexander Place, Glen Cove, NY 11542, or YMCA at Glen Cove, Dosoris Lane, Glen Cove, NY 11542.

Over 300 Glen Cove Residents Participate in E-Waste Collection Day

September 25, 2015... Glen Cove residents were happy to dispose of their dated technology devices, TVs and computers at Glen Cove's recent E-Waste Collection Day. Mayor Spinello joined Glen Cove's Sanitation team to thank residents for their participation. "Our Sanitation department does a great job in coordinating these special collection events," said Mayor Reggie Spinello. "Over 300 residents participated in this program and because TVs and other electronics are no longer picked up curbside, our community looks forward to our bi-annual E-Waste days," said Doug Poncet, Sanitation Supervisor.

S.T.O.P. Program Scheduled for October 31

Glen Cove's next community collection will be for the S.T.O.P. (Stop Throwing Out Pollutants) program on Saturday, October 31 from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. at 100 Morris Avenue. Our S.T.O.P. Program encourages residents to bring old paint (enamel, lead and oil based only, no water or latex based paints), paint thinner, household batteries, automobile batteries, automobile tires, brake and transmission fluid, antifreeze, aerosol cans with contents, air conditioning refrigerants, bug and rodent killers, pesticides, insecticides, fertilizers, oven cleaner, rug and upholstery cleaner, polish and wood preservatives, pool chemicals, empty barbeque propane tanks, unused flammable liquids, and light bulbs. No electronics, smoke detectors, fireworks, explosives or medical waste. Residential waste is not accepted and proof of residency required.

Great Book Guru

- Ann DiPietro

Dear Great Book Guru,
The first Sunday in October is always Sea Cliff's Mini Mart and this weekend I plan an early start before the crowds arrive on the scene. Of course, my first stop will be the Children's Library with its great "pre-owned" books and toy sale But that leaves the rest of the day for a good book- any recommendations? Mini Mart Maven

Dear Mini Mart Maven,
 Let's hope the sun shines all day Sunday because there is no rain date... But rain or not, I have a wonderful book for you to read this weekend: DID YOU EVER HAVE A FAMILY by Bill Clegg. In the opening pages we learn that June Reid has lost her entire family- her daughter, her daughter's fiancé, June's charismatic boyfriend, and her ex-husband- all in a fiery gas explosion on the eve of her daughter's wedding. Set in a lovely old Connecticut town, the story is told by the sundry people impacted by this tragedy: the caterer, the florist, the parents of the bridegroom, the mother of the boyfriend, the owners of the motel where the young couple had stayed, and of course June, herself. As secrets are told and motives revealed, we come to understand how each of these characters played a role that night. Beautifully written, the story offers a profound insight into the nature of grief. A National Book Award and Booker Prize nominee – and highly recommended!

On Saturday September 19th at North Shore High School, the Key Club began the year with soap & water washing cars and having some fun. The profits from this annual event will go to the Kiwanis Pediatric Trauma Center(KPTC) The key club always lends support to this organization for all their great work the KPTC does throughout the year. Pediatric trauma kills more children than any other disease and the North Shore key Club hopes to assist the KPTC by cutting down those numbers. Pictured are key club members having some fun and making a difference.
