Beacon Music Series ~ Opening Concert October 24

Erika Anglin and Dr. Karen Beluso are returning to perform for the Beacon Music Series. This concert will be performed in the Beautiful Church of St. Patrick in Glen Cove on Saturday, October 24th at 6:30 PM.

Originally from Pensacola, Erika Anglin is a graduate of Boston University with a Master of Music in Voice Performance. Since the age of 16, when she traveled to Spain with her high school choir, she has had the opportunity to perform in interesting venues all over the eastern United States, as well as Austria, Italy, France and Holland. She has enjoyed many diverse projects over the years, including soprano soloist in Handel's Messiah for the Gulf Coast Messiah Chorus, the title role in Gilbert and Sullivan's Patience, and the 2012 blues opera concept album 'Une Chanson d'Amour, as the lead female vocalist, for which she was praised for her 'angelic voice' in a rave review. Locally, she has sung at the Glen Cove Senior Center, Sunrise Senior Living and the Atria in Roslyn. She also sings as a cantor for several churches throughout the diocese. Currently she and her husband live in Glen Cove with their two dogs.

Glen Cove resident and pianist, Dr. Karen M. Beluso, is a graduate of The Juilliard School, made her Carnegie Hall debut with the New York Youth Symphony. Her other orchestral appearances include the Los Angeles Philharmonic, and the Brentwood-Westwood Symphony Orchestra. She has performed extensively in solo recitals and given master classes in Costa Rica, Switzerland, California, Florida, Massachusetts, and the tri-state area. As a collaborative pianist, she has appeared on the Belz-Parker Artist Ascending Concert Series in Memphis, TN, on the St. Patrick's on the Hill Beacon Music Series and has performed with violinist Jourdan Urbach, exclusively. At present, Dr. Beluso is the Institutional Sales Manager for Steinway & Sons, has been on the faculties of the Portledge School, the C.W. Post Summer Chamber Music Festival and maintains a private teaching studio in Glen Cove.

Erika and Karen have chosen Classical and Sacred selections. The program is most fitting within the acoustically "live" stone and marble sanctuary of St. Patrick's Church. Their performance will conclude with a wine and chocolate reception in the Parish Hall.

Tickets are available: Adults - $20 Children - $10. Call 516-676-0276 for details.

New President And Three New Trustees Appointed To Portledge Board

Simon Owen-Williams, Head of Portledge School (Locust Valley, NY), is pleased to announce the election of Stephen Palacios as the President of the Board of Trustees, in addition to three new board members Lindsey Barnett, Peter Guo, and Donald Wilson – all who started July 1st 2015.

Stephen Palacios

Stephen and his wife Gloria have been parents at Portledge since 2008 when their daughter Andrea '15 joined 6th grade, followed by their son Andrew (12th grade) in 2009. They also have a daughter Alejandra (5th grade) who attends Thomas J. Leahy Elementary School. Stephen has been a member of the Board of Trustees since 2011 and has spearheaded key task force committees during his tenure. Stephen currently resides in Centerport and is an Executive Vice President with the innovation consulting firm, Added Value Cheskin.

Lindsey Barnett

Lindsey and her husband Duke have been part of the Portledge family since 2008 and have two children at Portledge: Reese (5th grade) and Hope (Kindergarten), as well as a son Tyler (4th grade) who attends Green Vale School. Residing in Locust Valley, Lindsey was born and raised on the North Shore and has a great understanding of the surrounding communities. Lindsey presently works for Daniel Gale Sotheby's International Realty and as the Director of Marketing and Social Media at Pyro Engineering Inc.

Peter Guo

Peter and his wife Kim live in Muttontown and have two daughters Kayla and Kelsey, and one son Dylan (19 years old). Kayla (10th grade) has attended Portledge since 2011 and Kelsey (2nd grade) currently attends Friends Academy. Peter is Vice President of Pan Oceanic Chartering Inc. where he has worked for over 20 years.

Donald Wilson

Donald and his wife Michelle reside in Westbury and have three children. Attending Portledge since 2013 are daughter Grace (5th grade) and son Tyler (2nd Grade). The Wilson's also have a daughter Mia, who is one year old. Donald is a Managing Director in the global risk management organization of Bank of America and, collectively has worked for Bank of America Merrill Lynch for 19+ years.

These trustees join other board members: Dana Pagliara, Vice President; Andrew Fentress, Treasurer; Valerie Yardeni, Secretary; Claude A. Bahnik '90, Emily Chapman, Robert Deans, Samara Meshel, Jack Piuggi, and Truett Tate.

Portledge is an independent pre-nursery to 12th grade school and offers a competitive college preparatory program in a warm, inclusive community where students are inspired to realize their individual potential by developing the critical thinking skills and moral courage necessary for lifelong learning in an increasingly complex world.

Letters to the Editor

Sea Cliff vs. Glen Cove To The Editor,

Where does Mayor Kennedy of Sea Cliff think he is living? In a remote, bucolic Garden of Eden? Sea Cliff is only 20 miles from Manhattan, the most congested island on the plant. Now when Glen Cove has an opportunity to develop a former Superfund site, and bring upscale residents to our community, he balks at the "waterfront development due to density(GCG 10/9/15). Nevertheless, Sea Cliff had participated in the review of the Master Plan which contained the building revisions. All of a sudden, he is indignant. This from a village that time and time again has refused to give permits for even the mildest of renovations!

Glen Cove needs the waterfront development to thrive and not become a derelict backwater suburb. Mayor Kennedy and his Sea Cliff supporters would do well to appreciate the benefits to their community from a newly resurgent City of Glen Cove.,

In Support Of Zangari To The Editor,

I am writing in support of Democrat Michael Zangari's candidacy for Glen Cove City Council. As his wife (and president of his fan club, as I often say), who knows him better than me? While I do know his weaknesses, his strengths certainly outweigh them. Michael is a man with determination and courage for his middle name. I have seen his struggles and I have seen him struggle with determination, to overcome them. As a young man that chose to fit himself into a society that often looked upon a person of his physical stature and disability with doubt, Michael has always proved his doubters wrong. His ethics and honesty are uncompromised. His tenacity when accomplishing tasks is to be admired. His loyalty to those that he loves and who love him in return will always be never-ending, as is his loyalty to the City of Glen Cove. He cares deeply about the community he has chosen to reside in and has dedicated himself to giving back and making life better for others. This is the man that when faced with a major surgical procedure - a kidney transplant in 2009 - drove himself and family members to the Manhattan hospital on the morning of his own surgery. Two weeks before that surgery and on the verge of kidney dialysis, I have seen him rip up carpeting from the floors of the home we now live in. I have seen him rescue a non-profit wheelchair basketball team from financial ruin when their funds ($14,000) were stolen from them, and successfully get monies returned to them. He has literally carried his own wheelchair up and down stairs to coach basketball to local able-bodied PreK and kindergarten children at two different CYO programs. Years before Michael was approached by the Glen Cove Democrats to now run for a City Council position, Michael's interests in the good of the City of Glen Cove were obvious by his constant attendance at both Pre and City Council meetings. He was honored to be chosen as a member of the Glen Cove Hall of Fame in 2009 and further honored soon after when asked to join Glen Cove's Recreation Commission. Michael cares about everyone. Several years ago he did everything in his power to make the final days more comfortable for a World War II Veteran, who was also a POW survivor, who just happened to be my ex-father-in-law. His dedication to this man brought two estranged families together and his connection with them formed a deep friendship that exists to this day. This is the man I am fortunate to live with. This is the man who will not let you down, that will lay awake at night trying to find a way to improve everything and anything for the children, young adults and citizens of Glen Cove and he WILL make it happen. I ask you for your support and your vote for my husband Democrat Michael Zangari on Tuesday, November 3, 2015.

Janice Zangari

Candidate Eve Lupenko To The Editor,

It's less than one month away from Election Day and I am writing this letter in support of my friend Eve Lupenko. Having known her for more than eighteen years, I know her as an incredible wife, mother, friend, doctor, and feel she would make a phenomenal member of the Glen Cove City Council. I remember my first visit to her home, which at the time was filled with many empty baskets. She advised me she was making 25 of them as she had promised that number for a Glen Cove fundraiser. I forgot to mention that she also had her two sons ages one and three running around the kitchen trying to help her. She explained when she gives her word to do something she follows through.

Her Dermatological career is stellar as her patients will attest to. Her tremendous knowledge and diagnostic ability is well documented in her profession. It is not unusual for her to wait after hours for a patient stuck on the LIRR and she understands the needs of working parents and is flexible and willing to fit in children from daycare last minute.

Inasmuch as she is very cognizant of the importance of our environment, Eve along with her family, can all be found at the annual Spring Beautification and Fall Cleanups. Her commitment and devotion to many of the citizens of Glen Cove can also be epitomized by the fact that she was elected as President of her Homeowners Association four times.

Jackie Bruce

Zangari Candidacy To The Editor,

In the early 1960s my father carried me off a ship which brought 17 members of my family from Italy to the United States - America - the land of opportunity. Since that day my permanent residency has been Glen Cove. I was hospitalized (numerous times) in Glen Cove; played on the streets of Glen Cove; swam and fished in Glen Cove; learned to drive (and taught others how to) in Glen Cove. My first full-time job was in Glen Cove and I met the woman I am married to, in Glen Cove. While America is referred to as the land of opportunity, Glen Cove has always been my city of opportunity.

During my high school days I was involved in student government and was voted to be president of the student council of the Henry Viscardi School. I have always wanted to make a difference, to use the opportunities this country has given me to inspire others. I achieved that goal recently by inspiring my 8-year-old stepgrandson Logan as he was elected to be his third grade class president at Connolly School.

Many people ask me why I want to run for a political office and my answer is always the same. I cannot complain about problems unless I become part of the solution. I plan to guide Glen Cove on the right path for the future. I hope to inspire the residents of Glen Cove to be involved in their community, to discuss their issues and concerns and to bring them to the proper authorities so they may be resolved through appropriate channels.

I am a firm believer in working with cooperation, to gain a goal. My involvement with sports has taught me the importance of teamwork. Compromises can solve problems. I am often underestimated due to my size and physical disability. Opportunities have been denied me as a result of that, yet I am determined to have hope for the future of Glen Cove, to pay attention to the needs of those around me, to look forward and not back, to educate myself and make a difference, for the people of Glen Cove. I have attended multiple Glen Cove Pre and City Council meetings to understand the mechanics of our city government and issues of our citizens. As a member of the Glen Cove Recreation Commission I am proud to have been part of a decision which has changed the atmosphere of baseball in Glen Cove to a more profitable and positive format. Interests close to my heart will always be the young people of Glen Cove, the mobility impaired, as well as senior citizens and Veterans who deserve acknowledgment for their service to our country and community.

The City of Glen Cove has certainly changed since I arrived in this country, as a 5 year old. I will take my responsibilities as a City Councilman seriously void of ulterior motives. It has been said "You can't lead the people if you don't love the people. You can't save the people if you don't serve the people". As my stepgrandson Logan stated in his speech for class vice president "I will make sure your ideas are listened to". It will be my honor to have your vote for City Councilman and to serve the people of Glen Cove.

Michael Zangari

Democrat, for Glen Cove City Council

In Support Of Dr. Eve Lupenko To The Editor,

This letter is in support of Dr. Eve Lupenko, who is running for City Council in Glen Cove. I have known Dr. Lupenko for about 20 years. She has always been civic-minded, yet has been successful in balancing her career as a dermatologist and mother (not only does she have two school-aged sons, but now she has welcomed two stepchildren into her home) by participating in all kinds of events directed at helping the people of Glen Cove.

Her personal hobbies and interests have always translated into benefit and service to the entire community. She has organized and participated in local events on East Island and in the greater Glen Cove area such as concerts, Holiday festivities and philanthropic endeavors for as long as I have known her. She has served on the East Island Association Board in many capacities including president for four years, VP and Secretary. She has volunteered in skin cancer screenings and health fairs for women and seniors in the community, and has rallied to keep Glen Cove Hospital open in the past.

She also has a keen financial mind and is cost-conscious and frugal, and she knows how to get the most services out of a fixed budget. She is a Board member of the Glen Cove Community Scholarship Fund, and was on the committee to give scholarships at the Glen Cove Y. She also helps children through the Glen Cove Arts Council, and our family has supported some of their events. In fact, when there are volunteer opportunities like planting pink tulips, or fun activities like the City Halloween party, we are right there next to her. She is a candidate who really enjoys the local events in Glen Cove.

She has a unique ability to comprehend opposing opinions on controversial issues and works to seek a common ground in negotiating issues. She works well under pressure and reacts in a rational and appropriate manner. I sincerely hope that the voters will elect this responsible, trustworthy, well-organized, intelligent physician, and give her the chance to serve them in this upcoming election. They will not be disappointed.

Hypocrisy, the Hallmark of Political Ineptitude To The Editor,

Remember back in 2003 when then Senator John Kerry was quoted as making the infamous statement that he was actually for a war funding bill before he voted against it? That remark spawned the concept of a politician being a "flip-flopper," a term that best describes political hypocrisy which has surely become an art form in American politics, both on national level and all the way down to local politics.

Take the case of Glen Cove's own flip-flopper, Tony Gallo, who's trying to unseat the City's popular Mayor, Reggie Spinello. Here's just one example of Mr. Gallo's handling of City funds:

In October, 2013, Mr. Gallo, then a first term Councilman voted against a proposed budget that Mr. Spinello, also a Councilman, was against because Mr. Spinello explained that the budget being proposed would exceed the City's revenues by as much as $1 million. Mr. Gallo appeared to understand the explanation, so he, along with Mr. Spinello, voted no on the proposed budget.

Then, during the lame duck period, after Mr. Spinello had won the election for Mayor and was about to inherit his predecessor's budget, a proposal came up to approve five new positions in the City that were not in the budget, and if approved, would add yet an additional $300,000 to City expenses, virtually guaranteeing that the 2014 budget would show a loss regardless of how good revenues might turn out to be. Then Councilman Spinello, the lone voice of opposition who remained consistent, voted no to these additional expenses. Mr. Gallo, on the other hand, in a complete reversal of his prior opposition to an already dicey budget, voted yes in favor of saddling the City with another third of a million dollars of unnecessary expenses. In doing so, he became a classic flip-flopper, becoming the guy who voted no before he voted yes on wasting the City's money.

With this history of flip-flopping - and this is only one example - Mr. Gallo is now asking the taxpayers of Glen Cove to toss Mayor Spinello out of office and put him in charge of the City's finances. Which leads, of course, to only one question: Why would anyone do that?

Learn About the Intriguing History of Jones Beach from John Hanc at the Gold Coast Public Library

John Hanc will visit the Gold Coast Public Library on Wednesday, October 28 at 7pm to discuss the intriguing history of Jones Beach, which he wrote about in Jones Beach: An Illustrated History. The event is sponsored by Friends of the Gold Coast Library.

Jones Beach opened inauspiciously amidst a howling sandstorm on August 4, 1929. In the years since, it has attracted 500 million visitors and become hallowed ground to generations of New Yorkers. Today Jones Beach evokes cherished memories of long-spent youth, old friends, and departed loved ones. In this evocative illustrated book, author John Hanc explores the traditions, institutions, controversies, and characters of this beloved seaside resort, now a state historic landmark.

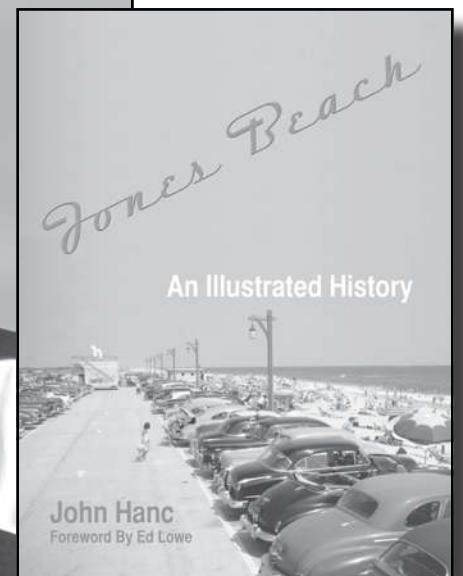

Mr. Hanc has written or co-authored 13 books. He is a long-time contributing writer to Newsday, a contributing editor for Runner's Magazine and a frequent contributor to the New York Times and the Smithsonian. Hanc is an associate professor at NYIT, where he teaches journalism and communications.

Friends of the Gold Coast Library will sell copies of Jones Beach: An Illustrated History and the author will sign them. Registration is required and can be done in-person at the Library, by phone by

Waterfront Flows At Planning Board To The Editor,

I attended the Planning Board meeting on October 6 for a public hearing and noted that the Waterfront was on the regular business (not on the Public Hearing) agenda for Amended Site Plan approval.

The Planning Board Chair, as a courtesy to those attending, moved the business meeting for that item to the top and also, as a courtesy not required by the rules, permitted representative from Sea Cliff and Glen Cove to speak briefly. This went very well.

At the end of the courtesy period the Board had their attorney give a history of the process (over the past 20 years) and then voted on the Amended Plan.

During the vote mature adults (supposedly) started yelling and screaming, grabbing the public microphone and basically nearly inciting to riot, totally showing a lack of respect and courtesy to the Board and the Public. It was like a scene in a candy store where a bunch of spoiled children did not get the lollipop. I fully expected breath holding and lying on the floor kicking and was disappointed. They showed absolute disrespect for the rules and process and basically exhibited a behavior that indicated that they might violate any law if they could not get their way for something or other. They seemed to not comprehend that this type of behavior could have the exact opposite effect of that desired – in a critical situation someone might not believe a person, or might choose to take less seriously or even disregard someone who constantly is insulting and abusive.

I have often suggested that the School Districts send, as a social behavior project, the high school students to these meetings to gather data and write papers on the misbehavior in public venues by supposed rational adults. These would then be used in a course on behavior and the proper way to behave and to achieve a goal. They would also learn about due process.

Of course the entertainment factor is there also and I would not want to see that gone. How boring it would be.

Glenn Howard, Jr.

Proposed Waterfront Development Skyscraper To The Editor,

I am deeply concerned about the future of our town and the neighboring towns on this North Shore Gold Coast peninsula. I know of no other town that has provided the means to its own destruction, but that is exactly what Glen Cove is doing by pushing through one outrageously oversized development after another and it must stop!

I have been in contact with the FAA, Federal Aviation Administration, division on planning and environmental concerns, to investigate the height restriction aspect and how it relates to sea plane activity regarding our waterfront. It appears there has been questionable planning in this town. In order to prevent further opportunities for self-destruction and with the sole intent to benefit Glen Cove and its neighboring towns, I, on behalf of numerous concerned citizens, propose a resolution stating that all new construction in Glen Cove which is not adjacent to existing residences shall be limited to a maximum of 3 stories in height and that all new construction which is adjacent to existing residences shall be limited to a maximum of 2 stories in height. We further propose that there shall not be any HVAC units on any roof tops, but rather, that all HVAC units shall be located within the proposed new construction. Further, we propose that a moratorium on all proposed new construction be put into effect immediately for a period of at least 5 years during which time, we the people, in conjunction with the administration of Glen Cove and its neighboring towns, and with mutual respect and consideration, design an environmentally and esthetically conscious plan for the entire North Shore peninsula.

This waterfront RXR project is a public/private joint venture; however, it has been only the private partner which has been participatory. That has to change. The public sector needs to be an active participant in this, as well as all other developments.

The recommendations of the Master Plan are intended to protect the established character of the City, to reduce traffic congestion, and to promote protection and enhancement of the environment. The increase in population could result in significant traffic, impact on community services and impact on utilities. Therefore, this project is the antithesis of the intention of the City's own Master Plan.

Obvious problems include the geological studies which are inadequate to determine the ground's ability to sustain a building of such enormous mass; the contamination problem which is still not cleaned up to acceptable standards (and never will be), the extraordinary high density of this project resulting in a population explosion, inadequate water, sewer, electricity, utilities, municipal services, police, fire and schools, and numerous additional adverse impacts. Financially, this project could bankrupt Glen Cove. Originally, the contract of sale stated that the purchase price was $33 million; however, over the years, the purchase price has dropped to $15 million, so long as they don't reduce it further. This does not make sense. Waterfront property is a rare and very valuable commodity which increases in value over time, not decreases. Why did Glen Cove politicians reduce the price that the developer would pay us for this land? In addition, why is Glen Cove going to borrow $100 million for the construction? RXR is a 7 Billion dollar company; they have more than enough resources to fund their own project. Nothing about this project benefits Glen Cove or the North Shore communities, but rather, it is devastating to the entire North Shore. Nowhere on the North Shore waterfront of Nassau County is there anything so monstrous, nor should there ever be.

He cares deeply about the community he has chosen to reside in and has dedicated himself to giving back and making life better for others. This is the man that when faced with a major surgical procedure - a kidney transplant in 2009 - drove himself and family members to the Manhattan hospital on the morning of his own surgery. Two weeks before that surgery and on the verge of kidney dialysis, I have seen him rip up carpeting from the floors of the home we now live in. I have seen him rescue a non-profit wheelchair basketball team from financial ruin when their funds ($14,000) were stolen from them, and successfully get monies returned to them. He has literally carried his own wheelchair up and down stairs to coach basketball to local able-bodied PreK and kindergarten children at two different CYO programs. Years before Michael was approached by the Glen Cove Democrats to now run for a City Council position, Michael's interests in the good of the City of Glen Cove were obvious by his constant attendance at both Pre and City Council meetings. He was honored to be chosen as a member of the Glen Cove Hall of Fame in 2009 and further honored soon after when asked to join Glen Cove's Recreation Commission. Michael cares about everyone. Several years ago he did everything in his power to make the final days more comfortable for a World War II Veteran, who was also a POW survivor, who just happened to be my ex-father-in-law. His dedication to this man brought two estranged families together and his connection with them formed a deep friendship that exists to this day. This is the man I am fortunate to live with. This is the man who will not let you down, that will lay awake at night trying to find a way to improve everything and anything for the children, young adults and citizens of Glen Cove and he WILL make it happen. I ask you for your support and your vote for my husband Democrat Michael Zangari on Tuesday, November 3, 2015.

Janice Zangari

I Want To Make Sure Ideas Are Listened To
To The Editor,

In the early 1960s my father carried me

off a ship which brought 17 members of my family from Italy to the United States - America - the land of opportunity. Since that day my permanent residency has been Glen Cove. I was hospitalized (numerous times) in Glen Cove; played on the streets of Glen Cove; swam and fished in Glen Cove; learned to drive (and taught others how to) in Glen Cove. My first full-time job was in Glen Cove and I met the woman I am married to, in Glen Cove. While America is referred to as the land of opportunity, Glen Cove has always been my city of opportunity.

During my high school days I was involved in student government and was voted to be president of the student council of the Henry Viscardi School. I have always wanted to make a difference, to use the opportunities this country has given me to inspire others. I achieved that goal recently by inspiring my 8-year-old stepgrandson Logan as he was elected to be his third grade class president at Connolly School.

Many people ask me why I want to run for a political office and my answer is always the same. I cannot complain about problems unless I become part of the solution. I plan to guide Glen Cove on the right path for the future. I hope to inspire the residents of Glen Cove to be involved in their community, to discuss their issues and concerns and to bring them to the proper authorities so they may be resolved through appropriate channels.

I am a firm believer in working with cooperation, to gain a goal. My involvement with sports has taught me the importance of teamwork. Compromises can solve problems. I am often underestimated due to my size and physical disability. Opportunities have been denied me as a result of that, yet I am determined to have hope for the future of Glen Cove, to pay attention to the needs of those around me, to look forward and not back, to educate myself and make a difference, for the people of Glen Cove. I have attended multiple Glen Cove Pre and City Council meetings to understand the mechanics of our city government and issues of our citizens. As a member of the Glen Cove Recreation Commission I am proud to have been part of a decision which has changed the atmosphere of baseball in Glen Cove to a more profitable and positive format. Interests close to my heart will always be the young people of Glen Cove, the mobility impaired, as well as senior citizens and Veterans who deserve acknowledgment for their service to our country and community.

The City of Glen Cove has certainly changed since I arrived in this country, as a 5 year old. I will take my responsibilities as a City Councilman seriously void of ulterior motives. It has been said "You can't lead the people if you don't love the people. You can't save the people if you don't serve the people". As my stepgrandson Logan stated in his speech for class vice president "I will make sure your ideas are listened to". It will be my honor to have your vote for City Councilman and to serve the people of Glen Cove.

Respectfully,
Michael Zangari
Democrat, for Glen Cove City Council

In Support of Zangari To The Editor,

In today's world we need leaders who have courage, dedication and honesty, especially on the local level. The people are sick and tired (literally, as well as figuratively speaking) of the one-way greedy and dishonest politicians. We all need some new blood. We thirst for the type of man/woman who will rise to the occasion, disregard their own issues and help us overcome the political rhetoric and thievery. Every time we turn around there is another politician accused/convicted of some crime or other. This is not the world that our parents envisioned for us, or that we wish for our children.

We must fight back now. The greatest weapon we have is our franchise to vote. However, we must have the right man/woman for the job. When we find that person we must jump and support their candidacy. Such a man is Michael Zangari. He will work hard. He is honest and truly cares for the people of Glen Cove. I hope that the people of Glen Cove will realize that he is their best hope to help the City Council lead their city. With men and women like him, Glen Cove can rise to its fullest potential.

Why do I feel that Michael Zangari is so qualified? I have known him for over twenty years. I have seen him rise to every occasion. He has always worked hard. He has worked for the children of Glen Cove through the CYO basketball program and the Glen Cove Recreation Commission. He has taken the knowledge gained from competition in wheelchair basketball for over 35 years and used it to improve the lot of many a young person in Glen Cove. His dedication, drive and hard work have always paid high dividends both on the basketball court and with young people. But most of all, the thing that impresses me the most is his honest approach to everything. He will help Glen Cove to wisely, fairly and judiciously use its resources to the city's best possible solutions.

I would trust him with the welfare of my children and all that I hold dear. We need more politicians of his ilk. Please help me to help Michael Zangari to help the great city of Glen Cove.

Sincerely,
Ed Sullivan

Last Week's Celebrity

Born Martha Janet Lafferty, last week's celebrity was Janet Blair. In the late 1940s, some of her films included, "The Fabulous Dorseys" (1947) with the Dorsey Brothers, along with William Lundigan and Sara Allgood, and star billing in the crime drama "I Love Trouble" (1948), a film noir, written by Roy Huggins, from his first novel, "The Double Take." starring Franchot Tone, as "Stuart Bailey" and Glenda Farrell. The character of "Stuart Bailey" was later portrayed by Efrem Zimbalist, Jr., in the ABC TV detective series "77 Sunset Strip." She was in the "Fuller Brush Man" (1948), a comedy with Red Skelton, but was dropped by Columbia and did not return to pictures for several years. In 1962, she played the wife of Tony Randall in the comedy, "Boys' Night Out", which starred James Garner and Kim Novak. In the 1950s, she took the lead role of "Nellie Forbush" in the U.S. touring production of the stage musical, "South Pacific", making more than 1,200 performances in three years. On television, in 1971, she co-starred with Henry Fonda in "The Smith Family." Her last performance on television was on a 1991 episode of "Murder, She Wrote" with Angela Lansbury. On Feb. 19, 2007, she died of complications from pneumonia, at age 85.

Pumpkin Patch Fundraiser- United Methodist Church of Sea Cliff

corner of Carpenter and Downing Avenues
Patch is open from 10/2/15 thru 10/31/15
Noon to 6pm all Wed, Thurs, Fri, Sun.
All Sat and Columbus Day 10am - 6pm

All pumpkins are grown 100% in New Mexico by the Navajo Nation. The Pumpkins are shipped across the country by tractor-trailer and unloaded at the church on October 1st with many volunteer helping hands. Once the truck is unloaded, a casual dinner to express appreciation is always provided for all volunteers. UMSC undertakes this project each year as a fundraiser to support the work of the church. A large portion also goes back to the Navajo Nation to help support and make a significant difference in the quality of the lives of Native Americans. So come and pick out you're your favorite sized pumpkin and gourds for your fall décor. Bring along your camera because the bright orange pumpkins, colorful gourds, scarecrows and autumn foliage on the beautiful grounds of the United Methodist Church provide a great backdrop for your fall family photos and Halloween pictures.

New York Cosmos Soccer Stars Visit North Shore Middle School!

Students at North Shore Middle School were overjoyed when three NY Cosmos stars came to visit on October 5th under the leadership of Bryce Larsen. Captain, Carlos Mendes, and midfielders, Jimmy Mulligan and Danny Szetela, stopped over from 11:30 am - 1pm to sign autographs, lead soccer games, and talk to students about what it means to be a successful professional athlete.

During the lunch periods, Captain Mendes spoke to children in all three grade levels about working hard, staying focused, choosing the right friends, and avoiding drug and alcohol use. A Long Island native of Mineola, Captain Mendes spoke warmly about growing up on Long Island close to the North Shore Schools, his supportive family and friends, and his love of the game of soccer. With a lot of hard work and dedication, he encouraged the students to fulfill their dreams like he did by making the right choices academically, socially, and emotionally.

On Sunday, October 11th, at Shuart Stadium at Hofstra University, the New York Cosmos hosted a North Shore Middle School Night with the Cosmos! The New York Cosmos are welcomed the North Shore Middle School families and the North Shore School district to an exciting night of professional soccer. Many thanks to the middle school PTSO for organizing this special event.

North Shore Percussionist Selected to Perform at Prestigious 2015 All-National Honor Ensembles

Congratulations to Angelo Antinori, a senior at North Shore High School, who was selected to perform at the 2015 All-National Honor Ensembles. This is a prestigious honor ensemble and program of the National Association for Music Education (NAfME). Angelo was chosen to perform as a percussionist in the Symphony Orchestra.

Angelo said, "I'm honored to have been selected to play percussion in the All - National Symphony Orchestra. I'd like to thank my band director David Soto and my private teacher, Steve Blutman for their help and guidance."

During the 2014-15 school year, talented music students across the United States and overseas in military base schools practiced with dedication to gain a chair or part in their local, district, and state music honor ensembles., 673 musicians, the "best of the best," were selected for the National Association for Music Education's (NAfME) 2015 All-National Honor Ensembles. They represent creativity in its highest musical form.

Teachers and school administrators who attend will gain insight on implementing the National Core Music Standards in the classroom to empower students to be creative, collaborative, think critically, and better understand themselves and fellow students, and the world around them. Music teachers will learn how they can give students the inspiration they need to learn and create in different ways.

The All-National Honor Ensembles consist of a concert band, symphony orchestra, mixed choir, and jazz ensemble. Students were chosen through an audition process. Eligible students have qualified for their state-level honor ensemble program and competed against top students for a spot in these national honor ensembles.

Great Book Guru

- Ann DiPietro

Dear Great Book Guru,
This weekend is the Sea Cliff Civic Association's great astronomy event Starry Starry Night at Clifton Park on Sunday, October 18 from 7 to 8pm. There will be music by The Milky Ways (Heidi Hunt and Joe Hughes), seven telescopes- people are also encouraged to bring their own- and a team of instructors to guide us. I can't wait but please suggest something good to read before this all begins....

Fan of the Milky Way and The Milky Ways

Dear Milky Way/s Fan,
I hope the stars will be shining brightly, but if not... I have a great book to light up the weekend for you: MY BRILLIANT FRIEND by Elena Ferrante. This is the first of a quartet that follows the lives of two friends Lili and Lenu over a fifty year period. The first book- focusing on childhood and adolescence- introduces us to the highly intelligent, ambitious, very competitive Lili and the narrator-friend Lenu- young Neapolitans born at the end of World War II. The violence, brutality, and deprivations of the city and the times are vividly recounted but there is also a universal quality about the girls' experiences that captures our attention from the beginning. As we follow the characters through the days of their lives, we realize that nothing and everything is happening- reminiscent of a Seinfeld episode or a Barbara Pym novel. Skillfully crafted, beautifully worded, and highly recommended!

Viking Explorers from North Shore Middle School Go to Tappen Beach for Their First Underwater Robotics Expedition

On September 22nd, Mr. Brian Lang and Mr. Keith Slack took the Viking Explorers Program on their first underwater robotics expedition to Tappen Beach in Sea Cliff. The North Shore Middle School students worked in teams, rotating through four different activity stations. They searched for, collected, and identified various marine species using wading boots, nets, seines, and fishing poles.

In addition, the Viking Explorers piloted the underwater Remotely Operated Vehicle (ROV) while troubleshooting robotic interface issues.

They researched the formation of beaches like Tappan and its local inhabitants in order to predict which species would be in our environment, and digitally documented the teams' progress. Stay tuned for exciting more adventures and expeditions of the Viking Explorers!
