EPA Public Hearing- RE: Waterfront, June 13

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency will hold a public hearing at the Glen Cove High School on Monday June 13 at 7pm regarding the proposed plan for cleanup work and future land use at the former LiTungsten Superfund site.

On June 1, the EPA proposed a plan to do some additional excavation of contaminated soil in some areas of the former Li Tungsten Property. The EPA plan includes removing and disposing of arsenic and lead-contaminated soil from portions of the site and backfilling the area with clean soil or provide covering.

The EPA also announced a change in the future land use for a portion of the site due to a change in the cleanup levels for contaminated soil at a portion of the site, which was based on updated sampling.

Public comments are encouraged and will be accepted until July 1.

Rubber Mulch To Be Removed From District Playgrounds

North Shore Board of Ed. voted unanimously on June 2, 2016 to remove the rubber mulch from the school districts playgrounds. Bids are going out for the removal and replacement of the rubber mulch at Sea Cliff, Glen Head and Glenwood Landing elementary schools. The rubber mulch will be replaced with safe, eco-friendly, non toxic material.

Sea Cliff resident Nick Virgilio, who was joined by Glen Head resident Elizabeth Yaichos, started the grassroots movement in March. He stated "I appreciate the way the Board has approached this issue, taking it head on and reaching a decision in such a timely manner". Work will begin over the summer and be finished by October.

Stuck for a Buck at Landing

It was a sticky situation for Landing School Principal Benjamin Roberts on May 18 as students and staff participated in the school's "Stuck for a Buck" fundraiser.

The activity, which gave students an opportunity to buy a piece of duct tape for a dollar and tape Principal Roberts to the wall, was part of the school's three-week Pennies for Patients campaign to benefit the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society. Fourth-grade teacher Maria DePace led the fundraising efforts, which included students donating money to classroom donation boxes daily, as well as weekly pen/pencil and bake sales.

In all, the students raised $5,380.40 for the organization.

Landing School Principal Benjamin Roberts allowed students and staff to duct tape him to the school way to help raise money for the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society's Pennies for Patients campaign.

Passing On The Joy of Sailing

Adam Bonilla and Rafael Cruz-Villalobos are building their own boat under the direction of Harvey Bass (r). (photo by Christopher Horton)

by Christopher Horton

Harvey Bass, an avid sailor, is helping to pass on the love of the sea's through a foundation called the Ranger Foundation in memory of his late father, William, a U.S. Army Ranger.

The Foundation assists needy children in the North Shore area with attending the Sea Cliff Yacht Club's Junior Sailing program. This year, not only is he assisting Adam Bonilla and Rafael Cruz-Villalobos attend this summer's Junior Sailing Program, the foundation is also building the boat they will use during the summer.

The Junior Sailing Camp teaches young people to sail the Optimist Class of boat, which is approximately eight feet long and designed for one or two people. The Ranger Foundation purchased a kit to build this boat from South Africa and guided Adam and Rafael through the process of building their own boat. The Ranger foundation has provided the two with an incredible opportunity to learn craftsmanship and carpentry, and will provide them with the valuable knowledge of sailing and the joy that comes with it this summer.

First Annual Glen Cove Kid's Play Day Brings out Hundreds of Kids to Play

Northwell Health at Glen Cove Hospital Unveiled Rendering of New Playground

With the sun shining bright on Pryibil's Beach, Glen Cove's first annual Kid's Play Day hosted over 200 children and their families at its activity-packed special event. The children enjoyed petting snakes, spiders and reptiles with Jungle Bob, expressed their creativity with an array of arts and crafts activities, jumped and slid for joy on one of three inflatable attractions, learned to Zumba and bandage boo boo's with Teddy Bears, took family pictures, tasted great treats and much more. One of the highlights of the event was the unveiling of a rendering that showed residents the new $45,000 Pryibil Beach playground that Northwell Health at Glen Cove Hospital is generously donating to the City.

"I am so happy with the outstanding response to our first Kid's Play Day and I'm equally grateful to all of the volunteers, local businesses, community organizations and City Departments who went above and beyond to show our children great ways to play," said Mayor Reggie Spinello. "A special note of gratitude goes to Northwell Health at Glen Cove Hospital for fulfilling a long time desire of the City to enhance the recreation facilities at Pryibil Beach. We look forward to the installation of the new playground in the coming weeks and appreciated the hospital's outstanding commitment to support Kid's Play Day."

Glen Cove Kid's Play Day was coordinated through the Mayor Spinello's Office, the Parks & Recreation, Public Works, EMS and Volunteer Fire Departments with the Glen Cove Youth Bureau and Glen Cove PBA. The event is made possible through to the outstanding support of activity sponsors including the Glen Cove YMCA, Burger King, Garvies Point, PSEG Long Island, Starbucks, American Paving, I Love Kick Boxing, North Coast Subaru, Rob's Brands, Glen Cove Bagel Café, Pollo Campero, the office of Legislator DeRiggi-Whitton, the Glen Cove Public Library, Glen Cove Girls & Boys Club, Harbor Child Care, Mr. Softee and Piper the Rescue Dog.

Once Again Sea Cliff Demonstrates Its Love For The Sea Cliff Village Library

By Carol Poll, President of the Friends of the Sea Cliff Library

Books were flying off the shelves at the Friends of the Sea Cliff Library "Giant Gently Used Book Sales," at "Garage Day Sale" on Saturday, June 5, 2016. The book sale is a major fundraiser and community event where people come to share their love of the library, reading, and books and spend time with their friends. Many hundreds of books, DVDs and CDs are donated and sold. The great success of the book sale is one more indicator of the love the Village has for the library.

Numerous people volunteered hours of work to make the sale succeed. Volunteers included Carol Berglie, Peggy Brucia, Jim Campbell, Rosemary Chu, Wendy D'Avino, Joanna Greenspon, Gwen Lennon Jeanne Millspaugh, Barbara Murray, Robbie Nuttall, Panaput, Catherine Pickering, Carol Poll, Lilli Scott, Janet Swinburne, her niece Nancy Profera, and Carolyn Quenon. A hearty thanks also goes to the Director of the Library, Arlene Nevins, and the library staff who helped us and stored the books for us before the sale.

The North Shore Key Club and the North Shore High School provided essential help setting up the book sale. North Shore students who helped were, o, James Mastakouris and Michael Albanese. Julia Salat, the faculty advisor of the Key Club of North Shore High School does an outstanding job recruiting students to help us at this very busy time of the school term. Special mention goes to the North Shore Middle School Community Project organized by the student Henry Purcell and included Christine Watkins, Matthew Marches, and Aiden Janusas. These community minded middle school students were lifting and sorting boxes in the early morning set-up.

The Sea Cliff Troop 43 Boy Scouts of St. Luke's Church is crucial to the sale by helping us bring in the remaining books. We count on the Troup 43's indispensable help. Boy Scouts John Channell, Kyle Soscie, Brady Wagner and little brother, Erik Wagner, worked quickly and carefully. Troop 43 leaders Pegeen Channell, Dean Wagner and Kim Soscie were the caring parents who also pitched in carrying and organizing the remaining books. The Troop meets on Monday night at 7:30 at St. Luke's Church and always welcomes new members. Their website is <http://www.seaclifftroop43.org/#!> Some of the leftover books are distributed to local community charities, Glen Cove Hospital and others are sent to Better World Books, a charitable organization supporting worldwide literacy.

In addition, we want to thank, Ann DiPietro, and the Sea Cliff Civic Association Garage Sale Committee for giving us garage day sale maps to sell that day and allow us to keep the money from the sale. But most of all the group we want to thank is the Sea

Cliff community. It is the Sea Cliff community who gives us the wonderful gently used books to sell and every year turns out to buy them.

The Friends of the Sea Cliff Library is a non-profit group committed to advocacy and support of the library. Money raised by the Friends is used to benefit the library such as contributing thousands of dollars towards the remodeling of the Children's Library, providing museum passes, iPads and many other items. New members are always welcome at monthly meetings. Further information is available in the Library.

Deasy Students Set Sail

First-graders from Deasy School recently embarked on an exciting field trip to the Oyster Bay WaterFront Center.

While there, students set sail on the Christeen, a 125-year old sailboat. The students learned about the history of the boat and were even put to work, helping to pull the lines to lift the sails. They also had the chance to experience marine life up close during a walk along the beach, and enjoyed observing and collecting seashells and sea creatures.

Speed Camera Response

To The Editor,

I read the two subjects Michael Levy addressed in his letter. The first, the extreme increases in filing costs. Certainly seem unfair and bringing it to readers is a benefit. The second subject of speed cameras in school zones brings my very different reaction. Quoting Mr. Levy, "everyone knew they had to slam on their brakes to instantly drop their speed from 40 to 45 to 25." Actually, in most residential neighborhoods near schools, the speed limit is quite often 30 mph and the school zone is more like 15 to 20 mph !! Perhaps drivers need a little reminding (through fines) that little kids are in that school zone and think they are safe there, maybe start to cross or run out after a ball... and say a driver " woke up too late - bam!- $80 ticket." Woke up too late - Bam! kid knocked down! But hey! you're in a hurry, right? Don't need any damn politician trying to turn on your responsible & caring citizen button with cameras, right? The kid should have been looking, right?

Is Trump Really Nuts?

To The Editor,

Maybe not. Donald Trump's ongoing attack against the American born federal judge sitting on the fraud lawsuit against him is not merely racist based on Trump's claim that the judge can't be fair because of his Mexican heritage. No, Trump undoubtedly has another purpose in doubling down and then tripling down on his unjustifiable outburst against a member of the federal judiciary. And, to one's utter amazement, nobody in the mainstream media is talking about it.

Donald Trump is more likely than not to quadruple down against this judge because he's obviously losing his lawsuit on the fraud claims against Trump University, the scheme from which he is alleged to have made $5 million dollars in profits at the expense of people who couldn't afford to lose their money. By continuing to hammer away at this judge, Trump is clearly attempting to push this jurist into recusing himself from the case because even though he's ethically prevented from responding to Trump's racist outbursts, the judge may want to avoid the appearance of becoming the news rather than making it with a judicial decision.

If Trump is successful in getting this judge off the case, even if he loses it, he'll declare a victory by claiming that the judge conceded his own bias by stepping down. And once he declares victory, being found liable for fraud will fade into the headlines declaring the judge's removal from the case.

Trump's not nuts. He's just a mad, racist nut case who's figured out how to play the game better than most.

Student and Teacher Honors at Glen Cove Board Meeting

Glen Cove City School District's Board of Education celebrated the achievements of Finley Middle School student Ava Ruiz and Glen Cove High School Teacher Christopher Contorno at its May 23 meeting.

Ava was honored for the inclusion of her poem "Coming True," in The America Library of Poetry's book "Eloquence." Less than 20 percent of all submissions to the national student poetry contest were utilized in the collection, which included entries from students around the country. Ava submitted her poem in the competition while she was a student at Landing School. Landing fifth-grade teacher Denise Reynolds was on hand at the meeting and presented Ava with a copy of the book.

Contorno was celebrated for being named The Long Island Council for the Social Studies Outstanding High School Social Studies Teacher of the Year. Social Studies coordinator Melanie Arfman nominated Contorno for the honor and shared some kind words about his contributions to the district's students with those at the meeting.

"All and all I think you are the epitome of what we want out children to experience," Superintendent Dr. Maria Rianna said. "We have the opportunity to have you involved in so many things and we thank you for the time you give our students."

Safe Prevention Model Honored For Keeping Glen Cove Safe

Last year, Glen Cove Patch featured an article recognizing Glen Cove as one of the safest cities in America. Safewise, a community-focused security organization that researches community safety, placed Glen Cove in the top 100 because: "Relatively diverse, Glen Cove takes the health and safety of its residents seriously. Glen Cove supports "S.A.F.E." (Substance Abuse Free Environment), a community organization that works with other nonprofits, city government, and local businesses to eliminate alcohol and substance abuse."

Using 2013 crime data, Glen Cove was ranked number 76. With a population of 27,134, Glen Cove received these rankings based on low statistics of violent crimes and property crimes per 1,000 people. 0.62% of Violent Crimes per 1,000 and 5.41% of Property Crimes per 1,000 were yielded.

This year, Glen Cove was ranked number 21. Safewise stated, "Every community has its priorities. Glen Cove's is to improve the health and safety of its residents. Supporting the model, "S.A.F.E." (Substance Abuse Free Environment), Glen Cove works with other not-for-profit organizations, government, and nearby businesses to raise awareness about substance abuse. By tackling this issue, the town aims to make roads a safer place and its citizens healthier people".

"This ranking is not surprising given the close network of collaborators through the SAFE Glen Cove Coalition that strives to change societal norms about alcohol and substance abuse and to address the risk factors that contribute to them", stated Georgie Connett, SAFE Board Chair & Strategic Planner. The Coalition is overseen by SAFE's Board of Directors and Co-Chaired by SAFE Executive Director, Dr. Sharon Harris and High School Health Teacher Tony Gallo. It is composed of every sector of the community: Youth (an individual under 18), Parents/Youth Caregivers, Business Community, Media, School, Youth-serving Organization, Law Enforcement, Religious Organizations, Civic Organizations, Healthcare Professionals, Local Government and Local Agencies with Expertise in the Field of Substance Abuse and associated issues.

"For the last thirteen years, the Coalition has dedicated itself to its mission of eliminating alcohol and substance abuse through strategic planning using local prevention needs assessment data and with support from the New York State Office of Alcoholism and Substance Abuse Services (OASAS). As SAFE Board Chair and Coalition Strategic Planner, it is greatly rewarding for SAFE and the Coalition and the City of Glen Cove to be acknowledged again by the Safewise organization".

GVS Teacher & Mentor Honored at Rocket Club Nationals

On May 14, the Green Vale School's Rocket Club sent three teams to Arlington, Virginia to compete in the fifth annual Team America Rocketry Challenge (TARC) National Finals along with 97 other schools. At this year's competition, Green Vale's Team 1 finished 34th overall, placing itself in the top third of the participants.

The highlight of the weekend came when Rocket Club Advisor and Green Vale Science Teacher Peter Zaloom was named the TARC "Outstanding Team Advisor." It was the first year this award was given and Mr. Zaloom was surprised to receive this honor as the team's parents and students nominated him without him knowing.

This year's Rocket Club was comprised of Green Vale 7th and 8th grade students, who continued the club's legacy of advancing to the prestigious TARC Finals. While these students have been studying within the areas of STEM from the beginning of the school year, the Rocket Club furthers those studies by taking them outside the classroom – and in this case, a national competition on the doorsteps of our Nation's Capital.

"Rocketry competitions allow students to practice science, technology, engineering and math while testing the fundamental components of team building and collaboration," said Thomas Kennedy, Raytheon Chairman and CEO. "As technologists and engineers on a rocketry team, these students have set a foundation that will lead them to exciting and challenging professional opportunities."

"I am happy that Peter has received this recognition given the time and attention that he has put into this program, and his sincere care for each member of the team," Director of Upper School Tom Marvin said.

"What a great weekend we had in Virginia," Mr. Zaloom said. "The students should be very proud of themselves for making it to the finals, which is a great honor in itself. I'm very proud of each of them for their participation in Rocket Club and TARC. I want to thank everyone for their help with making the weekend a complete success. I also want to express my sincere gratitude for the amazing award that the parents and students instigated on my behalf. I am honored and will always be grateful to each and every one of them."

TARC is sponsored by The Raytheon Company, along with Lockheed Martin Corporation, Thales USA and 20 industry sponsors.

Prior to the competition, the students and accompanying parents took a tour of the Capitol as arranged by parent Douglas Braff. Some students met and took pictures with Senator John McCain and U.S. Representative for New York's Fourth Congressional District Kathleen Rice.

North Shore Middle Schooler Rocks Out for Veterans

Jacob Lando loves to play the drums, trumpet, piano, and to sing. On June 5, the 13 year old combined his musical interests with his love of dogs and gratitude for veterans to support a meaningful cause. Jacob hosted a benefit concert—Rock 'n' Roll for the Soul—at Still Partners in Sea Cliff, raising awareness of and money for America's VetDogs. The national non-profit organization trains and provides service dogs to veterans, to help them live independently.

"I like dogs and I also like helping veterans," says Jacob, whose grandfather served in World War II. He decided to focus on the cause for his mitzvah project, which is something that kids preparing for a bar or bat mitzvah do to help the community. Jacob's parents helped him come up with the idea of having a concert to raise money.

Community members gladly donated time and services to support the event. Dan Roth, co-owner of Still Partners and a drummer, gave Jacob use of his restaurant and bar. "I love music. I love animals. I love dogs," Roth shares, "and there's no guide cat association as far as I know :)"

Professional musician and music teacher Frank Ferrara made the event possible. He gave his time and talent, arranging for many of his student bands to play at the concert, which ran from 12:30 to 4:30 p.m. Jacob played with his Broken System bandmates Griffin

Olitsky and James Roth, to close the show. "It was great for these kids to have the opportunity to perform and to experience the sense of helping others through their music," says Ferrara. "It was a wonderful day."

Ferrara, Roth, and local musician Joe Ciampa played too, which was an extra bonus for listeners. Roth and Ciampa each have a son in the band Night Fury, which opened the concert. Jazz musician Walter Barr sat in with his grandson Sam.

America's VetDogs volunteer Helen Westerman was at the event with an ambassador dog, which is a dog used to breed puppies for the program. In order to do his fundraising project, Jacob visited the organization and had his project approved. So far Jacob has raised around $1,700 towards his goal of $6,000, which is what it costs to become a puppy sponsor. That money goes towards the more than $50,000 total spent on breeding, raising, training, placing, and caring for one service dog.

Jacob will get to choose the color, gender, and breed of the puppy he sponsors when he reaches his goal. He will also get to name the puppy. But most importantly, he'll know that his dog will help a veteran with a disability to live a fuller life. Visit Jacob's fundraising page at rockandroll4soul.vetdogs.org to donate.

months of her Rank Studio contract. She made four films for Hughes including Otto Preminger's "Angel Face", a B&W film noir, which also featured Robert Mitchum. In regards to the contract, Hughes claimed that an oral agreement with Rank precluded her from being loaned out to any other studio, so she sued RKO. The legal battle raged on for over a year, when Hughes finally yielded in the courts in 1952. With that settlement, she was able to begin a run of costume films.

Along with previously mentioned films, he may be remembered as one of the "Joad" family members, "Noah Joad" whose family treks across country for a new life, in the 1940 John Ford classic film, "Grapes of Wrath" with Henry Fonda. He also played "Sgt. Matthews", the dim-witted assistant to "Inspector Farraday" played by Richard Lane in two "Boston Blackie" films with Chester Morris: "Boston Blackie Booked on Suspicion" (1945) and "Boston Blackie and the Law" (1946), "Northern Patrol" with Gloria Talbot, "Gun Smugglers" (1948) with Tim Holt and Martha Hyer, and his last two films, "Bye-Bye Birdie" (1963) with Dick Van Dyke and Ann-Margaret and "Funny Girl" with Barbra Streisand, to name a few.

This week's celebrity was born on Jan.31, 1929 in Lower Holloway, London, England. Her father was a bronze medalist in gymnastics at the 1912 Summer Olympics. During WWII, she and her family were evacuated out of London. Upon their return, she would become one of the "well-spoken young starlets" of J. Arthur Rank, who was one of the original owners of Pinewood Film Studios, England's rival to Hollywood. She was spotted by director Val Guest, who cast her in a Margaret Lockwood vehicle, playing her younger sister, in "Give Us the Moon" (1944). Before moving to Hollywood, she played several other roles including a young "Estella" in David Lean's version of "Great Expectations" (1946), "Ophelia" in Laurence Olivier's "Hamlet" (1948), for which she received her first Oscar nomination, and a Indian girl in the Powell-Pressburger film "Black Narcissus" (1947) with Flora Robson and Deborah Kerr. In 1949, she starred with Stewart Granger in "Adam and Evelyn". He would become her first husband, in 1950, and they would both become American citizens in 1956.

In America from the early 1950s, she found out that RKO head, Howard Hughes had purchased the remaining six months of her Rank Studio contract. He also had bit parts in several TV credits including "Maverick", "The Alfred Hitchcock Hour", "Leave it to Beaver", "I Love Lucy", "The Beverly Hillbillies", and as the character, "Charley", on "Topper" with Leo G. Carroll. He also had a recurring role as "Danny" on "The Virginian". He died Dec. 17, 1975 at the age of 67.

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that a public hearing pursuant to Title 1 of Article 18-A of the New York State General Municipal Law (the "Act"), will be held by the GLEN COVE INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT AGENCY, a public benefit corporation duly existing under the laws of the State of New York with offices at 9-13 Glen Street, Glen Cove, New York 11542, (the "Agency") on the 22nd day of June, 2016 at 7:00 p.m., local time, at City Hall, 9 Glen Street, Glen Cove, New York, in connection with the following matters:

Pursuant to that certain Contract for Sale of Land for Private Development by and among the Agency, the Glen Cove Community Development Agency ("GCCDA") and RXR Glen Isle Partners LLC, (the "Company") dated as of May 14, 2003, as amended and assigned (the "Land Disposition Agreement"), the Agency is to take certain actions under the New York Urban Renewal Law and as otherwise permitted by law to effectuate the Urban Renewal Plan established by the GCCDA and pursuant to the Land Disposition Agreement, the Agency and the GCCDA shall transfer to the Company by bargain and sale deed (the "Deed") approximately 52 acres of land located on Garvies Point Road, Herb Hill Road and Dickson Street in the City of Glen Cove, New York (the "Land").

Under the terms of the Deed, the Agency will reserve a perpetual exclusive easement in favor of the Agency, its successors and assigns, including the right to assign or dedicate same to the City of Glen Cove, for public use of the Public Use Easement Areas as will be more particularly set forth in the Deed (the "Public Use Easement Areas") and said easement shall be documented by a Perpetual and Exclusive Public Use Easement (the "Public Use Easement").

The Company has submitted an application (the "Application") to the Agency and Glen Cove Local Economic Assistance Corporation (the "Issuer") requesting the Agency's and the Issuer's assistance with respect to a certain project (the "Project") consisting of: (A) the acquisition of an easement of the Public Use Easement Areas pursuant to a reservation of an easement in favor of the Agency as documented by the Public Use Easement; (B) the acquisition and construction on the Land by the Company on its own behalf or as agent of the Agency as part of a unified project to effectuate the purposes of the Urban Renewal Plan a planned multi-use smart growth community of certain buildings and other improvements containing: (i) on the Public Use Easement Areas improvements to be described in the Deed, including, but not limited to, 28 acres of public space, various parks and playgrounds, Esplanade, bulkheads, beach, marinas, utilities, roads, and other public amenities (the "Public Use Improvements"); (ii) private improvements on the balance of the Land which are the subject of a lease from the Company to the Agency (the "Lease to Agency") and related leaseback from the Agency to the Company ("Leaseback Agreement") (the "Private Use Areas") with approximately 1,719,932 square-feet of space containing a total of approximately 486 rental residential units, 513 condominium units and 111 workforce housing units (55 for rent and 56 for sale) (collectively, "Residential Units"), and up to approximately 75,000 square-feet of retail, restaurant, cultural and related space (collectively, the "Commercial Space", and together with the Residential Units, the "Private Use Improvements" and together with the Public Use Improvements, the "Improvements"); (C) the acquisition and installation in and around the Improvements of certain items of machinery, personal property, fixtures and equipment (the "Equipment", and together with the Land and the Improvements, the "Facility").

In order to induce the Company to acquire, renovate, construct, reconstruct and equip the Facility, the Agency is willing to take a leasehold interest in the Private Use Areas pursuant to the Lease to Agency, and thereafter the Agency will develop the (A) Public Use Improvements through the Company as agent of the Agency under the terms of the Public Use Easement and (B) Private Use Improvements through the Company as its agent and lease the Private Use Improvements and Private Use Areas (collectively, the "Private Use Facility") back to the Company pursuant to the Leaseback Agreement (the Leaseback Agreement together with the Lease to Agency, the "Lease Agreements").

The Agency would acquire a leasehold interest in the Private Use Areas, and shall lease the Private Use Facility to the Company. The Agency contemplates that it would provide financial assistance to the Company and/or its affiliates, consistent with the policies of the Agency, in the form of: (i) exemptions from sales and use taxes otherwise payable upon the purchase or lease of materials, furnishings, fixtures and equipment, and other taxable personal property and rentals related to the Private Use Facilities and Public Use Facilities and (ii) exemptions from mortgage recording taxes in connection with the acquisition financing, construction financing or permanent financing or any subsequent refinancing of the costs of the acquisition, renovation, reconstruction, refurbishing and equipping of the Public Use Facilities and Private Use Facilities; and (iii) increment financing issued by the Issuer to be funded from payments in lieu of real property taxes under a tax agreement between the Agency and the Company (the "Tax Agreement") that would involve a partial abatement of real property taxes in such amount as the Agency may determine in order to accomplish the purposes of the Project. The Tax Agreement and related increment financing to fund the construction and installation of the Public Use Improvements would be a deviation from the Agency's Uniform Tax Exemption Policy. It is contemplated that, among other things, the Tax Agreement will provide for payments to be utilized to pay public improvement bonds issued by the Issuer in the principal amount of approximately $97,000,000 plus reserves, costs and capitalized interest, the net proceeds of which will be used to fund the Public Use Improvements. The payments under the Tax Agreement will also pay certain essential service payments and certain other amounts to all taxing jurisdictions which will be affected by the Tax Agreement.

A representative of the Agency will, at the above-stated time and place, hear and accept written comments from all persons with views in favor of or opposed to either the proposed financial assistance to the Company or the location or nature of the Private Use Facilities and Public Use Facilities. At the hearing, all persons will have the opportunity to review the application for financial assistance filed by the Company with the Agency and an analysis of the costs and benefits of the proposed Private Use Facilities and Public Use Facilities.

Great Book Guru

- Ann DiPietro

*Dear Great Book Guru,
 One of my favorite events occurs this weekend- the Sea Cliff Civic Association's Community-wide Garage Sale on Saturday, June 4 from 9-4. My first stop is always the Village Green where the Friends of the Library have their huge book sale and I can pick up a map/guide to all the sales. While wandering about, is there a book I should be on the lookout for?
 Seeker of Great Books*

Dear Seeker of Great Books,
 I heard there are over 120 families participating in this year's Sale and-yes- there is a book I highly recommend you seek out: INNOCENTS AND OTHERS by Dana Spiotta. On the surface it is a story of three women told by each from the 1980's until now. Woven throughout is a fascinating history of Hollywood and the art of filmmaking. Carrie, Meadow, and Jelly reveal different aspects of the glorious yet tawdry world of film- with all its underlying cruelties, compromises, and genius. As we become involved in their individual lives, we wonder: are these characters in any way connected? Spiotta answers our concerns in an astonishing fashion, and this beautifully written, cleverly developed novel becomes ultimately a soaring tale of redemption- highly recommended!

Glen Cove Yacht Club 56th Commissioning 2016

By Marie Siobhan Gallagher

The Glen Cove Yacht Club held its 56th commissioning ceremonies on Saturday, May 14, 2016. Commodore Neil Gallagher with the Board of Trustees began the ceremony with a brief prayer led by the Reverend Shawn Williams of St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Glen Cove. Local and state representatives were present for the raising of the ensign on a freshly refurbished flag pole over the yacht club. The members have contributed to getting the floats and launch ready for the coming summer. Commodore Gallagher said, "We are looking forward to another great boating season in Hempstead Harbor and on Long Island Sound," as he thanked the members and dignitaries for their participation in the official opening of the club. Glen Cove Yacht Club is located at the Foot of McLouglin Street, next to Morgan Park. Gallagher added, "We welcome new boaters and are here for the Glen Cove community!" Regular launch hours commenced for members to reach their floating vessels.

Glen Cove Shed the Meds Program Nets 150 lbs. of Unwanted Meds and Medical Sharps

Glen Cove S.A.F.E. (Substance Abuse Free Environment), Glen Cove EMS and the Glen Cove Police Department partnered together to hold another successful Shed the Meds program this past week. Over 150 lbs. of unwanted medicine and medical sharps were collected through resident drop-offs. "This is an important program and we are clearly getting results," said Mayor Reggie Spinello. "The more unwanted meds we get out of our communities cabinets through programs like this, the less likely they are to end up in the hands of a child, curious teenager or addict. This is the frontline on the war against prescription drug abuse and addiction. Glen Cove S.A.F.E, Glen Cove EMS, and Glen Cove Police all do a tremendous job holding these types of programs and they deserve all the credit."

For those who missed this past week's collection, the next Shed the Meds event will be held on September 24th, 2016 behind the Glen Cove Police Department on Bridge Street.
