Glen Cove Community Remembers the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. 32nd Commemorative Program Recognizes Dr. King through the Eyes of Youth

Children bundled up to brave the chilly weather conditions as they held with pride the banner recognizing Glen Cove's annual march of unity as part of the City's 32nd tribute to the Reverend Martin Luther King Jr. Led by Sheryl Goodine, chairwoman of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Birthday Commission, the group including Mayor Spinello, School Superintendent Maria Rianna, Assistant School Superintendent Michael Israel, Legislator Delia De-Riggi Whitton, Judge Richard McCord, Council members Nick DiLeo Jr., Pamela Panzenbeck, Roderick Watson, parents, Glen Cove religious leaders, Glen Cove Police Chief William Whitton, Deputy Chief Chris Ortiz and other esteemed guests and community members, marched from the First Baptist Church to the Robert F. Finley Middle School.

"Harambe," said Ms. Goodine as part of her opening remarks to the large crowd gathered in the Wunsch Auditorium. She encouraged everyone to work together to keep Dr. King's legacy alive and in her role as Mistress of Ceremonies took great pride in introducing a robust program featuring the voices of students,

Community Mourns Gasper Buffa

Gasper Buffa passed away peacefully on January 19, 2016 at the age of 96 in Port Charlotte, Florida. Beloved husband to Rose (nee Suozzi). Proud parent to Carol Williams (Silas), Linda Emmi (Thomas), Angela Buffa Tortorici, Gasper Buffa Jr. (Theresa), and Dominick Buffa (Liz). Grandfather to Cynthia Genova, Brian Robert Pascucci (Jennifer), Gasper Buffa III (Jennifer), Matthew Ernest Pascucci (Dawn), David Gasper Buffa (Nicole), Lauren Benedict (Christopher), and Paul Bradley Buffa. Great grandfather to Liam Pascucci, Luke Pascucci, Daniel Buffa, Jay Gasper Buffa and Silas Benedict. He is also survived by his sister Sarah Pachiarotti and many nieces and nephews.

He was a Renaissance man who, at 17 years of age, volunteered for the New Deal's Civilian Conservation Corps. (CCC's). In July, 1940 he enlisted in the United State Marine Corps, proudly serving in the Pacific Theater during WWII and was in combat at the Battles of Midway and Guadalcanal. With the 1st Marine Division on Midway Island in the Pacific, he survived an attack by the Imperial Japanese Navy's planes commanded by Adm. Isoroku Yamamoto. After Midway he was sent to Guadalcanal earning the rank of Master Sargent and Crew Chief while serving with the Marine Aircraft Wing. He finished his service with an assignment in China. His commendations include: The Presidential Unit Citation with 2 Stars, Navy Unit Commendation medal, Good Conduct Medal with 2 Stars, American Defense Medal, Navy Campaign Medal with 1 Star, Asiatic Pacific Campaign Medal with 3 Bronze Stars, World War II Victory Medal, China Service Medal and the Occupation Service Medal.

He wrote poetry during the war and has been published in Leatherneck magazine. When he left the service he started a building business on Long Island and became a well-known and accomplished general contractor and developer. Above all, Gasper loved his wife, Rose, who passed away in 2008, after 65 years of marriage. They were both involved in the community organization in the City of Glen Cove, New York, where he served in leadership positions in the Glen Cove Lions Club, Rotary Club, Glen Cove VFW, the Dan Daly Glen Cove Globe and Anchor, and Glen Cove Post 76 of the American Legion. He had a remarkable life. He will be missed every day.

Funeral arrangements will be announced at a later date. In lieu of flowers, the family requests that donations, to be made in his memory, to the Wounded Warriors Project at www.woundedwarriorproject.org.

elected and school officials, performers, religious advisors and dancers.

"When I reflect upon the theme of today's tribute, Dr. King's Legacy through the Eyes of Youth, I am reminded that Dr. King's words, lessons, beliefs and wisdom are as relevant today as they were during his lifetime," said Mayor Spinello. "His courage and dreams as a peaceful warrior promoted non-violent action to address the critical need for equal rights for all; now more than ever – in a world filled with conflict and tension– we need to stay strong and remember Dr. King's convictions."

Ms. Goodine and Glen Cove High School's Master of Ceremonies Mr. Allen Hudson III, in sharing program hosting duties, introduced the participation of our City's, School District's and area's most talented youth, and special guests. Through their words, song and dance, the audience was inspired to think, sing out, clap their hands and stand up in honor of the Reverend Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Program participants included Glen Cove's Color and Honor Guard, the Glen Cove High School Select Chorale, Glen Cove's Poet Laureate Victoria Crosby, the Glen Cove High School Drumline, the Glen Cove Middle School Chorus, the ESOTA Dance Company, Cantor Gitlin of Congregation Tifereth Israel and the First Baptist Church Adult Choir. In addition, the speeches and remarks presented by Glen Cove High School Students, Ms. Eshone Cofield-Jackson and Ms. Tamara Gitlin as well as from special guest Mr. Abel Legenus and the Reverend William Wendler, Father Mark Fitzpatrick, Reverend John Ceasar and Elder Clarence Johnson were inspiring to all.

Glen Cove residents interested in joining the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Commission as a volunteer, please contact Ms. Goodine at (516) 385-4179.

Private and Parochial Schools Transportation Requests Deadline, Due April 1, 2016

The North Shore School District would like to remind all parents and guardians of children attending private and parochial schools that transportation requests for the 2016-17 school year must be submitted in person at the Transportation Office by April 1, 2016 or sent by Certified Mail postmarked on or before April 1, 2016. Failure to submit the transportation request form by the due date may result in your child being ineligible for district transportation for the 2016-17 school year. In this case, the cost and arrangement for transportation will be parental responsibility. The State Education Department and the Board of Education require that a separate application be filed each year even if your child is already receiving transportation.

In accordance with New York State Education Law, transportation requests received after the above date will not be accepted unless a reasonable explanation is given for the delay or the District can provide the transportation under existing arrangements without additional expense. A belated decision to enroll a student into school is not a reasonable explanation for late submission of a transportation request. Those students who move into the District after the expiration of the deadline can still submit a written request for transportation provided such request is made within thirty (30) days after establishing residence in the district.

Please call the Transportation Office at 277-7930 or print the form from the District Website at: www.northshoreschools.org. The form may be dropped off or sent to North Shore Schools, Transportation Department, PO Box 412, 340 Shore Road, Glenwood Landing, N.Y., 11547-0412.

Garvies Point Redeveloper Hosts Kickoff To 2016

RXR Realty, the redeveloper of the Glen Cove waterfront, recently hosted a holiday party to celebrate the New Year and kickoff 2016, which is expected to be an exciting time for the waterfront.

RXR Chairman and Chief Executive Officer Scott Rechler welcomed supporters of the Garvies Point project to the Glen Cove Mansion for an evening of food, drink and conversation that included an update on the progress of the project. The over 120 assembled guests included Mayor Reginald Spinello and a host of other Glen Cove civic leaders, local business owners and residents.

"My family is from Glen Cove, with my mom growing up on Woolsey Avenue," said Scott Rechler. "I spent my summers at my grandparents' house on Crescent Beach Road, collecting shells at Pryibil Beach and getting ice cream at Henry's. My kids grew up playing Glen Cove football and basketball. To put it simply, I consider Glen Cove my home town."

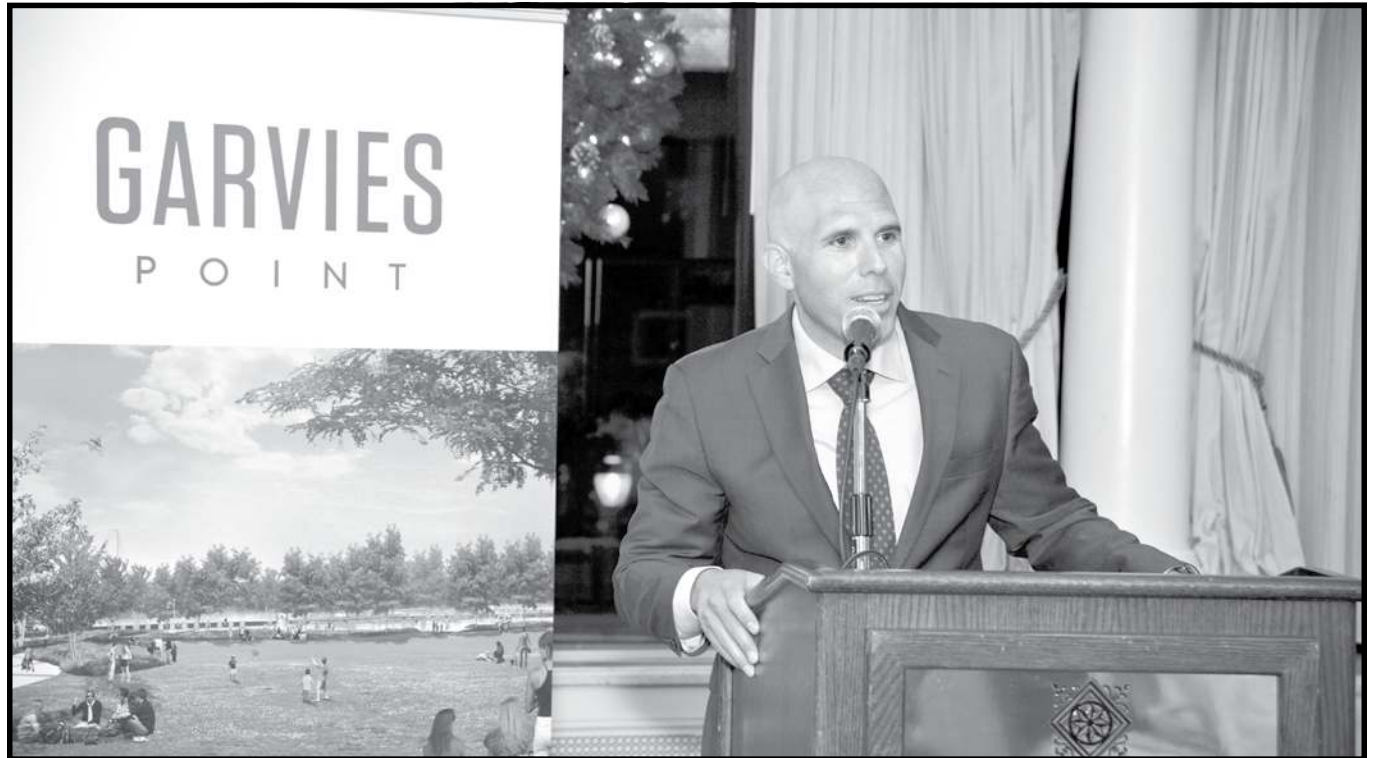

"We are on the cusp of progress as we're about to finally realize a two decade old project which will transform our waterfront from a toxic, uninhabitable, federally designated Superfund site into a vibrant 56-acre recreational, commercial, cultural and residential success story," said Mayor Spinello. "It's been a long time in coming for the City of Glen Cove and now it's finally going to happen. We look forward to closing the sale of the waterfront property to RXR Realty in the second quarter and finally putting shovels going into the ground to help pave Glen Cove's future."

Rechler told the gathering, "When I was growing up, I remember Glen Cove as the quintessential suburban downtown - a center of all activity where the community came together. The redevelopment of the waterfront will return Glen Cove to its rightful position as a great destination for waterfront living, shopping and recreation."

To learn more about the Garvies Point project visit www.garviespoint.com.

Glen Cove Deputy Police Chief Christopher Ortiz and his wife Corey review the site plan for the Garvies Point project.

The North Shore Kiwanis Club Honors Senior, Julia Albanese Student of the Month

The North Shore Kiwanis Club honored Miss Julia Albanese, graduating senior at North Shore High School, as Student of the Month for December. Julia took the Kiwanis dais on Thursday January 21, at the Swan Club for a dinner in her honor, as the recipient for this award. The Kiwanis audience was so impressed with this young lady as she told us, with such poise and grace, why she became a member of the key Club and wanted to give back to the North Shore Community. Julia related to her captive Kiwanis audience, many of the projects she had the pleasure to volunteer for and how proud she felt to be able to share her time to make a difference. Some of the projects with her experiences included a visit to the Nassau County Children's Medical Center; giving a cuddly teddy bear to a sick child and putting a smile on that child's face. Going to the Ronald McDonald House in New Hyde Park and cooking dinner for the families, as well as creating arts and crafts with the children who were residence at RMH and patients at Cohens Children medical center..... putting a smile on children's faces after a long day of treatment at the hospital. She told us about some very special moments at St Christopher-Ottillie Children's Home and the annual holiday party, where she interacted with the residents with arts and crafts, as well as helping Kiwanian Santa and his key clubber elf, who also arrived and gave out gifts to these very special children in deed. These are just a few of the many experiences and special moments shared at the dais by our honoree. As you can see, Julia Albanese is a very special lady and the North Shore Kiwanis Club is so very proud of her accomplishments. Pictured is her brother Michael, Miss Albanese, center stage, with proud parents Lisa and James. Also pictured is Key Club adviser and North Shore Kiwanian Julia Salat.

North Shore Kiwanis Club Honors Senior Carly Rovner Student of the Month

The North Shore Kiwanis Club honored, Carly Rovner, North Shore High School senior, as the October recipient for Kiwanis Student of the Month. This dynamic young lady has more than 300 hours of community service in a wide variety of projects and programs. Some outstanding accomplishments include being an active 4-year member of the Key Club, as well as a mentor in the North Shore Buddy Program; being a role model as a mentor for middle school age students. Other programs she participated in were Youth Decide Peer Leaders and was a member of the AIDS Peer Educator Program. Carly has also traveled abroad and shared many of her exciting experiences at the Kiwanis dinner honoring her as our Student of the Month. Carly will enter the doors of Bucknell University in the Fall and the North Shore Kiwanis Club wishes her luck and success with all future endeavors.

Glen Cove Board Honors a Hero and Student Scholars

The Glen Cove City School District Board of Education and members of the district's administration recognized Glen Cove High School's 2014-15 Advanced Placement Scholars and a substitute teacher who assisted a choking student at its Jan. 11 meeting.

Glen Cove High School Principal Antonio Santana and Assistant Principal Allen Hudson were on hand to honor the scholars, which were comprised of current students and Class of 2015 graduates. In all, 39 students were honored.

"This is an amazing accomplishment," Santana said. "Technically the College Board recommends that students take only a handful of AP courses throughout their high school careers. These students have shown an adherence to such rigor and have challenged themselves to take multiple exams."

Superintendent Maria Rianna also honored substitute teacher Samantha Basile at the meeting. Basile recently witnessed freshman student Chris Zachary choking on a pretzel during class and performed the Heimlich maneuver to open his airway.

"We thank you for going above and beyond and for helping our children stay safe," Rianna said.

Opening of New Fitness Center and Return of Peter Foster as Executive Director Inaugurate an Exciting New Era of Health and Wellness at the YMCA at Glen Cove

The Weber family name has long been familiar to the 6,500 members of the YMCA at Glen Cove. Whether they are stopping in for their regular workout in the weight room or ready to swim their morning laps in the pool, the Weber Fitness Center is a powerful legacy to the family's long-time support of health and wellness at the Glen Cove YMCA.

Today, the Weber family's tradition of support continues with the grand opening of a new Fitness Center comprised of a new line of Strength Circuit Machines, Free Weights and a dedicated "Functional Training Space". Designed to help members build muscle, endurance and flexibility for real-life activities, the new training space makes key health benefits available to everyone.

In conjunction with the opening of the new Fitness Center, the YMCA at Glen Cove proudly welcomes the return of Peter Foster and is pleased to announce his promotion to Executive Director. Foster began his career at the YMCA at Glen Cove over 20 years ago, recently lending his expertise to the Great South Bay Y as Associate Executive Director (2014-2015) before returning to the Glen Cove branch. Foster says, "I am delighted to return to my Glen Cove YMCA family and would like to thank the Weber family for their continued generosity. As a Glen Cove resident, I am particularly pleased to broaden our ability to bring an enhanced wellness experience to more and more people. This is a very exciting time for the YMCA and the Glen Cove community, as well as all of the north shore of Long Island."

On January 15, 2016, a ribbon cutting ceremony officiated by Anne Brigis, President and Chief Executive Officer of YMCA of Long Island, officially honored the grand re-opening made possible by the Weber family, saying, "I am profoundly grateful to the Weber family for their bequest and generosity and to all the volunteers and staff, present and future, who had a role in bringing this dream to fruition allowing the Y to deepen our impact and ability to transform lives. I am very excited for the future of the GC branch under the dynamic and strong leadership of Peter Foster and thrilled to welcome him home.

I am confident that we will continue to serve Glen Cove and the surrounding communities for generations to come." Angelo Stanco, Chairman of the Board of the YMCA at Glen Cove and a regular visitor to the fitness center at the YMCA, added that, "The new Fitness Center brings a new dimension to the type of workout available at the YMCA, making it possible for every person to gain strength and better endurance, improving their health and general well-being."

The new Fitness Center is now officially open to members of the YMCA at Glen Cove. For more information, visit the YMCA website at ymcali.org/glencove

Deasy Teacher and Author Shares First Book with Students

Deasy School first-grade teacher Steve Bromberg shared his recently published book "Simple Sam Eats...What?" with students and faculty as part of the school PTA's PARP (Pick A Reading Partner) celebration.

Bromberg, who writes under the pen name Mr. B, has been employed with the Glen Cove City School District for 10 years and said it was amazing to be able to share his writing.

"It's one thing to share your work with family and friends, but to show my students that their writing can become reality is a major accomplishment," Bromberg said. During the assemblies, Bromberg read his book to the all of the school's students, who were dressed in pajamas, as part of one of many planned PARP activities. He also read the transcript of his new book, which he hopes to get published. In both stories, the main character is trying to overcome his apprehension of trying new things, such as foods, roller coasters, etc.

Bromberg said his goal when writing his books is to make them easy enough for first-and-second-graders to read individually and with their parents. He also acknowledge made them pliable for other teachers to use as part of a classroom lesson.

City of Glen Cove's Beautification Commission's Chip-A-Tree Event Helps Residents Go Green

January 13, 2016... The holidays are over and it's time to sweep up those pine needles and bid farewell to your Christmas tree. Recently over 75 Glen Cove residents did just that by attending the Glen Cove's Beautification Commission's annual Chip-A-Tree event. Participants watched as their holiday trees were fed into a machine converting their evergreens into landscaping mulch. The mulch will be used for Adopt-A-Spots and other locations throughout the City this spring.

"I'm glad we had such a great turnout for this event. It's always a positive when you can turn something that would have been waste, into something useful," Mayor Reginald Spinello said. "I'd like to thank Old Country Tree Service for donating their manpower, time and equipment as well as Landing Bakery who donated donuts and coffee."

For those who missed this year's Chip-A-Tree event, Christmas trees will be picked up curbside on Wednesdays with yard waste by the Glen Cove Sanitation Department.

Letters to the Editor

In Response

To The Editor,

I am writing in response to the letter to the Editor in a recent issue of the Glen Cove Record Pilot entitled, "If Nothing Else They're Consistent".

The writer opines that the voices in opposition to the current Waterfront plan and the Villa are just a rag-tag group of naysayers that oppose change of any kind, and "rail against everything regardless of its merits". He believes that they don't want the Piazza to succeed and that they are defeatists who have filed bogus lawsuits that seek only to delay, not stop the projects.

This letter misses the mark...and not by a little. The fact of the matter is that there have been many voices opposed to the CURRENT plan put forward by the developer of the Waterfront since it changed from the original concept to an overly dense, all residential project sometime back in 2007.

Rather than give you my own comments I would like to share just a few quotes from the public record as they pertain specifically to the Waterfront. Here is one from a member of the City's own Master Plan Task Force from way back in 2009:

"...there is much included that I and my fellow members do not recognize. For example, we were never allowed to discuss the waterfront until very late in the process and then, only briefly. Most or all of us didn't want to see the project go forward with anything near the proposed number of units or building heights, even at the reduced 10-12 stories. We were constantly reminded that there was a contract for the waterfront, and thus we were never allowed to state our desire to lower the size and density of the project... Not only were some of our concerns ignored or omitted, the draft master plan seems to bolster the RXR Glen Isle contract and other high-density projects currently in the proposal phase. I am outraged that not only will a contract which was born under cover of darkness be allowed to stand, but will also be the foundation of a master plan for the future of our city and waterfront."

These comments are quite ominous to consider. If one looks at New York State's published documentation regarding Master and Comprehensive Plans, the whole point is to consider the community, the impact upon it and to develop a plan appropriate for the community. Going to the trouble of setting up a task force, and then ignoring that task force, flies in the face of public policy. Additionally, this person didn't just say "they didn't consider my comments", they said that they misrepresented what they were doing, and that they negotiated this contract under cover of darkness!!

Here's another comment from the public record:

"But the heart of the matter here is that the draft Master Plan states that its "emphasis is on general design and programmatic principles and policy-as is arguably the case for all Master Plans. It seems, however, that the Master Plan goes beyond acknowledging the contractual obligations that exist currently and is being contorted to match the waterfront project instead of providing a long-term view of what is best for the city." Carol DiPaolo, The Coalition To Save Hempstead Harbor

And yet another "voice" in opposition: "Full residential use of the waterfront would not achieve many of the goals of the Master Plan. Further, broader residential development in the area, beyond that proposed in the Master Plan, may result in a net increase in the City density in excess of the current baseline, which could result in significant adverse impacts to traffic, community services and utilities."

Can you guess who said that? It was the Glen Cove City Council's response to the request for full residential development on the Waterfront!! Can we now add the City Council to the rag-tag list of Naysayers?

And finally: "Over the past decade he has witnessed the unprecedented approval and construction of one high density development after another by outside developers who are given sweetheart deals for projects that are destroying the quality of life in Glen Cove. The City is now on the verge of turning over 50 acres of its waterfront on Glen Cove Creek to yet another private outside developer to permit the construction of over 1,100 units (250 hotel units and 860 residential units) in several 16 story high sky scraper buildings. While Reggie understands that the waterfront area is in dire need of revitalization, he is committed to putting an end to this ill conceived over intensified development and others like it that have and will continue to be built unless something is done to stop them."

This is a direct quote from Friends of Reginald Spinello from 2007. It was his campaign's representation of his view of the Waterfront plan. Let's now add Reggie to the list of naysayers as well.

The writer further claims that this Waterfront plan is Reginald Spinello's bold vision when it is actually the vision of RXR, a 7-billion dollar developer that seems to care nothing for Glen Cove, but only for further lining its own pockets. (This same developer has given almost $200,000, to Governor Cuomo, $45,000+ to Chuck Schumer and $5000.00 (The Maximum allowed) to Mayor Spinello). Contrary to what he states, the voices of opposition are not opposed to all development, just over-development. These voices have included past and current residents of Glen Cove, Sea Cliff and the surrounding communities, and as evidenced above, even the current Mayor and the City Council.

These voices of reason have been consistently ignored. The lawsuit filed on behalf of over 100 residents against the Waterfront project is not bogus by any measure. It seeks to reset the clock on this ill conceived plan and win a long denied seat at the table for the people of Glen Cove, Sea Cliff and the surrounding communities.

Finally the writer incorrectly attributes a quote by George Patton (lead, follow, or get out of the way) to Ted Turner.

General Patton also wisely said "If everybody is thinking alike, then somebody isn't thinking." Maybe it's time to heed what reasonable people have been saying about this project all along... Common sense is that it is just too big, too dense and will cause permanent harm for our area.

Domingo Gonzalez

GONZALEZ, DOMINGO. Born in 1932 in a small town in the northern side of the island of Puerto Rico, the 4th child of Pascual Gonzalez & Rizquilda Guzman. He came to the United State at the young age of 17, served in the US Army between the years of 1950-1953, and fought over sea's in the Korean War. He then made his home in Glen Cove, Long Island back in the early 50's. He spent most of his adult life in this seaside city which he called home. Survived by two daughters, Zaida Gonzalez & Evelyn Anspake. Five Grandchildren; Francis Nieves, Francheska Nieves, Rosemarie Anspake, Jonathan Anspake & Lisa Anspake AND two greatgrandchildren, Zayra Nieves & Amir Nieves.

He loved knowledge and believed that hard work would get you ahead in life, he was selfless in material belongings. He understood that money never made anyone happy.

His most valued possession was his family. Domingo was a loving son, brother, uncle, father, grandfather, and faithful friend, who knew the value of family and took care of the people he loved. He was the tower of strength that kept our family together, he was a loyal friend to those who had the privilege of knowing him.

He will be remember and loved always by his family & friends. Visitation was a Dodge-Thomas Funeral Home. Glen Cove. Funeral Mass at the Church of St. Rocco. Interment East Hillside Cemetery. DodgeThomas.com

Great Book Guru

- Ann DiPietro

Dear Great Book Guru, I am leaving Sea Cliff for a week in sunny Miami- of course, I am bereft- there is no place I would rather be than Sea Cliff- snowy or sunny . So can you recommend a good book, something so compelling to read that it will get me dredging to leave?

Dear Dredging to Leave, I understand your feelings completely and I just read a rather long, very engrossing legal thriller by Nick Stone: THE VERDICT. Stone is an English citizen with a French-Haitian background who has won numerous literary awards in England but is relatively unknown here in the States. Set in London over the last twenty years, THE VERDICT is reminiscent of a John Grisham work at its best: great dialogue, cleverly unfolding story line, colorfully rogue characters, and a morally flawed hero. The story opens with Vernon Jackson, a billionaire financier, in a lush hotel suite, preparing his acceptance speech for "The Ethical Person of the Year" award; as Jackson's sordid history is revealed, we are equally horrified and amused at the irony of his having been considered for this honor. The hero narrator of the tale is Terry Flynt, a law clerk with a history of "bad moments," who has the unenviable task of proving Jackson innocent of a particularly violent murder. Israeli operatives, South African assassins, Quaker missionaries, and real estate moguls all join in to make for a story that is fascinating from beginning to end. Recommended!

Gold Coast Public Library Introduces New Digital Early Literacy Program to Support Kindergarten Readiness

Miss Humblebee's Academy is fun and interactive; includes hundreds of lessons across all subject areas

Many research studies have shown the positive effects of quality early childhood education on future academic development, educational attainment, and earnings later in life. Yet, hundreds of thousands of children in the U.S. have no access to the programs that can help them build literacy skills and prepare them for kindergarten and beyond. Now families in Glen Head, Glenwood Landing, Greenvale, Old Brookville and Roslyn Harbor have access to Gale's Miss Humblebee's Academy, an educational program that assists libraries' youngest learners in building foundational literacy skills.

Through the Gold Coast Public Library, parents and children can access the fun and interactive learning program. Designed for children ages 3 to 6 and employing friendly cartoon characters to guide learning activities, Miss Humblebee's Academy is an easy-to-use, interactive and award-winning online and mobile-accessible kindergarten-readiness solution. It offers hundreds of lessons spanning all major academic subjects, weekly progress reports, and is the only library-based resource that provides assessments to measure proficiency and learning outcomes.

Miss Humblebee's Academy provides children an opportunity to learn while having fun in a safe online classroom environment with no pop-ups, ads, or links to other websites. It provides parents with tools to measure their child's kindergarten-readiness while working at the library, at home or on the go. The program assesses cognitive skills at regular intervals for measurable improvement toward kindergarten-readiness and offers a developmental observation checklist allowing parents to review and record social and emotional growth as an additional condition of school preparedness. Weekly emails alert parents to review curriculum progress and assessment results that are available online 24/7.

Families can access Miss Humblebee's Academy at the library, home, or on-the-go via iPads, tablets, and smartphones. A portion of the curriculum is also available offline in the form of printables and worksheets.

Parents receive several measures to provide insight into their children's learning progress through a cognitive skills assessment, parent observation checklist and progress reports.

Gold Coast Public Library district residents can access Miss Humblebee's Academy by visiting the library's website's children's page at www.goldcoastlibrary.org/departments/childrens.

For questions or more information, please call the Library at 516-759-8300, stop by, 50 Railroad Ave. Glen Head, or email gcinfo@goldcoastlibrary.org.

Name the Celebrity

husband in "Bronco Billy" (1980), and as "Ricky Z", in "Pi Cadillac" (1989).

Last Week's Celebrity

Last week's celebrity was Barbara Bain. Her earliest TV appearance included CBS's "Tightrope" with Mike Connors, who would go on to his CBS "Mannix" detective series and three ABC series: "The Law and Mr. Jones" with James Whitmore, "Adventures in Paradise" with Gardner McKay and "Straightaway" with Brian Kelly and John Ashley. After a recurring role as David Janssen's romantic interest in "Richard Diamond, Private Detective" in 1959, she guest starred on two "Perry Mason" episodes. This writer happen to catch her, the other night, at 11:30 p.m. as "Madelyn Terry" in the 1960 "PM" episode, "The Case of the War Wildcatter" on the new Cablevision channel 33, "ME-TV", out of Middletown, New Jersey, where a viewer can tune in to the classic barrister twice a day M-F at 9 a.m. and again at 11:30 p.m. By the way, if you are channel searching for old TV episodes of days gone-by, there is also the new Channel 112 station DECADES. The last two weekends were marathons of "Hill Street Blues" and our Long Island native son, Telly Savalas on "Kojak"...be still my heart!

However, back to our celebrity, aside from co-starring with real life husband, Martin Landau, on the original "Mission: Impossible", she starred opposite him again in the sci-fi TV series "Space: 1999" (1975-77), as "Dr. Helena Russell" and the new made for TV film "Harlem Globetrotters on Gilligan's Island". At age 84, she is involved with many charitable causes, including literacy. She is also involved with both her daughters' careers, actress Juliet Landau and film producer, Susan Bain Landau Finch.

This week's celebrity, a talented and highly capable character who, was born on July 31, 1935 in Plainfield, New Jersey, but grew up in Rhode Island. By age 10, his family moved to California and he became very keen in the dramatic arts in high school, but often preferred to put on his one-man shows rather than participant in large school productions. His drama teacher took note of his growing talent and referred him to the Plymouth Theater in Massachusetts, where he appeared in summer stock. Afterwards, he appeared in several off-Broadway production in New York City. After spending considerable time traveling in both the United States and abroad, he turned his attention back to his love of the dramatic arts, and scored his first minor movie role in "The Culpepper Co." (1972), as a somewhat jovial but deadly cowhand with Bob Hoskins. He then cropped up as gangster "Harry Pierpont" in "Dillinger" (1973), before beginning a long association with Clint Eastwood, starting off with "High Plains Drifter" (1973), then as kind-hearted thief, "Eddie Goody" in "Thunderbolt and Lightfoot" (1974), as Clint's buddy, "Orville Boggs" in "Every Which Way But Loose" (1978) and "Any Which Way You Can" (1980), then as a hen-pecked
